In this connection it is worth while once more to recur to the formula which Edward Atkinson suggested to guide the committee in the preparation and the arrangement of the exhibits. It is safe to say that it would be impossible satisfactorily to show the progress made throughout the last four hundred years in industrial work unless the exhibits are grouped by trades, irrespective of the individual exhibitor, the State from which he comes, and his peculiar wishes in reference to his exhibit. Nobody outside the committee will have any direct interest in the preparation of the machinery showing past and superseded methods in manufacturing and workmanship, and as all these preparations will have to be made there is nobody but a trade committee to make them. Moreover, to render them useful, the exhibits of present methods should be arranged and selected so as to include only that which is instructive. Why should the shoemaking exhibit of Missouri be separated from that of Massachusetts, or even that of foreign countries, provided, of course, the object of the Exposition is contained in Mr. Atkinson's formula. It is probable that the trades are not sufficiently organized to carry out any such scheme; but it certainly seems simpler and more effective to group and select the exhibits on that plan.

The law passed last session of the Legislature providing for the future indexing of instruments affecting real estate in New York City on the block system, makes it mandatory on the Commissioners of Taxes and Assessments to prepare the maps necessary for the reform, on the Register to prepare the books, and on the Board of Estimate and Apportionment to provide the money. Up to within the past week nothing has been done to carry out the provisions of the law, doubtless on the supposition that as the measure does not go into operation until a year from the first of next January, and as the preparation of the maps and books is a question only of a few months' work, there is still plenty of time to provide the necessary facilities. The matter, however, was forced upon the attention of the Board of Apportionment by a report from Commissioner Coleman, naming the necessary appropriation, and requesting that it should be made. It is a matter of regret that considerable opposition was developed in the board against any action. An objection was made to it on the ground of economy, which in itself was sufficiently ridiculous considering of what vital importance the work is to the real estate interests of the community, considering that in reality the board had no option in the matter, and considering that the expenditure will not amount to much more than $10,000. It is very much to be feared that the object is to delay the carrying out of the provisions of the bill so that when the Legislature meets in January it may be repealed or so amended that its efficacy will be removed. It was so plainly the duty of the board, however, to make the appropriation that Comptroller Myers was ordered to prepare a report showing the whole cost of the maps and books. It is to be hoped that the money itself will be appropriated at the next meeting.

If Not Competition—What?

While it would not be strictly correct to say that civilized man to-day is an idolatrous creature, yet it would be easy to show that he has a goodly number of idols. The worship and belief which he has for them are quite as strong and almost as unrestrained by the intellect as the savage's for his totem; and, like the savage, he continues to pray to them and beat them, according to his mood and the state of his affairs, until, fortunately for his salvation, some pious missionary happens to "come by."

For nearly one hundred years, in a high niche among the chief idols of the industrial world has stood Competition. The image-makers of the economic cult have fashioned this idol with exhaustive care and cunning, and have warranted their handiwork as possessed of the most remarkable powers, even when the purchaser has questioned them under the most trying circumstances. They have guaranteed it to cheapen the bread of the faithful and give them plenty of it, to promote prosperity, protect the consumer, make each man in turn the zealous servant of everyone else, stimulate the energy of mankind, and bring out the dormant capabilities of humanity from the hiding places of individual idleness and selfishness.

And, as a matter of fact, we have all believed in it, as well as in the gospel that accompanied it. We have sacrificed to this idol as assiduously as children of Baal. In prosperous times we have blessed it, and in the days of dear corn have hoped with confidence almost unlimited that it would successfully aid us in overcoming the Philistines that stood between us and "bottom prices."

The pious missionary, however, has recently "come by." He has preached a new doctrine, not necessarily the true one, but one with enough of the truth in it to shake the faith of people in the warrantee of the makers of the old idol. This Competition, we think, may still be a very serviceable little god, but the question many are asking themselves seriously is: Is he quite as powerful for good as the makers led us to believe?

Now, of the persons in this mental condition there are a large number who have so little affection for their old belief that they would throw it overboard at once without further hesitation could they find some other satisfactory belief to put in the place of it. "Competition," they admit, "has not been the unmixed blessing which people were led to expect it would be by those who did their thinking for them. They notice that in the industrial world the individual has been supplanted in part by the company, at first in reality only a partnership, then by the joint stock company, afterwards by the limited liability company, and recently by the trust combination or pool. People opposed the formation of nearly all of them, but they waxed strong in spite of our opposition. Industrial development in its higher stages is making for monopolies, actual monopolies or monopolies virtual, because a sufficient part of the production of the commodity dealt in is controlled. They see plainly that, in certain directions at least, Competition is playing a smaller part than ever it did in fixing the price they pay for the articles they consume. Moreover, it does seem that it will play a still smaller part in the future. Nevertheless, what hope have they as consumers but in Competition? Unless monopolies stood in dread of their little idol they could and would advance prices at will, irrespective of the cost of production."

And so the world believes that it cannot get along without its idol, and it is of the opinion that monopolies are bad because they defeat or destroy Competition, and the producer is thereby enabled to demand a price for his goods that bears too distant a relation to the cost of production. Indeed, this is practically the only reason why monopolies are so feared and so roundly denounced by the public everywhere. The post-office, for instance, is a monopoly; but only a few economic extremists are very virulently opposed to it, for every one believes that the price he will have to pay for carrying his letter will be regulated more or less by the average cost of the service performed for him.

It is worth inquiring whether this view of the matter is well-founded. Is Competition the only trust of the consumer? Is there not some other guardian of his interests which, on the whole, is quite as effective in keeping prices where he wishes them—"down?"

In France the manufacture of gunpowder, as of tobacco and matches, is a State monopoly. In 1871 a law was passed doubling the price of gunpowder. The object of the government in doing this was not to "squeeze" any one, or injure the interests of any one, but to increase its revenue. The result proved, however, that the means adopted defeated the end in view. The consumption of gunpowder fell within a year from 403,000 kilograms to 183,000 kilograms. The revenue of the government was less, instead of greater, at the higher price.

Now it will readily be understood that what happened to the French government in 1872, in the case of gunpowder, would happen to any monopoly that should greatly increase the price of any commodity. The ten cent fare on the Elevated railroads yielded smaller returns to the company than the five cent fare that prevails to-day. The sum which a community can spend on any one article is fixed within narrow limits, and it will be found that what may be termed the "price for maximum income" is not so much higher than the cost of production than is the average price fixed by the free play of competition. It follows then, that as the only object monopolies would have in increasing prices would be to increase their net returns, they could not attain this by putting prices higher than the "price for maximum income," and as this is not much higher, if at all higher, than the price fixed by Competition, the public would not be the unprotected prey of monopolies that they think they would be if Competition were practically to cease.

It is not contended here that we all should do what we can to hasten the coming of monopolies, or that it would be a good thing for the world if Competition were to cease to-morrow. This may or may not be. Human character has to be considered, and it changes and is changing. Human systems must be pronounced good or bad in relation to human nature. A monopoly directed by just and intelligent men would be better than the freest Competition conducted by blacklegs. But, in our belief in Competition, and Competition alone as the protector of the consumer, there has been something of idolatry and considerable error. It is a good thing that the missionary should "come by."

The fact that Vermont and New Hampshire are making vigorous efforts to rehabilitate the deserted districts in those States has naturally attracted attention in Pennsylvania and the other Eastern States which have been suffering in a similar way. It is likely that similar attempts will be made elsewhere, and the Philadelphia Press is of the opinion that such attempts would very likely be successful. "In all the Eastern States," says that paper, "are to be found thousands of acres which can be purchased cheaply and made to return good crops for the labor expended." These districts possess "advantages which more than counterbalance the greater productiveness of the virgin soil of the prairies." We have already pointed out the reasons for the probable failure of any such attempt; and it is reported that Commissioner Valentine himself, the deviser of the scheme to colonize the Vermont lands with Swedes, is doubtful of the success of the operation. It is perfectly obvious that, as the lands are deserted, the farmers themselves hitherto have not found "any advantages to counterbalance the superior production of the virgin prairies." The problem simply amounts to this: The Eastern farmers were accustomed to a certain standard of living. In time it came to pass that some of them—inevitably those tilling the poorest land—found that they could not afford to retain that standard on the produce of their farms, so they emigrated West. Now it may be perfectly possible for Swedes, whose habitual requirements are not so great as our native farmers', to provide for all their wants out of this Eastern soil. Consequently, for a while it is likely that they may be satisfied to stick to the Vermont lands, but only so long, be it remembered, as they are contented with a "lower standard of living than is common throughout the country."

The Church of the Holy Trinity, Harlem.

The architectural improvement in Harlem is very noticeable. A few years ago St. Andrew's Church was about the only building in it of much architectural interest. Now among the miles of new dwellings there is a proportion of good ones quite as large as in the region below the Park, and only exceeded by the west side. Of public buildings there are not many, though among the few is the new Harlem Club, an excellent design, which has already been described and praised in these columns. On the next corner south of it, that is to say on the southeast corner of Lenox avenue and 122d street, is a work of even greater interest and elaboration, the group comprising the new church and parish buildings of the Church of the Holy Trinity, of which Mr. William A. Potter is the architect.

The dimensions of the site are considerable, being about 150 feet on the street by 100 on the avenue, though they can scarcely be called ample for a scheme which includes, besides the church itself, a rectory and an extensive parish building. In disposing these upon such a plot it is evident that the designer must have been troubled by many conflicting considerations, both architectural and practical. The resultant of these is a plan in which the parish building occupies the outer angle and the rectory the inner, flanking the church, the axis of which thus becomes the shorter dimension of the site, although in fact the nave runs east and west and the street gable is that of a transept. The obvious objection to this is the relative shortness of the nave; but, notwithstanding this, it is doubtless the most advantageous disposition that could have been made practically, while, architecturally, it works out into a very dignified and impressive pile. The front of the church is separated from its dependencies on one side by a deep and powerful round arch in a low wall, forming a subordinate entrance, while the main entrance, a corresponding arch on the other side, is pierced through the base of the massive square tower which crowns the edifice, and forms with the gables of the nave and the transepts and with the lower roof upon the avenue side an effective and harmonious architectural composition.

Most observers of the new church will be impressed by its likeness to the works of the late Mr. Richardson, though this is nowhere an imitation or anything beyond that sort of profiting by the work of one's predecessors in which progress in architecture, or any other art, consists. In the choice of material it is perhaps more strongly suggested than in the choice of a style, a Romanesque which here can scarcely be called Provencal. The gables might very possibly not have been treated as they are if Trinity Church in Boston had not been built. The triplet of round arches, with the central one raised, which was a favorite feature of Mr. Richardson's, recurs with a frequency that greatly enhances its effectiveness, while in the gables that flank the avenue front it becomes a feature novel, so far as we know, and certainly agreeable, the central opening being narrowed to a mere slit, and divided by the moulded impost of the lateral arches, which serves as a lintel to the lower part, while the upper is continued for a full stage, with deep shafted jambs, and closed with a round arch that effectually relieves the gable wall of monotony. Elsewhere, as in the transept gable of the church and in the third story of the rectory, the triplet of round arches is used more as it was employed by Mr. Richardson, and everywhere effectively. In fact, however, the likeness would scarcely go beyond the adoption of the same style but for the choice of material, the combination of rough-faced red granite for the field of the wall, with a rich brown sandstone for the wrought work and red roofs. This combination was one of Mr. Richardson's happiest introductions, and was employed by him in Trinity Church, Boston, as well as in the City Hall in Albany, and in his beautiful works at Quincy and North Easton. Nothing could be better, and it is not a little odd that it should not have been employed oftener in New York. Mr. Potter has employed it here with discretion and success, except, perhaps, in one particular which we will discuss presently. The low avenue wall is an admirable piece of masonry, and an excellent composition as well. Its length is about equally divided between the two terminal gables and the central wall, of two stories, from which they are slightly projected. The openings of the first story, excepting the arched doorway at the south end, are perfectly plain double-linteled openings, the jambs and lintels in brown stone, and so small and simple as rather to enhance than to weaken the effect of weight and mass of wall. The treatment of the gables has already been described. In the curtain wall two triplets of round arches with short and sturdy supports are disposed over the square-headed openings of the first story, while at the centre of the ridge of the roof above them is placed a polygonal lantern that not merely animates the expanse of roof but groups very picturesquely with the gable of the nave and with the great tower that rises behind and above it. The wall is composed of alternately wide and narrow courses of granite, with decisively sunken joints, which not merely gives the impression of well-bonded masonry, but emphasizes the horizontal extent of the wall, which is still further emphasized by the prolongation, in bands of brown stone, of the lintels and sill courses of the openings.

The same disposition is followed upon the end of this parish building fronting the street, though here the round arches of the second story give place to mullioned openings arranged over those below and enriched with angle and centre shafts and with a heavily moulded lintel, which is produced, as is also the upper member of the brown stone cornice, across the adjoining tower and to the window of the transept gable, on the other side of which these two lines reappear, crowning the roofless wall that incloses the archway of the porch. On this front, also, the utmost is made of its extent by emphasizing the horizontal lines. The gable is of a moderate pitch and of moderate height only in comparison with its lateral extent, and throughout the building the aspiring character of Gothic is foregone for the impression of extent and of massiveness that belong eminently to Romanesque architecture. In the tower alone is the stress of the design given to the vertical lines.

This crowning feature of the composition is perhaps also its most successful feature. Its base is in the plane of the wall, from which it is detached only by a change of material, its lines being brought down to the ground in brown stone. Above the entrance arch and the two string courses just described a pediment rises, of which the sides are prolonged to the lower, and of which the peak dies into the central shafts of the belfry opening, above the steeply sloping offsets at its base. The dropping of this belfry opening on the street front is one of the happiest points of design in the whole building, giving the utmost possible value to the long and heavily-moulded openings of the tower. It has the greater effect from occurring on the front alone, though in any case the slope of the adjoining roof would have rendered impracticable the repetition of it on the sides. It is the treatment of these openings, more perhaps than any other thing, that makes this tower one of the most dignified and impressive objects in the architecture of New York. It is questionable whether the tower would not have gained in apparent massiveness if brown stone had been used exclusively for the belfry stage. The piers are of granite, belted every few feet with courses of brownstone, while the belfry arches and their jambs are in sandstone. The arrangement is effective, but it has the drawback that the jambs do not count as a modeling and extension of the angle piers, which would certainly gain by the greater breadth and robustness that would come if the same material were employed in both. However this may be, it seems clear that the pinnacles in which the piers are produced above the deep and rich cornice of the tower would be more effective if they had been built in the darker material as well as capped with it.

The tower is none the less a noble tower, and the culmination of a very impressive front of which the centre is the gabled transept wall, with three round arches, that in the centre containing the simplest possible form of tracery, while below each of them is a pair of lintelled openings, the arrangement clearly explaining the insertion of a gallery between the two ranges within. This gable is separated from the rectory that terminates the front by the low wall inclosing the second entrance which gives access to a handsome vestibule ceiled with a paneling of oak. The rectory itself is an effective house front, putting a vigorous period to the front, and continuing its massiveness as well as the exigencies of domestic architecture will permit.

The interior of the church is quite as successful as the exterior, and has much more of the interest of novelty, an interest the deeper and more lasting because the novelty comes not of an attempt to do something new, but ensues from the effort to meet requirements in some respects novel in the most straightforward way. The seating capacity was to be of over a thousand people, and, in fact, the church seats over twelve hundred, in a space something over ninety feet each way in extreme dimensions. The result was a cross with very short arms; a transept crossing, in fact, with a bay at each end. The central space is a square of exactly fifty feet, and the covering naturally suggested by such a space is a groined vault. The church therefore recalls the only extensive and elaborate vaulted room in this country—the Assembly Chamber at Albany before it was vandalized and vulgarized to its present condition. There is no resemblance whatever in detail, but the plan in each case is the outgrowth of somewhat similar conditions. The vault here is plastered, with effectively moulded arches and ribs, while the ceiling of each transept is a tunnel vault. With such a scheme the introduction of galleries connecting the piers of the vault becomes natural and unobtrusive, as it can never do in a many-bayed Gothic church, while the whole interior has an aspect of seriousness and solemnity which one must be very far gone in devotion to pointed windows to stigmatize as “unchurchly.” The adaptability of the vaulted surfaces for decoration is quite obvious, and the whole scheme has a suggestiveness for church architects of which we may expect to see practical fruits. At present the chancel alone of the Holy Trinity is decorated. This is a five-sided apse covered with a half dome and with no light except what it receives from an opening, itself invisible, on each side, just under the spring of the dome. The wall of the apse is wainscoted in African marble with oaken paneling over, and is divided, at about half its height by a carved balustrade. The inherent impressiveness the apse derives from its form and proportions, and from the skilful device of its lighting, is enhanced by the design and execution of the detail, and by Mr. Tiffany's decoration which is deep in tone and of a sombre richness. The richness of the interior has been very judiciously concentrated upon the apse. The body of the church is fitted and pewed plainly and solidly in oak, while there is no more delicate wood carving to be seen anywhere than that which adorns the bishop's throne, the communion table and the other furniture of the chancel. The noble interior is the proper complement of the noble exterior, and Mr. Potter and his clients are to be very warmly congratulated upon the success of his labors.

A proposition is under consideration to construct a new and more direct line from England to Australia. The ocean route from Great Britain to Canada is to be shortened by making Gaspé the point of entry instead of Rimouski, and by building some very fast steamboats, the land route being over the Canadian Pacific. The line of steamships is to receive $500,000 per annum from the English Government. The new ocean route would be 242 miles less than by Halifax, and 752 miles less than by New York. Thus Chicago would be brought within six and a-half days of Liverpool, whereas by the way of New York by the fastest boats it is not less than seven and a-half days even if the connections are perfect. Such a line would undoubtedly attract the great bulk of the Western travel, assuming, of course, that it could accomplish all it proposed. Consequently its effect on our railroad business is a matter of some importance. It is not at all likely that such a line would pay. It would not be constructed with that purpose. The intention would be simply and solely to unite England and her colonies more closely together.

A paragraph appeared lately in one of the papers stating that the Memorial Arch Committee are somewhat discouraged at the repeated failure of their efforts materially to increase the arch fund, and mentioning the necessity of having it completed previous to the Fair of 1892. It is to be hoped, of course, that the money will be raised, even if the arch is, as it undoubtedly will be, located at the entrance of 5th avenue into Washington square, provided that no public money is given to a plan out of which so little public advantage will come. But it is impossible to refrain from pointing out once more how little desirable the site is. Undoubtedly much of the money was raised on the supposition that the present site was to be chosen; but if some more central location had been selected it is probable that not only the private contributions would have been more ample than they have been, but that it would have been proper for some public authority to supply the deficiency. New York is essentially a city of changes. There is no public improvement in the city to give any one district fixity of character, except our larger public parks, and the residential value of the surrounding land in consequence. Any improvement intended for the benefit of the public should be situated with some view to this fact. The proposition is to locate the arch in a section of the city that has seen its best days, and that twenty years from now will be totally changed in character—changed in such a way that no one will go near it, except those whose personal interests bring them there.

Can Private Lands be Condemned for the Purposes of the Fair?

The Sub-Committee on Site of the World's Fair enterprise have arrived finally at the conclusion that “a considerable portion of the private land in question is held in such a manner as to preclude its acquisition except under proceedings for condemnation.” They have also received an opinion from the Sinking Fund Commissioners that the power can legally be given by the Legislature to the city authorities to exercise the right of eminent domain within the area selected for the Fair. In the affirmative response to their question the committee assert the answer was unanimous.

This presupposes the Fair will be carried on by the city authorities as a city enterprise, for it cannot be supposed for an instant that the lands are intended to be acquired by the public at public cost, and then transferred to a private corporation. If the Sinking Fund Commissioners are unanimous that the Legislature can give them or any other city authorities the power to take lands in invitum for the purposes of a World's Fair, they must have got some fresh light on the law of eminent domain, not vouchsafed to the legal profession. I venture to assert that there is no competent legal authority who would not unhesitatingly say that the question was an extremely doubtful one, to say the least. For my part I am inclined to the opinion that no such power exists, and that such would be the decision of the Court of Appeals.

It is an elementary principle that the Legislature cannot even by an express declaration that the use for which the land is authorized to be taken is a public one conclude a determination of the question by the courts (Mills on Eminent Domain, section 10, Matter of Townsend 39 N. Y. 174). Whether the use is in its nature private or public is the question upon which the right of the Legislature to act entirely depends, and that can only be determined by a judicial inquiry (Matter of Deansville Cemetery Association 66 N. Y. 569; Matter of Mayor of N. Y.; 99 N. Y. 569). The test whether a use is public or not is not what the condemning party may choose to do, but what under the law it must do, and whether a public trust is impressed upon it (Matter of N. Y. R. R. Co. 99 N. Y. 13). The mere fact that the public will be incidentally benefited by affording additional facilities for business, commerce or manufactures will not make the character of the use public, if the nature of the enterprise does not impress it in its essential character with a public trust, and if its structures are to remain under private ownership and control, and no right to their use or to direct their management is conferred upon the public (Matter Eureka Basin Co. 97 N. Y. 42). Judge Cooley remarks (Const. Lim. 669), “that can only be considered a public use when the government is supplying its own needs, or is furnishing facilities for its citizens in regard to these matters of public necessity, which on account of their peculiar character and the difficulty, perhaps impossibility, of making provision for them otherwise, it is alike proper, useful and needful for the public to provide.” So in a very recent case where it was sought to exercise the right of eminent domain under the General Railroad Act for a railroad from the foot of the inclined railway at Niagara Falls to the “Whirlpool,” and it was proved that the proposed railway was only intended to carry sight-seers and could only be operated a portion of the year, the Court of Appeals held that such a use could not be considered a public one, saying that “the case did not differ in principle from an attempt on the part of a private corporation, under color of an act of the Legislature, to condemn lands for an inclined railway, or for a circular railway, or for an observatory to promote the enjoyment or convenience of those who may visit the falls. The court distinguished the cases of the Mount Washington roads (The Nahant Roads, 11 Allen, 530), and the Mount Washington road (35 N. H. 134), saying that these were in fact public highways in the ordinary sense, although primarily intended as pleasure drives (Matter of Niagara Falls & Whirlpool R. R. 108 N. Y. 375, 386).

The case of the World's Fair will probably come directly within the purview of this decision, although incidentally it may afford instruction, and may tend to the development of trade and commerce, yet primarily and legally it must be regarded as a place of diversion and recreation. The Legislature, in my opinion, will have no more power to divest private proprietors of their lands either temporarily or permanently for such purposes than it would have to authorize the taking of lands for a public library, an art museum, or a public amphitheatre.

In any event the legal questions which must necessarily be raised the instant proceedings are begun to condemn these lands are entirely novel, and lawyers are by no means agreed upon them. That these questions will be raised and be carried to the highest court is beyond doubt. Many differ with the conclusions I have arrived at, and think the Court of Appeals would be likely to support an enterprise which would undoubtedly confer such benefits upon the community. But this can only be ascertained at the end of a long and tedious controversy in the courts. As was said by Judge Dillon, in his famous work on municipal corporations, referring to the disputed right of legislation, authorizing the taking of lands for a public fountain or as a site for a monument: “These questions lie upon the very boundary of legislative power, and have not been very fully illustrated by actual adjudication.” It is very clear, therefore, that it would be very unsafe to positively assert what the opinion of the courts of last resort would be in the case of the World's Fair.

If these propositions be regarded as sound, does it not appear that the Site Committee are wasting their time in devoting any further consideration to a site which they now concede cannot be acquired with the land-owners' consent. Would it not be more business-like to now consider—first, such locations as are in the hands of a few owners whom they have previously ascertained will give or sell their lands; second, such public places as can be temporarily acquired by legislative authority without the necessity of condemnation proceedings?

Even if the Court of Appeals should take a different view from that above expressed, yet it would certainly entail very considerable delay before their decision could be obtained, and in the meantime all construction would necessarily be postponed. The time at the disposal of the committee is conceded to be none too long as it is.

Men and Things.

Few people have realized, perhaps, how important a man Thomas A. Edison is in the eyes of the world until he took that trip abroad and was petted and feted in Paris, even as was Benjamin Franklin, the first of American electric discoverers, some hundred and ten years ago. His reception, in a way, may be taken as a tribute to the American nation itself. So thorough an American is Mr. Edison, so representative in ideas and aims, that when all Paris took off its hat and bowed to our inventor, implicitly they saluted us all, and all of us may feel gratified. As is the fashion, Mr. Edison was interviewed on his return. Much of what he said is worthy of being quoted, but, above all, some opinions of his on ancient art may well be reproduced. "I saw all the old masters," he said. But he saw only to condemn. "Their work cannot be compared with the modern. They painted pictures of impossible men and women. No such human frames and proportions were ever born. I had a tape-line, and I made measurements of them to satisfy myself on that point." This is a very effectual method of removing the errors of posterity—with a tape-line. If there were any mischievous spirits concealed in and about those pictures, it must have been with rare delight that they watched Mr. Edison measuring up the beauties of the old masters. The principal characteristics of the criticism were its originality and subtlety. It is scarce fair, however, to reproach an apple for not attaining the ample symmetrical dimensions of a watermelon. As Mr. Edison's strong point is not, however, art criticism, but the contriving of inventions and the advertising thereof, it is unnecessary to dwell on his attempts to take a place beside Ruskin, in the latter's own field. Considering the man has been granted some 493 patents, and has applications for 300 more pending, it is a marvel that he has time for things that have already been so long invented as the old masters. It is noticeable that a use has been finally discovered for his phonograph, which hitherto has been a monument of ingenuity without a market value. A contract, I understand, has been made with some company for the placing of small instruments inside of dolls. Whether the toy will be wound up before it is placed in the buyer's hands, or whether the words a child speaks to it will simply be echoed after the gentle persuasion of a squeeze, I do not know; but, apparently, it will be a popular plaything, provided it is not to be too expensive.

It is a most pleasant occupation to sit in a luxurious apartment, surrounded by women who, if not uniformly good-looking, are sufficiently intelligent, and men who, if not uniformly intelligent, are at all events sufficiently distinguished, there to listen to two or three able gentlemen prove how utterly wrong is the person who is not speaking. This, as I say, is pleasant, and to a certain extent stimulating; but it is also a rather lazy way of cultivating the mind. Unconsciously any person of active intelligence will make comparisons among the speakers and endeavor, each according to his own lights, to discriminate between the truth and falsity of the various contentions. But how much more stimulating would it be if every spectator felt himself responsible to the rest of the audience for some opinion, whether it be the hastily formed impression of the moment or the matured judgment of knowledge fostered throughout time. The Nineteenth Century and the Goethe Clubs are admirable in their aims, but their members will do nothing more than pay their dues and occasionally attend the meetings. This is inevitable in organizations which contain so many members, and members of such a wide variety of attainments and methods of thought. There are signs that the Nineteenth Century Club is waking up, for during the coming winter it is going to hold private meetings, at which general debates will be permitted. The discussions at the Twilight Club are practically free, and are certainly entertaining; but here again there is no sense of responsibility among the members, and no preparation or system in the debates.

I happen to know of two or three humble men in this city who are desirous of forming some sort of an organization built on a more democratic basis than any of the well-known societies at present existing in this city, which perhaps would not so much remedy some of the defects in the existing clubs, but which, having the same aim in view, would start with a better defined plan of work and a more hearty and universal intention to work. The name of the origination would be the Spencer Club. They do not intend to worship that philosopher, or to start assuming that he is right, with the desire to make him so in every instance. He was selected because of the enormous scope and the general intelligibility and representativeness of his opinions. He will simply provide the point of departure for the discussions. I sincerely wish that any one who would be willing to join such a society would send in his name to the office of this paper. They do not care who or what he is—whether he is theist or atheist, black or white, millionaire or clerk, ignoramus or philosopher, politician or lawyer—provided only he is a man with a honest belief in the power of his own faculties and with a honest desire to use them.

Mr. and Mrs. Kendal, their company and the work they do cannot be compared to any dramatic organization at present existing in this country. Wallack's company at its best would have offered grounds for comparison, but Wallack's company is a thing of the past. At present Daly's company is about the only one that is in any important way similar to Mr. and Mrs. Kendal; but even here there is less likeness than difference. The virtue of the Kendal's performance lies in its completeness, not indeed in its completeness of mechanical accessories like Irving's, but simply in its artistic completeness. It is not a dazzlingly brilliant performance such as Coque-lin's; it is just a singularly pleasant and smooth representation that would appeal not only to a critic but to an ordinary play-goer, who judges a play as he judges a wine—by its taste. It was surprising to see some of the papers state that Mrs. Kendal had a soft and mellow voice. As a matter of fact her voice was the one thing that marred her performance. Like that of Genevieve Ward's, it is hard and unsympathetic; neither, I judge, was it used with any too much skill. The personality of both husband and wife was, however, charming to a degree. There was a marked lack of nonsense, affectation or pretension about them; they looked and acted the gentleman and lady. One who wanted to find fault could say that Mrs. Kendal, and even to a certain extent Mr. Kendal, looked too old for their parts; but if this is so they were certainly right in not trying to look or act too young for themselves. It was a delightful performance to see, but it would be still more delightful to see over again.

A well-known financier once told the writer that if he had a son whom he wished to put in the way of making money he would apprentice him to a contractor, and thus give him a chance to learn what practical building is. But it would appear that experience in practical building is not in every case necessary to success in building. Since 1878, when D. H. King, Jr., erected his first structure, the flat No. 21 East 21st street, there has been no more uniformly successful builder in the trade. Mr. King was a real estate broker previous to that period, never having spent any time learning the trade of mason builder. Yet he has put up since then such massive and costly structures as the Produce Exchange and the Times building. Perhaps it is that a builder nowadays has to be more of a financier and manager and less of a mechanic. There was a time when it was far more necessary than it is at present for manufacturers to know all the mechanism of their factory, so that if necessary they could take a workman's place at the wheel. But now a large business man has all that he can attend to in financiering—that is, in buying, selling, and adjusting his goods to his market. No doubt it is the same way in building, and that a man who knows the prices he can afford to pay, and the men he can afford to employ is as well off as the one who wishes to play the part of overseer as well.

Transfers to Enhance Values.

Our attention has been called to the conveyance of three dwellings with stores on the north side of 23d street, 200 feet east of 7th avenue, 60x98.9, which appeared in our last issue. The grantor is Wm. Buhler, Jr., the grantee Alexander Hess, and the consideration named $225,000. We have more than once commented on Mr. Buhler's method of increasing the values of his holdings by transfers to persons in his employ at figures largely in excess of the actual cost of the properties; and when it is known that the 23d street houses have all been purchased this year, and at about the price paid for No. 155, namely $36,000, or a total of about $108,000, it will be seen that this transfer is on a par with others that have gone before it. Mr. Buhler made some alterations to the buildings, for which plans were filed in April, and the cost stated therein was $4,000. The name of the owner as given in the plan filed is Mary K. Eichhorn, who, with the Alex. Hess already mentioned, are regularly used by Mr. Buhler.

Under-Paid Building Inspectors.

The following vacancies have occurred in the force of Building Department inspectors since January 1st: Michael McEvoy, charged with neglect of duty, suspended March 19th pending trial, resigned May 15th during suspension; John E. Fitzgerald died June 24th; John C. Henly resigned June 12th; Chas. Schooley dismissed June 30th, having been found guilty of an attempt to bribe a Health officer; Alex. Hicinbothem dismissed August 6th for demanding a bribe—this case is still unsettled, Hicinbothem having applied to the courts for reinstatement on the ground that he was not given a trial before dismissal; Chas. E. Taylor dismissed October 8th for demanding a bribe.

Out of the six vacancies which have occurred, one has been by death, one by resignation, one removal for neglect of duty and three dismissals for some form of bribery. The trouble seems to be that these building inspectors, who are daily subjected to great temptation, are paid small salaries for the responsibilities resting on their shoulders.

The salaries of most of the inspectors is $1,100 a year, but some few excellent men get $1,300, and one or two inspectors of iron work draw $1,500. Fifteen hundred dollars does not seem too large a salary to pay these men, on whom the Superintendent of Buildings relies almost entirely for his knowledge of the buildings being erected. The law in New York City is very strict, needfully so, and when an owner's wishes and department regulations clash, the easiest way, the owners seem to think, is to "fix" things with the district inspectors. A bribe is offered, probably more than the man's weekly salary, the chances are that the inspector yields, the violation is allowed, and the lives and health of the householders endangered because the municipal government is parsimonious.

One of the clauses in the present law that needs amending is that relating to the punishment of owners and contractors for violations. The law as it now stands provides a penalty of fifty dollars for every violation, and continues: "But if said violation shall be removed or be in process of removal within ten days after the service of a notice as hereinafter prescribed, the liability for such penalty shall cease." From this it appears that if an owner commenced to remove a violation before the period of ten days had expired, he might continue removing it for as many days as he liked. The department has great trouble under the present law of making owners cease violating a law. After the service of the notice the owner can, according to the reading of the regulations, continue violating the law for nine days, if on the tenth he does anything toward removing the nuisance, although the law makes no time provision for having the removal finished.

Proceedings to acquire title to property for the opening of 169th street, from 10th to 11th avenue, are to be at once instituted.

DESIGN FOR THE PROPOSED PROTESTANT CATHEDRAL OF ST. JOHN, THE DIVINE.

Submitted by *HERTER BROS., Architects.Waking up at Last.

THE RECORD AND GUIDE has for some years been urging the necessity of prompter proceedings being taken in the matter of opening streets. The delays which have occurred in the opening of several prominent streets and thoroughfares, especially in the 23d and 24th Wards, have been a by-word among property-owners and residents for many years past. At last a commendable move has been made. Alderman Carlin has presented a resolution in the City Council which we reproduce verbatim. It reads as follows:

Whereas, Pursuant to chapter 523 of the Laws of 1881, it was the duty of the Counsel to the Corporation of the City of New York to take proceedings on or before the 15th day of September, 1889, to extend Manhattan street in a westerly direction from 12th avenue to the established bulkhead line in the Hudson River in direct lines to the same width and course as will more fully appear by the said act; and

Whereas, The proceedings contemplated by said statute were taken and have been pending for upwards of seven years; and

Whereas, All the testimony before the Commissioners appointed under said act has been concluded for upwards of a year past; and

Whereas, The necessities of the citizens and the traveling public require that said improvement be completed; and

Whereas, The long and unnecessary delay in completing said proceedings has been and is a serious detriment to the interests of the City of New York;

Resolved, That the Counsel to the Corporation be and he hereby is requested to fully inform this Board—

1. The date of the commencement of the above proceedings; the names of the Commissioners appointed under said act, and the name of the Clerk to said Commissioners.

2. Whether the said Commissioners have made their report, and if not, the reasons why such report is delayed.

3. What proceedings are necessary to hasten the completion of the said improvements and whether the city has any remedy for the unwarrantable delay in said proceedings.

Vice-President Fitzsimons moved to refer to the Committee on Streets. The President put the question whether the Board would agree with said motion, which was decided in the negative. The President then put the question whether the Board would agree with said resolution, which was decided in the affirmative.

This is only one of the numerous cases where it has taken seven years to open a street in the City of New York, and it is one of the blots on our civil administration. A committee should be appointed to draw up a report showing how the present system can be reformed so that streets can be opened within a year or less. Alderman Carlin should continue the work of ferreting out the streets on which proceedings have been pending for a number of years, and get at the names of the lazy commissioners.

Our Letter Bag.—Rapid Transit and the Tenement Problem.

Editor RECORD AND GUIDE:

THE REAL ESTATE RECORD AND GUIDE remarks very pertinently: "Before we get rid of the tenements we must get rid of the conditions which make the tenement a necessity. To do this, one thing perhaps above all others is needed in New York, and that is cheap, adequate rapid transit. People of small means can not live even in the northern part of this city if they wish to. Our present means of transportation are too slow. Our population must huddle together because it cannot expand. The establishment of adequate rapid transit would be one of the most powerful blows that could be dealt at the tenement house and its evils." But why wait for more rapid transit on Manhattan Island, which at best would only open up localities which are too high priced to permit of building cheap "homes for the people," when already rapid transit to the outskirts of Brooklyn has brought into the market hundreds of acres of cheap, healthful land, with a gravelly soil that can be easily drained and an abundant water supply? It will take years materially to increase the means of travel northward on Manhattan Island, and the crowd already exceeds the accommodation. Inevitably the tide of travel must reverse and tend more strongly to the east and south, toward the broad acres of gravelly soil lying all around Brooklyn. Sixty thousand population has been added to the 18th Ward in two years. About the same number of passengers are carried daily upon the Union Elevated, and the Fifth Avenue Elevated, the newest of all, is daily crowded with passengers. This is the direction that population is tending. Respectfully, CHAS. F. WINGATE.

Our correspondent's remarks as to the present tendency of New York's population is undoubtedly true. The amazing increase in land values in Brooklyn and thereabouts, together with the comparatively small increase in the annexed district and Westchester County, show plainly to what extent the latter has suffered from inadequate transit facilities. For many years its means for transportation have been depressingly insufficient, and for this insufficiency the New York Central is principally to blame. Considering all the praise that has been lavished on that corporation and the high esteem in which it is generally held, it has offered about as poor a service and has done about as little to deserve the laudation as any transportation company in the county. It has had the best opportunities thoroughly to permeate that part of the country with tracks and to build it up into a populous suburb. That opportunity has been entirely thrown away. It is to be hoped, however, that the sinking of the Harlem tracks at present taking place is an augury for something better. It is the first step towards a rapid transit that is worth the name, towards a really useful opening up of the district north of the Harlem. For although it is evident, as our correspondent states, that at present the drift of our population is over the East River, it is by no means so certain that it will long remain so. Long Island has been getting rather more than her share of New York's overflow; the natural advantages in climate, soil, and facilities for enjoyment that Westchester has will certainly bestow upon her a fair share of New York's future increase; but not, of course, until a person can get to the City Hall in a time somewhat less than is necessary to travel from New York to Philadelphia.

Law Queries.

Editor RECORD AND GUIDE:

DEAR SIR—I have a loft which I hired from a party who rented the whole building, making me a sub-tenant. Recently a tenant overhead let the water overflow during the night, causing damage to my stock. I notified the party of whom I rented, stating I would hold them responsible for the damage to the stock. They claim that it is the tenant overhead who should be held. Will you kindly let me know who is responsible for the damage—whether the tenant over me, or the party of whom I rent, or the landlord, or in case of suit whom must I sue? Yours, etc.,

OLD SUBSCRIBER.

The tenant overhead is responsible, and not the party from whom you hire, or the landlord. Therefore, if you sue, your action should be against the tenant overhead.

Editor RECORD AND GUIDE:

Will you kindly answer the following question through your valuable columns? I sold my property through a broker. Contract was signed and everything was satisfactory to the buyer. The buyer refused to complete the contract, when tendered, on the agreed-upon time. In other words, he threw up the contract. Is the broker entitled to any commission?

Yours truly, JUSTICE.

The broker is not entitled to the commission unless he procures a purchaser who is able and willing to complete the contract of purchase. In this case, therefore, the broker is not entitled to the commission.

Real Estate Exchange Notes.

At a meeting of the Exchange and Auction Room Committee, on Monday, it was recommended that the front of the building be painted. The cost will be $340.

The Board of Directors have granted permission to the treasurer of the Memorial Arch Fund to circulate a subscription paper through their representative. A motion to head the paper with a subscription of $50 was tabled.

The Directors, in a resolution upon the death of the late I. J. Carpenter, state that "he was a man of rare gentleness and courtesy, and of the most unswerving integrity, and carried the principles of truth and integrity into every detail of his life. His example has done much to elevate the tone of the real estate market, to increase public confidence therein, and to promote a better fellowship among those engaged in its various departments."

Paying the New Taxes.

The office of the Receiver of Taxes, on Chambers street, was besieged all day Monday by property-owners and their representatives, desirous of paying their taxes and obtaining the 6 per cent. rebate allowed up to December. The ladies compartment was crowded to overflowing, there being not less than a hundred of the fair sex present at any time during office hours. The amounts paid into the city treasury during the first four days of taxpaying, obtained yesterday from the Deputy Receiver, are as follows: Monday, $5,158,165.50; Tuesday, $982,365.04; Wednesday, $805,536.78; Thursday, $1,132,190.83; total for the four days, $8,078,258.15. The total tax is $31,145,370.05, so that over one quarter, or nearly 26 per cent. of the entire taxation for the year, was paid during the four days. Yesterday's total was not expected to be made up until near midnight, but was likely to reach between three-quarters of a million and a million dollars.

Notice to Property-Holders.

CITY OF NEW YORK, FINANCE DEPARTMENT, }
COMPTROLLER'S OFFICE, October 3, 1889. }

In pursuance of Section 997 of the "New York City Consolidation Act of 1882," the Comptroller gives notice to all persons, owners of property, affected by the following assessment list, viz.:

ACQUIRING TITLE.

East 142d street, from Railroad avenue East to 3d avenue.
—which were confirmed by the Supreme Court September 20, 1889, and entered on the 25th day of September in the Record of Titles of Assessments, kept in the "Bureau for the Collection of Assessments and Arrears of Taxes and Assessments and of Water Rents," that unless the amount assessed for benefit on any person or property shall be paid within sixty days after the date of said entry of the assessment, interest will be collected thereon at the rate of 7 per cent. per annum, from September 25th. Payments to be made to the Collector of Assessments and Clerk of Arrears, between 9 A. M. and 2 P. M.

In the City Departments.

The Sanitary Superintendent of the Board of Health has sent in a list of thirty-seven tenements on Mulberry street, of which twenty are rear buildings, which are so overcrowded that less than 600 cubic feet of air space is afforded to each occupant.

The Board of Aldermen have resolved to rescind and repeal the ordinance adopted by their predecessors in 1863, directing the 'Street Commissioners to have Harlem Park thrown open to the public and furnished with benches or seats, and any other ordinance whereby the lots bounded by 3d avenue, 120th street, Sylvan place and 121st street, or any part thereof, were appropriated for a public park. The park was never commenced.

The officers of the Church of the Holy Trinity, Harlem, are trying to obtain the consent of the Common Council to lay asphalt pavement in front of the church on 122d street, between Lenox and Mount Morris avenues, at their own expense.

The final estimates for 1889 of appropriations for the Public Works Department amounts to $3,124,231. The departmental estimate for 1890 is $3,408,645.

The new supervisor of the City Record should look after his proof-readers. On page 3,129, in the issue of Wednesday, the area of Mulberry Bend Park was given as 2,739 acres, or 47,729 city lots; of the East River Park extension, 8,626 acres, and of the High Bridge Park, 134,398 acres. Probably periods instead of commas between the figures would be correct.

The following streets are to be at once repaved with granite block pavement, and crosswalks laid where necessary: Varick, between Franklin and Canal, 4,600 square yards; Broome, from Centre to Broadway, 2,500 square yards; Bleecker, from Bowery to Crosby, 2,700 square yards; Spring, from Bowery to Broadway, 4,800 square yards, and West 3d street, from 6th avenue to Macdougall street and from Sullivan street to Broadway, 6,500 square yards. The cost of these improvements is estimated at $92,000.

The Park Department, a few weeks ago, resolved to lay out a system of walks in Riverside Park, east of the Hudson River Railroad tracks, between 79th and 82d streets, and an estimate of the cost submitted by Engineer Kellogg is $29,920. The matter has been referred to the Comptroller.

The Park Department's resolution to appropriate about $75,000 for completing the bays and stairways on Morningside Park has been referred to the Comptroller by the Board of Street Opening and Improvement to draft a resolution authorizing the outlay.

The cost of making the city maps for the new system of block indexing is estimated at $7,000, and to print and furnish a number for sale, say 500 copies, will be $2,500, exclusive of binding. The sum of $10,000 will be required for the annexed district maps. The matter has been referred to the Comptroller, who will draft a resolution to authorize the required expenditure and present it at the next meeting of the Board of Estimate and Apportionment.

Comptroller Myers and Engineer McLean have both sent in reports strongly in favor of the immediate paving of the Grand Boulevard. The former speaks of it in his report as follows:

Undoubtedly the finest of the city's thoroughfares, traversing a section where improvements which will add many millions to the taxable valuation only wait upon its repavement, the present condition of the Boulevard is one which not only warrants the emphatic protest of property-owners, but calls for immediate steps to be taken that the city may no longer stand in the attitude of virtually fostering an obstacle to the advancement and promotion of the public interests.

Asphalt pavement appears pre-eminently suitable for the kind of traffic to which the Boulevard will naturally be largely devoted, including the pleasure driving, for which exceptional facilities are offered; and with the exaction of proper guarantees that such a pavement shall be kept in thorough repair for an extended term, there would seem to be no reason why it should not be adopted in accordance with the expressed wishes of the property-owners.

The Board of Street Opening and Improvement, who were to have considered the Elm street and other important improvements yesterday, postponed their meeting until Friday next.

Mayor Grant has received a protest against the selection of school sites on prominent thoroughfares, when they could be taken in less costly streets. The site on 125th street is singled out, where the city will have to pay $125,000, when the same size of ground could have been obtained on a less important street nearby at much less.

New Members.

Orlando B. Potter has been proposed as a member of the Real Estate Exchange by John D. Crimmins. Sam'l W. Clark, of 319 Broadway, has been proposed by Frank Yorlan; Clarence E. Dieter, of 171 Broadway, by J. Jay Smith, and George W. Stake, 150 Broadway, by John F. B. Smyth.

The Board of Directors of the Real Estate Exchange elected the following stock members on Tuesday: James McClenahan, of No. 519 10th avenue, and J. Johnston Woods, No. 351 West 31st street. The latter is Richard V. Harnett's youngest lieutenant. On the same day S. T. Ridley, of No. 134 Park avenue, was elected an annual member.

Articles of incorporation have been filed of the Mercantile Co-operative Bank, of which Stephen W. Fullerton is president, H. C. Allemand, first vice-president; Benj. Sharps, second vice-president; Edward B. Walker, manager; Chas. H. Spencer, treasurer, and L. Gladding Godd and Grant B. Taylor, special managers. The object of the association is the purchase and improvement of real estate.

A Lenox Avenue Improvement.

Not since the late John H. Sherwood erected his home on the corner of 115th street, and what was then 6th avenue, has a finer group of residences been erected on this handsome boulevard than those which have just been completed by Frank E. Smith on the northeast corner of 121st street and Lenox avenue, an illustration of which is given herewith. They comprise a row of five houses, each of different design. They are built in a costly manner, and nowhere, either on the exterior or interior, is there a sign of any attempt to economize in material or workmanship. The former bears directly into a foyer beyond, in the centre of which is a grand staircase leading to the upper floors. The foyer forms an attractive part of the first story. It has parqueted floors and oak ceilings in panels. A handsome mantelpiece ornaments the northwestern corner of the room, with a fire-grate having a framework and a flooring of marble. Beyond is the dining-room, a spacious chamber from which Mount Morris Park is seen in the near distance. The feature in this room is the mantelpiece, which is of oak, showing a column running on each side from base to top, and supporting the superstructure. The fire-grate has a casing of mottled brick, with plain tile divisions—quite a unique idea. The second floor is ascended evidence of care and painstaking, while the latter shows richness and good taste.

One of the houses, the fourth from the corner, has been purchased by Thos. W. Robinson, cashier of the Mount Morris Bank. It is one of the finest examples of domestic architecture in Harlem. No expense seems to have been spared in the interior embellishments, from the very entrance to the roof. The vestibule is tiled in mosaic, and has marble wainscoting.

by means of the foyer staircase, which is in oak, as are the stairs and wainscoting. The second floor contains two very handsome bedrooms and saloons. The front room has a bay and an oblong window, partly in plate and partly in stained glass. A handsome bookcase runs from one end of the room to the other along the northern wall, indicating that the room is to be used in part, if not entirely, as a library. The bathroom, adjoining the rear bedroom, is very handsomely appointed. The third floor has two

DINING ROOM IN ROBINSON HOUSE.

The hall is entered through a door of massive oak, surmounted by a transom window in inlaid stained glass. The halls are wainscoted in oak, and the ceilings are paneled in the same wood. The parlor is a handsome room in mahogany and has a mantel and mirror in special design. It leads bedrooms, with saloon connections and a bathroom, while the top floor has three bedrooms, storage room, etc.

A glance at the other inside houses shows that they are also very finely appointed. The house adjoining the corner is an example of these. It is entered through massive doors of quartered oak, with beveled glass windows. The vestibule is wainscoted in oak and tiled in mosaic. There is a fine mirror in the hall, with a hat-stand. The parlor is a handsome room with a bay window, and has a mahogany mantel with a beveled glass mirror, and an iron fire-grate in a design of flowers with a brass framework in raised work representing mythical figures, surrounded by a wallwork of tile. The parlor is practically a double room, being cut, as it were, in halves by the trellised lattice in the centre, from which a portière is evidently designed to be suspended, thus enabling one part of the room to be curtained off from the other whenever desired. The dining-room beyond is a really handsome room, and three things at once add to its richness—the handsome oak sideboard, designed as an archway, surmounted by a colonnade, with a central mirror; the fine mantel and fire-place, the mahogany and has a double saloon, communicating with the rear bedroom, which is in birdseye maple wood. The saloon is large and finely appointed, being surrounded with mirrors and closets. The bathroom is considerably larger than those in other houses. The third floor contains two large bedrooms and saloons, and is somewhat similar in plan to the floor below, while the fourth floor has three bedrooms, storeroom, etc., the front bedroom being especially attractive for a top floor, having four windows, mantel, mirror, etc. Descending to the basement to take a glance at that very important part of the domestic arrangements, the culinary department, I found a large kitchen with a "Perfect" range, inclosed in walls faced with glazed tile. The laundry has porcelain wash-tubs, etc., and the front basement is laid out so that it can be used either as a dining-room or a billiard-room. It has floors parqueted in oak and a bouffé latter being somewhat similar in design to that in the parlor; and the parqueted floors. The wainscoting is in oak, and the butler's pantry beyond is also in hardwood and contains an abundance of shelf room, with stairway leading to the culinary department. The fire-grate in the dining-room, by the way, has a casing of tilework in a new style, the design being different to anything I have seen in other houses heretofore. The second floor is ascended by a stairway in oak, lined on one side with an oaken balustrade and on the other with an oaken wainscoting. The second floor is trimmed in hazel, the saloon arrangement being very attractive and commodious. The upper floors are somewhat similar in plan to the Robinson house.

Beyond a doubt, the finest and most valuable of the entire group is the mantel, mirror and fire-place. A descent into the cellar discovered cemented floors and a dry atmosphere, showing what modern construction has done to cure the dampness which rises from the cellars in many houses in the older sections of the city.

The houses have attractive fronts—three are of brown stone and two of brick and red stone. The Robinson house has the latter stone on the first story and basement, and brick and terra cotta above. The box stoops on each house are a feature of the fronts. They are massive, costly and well carved. The houses vary in size, three being 20 feet wide, one 19 feet, and one, the corner, 22.10. They are all 68 feet deep, and are built on lots 100 feet in depth, which is not the case all along Lenox avenue. The plumb-residence on the corner. This is a very handsome building and would have received considerable attention if it had stood on a 5th avenue corner, though it would, in that case, have brought nearly double its present value. The main feature of this house is the superb light and the numerous windows. Of the latter there are no less than five in the reception-room. The first floor is a vista, en suite, of three large rooms. The dining-room has a massive sideboard and parqueted flooring, with a dado in oak, and there are costly mantels, mirrors and fire-places in each room of special design. The dining-room has an unobstructed view "for ever and aye" of Mount Morris Park and contains four windows in all. This room is in mahogany trim, in contrast to the reception room, which is in oak, the latter being the preponderating trim, indeed, throughout all the houses. There is a butler's pantry beyond, which is one of the largest of its kind to be seen in any modern house in the city. The stairways leading to the upper floors are similar in character to those in other houses, though of different design. The second floor contains a very spacious family sitting-room with no less than five windows and has a most cheerful aspect. It is trimmed in ing, light and ventilation of the houses can not be surpassed. The three interior views presented herewith show some of the best rooms, in the houses, and they only lack the furniture to give them their full effect.

The group of houses, as they appear in the picture, are discerned partly through a maze of leaves. This is the case with the houses all along Lenox avenue. The Boulevard is lined with grass plots and handsome trees at both sides, and these, when in leaf, enhance the appearance of the houses. Lenox avenue has, indeed, undergone a considerable metamorphosis since the late John H. Sherwood built his home there. Had he but lived a few years longer he would have seen the realization of his plan to erect an elevator building on 116th street and 8th avenue, thus bringing that section of Lenox avenue so easily accessible to the elevated road station. He would also have seen his favorite avenue lined with some of the finest residences in the upper part of the city, as well as several handsome churches. The Harlem Club, too, is on Lenox avenue, and is within a stone's-throw of 125th street, and just two blocks further north of the dwellings which appear in the illustration presented herewith. One of the churches spoken of—Holy Trinity—adjoins these houses.

The character of Lenox avenue has already been determined. It is nearly all restricted south of 125th street, and its close proximity to four of the city parks—the Central, Mount Morris, Morningside and Riverside—will always make it an attractive place of residence.

Mr. Smith, it may be remarked, is well known as a practical builder, and he has erected many handsome dwellings as well as substantial flats on both the east and west sides. Mr. Smith has also just finished the Tremont Theatre, Boston, for the well-known managers, Abbey & Schoeffel. This theatre was built from plans by J. B. McElpatrick & Sons at a cost of about $175,000.

Real Estate Department.

Business has been fairly active during the week, as the reports given in our "Gossip" testify. The demand for down-town business properties, which we have heretofore commented on, still continues, and from week to week we have sales of such properties to report. The tone of the market is firm, and a prosperous season is expected. The question of locating the World's Fair has unsettled dealings up town, and there is much anxiety on the part of brokers to have the matter definitely settled at an early date. In the way of private houses there is some little activity, and, considering the volume and variety on the market, the most fastidious may be suited if they will only look around. There has not been much done on 'Change this week, as the summary given below will show. During the next couple of weeks, however, many of the auctioneers will be busy with the sales which are mentioned below.

There were three sales bulletined for Monday at the Exchange and all went over until future dates. Among the parcels advertised was the Bijou Opera House, which was postponed for the fifteenth time. The sale was adjourned until November 11th, but we find the property is advertised to be sold on October 25 under another decree to satisfy the first mortgage.

Tuesday's list of sales embraced quite a number of lots on the upper west side, besides the usual complement of foreclosure sales. There was a fair attendance, but the bidding was slow and most of the lots offered were bid in or withdrawn. Four on 131st street, west of the Boulevard, were sold to Builder Patrick Farley at $3,725 each. One lot on the same street, nearly opposite the above, was bid in; four on 135th street and one on St. Nicholas avenue shared the same fate, while two on St. Nicholas avenue were passed. We hear the lots belonged to Counsellor James A. Deering, of contested assessment fame.

The sales on Wednesday, although fairly numerous, were unimportant. There was a good attendance on 'Change, but nothing transpired worthy of special mention.

On Thursday the Exchange was moderately well attended, although but few parcels were bulletined for sale. John R. Foley bought nearly 1½ acres at Larchmont Manor, on Long Island Sound, at $5,000, and Jos. O'Donnell bid $1,125 for nearly sixteen lots in the same place. Both parcels, with a few others which were withdrawn, belonged to the Pryer estate.

Yesterday was a dull day on 'Change. Only three sales were announced, and they embraced only small cheap properties. The attendance was small.

H. C. Mapes & Co. conducted a successful sale in the village of Westchester on Tuesday, despite bad weather and a small audience. A total of $26,193 was realized for fifty-four lots and one cottage. What was lacking in the way of numbers was made up by the fact that there were many buyers present at the sale. Builder Francis J. Schnugg, of this city, bought fifteen lots; Builder Andrew Donohoe, of Belmont, purchased twenty-two lots and a cottage; B. Stover secured four lots, and W. E. Allen four lots.

On Tuesday, October 15th, Richard V. Harnett & Co. will offer the property belonging to the estate of Maria Davies at South Elberon, near Long Branch. It includes no less than eighty villa sites, situated on Ocean, Highland, Brighton, Phillips, Matilda and Deal avenues. They are all within a few minutes' drive of the Elberon Hotel and railroad depot, and command a view of the Atlantic Ocean. The property to be offered also includes the Shelburne Hotel and block, nearly opposite the Iron Pier and adjacent to Leland's. The hotel has eight stores, sixty-six bedrooms, etc., and all the modern improvements, and is a very valuable business property. The sale of so many villa sites in the best neighborhood of Elberon calls for more than usual attention, as it is the first time that any plots have been offered under the hammer around this exclusive suburb. The lots are all valuable for improvement and should find ready bidders. The hotel property covers 14,400 square feet, and only 35 per cent. of the purchase price is required in cash. On the lots 70 per cent. may remain at 5 per cent.

On the same day Mr. Harnett will offer, by order of the administrator, the Beekman Estate leasehold property, at No. 41 Catharine street, on the northeast corner of Madison street; also the three-story house and lot at No. 1554 Broadway, near 46th street.

On Tuesday, October 15th, John F. B. Smyth will sell, by order of the executors of the late Margaret Le Comte, the brick house and store at No. 73 8th avenue, near 14th street; a four-story English basement house at No. 266 West 38th street, and two lots in Jersey City. Also the five-story tenement at No. 326 West 49th street; the three four-story and basement flats at Nos. 208 to 212 East 75th street, and the frame and brick dwelling at No. 352 East 119th street.

On Wednesday, October 16th, John F. B. Smyth will sell the four-story dwelling at No. 280 West 86th street, and on Thursday he will sell the lot at No. 538 West 38th street, and the five-story tenement at No. 210 West 61st street.

On Wednesday, October 16, James L. Wells will offer six lots on the southwest corner of Brook avenue and 149th street, graded and sewered and with title guaranteed. They are near 3d avenue and within easy distance of St. Mary's Park.

On Wednesday, October 16, Richard V. Harnett & Co. will offer the fine residence, with dining-room extension, at No. 612 5th avenue, near 49th street, Columbia College leasehold, with a lease of twenty-one years from February 1, 1887, and two renewals; also the two vacant lots on the southeast corner of 10th avenue and 114th street, by order of the executor of the estate of Leopold Friedman; a two-story house, with four-story tower and plot of ground, at No. 10 Baldwin place, Yonkers, and the lot and building at No. 8 Dover street, New York, opposite the Brooklyn Bridge.

On Thursday, October 17th, Smyth & Ryan will offer twelve lots on 103d and 104th streets, and six lots on 104th and 105th streets, with the old buildings thereon, under Supreme Court partition orders.

Among the large sales soon to take place at the Exchange may be mentioned eighty lots opposite the new Morris race-track. The sale will be held on October 21, and will be conducted by Richard V. Harnett & Co.

On Monday, October 21, H. C. Mapes & Co. will offer sixty-five lots near the depot, in the village of Westchester. They are situated on Oak, Elm, Maple and Ash streets and Eastchester road, and will be auctioned off on the premises. They are situated near the new Morris race course. If stormy, the sale will take place in the Town Hall.

On Wednesday, October 23d, Messrs. Mapes & Co. will offer six lots in the 24th Ward of New York City, situated on the northeast corner of Boston and Woodruff avenues.

On Tuesday, October 22d, John F. B. Smyth will sell, by order of the executors, the buildings and lots at Nos. 271 and 273 7th avenue, and the property Nos. 158 and 160 West 26th street, and on Wednesday, October 16th, two flats at Nos. 114 and 116 East 120th street; the tenement and stores at No. 215 Eldridge street; a lot on 115th street, and a narrow strip of land on 4th avenue.

Pierre G. Carroll will make his debut as an auctioneer on October 29, when he will offer eight lots on the northwest corner of 10th avenue and 59th street, pursuant to a foreclosure decree in the suit of the Mutual Life Insurance Company vs. Isidor Cohnfeld.

A sale is announced to be held shortly by order of the trustees of the estate of the late Louis C. Hamersley. The improved property embraces Nos. 536, 636, 638 and 736 Broadway; Nos. 168 and 170, Crosby; Nos. Nos. 264 and 266 West 25th; Nos. 241 and 243 West 28th; No. 108 West 30th street and 257 5th avenue. The unimproved properties are located as follows: No. 54 Franklin street, one lot; five lots on the southeast corner of 5th avenue and 55th street, and twenty-four lots comprising the east front on 5th avenue, between 60th and 61st streets, with eight lots on each street. The foregoing is a correct list of the property which will be offered by the trustees of L. C. Hamersley's estate, and not by order of the Duchess of Marlborough. The latter was Mr. Hamersley's widow when she married the Duke of Marlborough.

Gossip of the Week.

SOUTH OF 59TH STREET.

James Gordon Bennett has sold the well-known Bennett building. The property has a frontage of 117 feet on Nassau street, 74.8 feet on Fulton street and 75.6 on Ann street, with a rear parallel with Nassau street of 125.2 feet. This sale was presaged in this column last week, the rumored application for a loan upon the property being presumptive evidence of its possession by new parties. John Townshend, Mr. Bennett's lawyer, declined to give any particulars when called upon by a reporter of THE RECORD AND GUIDE, having been enjoined to strict secrecy by the purchaser or purchasers. From two other sources it is reported that the property was on the market for $850,000, and that the selling price was somewhere between $750,000 and $800,000. There are two mortgages on the property, the first being for $322,688, and the second for $131,559; in all $454,247. They are both held by James Gordon Bennett, as trustee, and both bear interest at the rate of 6 per cent. per annum. We have it on the best authority that satisfaction prices for these mortgages have been made out and are now on their way to Mr. Bennett to be executed.

Out Among the Builders.

R. H. Robertson is preparing plans for a handsome church, chapel and parsonage which is to be built by the Cavalry Presbyterian Church on the north side of 116th street, commencing 143 feet west of 5th avenue. They will cover a plot, 127x100 in size, and will be built of some light stone not yet decided upon. The chapel is to be erected first and the other buildings later on. Hardwood finish, steam heat and other improvements will be provided. The cost has not yet been estimated. The congregation now worships at Madison avenue and 113th street, the Rev. James Chambers officiating.

The Missions House of the Protestant Episcopal Church of the United States, of which the Rev. W. S. Langford is secretary, has just selected plans for a new building which they intend erecting adjoining Calvary Church, on 4th avenue and 21st street. The architect selected is E. J. N. Stent, who had as competitors W. A. Potter and James Stroud. The building is to be several stories high, the first floor being used for the mission and the floors above for business and living purposes. The building will cover a frontage of 60 feet and will be of brick and stone.

Wm. H. Day is preparing plans for a club-house to be built for the New York Jockey Club at the Morris Race Course. It is to be built between the paddock and grand stand, and will be a three-story and basement building, 150x150 in size. The first floor is to contain a dining-room, 100x50 in dimension, and six smaller dining-rooms, some of which will be 30x30 in size and others 18x30. There will also be a ladies' parlor, 18x50, as well as a ladies' corridor, reception, toilet and cloak rooms. The dining-rooms will be so placed that the races will be seen from start to finish. The second floor will have eighteen private dining-rooms and the third floor twenty-five bedrooms for members, while the basement will have the track office, jockey's weighing and dressing-rooms, bar-room, etc. The building is to have an elevator, steam heat and other conveniences. Four dining platforms, having accommodation for 300 people, are to be erected as a veranda in the open air, and five platforms, with 400 chairs, will be constructed in front, from which members and ladies can view the races. A promenade is to be built to connect with the promenade of the grand stand. A feature of the club-house is to be a high tower, with a large clock in the centre. Part of the first floor will have a mezzanine story, in which there will be a kitchen, servants' sleeping rooms, etc. The building is to be ready by next spring.

Ralph S. Townsend has drawn plans for three five-story Tiffany brick and Belleville stone front flats, to be erected on the southeast corner of 10th avenue and 100th street, at a cost of $75,000, for Marie G. Barth. These plans are substituted for those drawn for Mrs. Barth for a 40-foot flat, mention of which was made in these columns a short time ago. The present flats will be in size—corner house, 25x86; others, 28x75 feet each.

R. R. Davis is the architect for two five-story brick and stone flats, 40x76, to be built on the south side of 85th street, 100 feet west of the Boulevard, for Mary N Nesbit, at a cost of $80,000.

Julius Munckwitz will furnish plans for three five-story stone front flats, 25x87, to be built on the south side of 66th street, 123 feet west of the Boulevard, for M. Shannon, at a total cost of $60,000.

The American Fine Arts Society has prepared provisional plans and estimates for the new building which they expect to erect on a piece of ground, 10,500 square feet in area, extending from 43d to 44th street, between 5th and 6th avenues, and adjoining westwardly the new Academy of Medicine. The cost of the land and building is put down at $210,000. "This," said Secretary H. J. Hardenbergh, "is about $50,000 more than the funds—counting a proposed mortgage—already in sight." The stock subscriptions are to be payable in three calls, at least thirty days apart, and the first call will not be made until November 1st. An architect for the building has not yet been chosen.

O. Wirz has drawn plans of four five-story double flats, 25x86 each, to be built at Nos. 338, 340, 342 and 344 East 89th street. The fronts will be of stone, and the total cost will be $32,000. Michael Conlan and Terence Gannon are the owners.

Schneider & Herter have drawn plans for John H. Parker of two five-story tenements, 25x89 each, to be built at Nos. 3 and 5 Jackson street. They will cost $20,000 each. This improvement was referred to last week.

Special Notices.

The prospectus of the new American banking enterprise—the International and Mortgage Bank of Mexico—of which from time to time so much has been said in the daily and financial papers, will be found in another column. It merits close attention, for it offers to the public what is pretty sure to prove a profitable investment. The Mortgage Bank of Mexico is an old concern and one of the largest financial institutions in the Southern Republic, with which, of all others, this country has the largest dealings and is commercially most closely related. The new enterprise is really the engrafting of American and English capital and American banking methods upon an old concern. It is incorporated under the most favorable Mexican law, which limits the liability of shareholders to the full payment of the price of their shares. The capital is to be $5,000,000 in shares of $100 each, and of the present issue, which is $3,500,000, only $2,500,000 is offered to the public. It will be seen by the prospectus that the directors in Mexico and in the United States are some of the most prominent men in the commerce and finance of the two countries. The Bank is authorized to accept, draw, purchase, sell, discount and negotiate bills of exchange, drafts, bills, checks, and all sorts of commercial paper, payable in Mexico or other countries. It will afford facilities to merchants for making advances on consignments of merchandise, for collecting debts, and discounting bills. It is also empowered to issue mortgage bonds on income-producing property in Mexico, to the amount of not over 50 per cent. of the appraised value of the property. It may also issue bank receipts payable at various periods, in consideration of cash deposits equal to their nominal value at par; it may make limited loans on works or improvements, public or private; establish branch banks in Mexico and issue registerable certificates of deposit for gold or silver, in coin or bars, payable to bearer or order, on demand, in Mexican dollars or by weight in ounces. It is believed that the silver certificates will enter into public circulation. In the event of war or internal disturbance the Mexican Government guarantees to the bank, for all of its property, immunity from attachment, confiscation, extraordinary tax or levy. Furthermore, it may be added that, as the shareholders and directors will be principally citizens of this country and Great Britain, there is no doubt that in the case of any disturbance the interests of the bank would be amply protected. The Bank's advertisement appears on page 11.

Broker Walter Stabler, of 31 Nassau street, has a large amount of money to loan on bond and mortgage, at 4, 4½ and 5 per cent. Loans will be made at the lowest rate on choice improved property, and at 4½ and 5 per cent. on ordinary applications. Builders and owners looking for loans would do well to see Mr. Stabler. He also has a number of down-town lots for sale, some of them with builders' loans. This is a chance for builders.

Venetian blinds are fast becoming a prominent feature in our buildings. Twelve months ago we drew attention to the fact that the Albany Venetian Blind Company had established their New York office at 150 Broadway, with W. G. Orr as manager, and were prepared to supply the trade, etc., with their Patent Improved Venetian Blind. Judging from the fact that this company has been obliged to add additional plant to keep pace with their large and rapidly increasing business, the merits claimed for their style of blind have evidently been recognized and taken advantage of by our building community, and their customers include a number of the leading builders. A special blind for office buildings is manufactured by this firm which takes the place of shades and which, besides enhancing the appearance of the building, costs less than shades, taking wear into account, as shades, in order to present a good appearance, require to be renewed every two years, whereas these blinds last a lifetime. This blind has just been fitted to the new office buildings corner of Cortlandt and Washington streets, and on the corner of Pearl and Beekman streets. It has also been selected in preference to all others for the new Auditorium building, in Chicago (in which there are 1,500 windows), on account of their simplicity of construction, superiority of finish and adaptability to any arrangement of window.

An advertisement will be found in another column of a seat in the Consolidated Stock and Petroleum Exchange, which may be bought at a reasonable figure.

It discusses questions of titles, liens, curtesy and dower rights, deeds, searches, etc., and contains forms of contracts and judicial decisions which, with other general information, will go far towards making every man his own lawyer. It tells all about fixtures, assumption of mortgages, apportionment of rents, description of property, terms of payment, damages for failure to carry out contracts, information on setting aside contracts for mistake or fraud, and forms of deeds. BUILDING MATERIAL MARKET.

BRICKS.—The market for Common Hards has at last secured something like a fair gain on the line of value and the feeling is a little better than for several weeks past. It appears to be quite generally conceded by operators that no actual increase of demand has taken place, the outlet covering about the same ground and of proportions in accord with those to which the market has recently been accustomed, but a considerable curtailment in the offering placed buyers at a disadvantage, and their competition to obtain the amount available afforded the stimulus. Last week we referred to the dissatisfaction felt among manufacturers over the rates they were obtaining, as well as an inclination to get their storage sheds nearer full, and these two elements have together led to a withdrawal of some twenty boats at least, and a somewhat slower loading and shipping by those still kept running. Accumulation at this point therefore was prevented, and receivers have enjoyed the somewhat unusual experience of having demand wait upon them, instead of being compelled to hunt it up. The highest quotation we hear mentioned is $6.75 per M, and that a little exceptional, though it may be brought within the line of established rates. The general showing of quality is very good. From along the river the reports received would seem to indicate that a considerable proportion of the productive capacity is still at work, but here and there a manufacturer winding up for the season, and more likely to follow soon, scarce and costly labor acting as a factor to hasten the move, though the frosty weather is also a seasonal influence. As Pales did not decline with Hards they have also failed to advance, but sell very readily and preserve a steady tone throughout.

LATH.—On the line of value no quotable change has taken place since our last, but the market retained a pretty steady tone and appeared to be waiting for an opportunity to work upward. Arrivals coastwise slightly increased, yet many of them were found to be already under contract, while those open for negotiation secured prompt attention provided no attempt was made to increase cost. The advantage of buyers was found to be as before, in the offering of Canadian stock received and the Hudson which were not only plenty enough to fill a great many outlets and available at a reduction of 5@10c. from the $2.10@2.15 per M current on Maine, and St. John stock dealers are trying to make an accumulation but do not get much together as yet.

LIME.—The market retains very regular features, about the only variations being found in the fluctuating arrivals. These have proven fairish of late, but secured a quick recognition and pushed at once into dealers' hands with room for more if available. Prices, of course, have remained steady under the usual control exercised.

LUMBER.—Our local market is certainly free from very exciting features and, indeed, for that matter, there is an absence of anything really new since last week. The movement of supplies into consumption is just about in accord with the calculations of conservative operations, and the demand turning toward first-hand supplies represents a sufficiently varied and full representation of the general trade to bring about all leading standard descriptions under treaty to a greater or less extent, while in the matter of value buyers cannot claim many advantages at the moment. On the contrary, advices from primary sources and the general position assumed by agents here seems to indicate an inclination to contest the market for a maintenance of present valuations at least. Preparations for work in the woods are already commencing in some localities.

Eastern Spruce does not show features differing in any essential particular from those ordinarily to be found. There is a usual number of local operators ready and willing to assist the natural and bullish inclination of manufacturers to the very best of their ability, and they indulge in a repetition of the buoyant talk, common throughout this season, and which sees nothing but a steady appreciation of value, yet even the more temperate and conservative do not incline much to tame views, and about the worst they will admit is the chance of a temporary slump or a fractional character, should there happen to come an ill wind and a temporary large fleet of undesirable goods. Big prices for big stuff, however, everyone seems to expect, and not enough supply to satisfy the demand. The pretty full run of arrivals since our last has in no way adversely affected the market. A large proportion indeed, was already sold on contract, and whatever remained to offer found quick and ready buyers at some advance in prices. Advices from St. John report more material becoming available, but most English logs, while of stock desirable for cutting on this market's needs manufacturers talk of carrying over until spring.

Pine remains firm in tone and with sufficient present demand, backed by prospects of what may be expected to follow, afford much encouragement. Indeed, receivers say there is no chance of stock coming to hand in greater quantity than can be used, and some of them talk as though fearful of not accumulating enough in chains for winter and early spring use.

Hemlock is reported about as usual. That is, one party on the market says it is weak and any kind of a pronounced effort will make sellers come down a peg or two in their pretensions, while, on the other hand, it is stoutly claimed that everything has good healthy form and full prices must be paid to obtain recognition. The most irregularity seems to be over State stock, and the greatest firmness over Pennsylvania cuts offered by large operators working in unison for mutual protection.

White Pine is probably doing about as well as expected even by those of the trade who have been predicting much greater things. A certain amount of demand can be found for all grades, even including uppers to some extent, and now and then a happy salesman recounts his success in placing a large order. A large order nowadays, however, is something that runs on an adjustable scale, and rarely gets into the million-foot figures. Naturally the major portion of the buying at the moment is for stock, and in all cases with the proviso that delivery is to be made by close of navigation unless the agreement is for rail shipment. Prices seem to have fair support without tendency to gain. Export promises are good.

Yellow Pine finds all the seasonable and natural outlets open, and has a generally good market, but beyond that it is difficult to induce operators to communicate much information, except to say they are well satisfied with prices, an intimation, of course, that the line of value is well sustained. There is probably no reason to doubt this statement, though dealers in competing woods occasionally speak a little sarcastically about the extreme firmness claimed for yellow pine, except, possibly, on special and difficult orders.

Carolina Pine timber has sold "in a few jag lots," according to report, but cannot be credited with any fixed demand or regular market value. The balance of the product, however, is apparently getting along very nicely on the wants of trade established and some sellers claim to be constantly adding to their lists of customers. Prices standing about as for some time past.

Hardwoods certainly would not offer much of a field for speculation on this market in view of the monotonous tone to business. Operators, to be sure, keep up ancient ceremony of squabbling over inspection, etc., and there may generally be found two or three sets of quotations for the same kind of wood if anyone hunts around, but coming right down to actual business it seems to be a steady going sort of affair and of which neither buyer or seller gains little, if any, positive advantage, or for that matter seeks it. Actual consumption is fair with assortment enough to meet it, and there is a reasonable chance on the foreign outlet for export grades when really fine goods are offered. Yard stocks seem full, but now and then take in a little addition from purchases made at primary points.

GENERAL LUMBER NOTES.

THE WEST.

The Timberman as follows regarding the Chicago cargo market:

There was no great activity on the market this week, still a fair amount of business was transacted. At the opening there were some twelve or fifteen cargoes in sight, and these moved off quite readily, although there were no choice lots among them. Indeed, the majority of the stock that is now coming to this market is not of the best grades. Buyers are not falling over each other to secure any of it, but the demand may be said to be somewhat improved over last week.

Arrivals have been light compared with the average, but a small fleet of sailing vessels has put in an appearance every day, and these would be nearly, if not quite, worked off by nightfall. Prices hold about the same, short green piece stuff bringing $9 to $9.25.

There is an excellent demand for good inch, but as before stated there is very little of this grade coming to Chicago. Now and then a desirable cargo is picked up, but it is the exception rather than the rule. No. 2-inch dry is selling for $11.50 to $12.50, but poor inch is not wanted to any extent.

And as follows on the yard market: As the days grow shorter, the natural tendency in almost any line of business is toward improvement, and probably this is more noticeable in the lumber business than any other. If the result of the first few days of October are any indication of what is to be the volume of trade during the coming season, there will not be much cause for complaint in that respect, however much there may be left to wish for on the score of prices. Nearly every yard visited in the past week was doing enough to keep the entire force busy. There is no question but business is improving, and the clouds that have been hovering in the sky of prosperity for several weeks past, are gradually being driven away.

When the new price list was adopted, the first of last month, almost everyone agreed in saying that while it very nearly represented what lumber should bring, the actual selling price, on nearly every item was ever less than the one quoted. But in this feeling there has been a change, and no longer ago than Wednesday last, one of the best-informed lumbermen in the city declared that lumber was selling at nearer the list price than for years past. Perhaps the best reason for this is that the present list is so low that a dealer cannot cut much under it without running behind. Of course, if one of the fraternity gets hard up and must realize on his stock, his lists will show a substantial difference from those of his neighbors, but these prices do not represent the state of the market, although the others may be compelled to meet them at times.

Very few grades of lumber are really scarce at the yards, but occasionally some difficulty is experienced in getting what is wanted. The search for good strips continues, and all who have a good supply on hand are glad of it.

The Northwestern Lumberman as follows:

It cannot be truthfully said that the white pine trade of the Northwest has improved during the week. There has been no appreciable increase of distribution from the wholesale centres, and the cargo movement by lake has been but moderately active for the time of year. Manufacturers and dealers are not elated at the situation. The fall business thus far has not been as large as they anticipated. True, there is a fair amount of lumber going out of the wholesale markets, and consumption in the large cities is putting away stock at a rate equal to that of any previous year, and that feature of demand is now as important as earlier in the season. But the farm requirement is restricted by the low prices prevailing for the products of the soil. Though good crops have generally been harvested, grain and cattle do not sell at prices that yield a fair surplus to the farmers. Consequently their purchasing power is weak, and they are not ordering lumber as they would if prices were higher. In Minnesota and the Dakotas, where the wheat crop has been more than an average, farmers are holding for an anticipated rise. This cripples trade at the twin markets, and prevents holders of lumber from working off the surplus, as they had wished.

But we are apt to exaggerate difficulties when they first assail us. Without doubt white pine must meet an increasing opposition from Southern and Pacific Coast lumber. For a time the blows thus dealt may stagger the white pine interest. As time passes and the population of the newer regions increases, the large cities grow and the South and Pacific coast regions require more and more of the home product, it will be found that there is a place for all the different kinds of lumber.

A notable phase of the season's trade is the change that has lately occurred in demand and prices for slim jims, or long joists. Last spring the yards were loaded up with such lumber, and everybody wanted to sell. Joists over 18 feet long were a drug, the cargo market for them was flat, and continued so all summer. But the local building requirement ate away at the supply, especially of the 22 and 26-foot lengths and measurably of 20 and 24-foot lengths. Such lumber is used largely in the construction of the numerous flat buildings and combination stores and flats that have this year been erected on narrow lots in the outlying portions of the city. It sold during the spring and summer at about $13 to $14, but now has advanced to $14 to $15, and even higher prices have been obtained for 2x10, while 2x12 has sold as high as $16. One dealer, while the price was $13, let his long stuff lie in pile, and bought of his neighbors what he wanted for filling orders. Now prices have come back to a reasonable figure, he is felicitating himself on the wisdom of his course. This instance illustrates the truth of what has been before remarked in these reports, to the effect that as surely as a certain kind of lumber is a drug to-day, it will be in demand at advanced prices in the near future. Usually, in the yard business of this city, six months is time enough for the revolution of the trade wheel. In the case of slim jims this season, the change from extreme depression to a decisive improvement has come in three months, or less. Dealers can stick a pin here for future reminder.

The Mississippi Valley Lumberman as follows:

The St. Croix boom has shut down after having got out 262,000,000 feet of logs. That amount will constitute, in all probability, the entire output of the St. Croix boom. Last year, when the boom shut down, the output had been 365,000,000 feet, or a falling off for this year of 103,000,000 feet. When the rafting works at Beef Slough were closed last year the output had been 540,000,000 feet. Up to the present time the output of West Newton, which has succeeded to the work done at Beef Slough, has been about 400,000,000 feet. So far as these figures are any index, the St. Croix and Mississippi River mills will cut less lumber than they did last year by more than 200,000,000 feet. The Minneapolis mills will probably cut 75,000,000 feet less, and the mills north of Minneapolis probably 25,000,000 feet less. The cut in the Chippewa Valley and at La Crosse will probably show a corresponding reduction when the season is ended. No one will presume to say that there has been a corresponding falling off in the sales of lumber from these same markets. In Minneapolis the figures show that more lumber has been shipped out this far this year than was shipped during the corresponding time last year. The sales have been lighter since August 1st than they were during the corresponding period last year, but prior to that time they were considerably in excess. The local trade has not been quite so good, but when the situation is summed up it need be no matter of surprise if it should be found that the dealers generally go into the winter in better shape than they did last year. But they haven't made the profit that they did in 1888, and there's the rub. Lumber has been sold too low—and sold low without any substantial reason—unless it be found in the competition of yellow pine, which may have fixed the price.

ENGLAND.

The Timber Trades Journal as follows:

American Woods—Black Walnut, Whiteoak, Oak, &c.—Without doubt a considerable improvement is now noticeable in the general trade doing in all of these woods, and the stagnation so apparent for several weeks past was clearly due to other causes than to any diminution in consumption. Prices for lower grades are less firm than is the case with better qualities, for which latter there is a good inquiry.

METALS.—COPPER—Ingot has found a somewhat fluctuating demand, at times large, and again a little slow, but on the whole a pretty good outlet is offered for stock by consumers, and they are getting what they want at about former rates. Most of the companies appear to be working in harmony, and no further shading on cost is for the present anticipated. Quotations are generally placed at 11@11½c. for Lake, and 9½@10c. for casting brands. Manufactured Copper secures good average attention from all regular sources, and the market seems to be in a generally healthy condition. The output is said to be at pretty nearly full capacity and only just about satisfying wants. We quote as follows: Sheets, not above 30x72 in., 16 oz. and over, 20c.; do, 14 to 16 oz, 21c.; do, 12 to 14 oz, 22c.; do, 10 to 12 oz, 23c.; do, 8 to 10 oz, 24c.; do, under 8 oz, 25c. Sheets longer than 72 inches add 1c. for 12@14 oz, 2c. for 10@12 oz, and 3c. for 8@10 oz. Sheets, not above 36x96 in., 16 oz. and over, 20c.; do, 16 to 32 oz, 20c.; do, 14 to 16 oz, 22c.; do, 12 to 14 oz, 24c.; do, 10 to 12 oz, 25c.; do, 8 to 10 oz, 30c. Sheets longer than 96 inches add 1c. for over 16 oz; and 1c. for 8 to 10 oz. Sheets, not above 48x96, 32 to 64 oz, 20c.; do, 16 to 32 oz, 22c.; do, 14 to 16 oz, 25c.; do, 12 to 14 oz, 26c. Sheets 60x96 and over, 20c., for 32 to 64 oz. and over, and 25c. for 16 to 32 oz. All bath tub sheets, per lb., 16 oz, 23c.; 14 oz, 25c.; 12 oz, 27c.; and 10 oz, 30c. Bolt copper, ¾ inch diameter and over, 20c. Circles, 60 diameter and less, 3c. above price of sheets of same thickness; circles, 60 to 96 do, 5c. do; circles, 96 do and over, 6c. do. Segment and pattern sheets, 3c. above price of sheets required to cut them from. Cold or hard rolled copper, 1@2c. per lb. above the foregoing prices. Copper bottom, 25@26c. per lb. Iron—Scotch Pig has found only a very slow uncertain demand, buyers generally objecting to cost, which is well strained up as against domestic, and investment is rarely made except as a matter of necessity. Even current valuations, however, are below the cost of importation, and holders naturally do not feel inclined to shade as a temptation to demand. We quote at $20.00@23.50 per ton, according to brand, delivery, etc. American Pig moves along in excellent shape and the market appears sound and healthy. Most of the leading companies are delivering a large percentage of their output on contracts, but also secure a good run of new orders, while the commoner irons come in for a share of the trade, and all hands are generally well pleased with the situation. Prices are firm as advantages naturally tend in sellers' favor. We quote at $17.00@17.50 per ton for No. 1 X foundry; $16.00@16.50 for No. 2 X do.; and $15.00@15.50 for Gray Forge. Old material is not in very large stock and seems to be under very close and good control with owners indifferent about realizing. The line of valuation, however, is a source of considerable complaint from many buyers and tend to curtail demand somewhat. We quote at about $24.00@25.00 for old rails; $20.50@21.50 for No. 1 wrought scrap; $14.00@15.00 for cast scrap, and $17.50@18.00 for car wheels. Steel rails continue in good demand. Several large contracts have been closed since our last and others of fair magnitude are under treaty with values well sustained and rather on an advancing tendency. We quote at $30.00@31.00 per ton at the mills and $31.00@32.00 do. at tide water. Manufactured Iron is more active both in the matter of general store trade and on special contracts, and with the full cost of material values are sustained without much difficulty. We quote Common Merchant Bar, ordinary sizes, at 1.90@2.10c. from store, and refined at 2.00@2.30c.; Rods, round and square, 2.10@2.30c.; Bands, 2.20@2.30c.; Norway Nail Rods, 4@5c., and domestic sheet on the basis of 2.75@2.80c. for common Nos. 10@16. Other descriptions at corresponding prices, with 1-10c. less on large lots from cars. LEAD—Domestic Pig has not found much speculative favor, and with the consumptive trade slow it was on the whole a rather narrow market. The position, however, is kept well in hand, and prices pretty steady as a rule. We quote at 3.90@4.15c., as to quality. The manufacturers of lead are quoted: Bar, 4½c.; pipe, 6c.; sheet, 6½c., less the usual discount to the trade; and tin lined pipe, 15c.; block tin pipe 45c., on same terms. TIN—Pig on regular consumptive wants has not shown much animation, but the speculators are interested and occasionally make matters pretty lively with some fluctuation in value, of late decidedly upward after a previous drop. We quote at about 20½@20¾c. for round lots, and 20¾@21c. for jobbing parcels. Tin plates meet with only a fair demand, buyers appearing to feel very cautious, but stimulated by foreign advices holders are generally stiff in the matter of valuation. We quote prices as follows: I. C. Charcoal, ½ cross assortment, Melyn grades, $5.60@5.62½, each additional X add $1.50; I. C. Charcoal, ½ cross assortment, Allaway grade, $4.80@4.82½, each additional X add $1; Charcoal terme, M. F. grade, 14x20, $6.60@6.65; M. F. grade, 20x28, $13.25@—; Worcester, 14x20, $4.80@—; Worcester, 20x28, $9.60@9.62½; Deane grade, 14x20, $3.35@4.40; Dean grade, 20x28, $8.60@8.80; Allaway grade, 14x20, $4.15@4.30; Allaway grade, 20x28, $8.50@8.52½; I. C. Coke, Penlan grade, $4.40@4.42½; J. B. grade, 14x20, $4.55@4.57½; I. C. Bessemer steel, squares, $4.70@4.75 basis; I. C. Siemens steel, squares, $4.75@4.80. Spelter has found good demand from brass manufacturers, and the market strengthened in consequence. We quote at 5.15@5.30c. for ordinary brands of Western.

NAILS.—Business has been more or less irregular, as most of the demand is the outcome of careful calculation to early wants, and few if any buyers will anticipate the future. Either openly or secretly there is also some little competition among manufacturers, and that adds another measure of uncertainty to the position. We quote at $1.85@1.90 per keg for car lots, and $1.95@2.00 per keg for parcels from store.

PAINTS, OILS, ETC.—A pretty good general demand appears to be prevailing, with a growing tendency in many directions, and operators calling the market a good one, with excellent promise of at least holding all present advantages, and possibly getting a further gain on some of the more desirable staple articles. No complaint can be heard about difficulty in making selections; yet first hand stocks are worked a little close as a matter of precaution, and importations are not extensive. Linseed Oil has found about as much demand as usual, with prices ranging at 58@58½c. for Western, and 60@61c. for City. Spirits Turpentine moving slowly on jobbing orders, but stock kept well in hand and prices firm. We quote at 48@49c. per gallon, according to quantity, delivery, etc.

TAR AND PITCH.—Offerings at this point do not appear to be excessive, the stock evidently being kept well in hand, and that preserves a fairly steady range of value. Demand is somewhat irregular, but maintains a fair average. We quote Pitch at $1.10@1.150 per bbl.; Tar at $2.62½ @ 2.87½, according to quantity, quality and delivery.

MORTGAGES.

NOTE.—The arrangement of this list is as follows: The first name is that of the mortgagor, the next that of the mortgagee. The description of the property then follows, then the date of the mortgage, the time for which it was given, and the amount. The general dates used as headings are the dates when the mortgage was handed into the Register's office to be recorded.

Whenever the letters "P. M." occur, preceded by the name of a street, in these lists of mortgages, they mean that it is a Purchase Money Mortgage, and for fuller particulars see the list of transfers under the corresponding date. Whenever the rate is not given, read as 6 per cent.

A VOLUME OF INFORMATION
ON TIN ROOFS FREE
OF COST!

If you have decided to place a tin roof upon your house you should, in justice to yourself, obtain the best possible information in regard to tin for roofing purposes. No property-owner can afford to remain ignorant, when a whole volume of information devoted to the selection, laying and painting of a tin roof can be had for the asking. Messrs. Merchant & Co., of this city, are conceded to be authority on tin roofs. They have devoted much time, labor and money in presenting, in readable shape, a mass of facts upon this subject, which are of great interest to property-owners. The constant inquiry from property-owners for these books evinces the fact that there is considerable quiet thinking being done just now by a large number of gentlemen, who have heretofore given the subject very little consideration. What the outcome will be, almost any one can anticipate. A better class of roofing is sure to follow, as a natural consequence. A wise property-owner will send for Merchant & Co.'s new book; and, after reading it, he will certainly conclude that there was much that he did not know upon the subject of tin roofs.—Philadelphia Real Estate Record, September 11, 1889.

OCTOBER 19, 1889.

No. 1,127.

That it is still wallowing in the trough of the sea is all that can be said of the stock market. Money has ranged from 8 to 12 per cent. every day this week with no particular sign from any quarter that it will be any easier before January. This seems to be the opinion of many bankers and brokers, but when one remembers that it is only a few weeks since the same men predicted right the contrary about the money market, no one needs sell house and land on their judgment. It seems that money is in demand all over the world at the present moment. Berlin, where it always rules at very low figures, recently charged stock speculators at the rate of 15 and 20 per cent. for carrying over balances. The Bank of England has drawn the lines very close with borrowers for some weeks, while Italy has for months been in a state of semi-panic by reason of tight money. France is really the only country with a surplus of loanable funds, and she has paid too high a price to secure herself this comfortable position to let go of it very easily. In England the Chancellor of the Exchequer has recently decided to issue silver for half sovereigns, and this may be the first step towards the more general resumption of the use of silver abroad. Should this occur, and silver be remonetized abroad, we would see better business in this country than we have had since the discovery of gold in California. Such close times as they are now having with money in England and Germany will hasten their decision and strengthen materially the silver party who have been growing stronger every year.

The figures collected by Prof. Adams of the Inter-state Commerce Commission, showing that 61.44 per cent. of the railroad stocks of the country pay no dividends whatever, and 21.69 per cent. of the bonds pay no interest, have a great deal of light thrown upon them by this Atchison reorganization. The stockholders of a railroad company take most of the risk and get precious little return; the bondholders take a much smaller risk and get a much larger return, while the bankers take no risk at all and get the biggest return of any of them. The latter are simply necessary parasites who enrich themselves on the enterprise, mistakes and misfortunes of railroad stockholders and managers. A company is started, and the bankers get a good fat commission for floating the bonds. The line, let us say, pays for a while and soon finds it desirable to extend its connections, with the result of more bonds and commissions. But the extensions are made too much for the future, hard times come, dividends are paid on borrowed money—for which a good commission is charged—and the road gets hopelessly involved. Once more the bankers step in and double their profits, already very large, by reorganizing, lending more money at a good rate of interest, and charging once more an ample commission. There are $75,000,000 of Atchison stock, $160,786,000 of bond issues, with fixed charges amounting to $11,157,769. The fixed charges, as proposed by the plan of reorganization, will be $7,352,390. This is where the bondholders will lose, their loss ranging from $11 to $58 on the interest of each thousand. To make up for this loss they get a certain amount of income bonds, bearing 5 per cent. interest—when it is paid, which it certainly will not be for some years. These income bonds are the device used to save the company from foreclosure. After the reorganization is completed no single class of security-holders will be any better off than it was before, in spite of the scaling down of interest charges. Before the stockholders get anything there will still be $11,000,000 and over to be paid; the bondholders will receive less for some years, and the indebtedness of the company will be enormously increased. This is not saying that the reorganization scheme is not as equitable a one as possible, but it is a large price to pay for mismanagement. Nobody will make anything except the bankers. Such are the advantages of the control of capital in the modern industrial world.

The city is losing, if indeed it has not already lost, its common sense in this matter of the electric wires. We find the public almost in hysterics, our streets in darkness and our officials ready to embrace any half-considered plan, all because a lineman lost his life in a conspicuous and distressing way. It is true the question of burying the wires has been discussed and fought over for a long time past, but it is safe to say that unless the pitiable accident that occurred last week had happened, the matter would not be in its present acute state. The fatality, of course, is to be deeply deplored; and the electric light company whose imperfectly insulated wire caused the death of the man is undoubtedly to blame, and, if it is, it deserves to be made to pay a heavy penalty for its criminal negligence. But this does not warrant our municipal officers in hastily committing the city to an ill-advised policy in relation to electric wires, which it seems they are about to do. Everyone must see that to bury insufficiently insulated wires in underground subways instead of carrying them overhead; and to fancy that thereby danger to the lives of linemen and others is lessened, resembles too closely the ostrich's plan of hiding itself to be entirely pleasant to sensible people. The safety or danger of electric wires is, practically, entirely a matter of insulation, and just so long as wires conducting heavy currents are permitted to be in service the lives of linemen will be endangered, no matter how deep below the street surface they (that is, both linemen and wires) are buried. Indeed, there are many reasons for thinking, in face of all that has been said, that the wire buried is a much more dangerous weapon than the wire overhead. Buried beyond observation and almost beyond inspection the badly insulated wire could make a pleasant "combine" with the leaking gas main and attack the public at large through any susceptible telephone or incandescent-light wire that happened to be near by; besides, it would certainly be more difficult for the linemen to handle it in a dark subway amid a tangle of other wires than in broad daylight, as at present. So far as the protection of life is concerned the proper thing for the city officials to do is to see that all wires are adequately insulated. Whether they are buried or not does not affect their dangerousness, more especially so far as linemen are concerned. Electrical experts need not be called in to tell us that badly insulated wires carrying heavy currents are dangerous anywhere.

It should not be forgotten amid all the noise that has been raised about the death of Lineman Feeks that the number of deaths that have resulted from electricity is very small. Many more people meet their death every year in New York City by falling down elevator shafts or by being run over in the streets than by electricity. It is proposed that the use of currents of only very limited power shall be permitted. No such restriction should be tolerated. It is the very worst policy possible to place impediments in the way of the fullest development of an agent that is only just commencing to be put to the service of man. To say that currents of only 250 volts may be used is very like saying that trains shall be run no faster than thirty miles an hour. It is sufficient to enact that no current shall be transmitted that is not transmitted safely, but that is very different from saying that no current of more than 250 volts may be used. It may not be possible to transmit safely a stronger current to-day than 250 volts, but improvements will surely be made, and what is impossible to-day will be possible to-morrow. To put a limit to the force employed would seriously check electrical development along certain lines.

Is it not time that the government of this city should cease its opposition to every scheme to improve the present facilities for transportation? It has opposed the subway project, additional tracks on the elevated roads, and electric motors. It opposed the construction of a car line along Broadway until the opposition was overcome by wholesale corruption, and now, lately in the case of the Third avenue road and more recently with the Broadway and Seventh Avenue Company, it is opposing the substitution of the cable system for horses. Instead of fighting the companies the city should have insisted long ago upon the change being made. The use of horses keeps the streets and atmosphere of the city in a disgusting and unhealthy condition all the year round, and the stables that have to be maintained for thousands of animals in different parts of the city are not only grievous offences to the eye and nostrils but must be unsanitary in the extreme. The substitution of the cable system on all roads would not only abolish this evil but would make the city immensely quieter and cleaner than it is—in a word, a fitter place for human habitation. The change cannot be made too quickly, and our officials should not be opposing the substitution, but insisting that it be made without delay. The interests of the city are not to be best served by a minute analysis of legal technicalities. We need common sense, broad liberal views of public matters, and not the fine, hair-splitting of a pettyfogging lawyer. To score a microscopic point against a corporation, to detect a deeply-hidden meaning in the words of its charter is, after all, a poor success compared with making the city a more habitable place.

Indications thus far by no means go to show that the Pan-American Conference is simply to become an agency for the better satisfaction of subsidy seekers, such as some Democratic papers seemed to think it would. On the contrary, many of the speakers at the dinners so bountifully provided for the delegates, favor a commercial union—more eloquently called a Sisterhood of the American Republics. No doubt some surprise will be expressed that Senator Sherman has given his allegiance to such a scheme. He was "almost inclined to be a convert to free trade, if that free trade was confined to all American States"—in other words, if it was not free trade at all. This, assuredly, is a very guarded utterance, too much so, indeed, to possess much significance. Perhaps, too, due allowance should be made for the fact that the speeches dwelling on the Sisterhood of Republics were made after dinner—that is, under circumstances which change miles into feet, differences into agreements and aliens into brothers. But the speakers thus far have not sufficiently distinguished between a political community of interest among the republics and a commercial union. Protectionist after-dinner speakers can talk about a union of hearts and the Monroe doctrine as much as they please without becoming so very inconsistent, but as soon as they touch upon and advocate a commercial union they are cutting the ground from under themselves.

For observe: it is the dogma of free-traders that all trade, whether between the different parts of the same nation or among different nations, is alike beneficial and beneficial for the same reason. Protectionists, however, draw a hard and fast line between domestic and international trade, and the logical outcome of their principles would be a total prohibition of imports. Now, as a matter of reasoning, it makes no whit difference whether the other nation to be traded with is on this or on the other side of the Atlantic. If our markets are to be open for one, they might just as well be open for the other. Let us admit that the American Republics have political interests in common; but very certainly South America has the same commercial interests as ourselves, so has Canada (just as Erastus Wiman said) and so has England. Indeed, the fact that Great Britain speaks the same language as we do is of more importance politically than the fact that the American Republics are offsprings of the older countries, separated from the latter by the Atlantic, each alike resolved to preserve her own autonomy.

It is not alone the farmers in the East who are dissatisfied. Those in the South and the West are discontented with their positions, and are making endeavors, unwise ones perhaps, to better their financial condition. Not long ago the Farmers' Alliance of the South arranged a plan whereby the planters of that section were to agree to "sell no cotton during the month of September, except what may be absolutely necessary to meet obligations past due." Their object was of course to put on the market only so much of the product as was absolutely necessary, thereby advancing prices, and to refrain from selling until the demand sufficed to carry off their stock. In the Northwest we find a Farmers' Federation, which seems to have a similar cause for complaint. This association asserts that "by reason of new systems of business and combinations against us we are not as an agricultural class enjoying equal privileges with the manufacturing and commercial classes." The remedy proposed is similar to that which the Farmers' Alliance desire to accomplish; they intend to hold their wheat off the market until consumers are forced to pay higher prices. These combinations are similar in character to those of the different kinds of fruit growers, and are as certainly significant as they will be probably unsuccessful.

The question for a combination is: How far can it raise prices without materially curtailing the demand? The easiest answer to the problem would be that turning upon the nature of the commodity. On the one hand some luxuries can be put up to figures that are absurdly high because they are bought by people to whom money is not the first consideration in a purchase; on the other hand there is a demand for necessities, not absolutely fixed, but tolerably certain. In both cases there is a limit beyond which prices could not be advanced, but the limit is higher than in those intermediate commodities which poor and middle class people can do as well with as without or for which something else could be substituted. Wheat and cotton come under the head of necessities; consequently a combination controlling the product could undoubtedly raise prices somewhat and still not reduce the demand to such an extent that it would lose more on what it did not sell than it would make on what it did sell. It is obvious, however, that farmers' alliances and federations are hardly compact enough organizations to control the cotton or grain market. The Farmers' Alliance, for instance, conditions its refusal to sell cotton during September on the necessity for raising money to meet obligations past due. It turned out that they had so many obligations "past due" that when these were met they were unable to retain enough cotton in their own hands materially to affect the market. But an analysis of what these farmers' associations wished to do reveals the fact that they desired not so much to limit the supply or control the product as to place restrictions on the time the commodity was sold. The demand for grain and cotton is relatively steady throughout the whole year, whereas the supply is thrown on the market, enormous quantities at a time, and does not obtain the price that it might if there was some agency to hold and distribute it as it was needed.

A Cause for Borrowing Trouble.

By reference to the map of the Harlem River Improvement, published in a recent number of THE RECORD AND GUIDE, it will be seen that the railway tracks of the Hudson River and Northern roads hug the water front very closely along the entire line. At some points, indeed, they run so closely to the new wharf line that they suggest the need for removal. Were the roadbeds at those points placed one or two hundred feet further back from the water front the change would vastly enhance the value of the property for the construction of warehouses.

It is extremely fortunate for this property that the railway extends along the shore of the river. The accident of direct railway communication will give to the warehouses to be erected along the wharves peculiar facilities possessed by few other sections of the harbor for handling and transshipping freight without the interposition of trucks and other expensive appliances. It will even extend an invitation to enterprise to come and occupy the new water front, and we shall look to see the railway give an immense stimulus to improvement.

But here enters a difficulty which the railway will be forced to meet and overcome. Just in the ratio of the rapidity of improvement along the water front will come embarrassment to the passenger traffic of the road. Trains now rush along the Harlem River at the rate of thirty and thirty-five miles an hour, possibly at even a higher rate of speed, and these trains are not only swift but frequent. They run at short intervals during the morning and evening hours, and together with the trains of the Northern road, which run along a parallel line, they keep track-walkers on the alert throughout the entire day. Few busier stretches of railway are to be found than the section between the Harlem River Bridge and the Hudson River.

Now, it should be readily seen that both the railway and water front property will be injured by the need for the frequent passage of these trains. All along the new channel it will be dangerous to cross the railroads with loaded vehicles if the trains are run at the prevailing rates of speed, and the water front property must be depreciated in value as a consequence. But, on the other hand, if the speed is reduced to a rate that will render traffic safe a half-hour at least must be lost in the running time of the roads; and all men who know the value which railway managers and the public attach to even a few minutes lost or gained in a railway trip will understand the importance of this consideration. The loss would seriously impair the operations of the railways.

Far-sighted policy on the part of the railway managers will look to early steps for the removal of this disability. It should be provided against by the time the new channel is opened for navigation; and as good policy will urge the prosecution of the work of improvement with the utmost energy, this is to say that it should be provided against immediately. The work of preparing new tracks for the passenger trains should be begun with as little delay as possible.

Relief for the Hudson River road may be very easily obtained. Between the Kingsbridge valley and the new cut of the Harlem Railroad at Fordham the distance is only a little more than one mile; and the interposing heights can be pierced by a tunnel or by a combined cut and tunnel which would be in no respect a very large undertaking. It is probable that a tunnel for the entire distance, however, would be the better form for the improvement; and after its completion the road would have an incomparably better line between the Harlem Bridge and Kingsbridge than it finds over its tortuous tracks along the Harlem River. The distance would not be materially greater, and, considering the crookedness of the tracks along the existing roadbed, it might not be so great. But the difference would be the merest trifle either one way or the other; and after the work was completed it would relieve the road of all future complications with property-holders and the municipal authorities. As to the cost, the road should be willing to pay an additional $1,000,000 for the privilege of forming a main artery to the heart of this great metropolis over a line where the blood will never become coagulated in its passage. We have no reason either to doubt the readiness of its managers. If their improvements have not always displayed the highest engineering perfection they have generally been made promptly as soon as it was found they were needed.

As to the Northern road it should find a means of relieving the Harlem River water front of the incubus of its surface passenger trains by an alliance with the Manhattan elevated roads. The day is soon coming when the Sixth Avenue road should be extended to Kingsbridge, and the natural line for the extension will be above the existing tracks of the Northern road. An elevated structure along that line would not be in the way of surface traffic, and it would be of great local convenience.

The discussion of this subject is not premature. The national Government, the municipal authorities, and the railroads are all engaged in carrying forward great engineering undertakings which will be of much advantage to the northern wards of the city. Large population and heavy traffic must soon follow; and our necessities should be not only clearly outlined, but, wherever practicable, provided for in advance.

The Ownership of Patents.

The securing, by the government, for limited terms to inventors the exclusive right to their discoveries is upheld on the grounds that it is done in the interest of the public and not of any special class. It has come to be a matter of controversy, however, whether or not the granting of these privileges do really promote the welfare of the people at large. At any rate our patent system is not viewed with the universal favor with which it once was. United opposition to the system of granting patents in this country at the present time comes from the Socialistic Labor party, which sets forth in one of the planks of its platform this demand: "The United States to have the right of expropriating patents, new inventions to be free to all, but inventors to be remunerated by national rewards."

A recent expression of the demand of this party was given at a regular meeting of the Chicago Socialists, held last Sunday, where a resolution, prompted by the shooting of the jeweller Gesswein, of this city, by the inventor Deyle, was submitted to vote and adopted, which declared it to be the duty of the government to own all patents for the purpose of protecting the inventive genius of the poor. The Socialists base their claims on the principle that no person should be given the exclusive right of producing, through the means of an invention, at the expense of the laborers thrown out of an occupation by this discovery of a new and cheaper process of production. Pay the inventor well if he is a public benefactor, but he should not be given the exclusive privilege of the use of an invention unless he compensates those whom it has thrown out of employment, is the view they hold. There seems to be considerable justice in this demand, for why should any one individual, because he happened to have sufficient money at his command with which to satisfy an inventor for his discovery, deprive society for a generation of a great share of the benefits of this discovery?

This opposition on the part of the Socialistic Labor party—by no means insignificant—does not carry with it as great force as does the general complaint now raised throughout the country against the exclusive right granted by the government to inventors in the production of those inventions, notably the telephone and various electrical appliances which, when once introduced, rapidly become indispensable to a business community. The cause for this complaint is the heavy exactions which the holders of these privileges are enabled to impose upon those who use the convenience or article supplied. Telephones have now become a necessity, yet a heavy tax is each year imposed upon business communities by a wealthy company which, through our patent system, have acquired exclusive control of the manufacture of these instruments. The phonograph, though it is not probable that it will ever come into so general use as the telephone, is now owned by a company which has the sole privilege of its manufacture and which can not be induced to sell this right. The community will receive little real benefit from this invention until the term covered by the patent expires. Many of the recent inventions of Mr. Edison pertaining to telegraphy have been bought by the Western Union Company and locked up in their vaults. Unwilling to go to the expense of substituting these improved inventions for those now in use on their lines, this company deprives the community of the benefit of electrical discoveries. These inventions were doubtless bought by the Western Union Company for no other purpose than to prevent other companies from securing them.

The benefits produced by our present patent system are so great and so many that its abolition, as the Socialists demand, would not be advisable, but a revision of the laws granting patent rights is certainly necessary if the interests of the community are to be best served. The remedy urged is that the right of purchase of a patent be reserved by the United States. Patents should be granted only on strong grounds and under conditions that will compel the owners to use them or forfeit the privilege of holding. These suggestions are not impracticable, and, if adopted, would remedy in great measure the existing evils of our patent system.

A Chicago paper, in speaking of the proposed new steamship line from England to Canada, remarks that, together with the Canadian Pacific Railroad, it would be a decided menace to this country in case of war, thus obviously implying that it would be a matter of no great difficulty to land in Canada an army sufficiently large to invade this country. A parallel opinion is expressed by a missionary, lately returned from China, who regards the awakening that is taking place in that country as a menace to the liberties of this, and speaks of the possibility of landing one or two million Chinese on our shores as a matter, which could take place on almost any day in the year or time in the night. The prospect is not an alarming one. In fact the missionary's statement is the reductio ad absurdum of that of the Chicago paper. Let any one who has any fear of a foreign invasion remember Lord Wolesley's assertion that it would be impossible for England, provided even that the French offered no obstacle, to land 50,000 properly equipped men in France at one time, and afterwards maintain them there effectively. How much more difficult would it be for the same country to land the same number of men on this side, and even if she could land them, what possible harm could be done by so small an army, as an army? We have been used to invasions in the past; and people cannot realize that so changed are the conditions of warfare, in the number of men necessary and in the elaborateness of their accoutrements, that invasion over an intervening body of water (and sometimes where no water intervenes) is a thing practically impossible. England, of course, would have an advantage over every other country in any attempt to invade the United States, because of her ports off our coast, and because of Canada; but even so, it would be folly unspeakable for her to make an attempt. Our danger from foreign nations does not come from invasion, but from the possibility of a fleet armed with the heaviest modern guns destroying millions of dollars of property along the sea-coast without even landing a man. Would it not be well for Chicago papers to occupy themselves with nursing their Exposition plant, and for missionaries to pay more exclusive attention to inculcating in the Chinese a disgust for warfare?

When is a Broker's Commission Earned?

In answer to an inquiry it was stated in the last issue of THE RECORD AND GUIDE that a broker "is not entitled to the (his) commission unless he procures a purchaser who is able and willing to complete the contract of purchase."

We have received many communications disputing the correctness of our statement of the law on the matter and from them we select the two following, as they present most completely the objections made:

Editor RECORD AND GUIDE:

Your law editor is certainly wrong in his reply to the "Law Query" of "Justice." The broker is entitled to his commission when he procures a party able and ready to make a contract on the terms of the owner, and if the owner is satisfied with him and the contract is signed by the parties it is no affair of the broker's if the purchaser is months, perhaps later, unable or unwilling to perform. The broker guarantees nothing as to the final performance by the purchaser.

LEX.

Editor RECORD AND GUIDE:

On page 1,367 of your issue of 12th inst., "Law Queries," your answer to "Justice" is precisely opposite to rules and regulations of the Real Estate Exchange and Auction Rooms, as published in their pamphlet, page 8, article 23, which reads as follows: "Brokerage shall be deemed to be earned when the time and terms are arranged between buyer and seller, the minds of both parties having fully met. It shall be due and payable when the contract is signed."

Your decision in the case of "Justice," as it appears on the surface, makes the broker guarantee the completion of the contract or forfeit his commission. The broker is not responsible in that way, and can recover his commission from the seller if the contract is signed by both parties.

W. B. TAYLOR.

The answer given to "Justice" correctly states the law of this State upon the subject. The rules of the Real Estate Exchange have no application to the question there presented, for the parties did not bargain under those rules. Of course, it is lawful for the members of the Exchange to make such a rule and to bargain under it in their dealings; but, in the absence of a special employment under or subject to the terms of this regulation, a broker who is a member of the Exchange can not bind a stranger with its terms. While it may be that the procuring of a person who will sign a contract according to the owner's terms is quite often, in the practical workings of business, all that is really done by the broker, yet, under the general rule of law applicable to brokers, that service alone (in the absence of a special bargain therefor), does not entitle the broker to his commission. It is a sale, as distinguished from procuring a signature to a contract, that he is employed to effect. His engagement is to procure a purchaser of the property, and not merely to obtain a person who may be entirely irresponsible, and wholly unable to carry out a contract, but who may be willing to sign a contract to buy. If the mere procuring of a person willing to sign a contract on the owner's terms without regard to the ability of this person to complete it or of his performance of it were the only service to be performed by the broker, there would be little protection to owners and little escape for them from liability to claims for commissions.

"Lex" is under a misapprehension as to the general rule of law on this subject. There would be little difficulty in procuring a person "able to make a contract." But the law on this question is plain and is well settled in this State. The rule has been announced as follows:

"A real estate broker, to show himself entitled to commissions on a sale, must show: 1st—an employment as a broker; 2d—original discovery of a purchaser, and a starting of negotiations by him as such broker; 3d—a final closing through the efforts of the plaintiff, by or on behalf of the owner, with the purchaser."—Com. of App.,

Men and Things.

When the announcement was made of a new hebdomodal publication, named and presumably modelled after the London Saturday Review, I watched for its appearance on the stands eagerly. It has always seemed to me that there was plenty of room for a really good weekly review; not so much room, indeed, as there is in London for such a publication, but a sufficiency to make one pay. "Good," however, is hardly the word to characterize this New York Saturday Review. It has, indeed, excellent principles. It abhors scandal. It is devoted to science, art, literature, music, drama and society. It endeavors to provide a "repast of clean, wholesome and well-seasoned food, which, taken inwardly, will prove easy of digestion, etc." The mental pabulum provided by the New York Saturday Review is certainly "easy of digestion," but personally I should advise everybody to take it "outwardly," or, in other words, not to take it at all. Questions like the following are propounded: "Is the study of the violin more inspiring to the composer than the piano?" Now, I maintain that this is not a very intelligible question. It might perhaps add to its more easy understanding if it had read rather more like this: "Is the study of the violin more inspiring to the composer than to the piano?" but even with this emendation I submit that there is some difficulty in arriving at the meaning of the question. Other problems are: "What is the tendency of art in America?" "What should be the tendency of literature in America?" "Is the amateur a benefit to dramatic art?" (The editor of the paper is an amateur.) In answering these questions the editor with commendable modesty, solicits the opinion of novelists, actors or managers, as the case may be, and then comments on these answers. For instance, Mr. Boucicault answers the literature question in the following pithy way: "The tendency of American literature should be to emancipate itself from its present slavery to the newspaper press. It is now abject to the minutaur." This is, I presume, the wholesome part of the meal. The comment is what the editor calls the "seasoning." "Like a trumpet call Boucicault's cry reaches us from the crowded depths of his experience. He has been a literary laborer all his life. * * * Content to glide through life with a pen as his battle-axe, and to use it to burst any barrier that stood between him and a living." The spectacle of Boucicault gliding along through life, bursting down barriers with battle-axes and issuing trumpet calls from the crowded depths of his experience is undoubtedly one that a reader could never find on the unseasoned pages of the London Saturday Review.

* * *

Dion Boucicault, by the way, seems to have a downright antipathy to his best friends—the newspapers. Last winter he delivered a philippic against the evil effects of journalism on dramatic art and it now seems that literature is involved in the same degrading subservience. It may be so. I, for my part, am very distrustful of these pretty little sayings that shut truth up in a nut-shell. There is often a great deal of human vanity in them and precious little human wisdom. And so Mr. Boucicault's bad opinion as to newspapers may be passed over with the comment that it is sincerely to be hoped that there will continually be a closer alliance between literature and journalism with subservience neither on one side or the other. However, revenons a nos moutons, let me state plainly and tersely what the matter is with this New York Saturday Review. Being named after the London Saturday Review and published ostensibly with the same purpose, it is but natural to compare the two. It is safe to say that in every way except that of (what shall I say?) American journalistic enterprise, the New York hebdomadary is pitifully the inferior of its London prototype. The former lacks sense, dignity, good matter and good style. It is scrappy, silly, and not in any way worth reading. It is simply the application of the worst methods in American journalism to an utterly unsuitable sphere. "Je ne suis qu'un pauvre diable de perruquier," said Voltaire's barber, "mais je ne crois pas en Dieu plus que les autres."

* * *

The different New York morning dailies have singularly opposite opinions as to the value of the same piece of news. A couple of weeks ago the corner stone of a very large and magnificent building on Park row was laid. Curiously enough, the World thought it of sufficient importance to give a full description of the ceremonies attendant on the solemn occasion, and a full report of the speeches, whereas the other papers thought it of so little moment that at most a few lines tucked away in one corner was all that was needed to tell the public that the foundations of this monument of journalistic enterprise had been laid. For the benefit of such of our readers as do not take the World, it may be said that, curious to relate, Chauncey M. Depew was the orator of the day. It is that gentleman's privilege always to officiate when there is anything big to be talked about. He spoke on the occasion of the Bartholdi monument celebration; he spoke at the recent Centennial rejoicings; he spoke when the corner stone of the World building was laid, and it is not unlikely that the address to be delivered on the opening of the World's Fair will come from the same facile speaker. But is not this same Mr. Depew holding himself a little cheap? I am aware that it needs only the persuasion of a Delmonico dinner to set the fountain of his admirable wit flowing; but to do the same thing for a mere Astor House lunch—well, I did not attend the lunch, so I do not know. The first appearance in public of a future celebrity was made on that day—Mr. Pulitzer's son. It is to be hoped that the mantle of journalism will hang more gracefully on his shoulders than it has on those of James Gordon Bennett.

A correspondent writes us as follows:

I have read for a long time your theatrical talk in the "Men and Things" column of THE RECORD, and I have judged therefrom that you are one well informed on things dramatic, and therefore able to answer a question of mine, if you will be so kind. I am a young and an earnest dramatic student, working with the view of one day being a dramatic author. Can you recommend me some good plays to study (outside of Shakespeare); also any books, essays, or articles on the drama or biographies of dramatists, or any book whatever, by the study of which you think I might profit?

The ambitions and strivings of unknown or unsuccessful talent have always been a fruitful source of fun for those whose serious business it is to be funny. The former are too earnest and too self-absorbed to see themselves as others see them; they lose, so far as they themselves are concerned, their sense of the humorous—from which may be deduced the paradoxical but true statement a sense of humorous prevents as much laughter as it causes. It is not, however, my intention to poke any fun or give any advice to the writer of the above, except the counsel, that the first book he had best consult is the dictionary. I will simply answer his questions. As to plays outside of Shakespeare, it would, of course, be futile to enter into any list of such as are worth reading. Let my correspondent turn to the article (not artical) on "Drama," in the "Encyclopedia Britannica," written by so able a stylist as A. W. Ward. There he will find a critical estimate of all plays worth reading from Aeschylus down; there are a great number of books and essays referring to the drama as there are dramas. A student cannot do better than read Lessing's "Hamburg Dramaturgy" (of which, I believe, a translation is published), or the article thereon by James Sully, in his miscellaneous essays. He will also find some acute suggestions in Prof. Blackie's compilation of Goethe's best utterances. A. W. Schlegel's "History of Dramatic Art" is good, but rather tiresome reading, while profit may be derived from George Henry Lewes' "Play and Players." A series of volumes, edited by Bander Matthews on "Actors and Actresses," may also be found useful. In general, if my correspondent will turn to any good critical estimate of a celebrated dramatist, such as Mosley's "Voltaire or Rousseau," Lowell's essay on Shakespeare, Swinburne's admirable papers on the old English dramatists, at present appearing in the English monthlies, he will be sure to find some ideas. But further enumeration is useless. One cannot describe the earth in thirty lines.

I do not know whether anyone has ever suggested that the stage must have been a potent element in the diffusion of Democratic ideas; but it is a suggestion worth considering. Stage royalty is indeed but a finsel affair, and in thinking of it the picture of Mrs. Triplett, discarding her crown with contempt and disgust and regarding her sausage with respect and admiration, inevitably recurs to one's mind. At any rate, why is it that the most inferior actor of a company is always selected to assume the majesty of a crown. Surely, if stage allusion counts for anything, no matter how small the part, it is worthy of an intelligent if not a great actor. Booth's support in "Richelieu" is fairly good; but he who plays the king is, as usual, inexcusably bad. Yet the part is certainly worthy of a high order of ability.

The nomination by the Republicans of James M. Varnum for Attorney-General, satisfactory as it is to all classes and professions, is particularly gratifying to the real estate interests of this city. Mr. Varnum was one of the original members of the Real Estate Exchange, and was prominent throughout in its organization. After the Legislative Committee was constituted he was chairman thereof for three years and filled that position with marked ability. It would have been difficult to make a more appropriate nomination. Already he has occupied positions of trust and responsibility to the satisfaction both of his constituents and the public. Moreover, his standing in the legal profession makes him particularly fitted for the position. In the cause of good government it is very much to be hoped that he will be elected.

Senator Cantor, when seen yesterday, expressed his belief that the next Legislature would grant the necessary powers to acquire title to property wanted in the Exposition Site. He thought if the matter were taken to the higher courts by some property-owners that they would be at once given precedence on hearing. If the Exposition was organized like any other corporation it could concern property under the law, just as the New York Central Railroad did, as long as it was willing to grant proper compensation to the owners. He did not feel that there would be any difficulty in acquiring the necessary ground through legal opposition.

Experiences in a Real Estate Office.

ALL ABOUT LEASES—SOME GOOD POINTS TO TENANTS.

My first entrance into the real estate business was signalized by an error in a lease which might have cost the owner dear had it not been discovered by the head of the firm before the document was signed. A clerk had been requested to fill out one of the usual forms of lease containing the clauses making the tenant responsible for all repairs, plumbing, etc. He completed one form and was on the point of commencing to fill out the duplicate, when he was unexpectedly called down town to close a negotiation of which he had charge, and I was requested to fill in the duplicate exactly as he had done the original. This I did. When the head of the firm, as was customary, read over the leases, he found that the clerk had used a form of lease which made the owner responsible for repairs instead of the tenant. As the term of rental was three years, and the owner had accepted a low rental on condition that the tenant would make the necessary repairs, it will at once be seen—should both parties have signed the leases without carefully scrutinizing the clauses, which often occurs—how the landlord might have suffered a loss of probably $500 by the error. Of course the documents were destroyed and new leases filled out.

The terms under which houses are leased vary. The simplest lease, and probably the most in use, is that in which the tenant merely stipulates to pay a stated rent and to keep the house in good condition; not to wilfully destroy any part of it, or to allow it to be destroyed through members of the family, servants, or any other persons who may reside with them. This is the least stringent; it is one which is most acceptable to tenants, and is always signed by them without hesitation. A more stringent form of lease is that in which the tenant stipulates to keep the plumbing, etc., in order at his own cost, or, rather, to surrender the house in as good tenantable condition at the expiry of his lease as he received it, and that during the term of his occupancy he will do any repairs, etc., that may arise, due to whatever causes. The contention of the owner or agent in such cases is this: "I have placed this house in good order. You have examined it and expressed your satisfaction with its good condition, and are willing to lease it. Very good; now what objection can you have to signing a lease to hand over the house to me in the condition you received it, and making any repairs that may become necessary? If any such repairs will be needed they will be through your own fault, not mine, and surely it is only reasonable and just to me to ask you to make any repairs due to your own fault."

Well, the argument looks plausible, but it is none the less specious. In the first place, the ordinary householder only makes a cursory examination of a house when he goes to see it with a permit. In some cases the houses are seen when occupied by the outgoing tenant, so that a thorough examination is almost as impossible as it might be intrusive, while in other cases the houses are vacant and the main object looked for is the suitability of the arrangements of the rooms, the location of the butler's pantry, the bathroom, the dressing-room, the stairs leading to the basement, and so forth, as well as the general condition of the house. The plumbing is glanced at, probably the water flush is applied to see the volume of water which flushes the closet, and the prospective tenant will probably glance at the plumbing to ascertain whether there are traps under every wash-basin and closet. But when he moves into the house, he may find before he has occupied it three months that several leakages have occurred in the pipes somehow, and that his plumber's bills for repairs have mounted up to the respectable little sum of $50 or more. Again, there may be a rain-storm or a heavy fall of snow during the night, and in the morning one of his servants will come to him with the story that the roof is leaking and that the carpet is all wet and will have to be taken up. This will involve a roofer's services or a plasterer's bill. Many other defects will crop up from time to time, until the tenant begins to find out that he has made a very bad bargain. So that any lease signed binding the tenant to do repairs and absolving the owner from doing them, should only be signed under two conditions; the first being that the tenant should get competent mechanics to examine the plumbing and plastering and see that the landlord puts the house in good order before he takes it; the second, being that he should obtain the house at a low rental.

There is one point to which special attention should be directed, the neglect of which has caused more annoyance and injustice to tenants than could possibly be imagined. Leases are generally signed by the latter on condition that certain repairs will be made by the owner before they move in. Now, these stipulations are generally verbal, not written. The tenant examines a house with an agent and, if satisfied with it, will probably say to the latter: "Now, I will take this house for two years at your figure, on condition that you will paper the first floor all through, the second floor front bedroom and the two hall rooms on the top floor; also, that you will paint the area railings, which are quite rusty, and put in a new window in place of a cracked one on the third floor rear square bedroom and replace three broken panes in the two hall rooms to be papered; also, that you will put a gas bracket in each of the hall rooms on the third and fourth floors." "All right," says the agent. The tenant takes the latter's word, and the next morning the leases are signed. Now, the owner may be present at the signing of the lease, and the subject of repairs may be considered as settled by the tenant and therefore not broached; or the tenant may say to the owner: "Of course, Mr. Johnson, you will have the necessary repairs done." "Certainly," says the landlord.

Now, here comes the rub. The time for occupancy draws nigh and the tenant wants to move in. He has waited for the repairs to be done, but the agent pleads that his workmen have not come to time. The tenant is now in a quandary. He has given up his present home and has taken up his carpets and otherwise prepared to move, and eventually the agent gives him some assurance that the repairs will be done when he moves in; "Sorry to inconvenience you," and all that sort of thing, and the tenant makes the best of the situation, and gets his "goods and chattels" into his new home. A few days after the workmen get in, and he is subjected to inconvenience and disorder for a week or two and possibly longer. In the meantime the gasfitters have not commenced work and the tenant comes home disgusted, after having been to see the agent for the tenth time. Besides, a difference of memory may take place as to whether the first floor was to be entirely papered or only the first floor front, and between the workmen and the agent the new tenant gets thoroughly disgruntled. If some arrangement was made as to repairs in plumbing, possibly the plumbers will tinker at the job until the new mistress of the house is at her wit's end about the damage to the carpets and the annoyance caused by the workmen being in the house on and off for so many days.

There is one remedy for all this. Do not fall into the mistake usually made of trusting to a verbal agreement with either an agent or an owner. I don't say this as a reflection upon either, but as a safeguard. Get everything down "in black and white." If you go over a house with an agent, jot down the different little repairs you wish to have done. If he agrees, as the owner's representative, to have them done, on condition that you take the house, take care, when you sign your lease and pay down your rent in advance, to have a duplicate copy of these various repairs attached to that document, with an addendum in the handwriting of the agent and owner that he will make the repairs mentioned in the attached memorandum before the term of tenancy begins. I place particular stress upon the italicized words for the reason that it will be a guarantee to you that the repairs will be done before you move in, and that you will not suffer the inconveniences I have described by their being done while you are in your new home. I have a case in mind as I write this, where an examination was made of the plumbing by a prospective tenant, who signed a lease on a verbal stipulation that certain changes and additions should be made as were considered advisable from a sanitary point of view by his plumber. It was over six weeks before the plumbers completed the work required to be done, and as it affected every floor in the house the annoyance and inconvenience during that time to the family can be well imagined. It will, therefore, be seen how essential a written agreement is in every case, and how illusory a verbal arrangement with the agent or owner is likely to be.

Now, a few words as to the many terms on which leases are signed. Tenancies of private houses are generally of one year's duration; of flats, for from one month to a year, or for the fall to the subsequent May, and of tenements, for one month almost invariably. Stores, lofts, offices, etc., are taken by the year or on a term of years. Stables are taken for a season or a stated period. Rents are sometimes made payable quarterly. A few tenants are sticklers for the old-fashioned method of paying their rent when due; that is, if monthly or quarterly payments are agreed upon, they insist that the lease be made out making their rents payable one or three months after their occupancy commences. But in nearly every case rents are now paid in advance. Indeed, it is not unusual for more than the first month's rent to be paid in advance.

And this naturally leads me to say a few words about a certain class of tenants who have afforded me as much amusement as they have annoyance. I refer to the boarding-house keepers. They are generally ladies of a shrewd character, whose sole means of subsistence lies in the profits they may make out of their boarders. They are, on the whole, not a very desirable class of tenants. They fill every room of their house, not always with the most careful of boarders, and often leave the premises at the end of their term in such a bad condition that two or three hundred dollars has to be spent to place them in good order again. They are not always the best of payers, and landlords and agents, having the experience of past years before them, now insist, not only in having the first month's rent paid in advance, but in a sum being deposited equal to two, or at least one, month's rent as security for a possible default. This is an objectionable feature of boarding-house renting, but it has evidently become necessary owing to the delinquency of this class of tenants, who have been known to allow their rents to remain unpaid for five or six months. When once the tenant is in arrears and the owner has no money security on hand, the tenant becomes master of the situation. The landlord has spent his money in repairing the house. Should he dispossess the tenant he not only loses the rent in arrear, but he risks the possibility of being unable to rent the house for months, thus losing interest on his money, and being under the expense of taxes, etc., besides. With this knowledge in their possession unscrupulous tenants who have only paid one month's rent in advance have not scrupled to get into arrears, and then either allow themselves to be dispossessed after owing several months' rent, or move their goods and chattels in the night time, or at an unearthly hour, unobserved, when the unsuspecting landlord is snug in bed or possibly residing many miles away at his country home. Boarding-house keepers have been great offenders in this regard in the past, and this accounts for the strictness with which agents and owners insist upon some money security being deposited by them, both as a guarantee of good faith and a safeguard against possibilities.

A MEMBER OF THE REAL ESTATE EXCHANGE.

There are certain sections of the city that change their character from period to period. They stagnate in a hybrid condition for many years, when suddenly some builder, more enterprising than other of his fellows, sees profit in tearing down the old structures and rearing a handsome modern building in their place. Other builders, attracted by the circumstance, come forward and follow suit. The change is sometimes marked in one spot. A church edifice will be built amid squalid surroundings; a high store building rises in the midst of some dilapidated brick structures; or a flat with some good architectural features makes its presence felt among less pretentious dwellings or rookeries. Improvements of this character, in neighborhoods where improvements have for some time been at a standstill, are nearly always superseded by others. Where one man leads others are ready to follow.

I felt this especially the other day, when I happened to be in the neighborhood of the old Polo Grounds. The fair field upon which the "The Giants" once disported their prowess to a cheering or a hooting crowd, was deserted by all but a few cows led there for pasture, and by an array of empty grand-stand benches. The inviolable fence which the irrepressible small boy tried to peep through, in order to catch a glimpse of "The Champions," was torn down, and 11th street, between 5th and 6th avenues, for so many years a closed thoroughfare, now makes its first appearance to the long suffering property-owners adjoining; that is, it appears through the torn-down fence, for the roadway has not yet been commenced, nor is a trace of the curbing, flagging, or guttering, etc., discernible.

Opposite the Polo Ground, with its old memories, a scene of real beauty at this autumn tide meets the view. It is the extreme northeastern end of the park and the beautiful, winding lake on which I have often rowed with so much pleasure, seems prettier than ever with the sunlight of a cool clear day reflected upon its surface, and the leaves of rich red and fading gold holding court, as it were, upon the surrounding hills, after having bidden good-bye to summer.

Turning eastwards into 110th street, I am brought back to a sense of the realistic by the vacant lots, and the stone brick and mortar which appears before me. This street for many years had no particular charm for the passer-by. It was of a mixed character. It was a conglomeration, and still is, of frame houses, recalling memories of ante-fire-limit days, with rows of brick and brown stone fronts. East of 3d avenue I have little respect for the street, either for its average denizen or its quaint architecture. But near the Polo Grounds, at Madison avenue, it has undergone one of those very changes which I spoke of at the beginning of this letter. The change is a marked one to those who remember the spot scarcely seven years ago. Not only one, but the whole four corners of Madison avenue and 110th street have now the appearance of respectability which is coincident with the march of improvement in our day. It is not difficult to discern the causes which led the builders of these flats to venture there. The 110th street cross-town cars no doubt gave them the cue, for they made Madison avenue and 110th street a junction which, next to 125th street, is the most important in Harlem. These cars connect conveniently every avenue in the city, from the East to the North River, with Madison avenue. They start in at 1st avenue and then run westwardly to St. Nicholas avenue; then northerly to 125th street, and then westwardly to the North River.

Another improvement that will soon benefit the neighborhood is the plaza or circle which is to be laid out a few hundred feet away, at the junction of 5th avenue and 110th street.

The latest improvement on one of the four corners named is that of the five flats recently completed by John S. Scott, on the southwest corner of Madison avenue and 110th street. There is little to distinguish their fronts, which are of the regulation brown stone on the avenue, and brick, with brown stone trimmings, on the street. The porticos have granite columns with a balustrade of brass and iron, the latter metal of which the basement railings are also composed.

The entrance doors are of hard wood, with beveled-glass windows. The hallway walls are stuccoed in a circular design of prismatic colors. This is quite effective in its way, and is carried up on the main hallways from the first to the top floor.

The avenue houses have each eight rooms and a bathroom, there being one suite of apartments to each floor. The corner house has seven rooms and bathroom, and two suites per floor, while on the first floor it has a large double corner store and four small single stores on the street.

The front and rear parlors of each suite are thrown into one, thus giving ample space. The division between the two rooms is by a portiere arrangement. A mantel, mirror and fire-place are in the front parlor, and chandeliers in both the rear and front. The bathroom is quite spacious for this class of apartments, while the dining-room adjoins a sitting-room and kitchen, which has a range, refrigerators, tubs and other household conveniences. There is a private hallway to each suite, from which every room can be entered. Steam heat permeates the entire floor with warmth, and electric bells, annunciators and other improvements are provided. The dining-rooms on the upper floors face the Central Park, and the upper lake with the surrounding foliage affords a pleasant view at meal times.

The corner building is arranged on the same plan as the inside flats, though the arrangement of the parlors is somewhat different, and if anything preferable to those in the latter. They consist of two fair-sized rooms, with two rooms communicating with them, and thus allow of four rooms, in a square, to be thrown open in connection. They permit of an arrangement whereby each parlor can have its bedroom attached, or whereby the two parlors can be used for reception rooms, while one of the adjoining rooms can be used as a bedroom and the other as a sitting-room or library. To flats of this kind it is possible to give a good or a bad tone. All depends upon the good taste and refinement of the occupants. It is not necessary to have wealth to live in them, but well-to-do families can, none the less, and as a matter of fact do, find in them sufficient rooms, with the necessary improvements to make a pleasant and cheerful home. There are courts between each house, and the light and ventilation are excellent throughout.

This example of an improvement on a long-neglected street shows that changes are taking place there which will soon affect other parts of the same neighborhood. What with the improved street-car communication, the forthcoming plaza at Central Park, 5th avenue and 110th street, and the nearness of the Central Park itself, it is somewhat surprising that 110th street should be slow to be appreciated. It is not at all likely that it may develop into a business street later on. Indeed it is so to some slight extent already, as will be seen on passing from Madison to 3d avenue. But, however that may be, the street is susceptible of improvement and will no doubt show a considerable change in character five years hence.

WANDERER.

Suggestions from Geo. S. Lespinasse.

In conversation with a representative of THE RECORD AND GUIDE Geo. S. Lespinasse suggested that Secretary Noble or ex-Secretary Wm. C. Whitney be selected as director-general of the Exposition. It would require, he felt, a man of first-class standing and ability to hold this position, a man in whom the business community would have perfect confidence that the millions contributed toward the Fair would be wisely and properly spent and the work expeditiously and satisfactorily executed. As general superintendent of architecture he suggested such a man as Richard M. Hunt; as financial director some one understanding finances, like Samuel D. Babcock, and as general overseer of the work a man who has had charge of ten thousand men and who understands how to handle them properly, just as a general directs the movements of an army.

Should the site selected be found an impossible one later on, owing to difficulties in acquiring the ground from owners, he would suggest as the next best site a section about a mile or so to the north of the present selected site, comprising some 320 acres, owned by only four parties—the Astor, Pinckney and Watts estates, and Lewis G. Morris. The site is bounded by 142d street on the south, 155th street on the north, Mott avenue on the east and 7th avenue on the west. The New York Central Road runs through the property; the New York and Northern and Harlem roads run up to it; the New Haven Road can easily be connected with it; all the "L" roads run up or near to it, and the Suburban Rapid Transit Road has a franchise to run through part of it, while the Madison avenue, 3d and 8th avenue horse-cars connect with it. Besides this, boats and steamers can land there, and the sail by water could be made short and agreeable. A short tunnel is contemplated by the city under Macomb's Dam Bridge, which, with bridges, could connect both sides of the Harlem River, which is very narrow at that point.

Notice has been given by the Department of Public Works that according to the law 10 per cent. additional will be added on the 1st of November next to all unpaid Croton water rates,

The Growth of Tenement House Sanitation.

With the improved methods of light and ventilation which are now characteristic of New York tenement construction a glance at the past and present system of house drainage as in use in this class of dwelling is instructive and reassuring, as showing the unsanitary surroundings of the tenement a few years ago compared with those now being erected in this city.

It is not necessary to go back much farther than a decade and recall to mind how the tenement building of that day was provided with what we will call sanitary (?) requirements. Let us see what these requirements were. We will begin with the privy vault in the rear yard, which would hardly need any special description at our hands but for the necessary reference to its mode of discharge through the house sewer into the main sewer in the street. This was one of the most objectionable features of the house drainage of the period. The privy vault, built of brick, with outlets from 6 to 16 inches above the bottoms, discharged the contents, in the first instance into, a cesspool or manhole, and thence into the house drain. The flushing of this cesspool was generally effected by means of the roof water discharged through the leaders and the waste from the hydrants in the yard, but this method was a continual source of danger to the health of the people. The discharge of the contents of the vault was never properly accomplished, the liquid filth only being carried away through the outlet, while the heavier deposits remained to evolve putrid gases which, entering the house drain, were carried through the untrapped branch wastes into every room in the building. At every heavy rainfall the renewal of the foul odors was inevitable, and the conditions of living under these circumstances were anything but conducive to health.

The abolition of the privy vault and the introduction of the school sink was the next progressive step, but subsequent experience demonstrated that this latter receptacle, even though put in position under the direction of the Board of Health, was only a step removed from the privy, and in turn the order was given that the school sink was to be a thing of the past.

The next step was the hopper closet in the yard, its flushing operated by seat pressure opening a valve on the water service pipe, and this we have yet, although there is ample opportunity for still further improvement in yard sanitation.

The plumbing work indoors has shown considerable progress also. When the era of flats was fairly commenced it became "the correct thing" to introduce indoor sanitary comforts. The plan of locating a series of water closets one over another on the several floors took well with prospective tenants. It bespoke comfort and convenience, and the builder met the demand, but on the very cheapest terms possible. Contracts were made with plumbers, and carried out in whatever manner would yield the most profit to both builder and plumber, and the conditions of the work gave little or no concern to any one so long as it was made to pay. It was not uncommon to find at that period only one trap on the entire plumbing system of a floor, the pipes of sinks, tubs, baths and basins all being grouped together and discharged into the trap of the water closet. The rain leader also did double duty, that of leader and soil pipe, and where there was an independent soil pipe it rarely if ever was run above the roof. Here and there we find traces of this class of work, but it is a matter of congratulation that wherever they come under the Argus eye of the Board of Health they have to give way to the progressive spirit of the age, and take on the new forms of the present time.

Within the past two years a marked change in the methods of plumbing in vogue took place. The old tarred pipe system gave way before the introduction of the heavy untarred article for soil and waste pipe—and the "skin" plumber had to take a "back seat," and allow his more honest competitor to come to the front. The half-caulked joints in iron pipe, when detected, brought their own punishment, and the plumbing fraternity at last woke up to a realization of the fact that the plumbing work in the tenement house had to be made as safe as in a 5th avenue mansion. This was a change and a much-needed one.

One of the effects of the "new departure" of the Health authorities was a wholesome pruning of the plumbing fraternity by forcing those who were unable to keep up with the times to retire and leave the field to the class honest enough to cultivate it with a decent regard of their obligations.

The plumbing work as done to-day in New York tenement buildings is performed by competent men, and this is in itself an evidence that there is some ground for believing that the march of progress is not likely to be checked, even in this direction.

The latest advance on the road to perfect security in plumbing is the severe test applied to joints in iron pipe, by means of either air or water. Under the operation of the one or the other, the work must be up to a high standard, and the lead work must be correspondingly good. Every fixture must have its trap, and every trap must have the necessary venting appliances to secure it from siphonage. Water-closets in the floors are of the most approved serviceable character, and are no longer the nuisance they were wont to be in the past, and the amplest provision exists to-day for the safe and speedy removal of house wastes of every description. It must be admitted, therefore, that there is real substantial progress in tenement house sanitation in New York City. From the opening of the main sewer in the street to the extension of the soil and waste pipes above the roof, the work is submitted to close official scrutiny; but while this is an advantage it is not exaggeration to say that much of its good results is thrown away on a rather large section of the tenement house population. They do not know how to appreciate the sanitary facilities afforded them, and it will need a considerable amount of some civilizing process to make them do so.

The Park Department has awarded the contract for macadamizing the west side of Morningside avenue, from 110th to 122d street and 10th avenue, to G. F. Doak for $28,515; for a sewer in "the Bungay district," to run from about 167th to 144th street and Long Island Sound, to J. Curran & Co. for $136,892; for branch sewers on Burnside avenue to J. W. O'Grady for $18,507, and a sewer in 147th street to M. Lipps for $1,953.

Our Letter Bag.—Removal not the Destruction of the City Hall.

Editor RECORD AND GUIDE:

"Subscriber" in your issue of the 5th inst. made a practical suggestion regarding the new Municipal building which should receive the attention of the public.

New York should have a City Hall of a size, appearance, and grandeur commensurate with the importance of the city as the commercial metropolis of the country. The present City Hall is the smallest in height of all the buildings in its neighborhood. From every point of view it is insignificant in size, and is daily becoming more so.

And yet, architecturally and aesthetically, it is justly admired, and it has often been classed as the most beautiful structure in our city. Public opinion would long hesitate before sanctioning its destruction, even though it does stand on the only site suitable for a new building.

The removal of the City Hall to another locality and its use for another purpose, is feasible and not difficult of accomplishment. If it were taken down and erected again in the Central Park, above 96th street, it might be used as a museum for the preservation of historical relics belonging to the city, and there, surrounded by trees, lawns and sheets of water, it would again appear in its original beauty, and be one of the permanent attractions of the park.

The space thus made vacant would admit of the erection of a new City Hall between Broadway and Park row, fronting south, with the main facade on the northerly line of Murray street. This site is sufficient for a building 450x200, which dimensions would give the architects all the opportunity needed for the most imposing building in the city, and one which would accommodate the city government permanently.

A Precedent for Scattered Fair Buildings.

Editor RECORD AND GUIDE:

Apropos of an editorial remark in to-day's RECORD AND GUIDE, let me, as ex-dévant Assistant-Secretary of the United States Sanitary Commission, remind your readers that the great Sanitary Fair, held in New York during the war—the net proceeds of which amounted to one million three hundred and sixty-five thousand dollars ($1,365,000)—was held in separate buildings, half a mile apart, viz.: the temporary structures put up for the occasion on the 17th street end of Union square, and the Armory building, still in use on 14th street, between 6th and 7th avenues.

Mr. Edison's criticisms on the "old masters" are interesting, as coming from him; but while some of their productions are above and beyond criticism, I wonder if many tourists, well cultured in the fine arts, don't agree with him as to the majority of the real or pseudo examples of the "old masters." The first batch acquired by Mr. Blodgett for our own Art Museum are certainly, with but a few exceptions, nothing to rave over, and Mr. Ruskin himself informs us that he wrote a great deal of rubbish when troubled with the "youngness" of an Oxford graduate. Respectfully,

A. J. BLOOR.

Which Earns the Commission?

Editor RECORD AND GUIDE:

A dispute has arisen as to which agent is entitled to the commission in the following transaction. All parties interested have agreed to abide by your decision, and have agreed upon the following as being the facts:

A. is the owner of a property which he is anxious to sell. He visits the office of Y. & Co., tells them that he is anxious to sell, explains to them, why; says his price is $25,000, but might take a little less; asks them to use their best efforts, and submit to him any bona-fide offer they can obtain for the property. Y. & Co. enter the property on their books.

A few days later, possibly a week, A. visits the office of Z. & Co., has the same general conversation that he had with Y. & Co., and gives them the same instructions that he gave to Y. & Co. Z. & Co. enter the property on their books.

B. who is looking for a property for his business, visits the office of Y. & Co., tells them what he wants, asks them what they have for sale that they think would answer his purpose; they give him a list of about a dozen places, and in the list they put the property owned by A. at $25,000. They informed B. that all the prices given in the list are subject to negotiation, and if he finds anything there that he thinks would suit him they will be glad to negotiate for that particular price. B. visits all the places given in the list, including the property owned by A. does not go in any of them, don't see anything that he thinks would answer, some are too small, others too large, some not in right location, etc.; don't think any of these places would do, and so reports to Y. & Co.

Z. & Co. hear that B. is looking for a place. They visit him, talk with him, ascertain from him just about what he wants. They tell him about A.'s property that they think that with slight changes in the interior arrangements it would suit his purpose admirably; that the price is $25,000, but they know that A. is anxious to sell and might shade that a little; they take him to look at the place; in short, they talk it up and it results in B.'s making them an offer for the property of $23,500, which they submit to A. and which he promptly accepts. Contracts are signed, deed to be passed, and money paid November 15, 1889. A few days after contract is signed, Y. & Co. hear that B. has purchased the property through Z. & Co. and immediately put in a claim to A. for the commission on the ground that B. first obtained his knowledge that the property was for sale from the list which they gave him (which is admitted), and that they were, therefore, the procuring cause of the sale, and threatened to sue if they were not paid.

Z. & Co. claim the commission on the ground that they were the ones who consummated the sale, that they negotiated it and that it was their work and efforts, and nothing that Y. & Co. did that brought the negotiations to a successful termination.

A. is ready to pay as soon as it is decided who is entitled to it.

All parties interested agree that the case is fairly stated herein, and agree to abide by your decision, which they hope to see in this week's issue of your valuable paper.

Respectfully yours,

ALL SUBSCRIBERS.

Z. & Co. and not Y. & Co. are entitled to the commission. To entitle a broker to the commission the sale must result from his efforts. If he open negotiations with a customer but fail to bring him to terms, and if there be an abandonment of the negotiation or efforts, another broker may take up the same customer, and if through his efforts a sale be finally effected, the latter broker and not the former is entitled to the commission.

Building Association Notes.

The Bureau of Industrial Statistics of the Department of Internal Affairs of Pennsylvania, as has been mentioned before in this column, has undertaken of late to gather the statistics of the building associations in that State for the year ending November 30, 1888. As was to be expected, the first attempt is very incomplete. Out of the thousand associations chartered in the State only some 337 could be made to report, the difficulty being that the institutions are not required to make returns to any of the State Departments. No record is in existence of the names and addresses of their officers; and the letters sent to them failed to reach their destination. The figures obtained were collected chiefly by personal visits to the homes of the secretaries or to the meeting rooms of the associations.

The facts, nevertheless, are interesting, and fully carry out everything that has been claimed for the associations in the way of cheapness and efficacy for their purpose. The total number of outstanding shares in the reporting associations was 459,082; the total cash receipts for the year, $11,739,041.54; the total cash expenditures, including loans, $11,089,821.92; current expenses for the year, $115,926.51. The total assets of these associations at the end of the year amounted to $28,348,871.17, of which $26,279,286.52, consisting of loans, $1,059,525.61 of real estate, $649,218.92 in cash, and $361,109.12 in sundries. This real estate item, by-the-by, seems inexplicably large. Why should the associations own real estate? The money loaned, it is true, constitutes a mortgage on the real estate of the intended builder; and if the interest and dues are not paid the association can foreclose the mortgage and take title to the property. But it is the boast of the people connected with the movement that this happens but very seldom, whereas if the $1,059,525.61 of real estate represents property acquired in that way foreclosures would not happen seldom, but often.

Assuming that the averages shown by the 337 reporting associations would apply to the 1,000 existing associations, it is a simple matter to calculate approximately what the total figures for the State may be. The approximation so obtained would, we judge, be too large rather than too small, for we judge that it was from the associations in and around Philadelphia that the returns were largely obtained. The gentleman in charge of the collection of the figures is the editor of a building and loan association newspaper in that city, consequently it was in that vicinity that the addresses of the officers would most likely be known. And as these associations are the richest probably in the State, the figures deduced will probably err on the side of being too large. The facts already given then indicate a total membership for the State of 218,000, a gross number of shares amounting to 1,362,500, representing assets of $84,121,270. The yearly receipts would come up to $34,830,983.50; the yearly disbursements, including loans, $32,907,482.55; cash on hand, $1,926,438.93. A really remarkable feature of the report is the small showing that the expenses of these associations makes—indicating that whatever else the officers work for, their earnings in the way of salary are singularly small. The average for each association is only $343.99.

Articles of incorporation have been filed lately of two new building and loan associations, one of which has been mentioned in these columns before. The first is the Model Building and Loan Association, of Mott Haven. John S. Hausen is the president, Edward F. Parkins is the vice-president, J. Clark Wilson is the secretary, and Wilson W. Farrington, the accountant. The other is the Greenwich Building and Loan Association, of which Patrick Summers is the president, James F. Kenny is the vice-president, Chas. O'Neill the secretary, and John J. Crytan the treasurer.

In the City Departments.

A number of property-owners conferred with the Board of Estimate and Apportionment at their last meeting to obtain an appropriation for building the viaduct, at 155th street and 8th avenue, to the bluffs at Washington Heights. The plan shows a structure 1,500 feet long and 60 feet wide, with a roadway 40 feet in width, having a grade of about 4 feet to the hundred, and to cost $485,000. The plans were approved and accepted, and the city will pay half the cost and the property-owners benefited the other half. Some difficulty appears to exist in regard to easements which some of the property-owners will not grant. Until this matter is settled no work will be commenced on the bridge, and it is not impossible that special legislation may be required to acquire the rights to the necessary ground. The viaduct is very much needed and will be a great improvement to the neighborhood, as it will save the climb from 8th avenue to the Heights at St. Nicholas avenue and 155th street.

The Board of Estimate and Apportionment have referred the matter of appropriating $13,000 for heating the Court House by steam to the Tax Commissioners.

Notices to property-owners are to be advertised for ten days of the intention of the city to take the necessary parcels by condemnation proceedings in the matter of the widening and extending of College place.

The Board of Street Opening and Improvement will hold a special meeting on Friday next, at 11 A. M., to consider the matter of the Elm street improvement. Property-owners and others interested will therefore have another week in which to prepare their briefs.

A Model Single Flat.

This is an age of new ideas, and new ideas are not wanting in the architectural treatment of all classes of buildings nor in the manner in which they are laid out in their interiors. There are a good many copyists and but few originators; yet, despite all this, new ideas are coming to the front every day. They are seen in our houses, our stores, our factories, our office buildings, and even in our apartment houses. There is an attempt in many directions to depart from the stereotype brown stone fronts. Of course it is not every builder or capitalist that can afford to leave the beaten path, and those who can afford it, often have neither the wit nor the inclination. Whenever it is trodden, if it be trodden well, there is a refreshing tone about it that commends it to every lover of beauty and utility. In the flat I am about to describe the builder has produced not only a novel exterior but a well-arranged interior, and has produced something really new, taken as a whole.

We need reform, especially in our flats and tenements. There is too much monotone to their fronts. The single flat is much the exception and the double flat the rule. That a family can live within the confines of ten by twelve and a-half feet of space is somewhat remarkable, and it is certainly due as much to the geographical conditions of Manhattan Island, with its crowded population on a small area, as it is to the fact that the regulation width of a New York City lot is only 25 feet. But I am digressing. I want to show what has been done with a 20-foot lot, and how some builders may take an idea or two from a flat which stands on the north side of 122d street, just west of the 7th avenue Boulevard.

This building covers a lot but 20 feet wide. To the eye of the ordinary observer it has the appearance of a 25-foot flat. It is the most striking piece of architecture on the block, and has a front different to anything I have seen in Harlem or down town. The architect or builder has combined interior convenience and elegance of finish with exterior beauty and dignity of architectural treatment. He has displayed good taste as well as wisdom in utilizing the broken front lines presented by a high-stoop dwelling on the one side, and a corner flat set flush with the building line on the other. The front is designed in the modern Romanesque, and is of Scotch red sandstone on the basement and first story and of Indiana limestone on the stories above. The main feature of the front is the circular bay window which extends from the basement to the roof, terminating in a tower of graceful proportions. These bays with their mullioned windows of curved British plate, their round reveals and carved mouldings, present a most striking appearance. A second row of square windows from basement to roof completes the main features of the exterior of this 20-foot front flat.

The portico entrance is quite a gem. It is purely Romanesque in character, with three-quarter columns and carved caps supporting a semi-circular arch of rock-faced sandstone and carved mouldings. The portico finishes with a balustrade of small columns with carved caps and rails. All the windows are of British glass, with transom headlights of mosaic glass in unique designs.

The entrance and vestibule doors are of antique oak, with heavy bronze trimmings, beveled French plate and frosted glass. The vestibule flooring is tiled, and the walls, wainscoting and ceiling are entirely covered in hardwood panels. The letter boxes are invisible, being ingeniously concealed behind moveable panels.

The main hall is tiled in rich encaustic and wainscoted in cherry panels. The ceiling is frescoed, while the side walls are covered in heavily embossed paper in three tints of bronze, and lighted by outside windows. Attractive lanterns hang in the vestibule, hall and stairway landings.

The staircase is of highly-finished white oak, with richly-carved newel posts, the latter forming an effective contrast to the surrounding trim of dark cherry. Each suite has its private hallway, from which every room can be entered. The parlors are cosy rooms and are trimmed in hardwood. They have mantels, mirrors and fire-grates of special design, with onyx tiled hearths and facings. The floors are of waxed white maple, with a soft border, so as to allow of the use of either rugs or carpets. The rear parlor, which can be used as a music-room or library, is divided from the main parlor by a transom with spindle screens and curtain poles. The latter are also supplied to all the windows, as well as shades and blinds.

The dining-room in each suite is trimmed in old oak in panels. It has a rich mantel, mirror and fire-grate, and a pretty stationary buffet, in a design of archways and columns, containing a mirror, drawers, lockers, shelves, etc. Two bedrooms and a bathroom divide the dining-room from the parlors.

The kitchen is so far removed from the living rooms, and so exposed to air, that no cooking odors can make their way to them if the proper precautions be observed. It is fitted with all the necessities of a culinary department and opens at the rear on an iron staircase, which also answers as a fire-escape.

The flat is artistically decorated throughout, and the general air is one of refinement. The gas is lighted by electricity, electric bells connect with every room, the house is warmed by indirect radiation, the plumbing is of the best character, and the closets are of porcelain, with tiled under-flooring. Light and ventilation are especially provided for, the flat being entirely detached from any other house, with the exception of 15 feet on one front side wall, thus giving outside windows to every room and passage.

The view from the upper floors is quite pleasing. Morningside Park appears in the near distance, while the driving on the 7th avenue Boulevard can be watched from the front windows.

The architect, Geo. F. Pelham, and the owner, James E. Wilson, are to be congratulated upon the excellence of a building which they have added to the architectural features of Harlem.

A Remarkable Brick Works.

BRICK MAKING BY MACHINERY—ECONOMIZING IN TIME, LABOR AND MATERIAL—REVOLUTIONIZING THE OLD-TIME METHODS OF MANUFACTURE—NINE ACRES OF BUILDINGS.

A silent revolution is taking place, almost at our very doors, in the process of manufacturing the most essential of building materials, and but few of us are aware of it. Within eighteen miles of us millions of brick are being turned out for the market with a minimum of handling, every one of which is prepared for the kiln by machinery. Indeed, from the very moment the clay is taken out of the earth to the spot at which it is shipped to its destination the process of manufacture is practically done by machinery, human hands scarcely being used at all until the brick is manufactured. Not only that, but it is never handled more than once by the same set of men, each having his particular work to do.

No one who has not been over the factory and seen the process of manufacture from beginning to end, under his very eyes, would realize how perfectly harmonious the system is and how it is worked out with profit to the company which owns the factory.

A TRIP TO LORILLARD.

A representative of THE RECORD AND GUIDE jumped on a Jersey Central train, at the foot of Liberty street, a few days ago, and took a run out to Lorillard, N. J., to see the brick factory of the Lorillard Brick Works Company, and he is indebted to the courtesy of Jacob Lorillard, who was good enough to show him over the entire works. These are so extensive that it occupied about three hours and a-half in quick order to see the main features and have them briefly explained. This will be more readily understood when it is stated that the distance from the spot where the clay is being taken out of the earth to the point of shipment is about a mile and the lands owned by the company extend much further still.

THE FIRST STAGE.

I was first taken to the place where the initial stage of the process is under way. Here I found a number of men at work in various ways. The first thing done is to take the clay out of the earth. This is accomplished by a species of digging machine, called a "steam shovel," which is worked in derrick fashion. The shovel is first lowered by the engineer. It has a number of sharp knives at the end. These are set into the clay at a distance of some 20 feet below the earth, and the shovel is then put in motion upwards by the machinery. As it rises it cuts through the clay as cleanly as a razor through cream, and with as much ease. By the time it has cut up to terra firma the shovels are filled with clay, which is at once emptied on a car. This is immediately dispatched up to the factory by means of a horse part of the way, and by a cable the remainder of the way, the distance being about a quarter of a mile. This cable is worked by a donkey engine at the factory, which is perpetually keeping in motion the different cars that are sent down the tracks empty to receive the clay and sand and then return filled with both.

IN THE FACTORY BUILDINGS.

When the clay and sand reach the clay-house they are emptied on to the floor, adjoining a sluice. A number of men are engaged continually shovelling both ingredients, in the proper proportions, into this sluice. The sluice is an aperture, at the point of beginning, some eighteen inches wide. The process of manufacture practically starts in here. Along this sluice, in an upward direction, the sand and clay are borne on belts till they come to what is known as a "pugmill." This pugmill mixes and tempers the sand and clay together, which is then dropped into corrugated rollers, thus taking out from the sand all pebbles. It is then dropped into the smooth rollers and then taken, by a rubber belt, to the brick machines by an automatic process.

THE BRICK MACHINES.

Out of these it is pushed onward—still by machinery—in horizontal sections. The latter come out cleanly and symmetrically on to tables, where they are cut to any size necessary. Each brick machine turns out 144 raw bricks per minute, and about 75,000 are turned out in ten hours' work.

IN THE DRYING TUNNELS.

When the raw bricks are placed on the cars waiting for them alongside of the brick machines, they are at once rolled into the drying tunnels. These tunnels, of which there are ninety-eight, cover an area of three acres and are fifteen miles in length. In them the bricks are submitted to a temperature of 200 degrees Fahrenheit, till they are thoroughly dried. This takes from ten to twenty-four hours. The air is heated with some 700,000 square feet of radiating surface and the hot air is drawn through these tunnels at the rate of fifteen miles an hour, as the aerometer registers. This is done by means of blowing machines, of which the largest is 165-horse-power. The immense radiating surface is obtained by no less than between 200 to 300 miles of heating pipes.

IN THE KILNS.

When the bricks are dried they are taken out of the tunnels and on the same cars. On these they are transferred along tracks into the kilns, where they are stacked face to face, which brings them out uniform in color. This small circumstance goes to show one of the hundreds of instances of care and forethought exercised in the process of manufacture. If the bricks were not set face to face they would not be of a uniform color after being burnt. There are ten kilns in all, each of which holds 1,000,000 brick. It takes seven days for the brick to be thoroughly burnt, and this is accomplished by a slow burning of the furnaces to the proper heat and their being kept up to that heat. There are 280 furnaces in the kilns, and the coal used is enormous. It takes five days for the brick to cool after they have been thoroughly burnt. The Lorillard kilns, by the way, are said to be the largest in the world.

SHIPPING THE BRICK.

When the bricks are cool the process of manufacture is complete. They are then placed on wheelbarrows and put on to cars. Each barrow holds 100 bricks, and there are twelve barrows, or 1,200 bricks, on each car. There are generally six cars to a train, and these are attached to a locomotive, and started along

AN IMMENSE PIER.

This pier is about 4,000 feet long, and it has been built out that distance so as to reach water deep enough to load vessels going to Southern and West Indian ports. Besides, it keeps the shore ice away from the vessels in cold weather, so that they can load in the depth of winter. Along this pier the engine starts every twelve minutes with 7,200 manufactured bricks. Wishing to see the thing out, from start to finish, I jumped on one of these cars with Mr. Lorillard, and was whirled at a good speed along the pier right out into the water for about three-quarters of a mile. Here the engine stopped to attach some coal cars which were unloading coal for use in the factory. These cars were drawn back on a switch, which at the same time hauled the bricks alongside of a large barge. The wheelbarrows were at once taken off the cars by a crowd of laborers, who then wheeled them on to the vessels, where they were stacked by men on board for shipment to their destination. That was the last I saw of them. It takes from twenty to twenty-four days from the time the clay is taken out of the ground to the time when the bricks are delivered at the buildings where they are to be used. While I stood there I noticed a lot of wheelbarrows from which the bricks had been taken, returning empty with the coal cars, the engine doing a double work, thus in this manner economizing time in hauling.

ECONOMIZING LABOR.

Indeed, everything is done on the same principle. During the few hours I spent at Lorillard I saw the brick in every stage of its manufacture and handling, and I noticed that not only was everything planned by the use of machinery, so as to save labor, but that no time seemed to be lost anywhere, from beginning to end. Each different process had a different set of workmen, whose specialty it was to look after their particular functions, and everything passed from one stage to another like clockwork. Mr. Lorillard is said to be the author of the system, which took him two years to perfect. He is by profession a civil engineer, and though very wealthy found pleasure in evolving the plans which brought this remarkable factory into existence, as well as into perfect consecutive running order. It is, indeed, remarkable to see the clay and sand dug out of the ground and then passed on from stage to stage till the bricks are shipped. And all this before one's very eyes.

SOME POINTS.

The fact that the brick are turned out by machinery enables them to be manufactured all the year round. Not only that, they can also be manufactured night and day; so that there need be no cessation from work, should an amplitude of orders demand it. Electric lights and steam heat run through the entire buildings, and this enables night work to be done, and makes the place comfortable in winter. As other yards are closed for about half the year and do not work at night, it gives the Lorillard factory an advantage as of four to one on an ordinary factory of the same producing capacity, as it can produce every day in the year if desired.

The largest brick factory in this State has turned out about 40,000,000 bricks in a year. The Lorillard factory turned out 50,000,000 without any effort, while it is possible for them to supply brick in almost unlimited quantities. They expect this year to turn out about 100,000,000.

There are no less than eight and a-half miles of steel tracks in and about the factory. On these tracks everything is conveyed. The men do no carrying at all, unless when absolutely necessary, everything being done to reduce labor, and therefore the main cost of production, to a minimum. The New Jersey Central Railroad also runs a switch into the factory, so that freight cars can be brought right up to the kilns, and the manufactured brick shipped directly from the spot to any part of the country.

There are numerous engines and boilers. The largest is an engine of 350-horse-power. There are engines for hoisting, grinding, blowing and motive power, thirteen in all. There are also dynamos for supplying electric light to the whole works. An important arrangement is the duplication of every piece of machinery, so that should an accident occur to render any one of them inoperative, the men can within a few moments start the reserve machine. There is also a fire-pump, which is kept in motion night and day, in case of conflagration.

Some two hundred men are employed altogether, exclusive of those who handle the brick after shipment. With sixty-two more men Mr. Lorillard says he can double his producing capacity. The men eat, drink and sleep in large houses adjoining the factory set apart for them. I went into the dining-room and found that it contained room for about three hundred men. They have also their sitting-room. The workmen and laborers include colored men and Italians. Each nationality and race lives in different quarters, although they work together and no difference is made in their wages. This has avoided any strike on the Lorillard works.

The system of checking the number of bricks produced and shipped is perfect. The foreman at the kiln checks the count first; the engineer on the dummy keeps tally of the number of wheelbarrows with 100 bricks each placed on the train, and the foremen of the men at the scow keeps tally of the bricks that are wheeled on board, and every evening these figures are checked.

THE CHARACTER OF THE BRICK.

The clay of which the brick is made is of rare quality. When taken out of the ground it is smooth to the touch, and cut out as easily as though it were cheese. The following analysis, made by Columbia College, shows its quality:

Ferric Oxide (iron)	7.38
Alumina	30.08
Silica	62.32
	99.68

The balance of 0.34 per cent. showed a trace of magnesia and sulphur. To find a clay almost absolutely free from sulphur is remarkable. The samples were taken from a depth of 6, 19 and 30 feet below the surface of the earth. It comes out of the kiln without leaving a trace of sulphur. The ordinary Jersey bricks, even of a good grade, leave the black sulphur marks all over them, and cannot be used in a front where a clean and neat red appearance is wished for.

The brick is manufactured in a slightly larger size than the ordinary brick. It requires only 870 of them to do the work of a thousand of the usual sized bricks. This is a saving of 180,000 bricks on a million, no inconsiderable item. Besides, it saves labor and mortar. The average cost of building with this brick is said by Mr. Lorillard to be $2 less per thousand at present prices than the ordinary brick.

The test of strength has shown his brick to be 35 per cent. stronger, than the average brick, says Mr. Lorillard.

Mr. Lorillard also said that many of his ordinary bricks were used for front brick. The builder, if he chooses to have his men stack them separately at the buildings, will generally find 25 per cent. of the brick fit for fronts. They could not afford to separate them at a factory, even though they could obtain a higher figure for the better bricks. They could not afford it because the selection would involve an interruption in the entire routine of the factory, and more would be lost than gained in consequence.

Heman Clark, the aqueduct contractor, tested the bricks by boiling some of them for three weeks, then freezing them, then thawing them out, then soaking them and once more freezing them. This severe and somewhat unusual test made no impression on the brick.

Ex-Comptroller E. V. Loew, under date of March 28, 1889, writes to Mr. Lorillard that when he was Comptroller, in 1887, he had occasion to test the quality of the brick furnished the city for use in the construction of the new Croton Aqueduct. The brick tested were North River, Haverstraws, Lorillards and two others. The tests were made by such eminent engineers as Gen. John Newton, Col. Church, E. D. McLean and the late Gen. Gilmore, and their unanimous conclusion was to the effect that in every particular the Lorillard brick was superior to all the others.

PRACTICALLY A GOLD MINE.

I made a little calculation returning in the train. The company owns 240 acres of this clay ground, exclusive of thirty under litigation. In the 240 acres it is estimated that there is an average of seven yards of clay, the depth ranging from 6 to 47 feet. There are 46,000 cubic feet to an acre, which is about 5,111 cubic yards. This would give a supply of 35,777 cubic yards of clay per acre, and as about 500 bricks can be produced out of every cubic yard, each acre would yield 17,888,500 bricks. As there are 240 acres, this would give a supply of 4,293,240,000. At the rate of 100,000,000 bricks produced per annum it would take nearly forty-three years to exhaust these fields, or at the rate of 150,000,000 per annum it would take over twenty-eight years. The value of all this brick at only $6 per thousand would be $25,759,440.

Our Impartial Observer.—City Hall Park Again.

I am glad that your correspondent, "Subscriber," has afforded me an opportunity to refer again to the proposed Municipal building in the City Hall Park. It is not too much to say that the subject has received no impartial public consideration, except what has been afforded by its discussion through the columns of THE RECORD AND GUIDE.

When the purposes for which the new building is designed are considered, it is peculiarly fitting that this should have been the case since it is easily demonstrable that the real estate interests of New York City are those most immediately concerned in having the building erected without unnecessary delay.

The law which authorizes the construction of this building in the City Hall Park is chapter 81 of the Laws of 1889. It created a Board of Commissioners, consisting of the Sinking Fund Commissioners, the Surrogate, the County Clerk and the Register, whose duty it was, and who were authorized and empowered to select a site north of the City Hall Plaza and east of the City Hall, and to erect a fire-proof building thereon "sufficient to provide suitable accommodation for the office and use of the Register of the City of New York, and for the office and use of the Clerk of the City and County of New York, and for the offices and court and for the use of the Surrogate of the City and County of New York, being the various offices in which the records affecting public interests are required by law to be kept in said city and county.

Now, the "public interests" to which the Legislature referred are peculiarly the interests of real estate owners, since upon the records in the three offices of the Register, the County Clerk, and the Surrogate, the titles of every land-owner may substantially be said to depend.

Of the immediate necessity for better accommodations for the preservation and care of the records in charge of these three offices I presume little need be said. The condition of the Register's office has for many years been a shame and disgrace to the wealthy City of New York, and when we consider that real estate pays about three-fourths of the taxes collected for the support of the city government, it would seem that self-interest alone would long since have dictated to the city officials the prudence of avoiding the possibility of the tremendous disaster, which would result from the destruction of the maps and records which are of inestimable value, and could never be replaced. If my memory serves me, the building itself has been presented as a nuisance by more than one Grand Jury. The accommodations in the County Court House now afforded to the County Clerk and the Surrogate for the preservation of records almost as important as those in the custody of the Register, are a little more cleanly, but are equally insufficient.

The records in these three offices are in constant use by the legal profession in the investigation of titles, and it only needs a visit to them to satisfy any investigator that the new building proposed for their accommodation is a peremptory necessity.

The law, beyond any question, made the choice of the site and the erection of the building a duty. The language of the statute was clearly mandatory and compulsory. The commissioners, instead of proceeding to carry out the clear obligation which the Legislative will had thus imposed upon them, called a series of town meetings to consider whether or not the citizens of New York and the newspapers were in favor of obedience to the law. The frantic appeals of the disinterested newspapers adjacent to the site to "save the park," resulted in bringing to the first meeting a number of reporters, note-book and pencil in hand, prepared to record the indignation of the populace, but only one dissentient citizen appeared with his oration, and inquiry resulted in the chilling fact that he lived in Brooklyn, whereupon every reporter present looked ferociously at the Brooklynite, and ran a blue line through his notes.

"Subscriber" thinks the City Hall should be torn down, and a building should be erected on the same spot large enough in area to put all the city departments; such a scheme I see no objection to, but the area for such a purpose would certainly have to include the very location which the law under consideration has selected for the building designed for the preservation of these records. Why should not the commissioners therefore proceed with the duty which the law imposed on them, and select a plan so designed that it could form the eastern end of a larger building to be erected on the present site of the City Hall, and to be carried west to Broadway, thus extending a splendid facade directly across the City Hall Park. This would seem to be the solution of the whole question, but it does not prevent, but on the contrary suggests, the propriety of immediately carrying out the present law.

Those persons who examined the very beautiful plans of Mr. Atwood for a new City Hall, which were displayed at the exhibition of the Architectural League last winter, can appreciate the excellent effect of a not inordinately high building of this character surmounted in the centre by a well-proportioned tower.

The accommodations which a building to cover all the departments would require could not be afforded in a structure no longer than the present City Hall except by a very considerable increase in height, which would only add another to the Brobdignagian sky-scraping monstrosities which disfigure New York streets. The limited area of the lower part of the city palliates these structures, but would be no excuse in the case of a public building erected in a park long enough to enable the true proportions of height to length required by architectural canons to be maintained.

Possible Exchange Candidates.

THE CANVASS BEGUN.

The forthcoming annual election of officers for the Real Estate Exchange during the coming year is already receiving some little attention in real estate circles. It is an open secret that there are two parties in the Exchange, and that each will try to gain control of the Board of Management and secure the presidency. Both parties are making strong efforts to obtain proxies in anticipation of the election, and it is not far from an even race between the two, with the chances slightly in favor of the party in power. The opposition ticket takes its stand on the basis of economy and upon a reform in the administration of Exchange affairs, while what is called the "regular" party point to their past record in placing the Exchange on its present footing. The members have to choose between the two, for there is no likelihood of an independent ticket being put forward.

The prime question is—who will be the next president? E. A. Cruikshank has been at the head of the Exchange for two years and has served faithfully and well. He at first declined a nomination last year, until it was forced upon him, and this year he will decline a re-election positively, his numerous business cares making a third term almost an impossibility. The leading spirits in the Exchange are now looking toward a desirable president from among the prominent brokers. Already several names are mentioned and a glance at them will not be inappropriate at this time.

Among those seriously considered is Horace S. Ely. Those who have come in contact with Mr. Ely know him to be a gentleman of ability, intelligence and executive power. He stands second to none among the fraternity of real estate brokers in the weight and respectability of his firm, and his contact with some of the richest and most prominent men in the community detracts by no means from his fitness for the position. Mr. Ely has hitherto been content to pursue and build up his important business without taking part in the government of the Exchange. Besides that, he shrinks naturally from publicity, as has been shown on many occasions. But it becomes a question whether every man has not a duty, more or less, to the community at large, and especially to the body as a member of which he has made his reputation and his business, even though it entail personal sacrifice. The fact that Mr. Ely has never served in any official capacity in the Exchange before would not militate against his selection, for he would at once bring to bear a business capacity upon the conduct of affairs which would require a long previous training in a younger and less experienced man.

Another member, who by seniority in regard to service and deserts merits the highest honor the Exchange can bestow upon him, is Richard V. Harnett. No man has worked more zealously for the success of that institution from its earliest days. There are three names that stand out prominently among the very earliest originators of the Exchange, and those are the late Edward H. Ludlow, Richard V. Harnett and H. H. Cammann. The first and the third have occupied the highest position of honor, but the second has not. It would be superfluous to discuss the causes which have led to this. Suffice it to say that if personal feeling had not entered into the question—a feeling, it may be added, which has not been confined to one side—Mr. Harnett would long ere this have been president of the Real Estate Exchange. No one can doubt that he has the best interest of that institution at heart, and that, if elected, he would make an efficient executive. He has had very great experience among real estate brokers and investors and appreciates their wants thoroughly. No one knows more about the auction business than he, and in guiding the affairs of the Exchange Salesroom he would bring to bear his extensive knowledge of that important branch of the institution.

The unfortunate loss which the Exchange sustained in the decease of Leonard J. Carpenter, removes from the list a man whose conscientiousness, earnestness, high standing and ability would have made him one of the strongest candidates for the presidency.

A gentleman who always makes an effort to keep in the background, but who should not be allowed to stay there, is S. F. Jayne. His personal bearing, his unvarying courtesy and urbanity, his experience as a director his high standing among his fellows, and the respect in which he is held outside of his immediate business, all tend to make him a strong candidate, if he will but accept the office, either now or at a future time. He has always taken a lively interest in the affairs of the Exchange from its very earliest days, and did good service as a member of the Board of Directors. He has pre-eminently the kindly manner, combined with the peculiar tact and knowledge of men, necessary to smooth over any differences that may exist in the board, and make all parties feel harmoniously disposed toward each other. If he accomplished this alone, his election would well be worth having been secured. Besides, Mr. Jayne's election would be considered a compliment to the up-town real estate brokers, some of whom feel that they have been somewhat neglected for their fellow-members down town. There is no man whose selection to a high honor in the Exchange would meet with more general approval on all sides than that of Samuel F. Jayne.

There is another member who will most likely be proposed for the presidency, and that is Geo. H. Scott. No man has worked with greater zeal for the Exchange, especially in its early days and struggles. Mr. Scott for several years was honorary secretary of the institution, and in that capacity devoted much of his time, during both days and evenings, to the furtherance of its interests. If he were elected there is no doubt that the affairs of the Exchange would be directed with a view to efficiency and economy.

Hardly sufficient attention has been paid to a broker who has been quite prominent in Exchange affairs as the chairman of the Legislative Committee—Wm. Reynolds Brown. This gentleman has displayed unusual executive ability at the meetings of that important committee, and there is no doubt that he would shine equally well in an administrative capacity. Mr. Brown is one of the strongest men in the Exchange, and his abilities ought to be recognized. He should certainly be on the Board of Management, and there is no office in the institution that he could not occupy with advantage to the general body.

Mr. Brown may be classed as among the younger men. Geo. R. Read is also among the rising men of ability in the Exchange. This was recognized in an unusual manner by his being elected to the treasurership of the Exchange at one bound. The confidence thus displayed in him by his fellow-directors was well merited, for his ability and good standing is undoubted. Indeed, rarely has so young a broker risen to such distinction in his profession so quickly.

Chas. S. Brown, who is associated with James E. Leviness, is another of the younger brokers who is an eligible candidate for Exchange honors. That he lost, by only a small vote, his election to the board last year, was due to his scruples in making a general effort to obtain the votes of his friends, a course which, rightly or wrongly, he felt to be somewhat infra dig. Personally, and as a man of ideas and business capacity, he is worthy of election to any position in the Exchange.

There are other men of ability both in and out of the board whose names are worthy of selection for the offices of the presidency, the vice-presidency and the treasurership as well as the directorate. J. Romaine Brown, Geo. De Forest Barton, Wm. Cruikshank, Wm. J. Roome, David F. Porter, Ferdinand Fish, Hall J. How, J. Edgar Leaycraft, Jno. C. R. Eckerson, Geo. S. Lespinasse, Jere. Johnson, Jr., John F. B. Smyth, F. R. Houghton, Thomas F. Murtha, Clifford Coddington, Philip A. Smyth, Thomas C. Smith, F. Zittel and others whose names will easily suggest themselves. From among such a goodly list of capable men there ought to be no difficulty in supplying the Exchange with able officers. The younger brokers should be especially pushed forward. The older men cannot hold office forever, and an infusion of new blood will be of service in providing able officers for the Exchange in the years to come.

New Members.

The following names have been posted for membership in the Real Estate Exchange: Adolph Koppel, 34 Nassau street, by J. C. Lalor; Chas. Shongood, 21 Catharine street, by L. M. Picot; and L. B. Rader, of 246 West 125th street. The first-named, Mr. Koppel, is the active secretary of the well-known German-American Real Estate Title Guarantee Co.

School Sites.

The report of the Committee on Sites selecting a site on West 82d street has been adopted. Land between the Boulevard and West End avenue will be taken at figures to be determined hereafter. The Board of Education has approved the appraisal of the Commission on School Sites on the following: (1) Northeast corner Mulberry and Bayard streets, at $143,000; first award, $153,000. (2) Northwest corner of Broome and Ridge streets, $116,000; first award, $120,250. (3) Fourth street, west of 1st avenue, $67,030; first award, $76,139. (4) Fifty-first street, near Lexington avenue, $24,000. (5) Southeast corner Hester and Chrystie streets, $107,500; the first award was at the same figure. This shows a total saving of $23,350 on three sites.

Articles of incorporation have been filed for the Astral Hotel and Land Company, capital $100,000, for the purchase of land for the erection of buildings. The incorporators are Francis E. Pinto, William O. Wyckoff, Clarence F. Birdseye, Francis E. Pinto, Jr., Franklin Edson, William H. Thacher and Frederick A. Hart.

Real Estate Department.

The past week has been fairly active in real estate circles, and although the transactions closed are not unusually numerous, a great deal in the way of negotiating has been done, which will soon be followed, the brokers hope, by an increase in the number of sales. There is extensive inquiry for good paying properties, with parcels in the business districts a good first in the call. Our reports of sales include quite a number of new houses, and it is believed that the long deferred buying movement in this class of realty has arrived at last. In the way of lots there is also some movement, and a perusal of the sales shows that the building loan operators are in the market as buyers. Taken altogether, the outlook is bright, and there is every indication that business will soon be more active.

The auction business of the week was fair, and it has been developed that cheap lots in North New York and Brooklyn are in great demand. The Briggs estate sale last Saturday and the Bergen estate sale on Thursday furnish striking proofs of this. A summary of the business transacted from day to day follows. On another page will be found advertised a notice of appeal from a decision in the Hamersley will case.

The Briggs estate sale of 103 lots and a cottage at Bedford Park, in the 24th Ward, was held on the premises last Saturday by James L. Wells. There was a large attendance, active bidding and a successful sale. A total of $66,695 was realized, making an average of $563.53 per city lot. Among the largest buyers were S. J. Kronenbitter, Young & McLatchie, Jas. A. O'Gorman, T. W. Foster, M. Redmond, M. Loewenthal and B. P. Fairchild. George S. Shepherd bought the cottage and three lots on Bainbridge avenue at $4,975, and S. J. Silberman secured a lot on the northeast corner of Travers street and Bainbridge avenue for $1,105. Young & McLatchie bought the balance of the Travers street front for $4,575, and Captain Fairchild got twelve lots on Briggs avenue at from $430 to $535 each. The sale proved a great success.

As usual on Monday, there was not much business transacted on Change. Four judicial sales were announced, and of these two were postponed. A dwelling on East 61st street, No. 145, was sold for $22,000, and a dwelling on West 53d street, No. 266, went for $12,250.

Tuesday was a very busy day at the Salesroom. No less than eight auctioneers had sales, and some of them long lists of properties to offer. The crowds around the stands of Messrs. R. V. Harnett & Co., J. F. B. Smyth and A. H. Muller & Son were very large, and some of the parcels offered were spiritedly bid for, while others were in little or no demand, and were secured for account of the sellers. Three parcels belonging to the Pachtmann estate on Canal, Wooster and West 19th streets, brought a total of $55,750. The 19th street dwelling, No. 312 West, size only 16x15, was sold for $9,000; Mr. Pachtmann paid $5,500 for it in April, 1857. There was some lively bidding for the four-story store No. 73 8th avenue, belonging to the Le Comte estate. Starting at $19,000, bids followed quickly until $36,300 was reached, and the property sold to Amos B. Cross, the present occupant. The store is occupied as a saloon, and the rental announced was $3,000 per annum, repairs and water rates. There were other sales, foreclosures and public auctions, but none that call for special mention. The sale of the Long Branch and Elberon, N. J., properties was adjourned without date. Among the parcels bid in were those on 5th and West End avenues, West 49th and 127th streets. A dwelling on University place announced to be sold was adjourned, and a store on Washington street withdrawn.

Sales were fairly numerous on Wednesday and the attendance was good. The offering of parcels in North New York was the special feature, although it cannot be said they sold very well. The former residence of Capt. John Ericsson on Beach street, No. 36, with lot 27x100, was also offered. It was started at $8,600 and sold for $18,900 to Henry McArdle, who owns the adjoining property, No. 38, which he purchased in February, 1888, at $16,000.

On Thursday there was an immense crowd at the Exchange, the principal attraction being the Bergen estate sale of Brooklyn lots, which is mentioned in the regular column. The most important offering of city realty was by Smyth & Ryan, pursuant to Court orders, in partition. They disposed of eighteen lots along 103d, 104th and 105th streets, east of 2d avenue, for a total of $54,600. Lots on the former street brought from $2,400 to $2,500; on 104th street from $2,500 to $4,200, and on 105th street from $3,900 to $4,100. Wm. R. Roberts bought twelve lots, and Chas. H. Sproessig and Wm. C. Lester two each. The Roussel estate lots at New Brighton, S. I., were withdrawn.

The only sales held yesterday were foreclosures. In one action, embracing properties on East 13th and 14th streets, the parcels were sold for $144,500, which, we are told, shows a deficiency of about $60,000. This plot belonged to F. Grote & Co., who failed some months ago.

Harnett & Co. will conduct a very important sale of Trans-Harlem property, situated opposite the grand stand entrance of the New York Jockey Club race course, on Bronxdale, Rosedale, Clowry and St. John avenues. On Thursday, October 24th, Adrian H. Muller & Son will sell, by order of the Academy of the Sacred Heart, twenty-four choice lots, comprising the entire westerly front on Convent avenue, between 127th and 130th streets. This property should offer a good chance for investment. It is on the line of the 10th avenue cable road and within a short distance of the "L" station at 8th avenue and 125th street. 65 per cent. of the purchase money may remain for one or three years on bond and mortgage at 5 per cent.

Special Notices.

Every architect, builder and house-owner should send for the artistic little pamphlet which has just been issued by Wm. E. Uptegrove & Bro., foot of East 10th street. It is handsomely printed on fine paper and tastily bound, and in it in a very interesting way there is stated most of the principal facts about the history of mahogany, the quality of the wood and the uses to which it can be put.

Libby and Scott Bros., real estate and loan brokers, have removed their offices in the Equitable building, No. 120 Broadway, to the ground floor at the Nassau street entrance. The new offices are easy of access, and are visited daily by many clients of the firm.

It appears that the valuable properties of mahogany, its great beauty, hardness and durability, which make it the "King of Woods," were first noticed by the carpenter on board Sir Walter Raleigh's ship in 1595. The mahogany market in New York is now said to be the largest in the world, and, though the wood is much used, especially in the finer class of buildings, it is strange that it is not more often specified by architects or used by builders who are industrious enough in searching the market for variety.

Mahogany, contrary to the general opinion, is not an expensive wood. The facilities for procuring it in the countries where it is grown—notably Mexico and Cuba—have been so much improved of late years that in price it compares favorably with the best of our hardwoods, and is no dearer than cherry. The cost of working it is admittedly no greater than the cost of working domestic lumber, and there is no doubt that in most of the essential qualities of wood for decoration it surpasses all others. Wm. E. Uptegrove & Bro. are the largest holders of mahogany in the city. In giving more attention than hitherto to this wood, architects and builders cannot do better than to send to this firm for estimates, etc.

A. W. McLaughlin & Co., real estate and mortgage brokers, of 146 Broadway, have $75,000 in stock of the New York Steam Heating Company and $10,000 cash if necessary to exchange for any good city property not too heavily mortgaged. The trust companies will loan $30,000 or more on the stock.

Beverly Ward, whose place of business is at No. 221 West 125th street does a large real estate and insurance business. Property placed in his hands is well taken care of.

The attention of readers is called to the Acme Window Blind, of which Morstatt & Son, of Nos. 227 and 229 West 29th street, are the patentees and manufacturers. The principal feature of this valuable invention consists of a divided bead, one-half of which is fixed to the inner side of the blind frame, while the other half is movable and receives supplemental pins projecting from the ends of the slats. Thus, this movable part, when adjusted to close the slats, presents the appearance of a simple bead, and when moved slightly outward opens the slats and holds them in position. The advantages of this invention will be apparent to builders. The blinds are well made of the best material and in finish are the best in the market. They may be seen in use in the Vanderbilt mansions and the residences of J. Pierpont Morgan, Robert Golet, Ogden Golet, Heber R. Bishop, H. H. Cook, the Hoffman House, the New York Club, the Freundschaft Club, Vice-President Morton's house on the Hudson, Archibald Rogers' house at Hyde Park, the houses of the Equitable Life Assurance Society on West 88th street, those of Terence Farley's Sons on West 71st and 72d streets, and numerous others. Special inducements are offered to the trade, and architects and builders should send for estimates.

Howard Fleming, No. 23 Liberty street, New York, importer of Gibbs Portland Cement, so favorably known as the "Diamond brand," on account of its economy in use and its exceptional strength, is being employed for the foundations of the Central Railroad Company's new building, at the foot of Liberty street, New York. Large quantities are being used for the construction of bulkheads to prevent the ocean encroachments on the Atlantic coast.

BUILDING MATERIAL MARKET.

BRICKS.—There has been another very good week for Common Hards, with additional gain in the line of valuation. At the outset the supply afloat was pretty large, so much so indeed that many buyers became impressed with the belief that their turn had come and a reaction on the line of valuation was at hand, but there was no unanimity in the line of action, and with load after load gradually disappearing demand soon began to stir itself and finally became competitive, the result of which was to put rates up to $7 per M for the best, and other grades in proportion, the market preserving a well maintained tone at the present writing. After the Monday accumulation the arrivals were slow and moderate, and that assisted affairs to a considerable extent. So far as we can learn there has as yet been little if anything taken for local stock except for momentary holding, and about all the supply handled passes promptly into consumption. At the ruling line of figures the feeling seems to be that cost is not to any great extent overstrained for the season; yet we notice a feeling among conservative operators, even on the selling side, antagonistic to further advance, as likely to prove impolitic. Dealers and contractors have on more than one occasion during the season shown ability to develop a measure of independence when so inclined, and it does appear to be considered good business to tempt that power at the present juncture. On the other hand, however, it is thought quite likely that no important shrinkage need occur if manufacturers do not overcrowd the market with supplies. Production may still be considered as fairly general, though one by one manufacturers are gradually winding up the season. Pales remain at about former rates, and are securing a sale sufficient to keep the market clear.

LATH.—At last the market commences to make the improvement looked for and sellers are in correspondingly cheerful mood. Northern stock does not appear to be quoted plenty and it is thought little more will come forward, and as the Eastern grades have arrived moderately even an ordinary demand was more or less stimulating, and buyers have gradually crept upward with their bids until at the close $2.20 per M can be made on anything of standard cut and count, and $2.25 is reported exceptionally. As a rule receivers speak hopefully of the situation upon the assumption of moderate amounts to come forward and very little stock in the hands of dealers.

LIME.—Nothing new is suggested on this market at the moment. Arrivals have not proven very large and generally met with a waiting demand that quickly provided for the cargoes and some custom could be found willing to negotiate upon stock afloat, while prices so far as known remain at the old regulation figures.

LUMBER.—Evidences of previous purchases are somewhat more prominent than indications of present animation. That is the local supplience commencing to accumulate with sufficient freedom to make quite a showing and a large percentage of them of course came to hand on contracts made some time ago, while of the demand now prevailing salesmen do not speak in very enthusiastic terms. That, however, has been an experience of pretty much the entire season, and as a matter of fact there is probably about as much doing as usual at this time of the year, taking the general average, the complaints really being over stock that has fallen behind in the race and fairly balanced by those that have been surged ahead. Buyers, too, are possibly a little more particular in selections in many cases as they now look for assortment rather than quantity. Prices are pretty well sustained on all leading grades.

Eastern Spruce does not furnish many new features of a decided character. The market really depends mainly upon supply as there is probably demand enough to take care of about all the stuff likely to come forward, but the tone will be influenced according to the manner in which it comes to hand. This applies more particularly to the general run of random over which buyers can afford to be a little independent if the opportunity offers, but would be only too glad to secure the chance for negotiating upon large and wide stuff with greater freedom. Some dealers seem to think they will be able to get together a fair quantity of the latter before the season winds up, but there are a great many who must run scant if they do not fail entirely in securing an accumulation.

Piling retains about all the previously noted favorable features, and reports are correspondingly cheerful. Even odd cargoes selling a little off in price, in order to place them quickly, are less frequently heard of, and from the accumulated stock there is no offering until buyers seek to open negotiations. There is said to be two or three jobs under contemplation which, if carried through, will add very materially to consumption.

Hemlock meets with very fair demand and the seller retains advantage enough to support former values. Reports of a cutting on price may now and then be heard, but can generally be traced to some special deal that in no way represents the average market, and no first-class stock of either State or Pennsylvania production is offered at any pronounced shading. Some of the Pennsylvania mills are said to have an accumulation of stock on hand, but it is of standard grade and under control of holders not likely to press it into notice.

White Pine still has a touch of the dumps, and it looks as though the chances were against any improvement this season. There is considerable of it wanted of course, and some of the trade are up in arms the moment anything of a derogatory character is mentioned, but the hard fact remains that white pine has a narrower general market and runs more and more to a sort of special trade against which offerings are ample. Prices seem to be somewhat irregular, but if exact influences were mentioned through which variations occur it would probably be found that on the average cost does not differ greatly from the figures ruling for some weeks past. Very fair hopes of the export trade are entertained.

Yellow Pine remains generally steady, and the former range of quotations may be repeated, while in the matter of demand there is little or nothing new. Buyers are not exhibiting anything that could fairly be construed as anxiety in any of their movements, yet when finally determining to invest are very apt to ask for as prompt delivery as possible, indicating that actual wants stimulate the demand. The various associations are understood to be working harmoniously, and the selling side retains much advantage, but is not crowding it severely.

Carolina Pine finds much the demand expected and the market, according to most reports, moves along in healthy and satisfactory channels. In addition to the ordinary assortment of stock there has been quite a little sale of box boards this fall and manufacturers appear to feel quite confident that this branch of the trade is in a fair way for much wider development.

Hardwoods are free from anything in the way of really stirring features. Now and then operators speak quite cheerfully over the situation, and some are enthusiastic enough to claim decided animation, but they represent their individual rather than the general trade, which is certainly not above the average for the season. The market, however, is healthy enough for all the standard descriptions of stock and neither on first or second-hand offerings do holders appear in any way inclined to abate the line of valuation. Advances from primary sources are generally of a supporting character.

Shingles have found a little more home demand from dealers in the adjacent country territory commencing to stock up, and with about the usual export inquiry operators seem satisfied with the market. Prices run about as before on most sizes and the general offerings are equal to the call.

GENERAL LUMBER NOTES.

THE WEST.

The Northwestern Lumberman as follows:

The anticipated improvement in the fall trade in white pine has come slowly. It has not yet been satisfactorily realized at mill points. Reliable reports from Wisconsin and Green Bay points, from Muskegon, Saginaw and Bay City, are to the effect that lumber is accumulating at the mills at a rate discouraging to the operators. There is one glint of sunshine amid the general gloom; the cargo market in this city has been more active during the current week, and sales at Manistee have been larger than for weeks previous. In the yard trade of this city, and at several points on the Mississippi River there are indications of a better trade, with promise of a fair demand all winter. Some sorts are running low in supply, particularly long dimension, good strips and high grade lumber generally. Consumption in the principal cities has been great all season, and there are indications that capital is seeking to enlarge enterprises by adding to existing plants. This will necessitate the consumption of an increasing amount of lumber.

The commission men report a market much more active than in previous weeks. Dealers begin to want piece stuff more than they did earlier. Winter is approaching, and but six weeks of navigation remains. Though the yards have been selling piece stuff at a low range of prices, they have wanted it faster than it has arrived for several weeks past. There is a special call for slim jims and long, heavy joists. Such stock was treated with contempt all the spring and summer, and the mills ran light on it. Now that the market has revived, there is little to be had. The yard men believe, however, that when the manufacturers at Manistee become fully aware that there is a market for long stuff, they will rush in the long logs and cut out enough for all. It is a peculiar feature of the situation that little Norway dimension has this year come from the Huron shore. The Lake Erie markets have taken care of the cut of the mills to such an extent that there has been no inducement to ship to this point, especially since prices here have been low. It is possible that a few Lake Huron cargoes may yet reach the market before the close of navigation, though it is stated that the mills in that district are this year cutting their Norway logs mostly into strips, for which there is a good demand in the east.

Short piece stuff is selling at $9 to $9.25 a thousand, though the commission men declare that the larger share is going at the last-named figure. It is safe to say that cargoes of good tally sell at $9.25, but if the schedule is a little off as to sizes and lengths, $9 is about the figure. Where there is a sprinkling of desirable long lengths in a cargo, trades are made quickly, and a quarter or a half advance on the price of strictly short is realized without much trouble.

In lumber there has been no change, except that good strips and selects are wanted. No. 1 cargoes are scarce, and are easily salable when offered, at prices stiffer than several weeks ago. Dealers have little appetite for coarse boards and strips.

The Mississippi Valley Lumberman as follows:

There is nothing in the present condition of the lumber trade of the country calculated to whet the interest of dealers, or to materially change their view of the situation. As a class they have settled down to the conviction that no more than a fair ordinary fall trade is to be enjoyed; and furthermore, that all the lumber that is sold will be sold, as it has been all the season, upon a very narrow margin of profit. The season is drawing near enough to a close to enable the lumbermen everywhere to pretty accurately gauge the profits of the year. Nor is it at all certain that as a whole the year has been disastrous. There has been some diminution of trade, but with the exception perhaps of the manufacturers, it is entirely probable that the majority of the men in the trade have fared about as well as ever. But it has cost as much to saw lumber this year as during years when lumber was worth nearly a dollar more a thousand, and it has probably cost as much this year as it ever cost to get logs to the mill, barring possibly some advantageous conditions which surrounded logging during a brief period which fell to the lot of the loggers last winter. But the retailers have bought their lumber low, and it does not appear that in the smaller trade centres they have been compelled to sell it for much less than they have sold it in previous years when it cost them a great deal more money. The market has been sluggish all the year. This has enabled the jobbers in centers like Chicago, Toledo, Tonawanda and Buffalo to buy lumber practically at their own price. They have been compelled to sell it, it is true, in competition with southern pine which has been everywhere freely offered at a price which has knocked the life out of all pre-conceived values, but between first cost and selling price the jobbers have been able to pretty well maintain the equilibrium of profit.

The Timberman, upon the Chicago yard trade, as follows:

It cannot be said that prices are any higher than last week, but the feeling is certainly firmer, and we hear of very little cutting. Good sized bills are appearing with greater frequency. Several large orders that were hanging at the end of the fishing-rod last week are now being delivered. One lot of from 800,000 to 1,000,000 feet was placed the early part of the week. Although several dealers claim the honors, this stock is to be used by the large packer for an ice-house, and is mostly very common lumber. Another one, which is the largest ever sold on the market, being about 4,000,000 feet, was for a slaughter house at the stock yards. A notable fact about it was that 22,000 pieces of 3x12-16 were in it, and other dimensions calling for 5,000 and more pieces. A third large bill, amounting to 460,000 feet, which will go into ice houses for Swift & Co., was also among the good things going.

Several dealers are awakening to a realization of the fact that they will not have enough piece stuff to carry them through the winter months, and are consequently hunting around to lay in a supply before navigation closes.

The increase in lake freights is not likely to have any material effect on the wholesalers' prices, even though it should be the occasion of a slight advance in the market. As to the new rate between Wisconsin and Ohio River points, all agree that such action should have been taken long ago.

No special activity can be noted in hardwood trade this week, and, indeed, it is in the main rather quiet. October is not opening up as briskly as the majority could wish, but neither, for that matter, did September, and yet the results of the latter month show a reasonably good volume of trade. Some complaints of dullness are heard, but in general, business is all right with the dealer who sails close to the shore, and does not venture out in the deep waters of reckless buying or selling.

It may be noted, however, that most woods are easier to buy than they were sixty days ago. It does not follow that prices are any lower, except that the freer offerings will have a tendency toward a little shading when a desirable sale is in sight. There is plenty of stock on the market if one is not too particular as to grades, but the buyer is not always able to find just what he wants in some lines if his taste is at all fastidious.

MAINE.

The following is a statement of the amount of lumber surveyed at the port of Bangor from January 1 to October 1, as compared with amounts surveyed in 1887 and 1888:

GREAT BRITAIN.

The London Timber Trades Journal referring to stocks at Liverpool says:

The import has been materially reduced, and, as we think it is likely to continue so for the remainder of the year, the stocks, with a few exceptions, will not be found excessive.

These exceptions, we may point out, are sawn pitch pine timber and planks, of which present stock is 882,000 feet of sawn logs and 59,000 feet of blanks. But this will probably rectify itself, for merchants here will be chary of entering into fresh contracts until this stock is materially reduced.

Another stock with which this market is overburdened is oak timber in logs and planks. Of the former there is no less than 327,000 cub. ft. and of the latter 249,000 cub. ft. Shippers should give us a rest, especially when their goods are not absolutely first-class.

Quebec pine deals have increased in stock during the past month by 2,000 stds., and now stand at 11,624 stds. This is too much for this period of the year, when the import season has still some time to run.

And also gives the following result of a public sale at Glasgow:

NAILS—There is a good regular trade, besides some increase of orders from the interior, and the distribution looks more promising. Prices, too, are very well sustained, though competition is sharp and keen over some territory, and that prevents the full advance some manufacturers have been looking for, though they are now doing better than at the commencement of the month. We quote at $1.95@2.00 per keg for car lots, and $2.05@2.10 per keg for parcels from store.

PAINTS AND OILS.—A very good steady line of operations is continued for pretty much all leading grades of stock, and the market kept in healthy form. Some jobbers complain a little, but will admit that it is probably ahead of time for their regular trade, and find no reason to expect disappointment when it is really due. All staple articles, at least, are kept under control, and there is a generally uniform tone to values. Linseed Oil sells steadily on trade orders, and is commanding 58@58 1/2 c. for Western and 60@61 c. for City. Spirits of Turpentine is carried steadily, and while the demand is not particularly vigorous holders of the stock think they can maintain values without difficulty. We quote at 48@49 c. per gallon, according to quantity, delivery, etc.

TAR AND PITCH.—Business shows fair animation, demand a little fuller if anything, and with the offerings kept under control steady rates are maintained. We quote Pitch at $1.40@1.50 per bbl.; Tar at $2.62 1/2 @2.67 1/2, according to quantity, quality and delivery.

MORTGAGES.

NOTE.—The arrangement of this list is as follows: The first name is that of the mortgagor, the next that of the mortgagee. The description of the property then follows, then the date of the mortgage, the time for which it was given, and the amount. The general dates used as headings are the dates when the mortgage was handed into the Register's office to be recorded.

Whenever the letters "P. M." occur, preceded by the name of a street, in these lists of mortgages, they mean that it is a Purchase Money Mortgage, and for fuller particulars see the list of transfers under the corresponding date. Whenever the rate is not given, read as 6 per cent.

Editor RECORD AND GUIDE:
Referring to lien placed by Geo. A. Hunter against the Gospel Tabernacle, would say it is entirely unjust, as the work was not done in a workmanlike manner, and I have been forced to employ men to finish the job. As soon as Mr. Hunter will render a bill as per contract, and allow for finishing work, I will settle with him.

A VOLUME OF INFORMATION
OF COST!

If you have decided to place a tin roof upon your house you should, in justice to yourself, obtain the best possible information in regard to tin for roofing purposes. No property-owner can afford to remain ignorant, when a whole volume of information devoted to the selection, laying and painting of a tin roof can be had for the asking. Messrs. Merchant & Co., of this city, are conceded to be authority on tin roofs. They have devoted much time, labor and money in presenting, in readable shape, a mass of facts upon this subject, which are of great interest to property-owners. The constant inquiry from property-owners for these books evinces the fact that there is considerable quiet thinking being done just now by a large number of gentlemen, who have heretofore given the subject very little consideration. What the outcome will be, almost any one can anticipate. A better class of roofing is sure to follow, as a natural consequence. A wise property-owner will send for Merchant & Co.'s new book; and, after reading it, he will certainly conclude that there was much that he did not know upon the subject of tin roofs.—Philadelphia Real Estate Record, September 11, 1889.

No. 1,128.

By far the most important piece of news which has been made public for some time is the traffic combination of the Chicago & Northwestern road and the Union Pacific, although its effect upon the stock market has not been in any way commensurate with its importance. The combination is something more than a traffic agreement, while it falls short of an actual consolidation. The contract provides for joint tariffs and trains, settlement of disputes, divisions of earnings from through trains, proportions of equipment, rates under competition, and that no competitors shall have advantages over the parties to the agreement. The roads will be operated as one, while each retains its corporate identity. The agreement specifies nothing as to the territory east of Chicago, but considering the relation of the Vanderbilts to the Northwestern roads it practically means nothing less than a transcontinental system of roads. Its significance would be hard to over-estimate. It is the first direct step towards the establishment of such a system, and in time it will force similar agreements between other roads. The competitors of the New York Central, of the Northwestern and of the Union Pacific will all be obliged to protect themselves, and before many years are out the process of consolidation, which began after the panic of 1873, will end in the establishment of some three or four enormous systems of roads.

The news of continued commercial prosperity in Europe, especially in Great Britain and Germany, has an interest for us quite apart from philanthropic considerations. Our foreign trade is chiefly with these two nations; indeed, as more than 50 per cent. of all our exports go to Great Britain alone, and nearly 25 per cent. of our imports come from that country, it is manifest how substantial a bridge this commerce must be for the diffusion of prosperity from one people to the other. Moreover, by a fortunate concurrence, the enlargement of English trade upon terms more or less satisfactory to the English manufacturer occurs at the very time when the produce of our farms and fields—the staple of our export trade—was never more abundant, and in reality awaits the touchstone of a strong foreign demand to become in a sense “active” wealth, productive of prosperity. It appears that the better times in Great Britain are principally the result of the expansion of trade in “new” countries. The Australian demand for products of every description is reported to be excellent. The Argentine Republic, in developing which the English have invested a great deal of capital and enterprise, is now becoming a large and profitable customer of theirs. Trade with India and the African colonies has also greatly increased. The revival of foreign trade has naturally stimulated activity in the ship-building industry, so that, on the last day of September there were 521 vessels of 882,749 tons gross under construction in the dockyards of the United Kingdom, compared with 400 vessels of 698,995 tons twelve months ago. How important the ship-building industry is to Great Britain can be shown by putting beside the foregoing figures a statement of the work under construction at the same time in other countries. In the United States 44,495 tons are building, in France (in spite of heavy bounties) only 16,175 tons, in Italy 24,730 tons, in Germany 81,397 tons, in Holland 20,985 tons and in Norway 14,082 tons. Our trade with Great Britain is so large, being indeed three-eighths of our trade with all the world, and our commercial relations with that country so intimate, that in the nature of things it can now be a matter of but a short time before we feel the influence of the improvement in her fortunes.

The public have no foundation for a judgment as to how wisely the Exposition Site Committee have done their work other than in the reports of their proceedings and “what is said in the papers.” From these it certainly appears that the committee have acted in a very hap-hazard way in selecting a site, and have so frequently changed their minds as to its exact limits that really the question before the public is, “What site is the committee now on?” rather than “What site is the Exhibition to be on?” They seem to have acted upon the Irishman’s instruction as to the best way of shooting:

“Close your eyes, fire, and then see what you have hit.” From the first the committee have clearly recognized that without the Bloomingdale Asylum property the Exposition was an impossibility on the site selected. Under these circumstances it would naturally be thought that the very first thing the committee would do, even before they permitted their minds to rest on the site as one to be considered, would be to find out whether the asylum buildings could be vacated in time for the Fair. Apparently, it is at this absurdly late hour that the discovery is being made. On Wednesday last Mr. James M. Brown, the chairman of the Board of Governors, said: “It seems to me it will be impossible to give up the use of this property for the World’s Fair, for it will be at least three years before our buildings at White Plains will be ready. We cannot turn the inmates of the asylum adrift. That, I think, is what we shall be obliged to tell the committee.” That the committee should have to be informed on a matter of this importance, which some of the best informed say determines whether the site is or is not available, is scarcely to be credited.

The advisability of scattering the Fair buildings in different parts of the city grows; and, the more the difficulty as to site perplexes us, the wider does this become as a door of escape. The pressure of public sentiment, to continue the simile, has certainly put the door ajar at present. There are so many advantages attached to this plan that it is strange it has not received more attention than it has before this. In the first place it will make the Site Committee independent of grasping or recalcitrant property-holders on the site they have selected, and the knowledge that the use of their land is not of material importance and could easily be dispensed with would make property-holders more inclined to be liberal and forego profits. Scatter the buildings, and it would matter little whether the Bloomingdale land was vacated in time or not. The main building, or machinery hall, or both, could be put on the Riverside-Morningside site; and other sites, all of them centrally located if needs be, could be chosen for the other buildings; or, if this were not done, Inwood, Van Courtlandt Park and Pelham Bay Park could be used.

So, after all, the stories that were sent forth so much to the satisfaction of our national pride, that the new cruiser Baltimore was a magnificent success and the fastest afloat turn out to be inaccurate. The figures made public with so much demonstration, as to the vessel’s speed and horse-power, were merely guess-work, and, judging from the official report just issued, must have been compounded of what the contractors felt the vessel was doing and the record of the patent log used, which, by the way, it appears was made for a speed of only ten knots! Instead of developing 9,000 horse power or 1,000 horse-power more than the contract called for, and thus entitling the builders to a premium of $100,000, only 8,977 horse-power was developed and the deficiency entails a penalty of $2,212. This is a poorer result than is to be read on the face of the figures, for it must not be forgotten that Secretary Whitney, “for the encouragement of American shipbuilders,” consented to reduce the horse-power requirements 1,000 horse-power below what the designs of Mr. White called for, and what the English builders had guaranteed to the Spanish Government on the same design; for the Baltimore was designed for the Spanish Government by W. H. White, now the Chief Naval Constructor of the British navy, and was to develop 10,750 horse-power; but Spain built a larger vessel instead, the Reina Regenta, of 5,600 tons and 11,500 horse-power, which was launched on the Clyde in 1887, and Secretary Whitney purchased the discarded plans.

Not alone in the case of the Baltimore, which was followed by a ludicrous undeceiving, but in all “trial trips” the public are somewhat fooled. The recent manoeuvres of the British fleet clearly showed that the speed that vessels attain on trial trips under the extraordinary conditions that then prevail are at best only a distant indication of their capacity under ordinary circumstances. Vessels are built, and upon the result of their “trial trip” are classed, as the case may be, as seventeen, eighteen, nineteen or perhaps twenty-knot boats. The public then take it for granted that the nation possesses cruisers capable of that speed. This is a delusion. It is safe to say that very few warships ever develop their contract speed after they have been accepted from the contractor’s hands. It is out of the question for the government to go to the expense or to take the pains that the contractor does to get speed. And, as a consequence the nineteen-knot boat in the contractor’s hands does only seventeen knots, if indeed she does that when in the possession of the government. It is a curious fact, too, that governments are continually building vessels solely for speed intended to be able to capture “anything afloat;” yet, in spite of magnificent trial trip records, there is not a single cruiser in existence that the fast Transatlantic liners could not play with. The City of Paris, twice the size of the largest cruiser, and built not solely for speed as cruisers are, but to meet commercial exigencies and carry passengers and freight, has steamed 2,788 knots in less than six days.

or an average of 19.3 knots an hour. Several other boats have done nearly as well. What speed would the fastest cruiser develop in a six days' run under ordinary conditions?

There is a very pretty dispute under way just now in Southern California—one which is a direct consequence of the boom which made Los Angeles and the adjacent counties in 1886 and 1887 a rare place for real estate speculators. As is very well known, that boom is a thing of the past. The fall in values has been something perfectly enormous. At Oak Knoll, lots which sold two years ago for $1,500 at present find no takers at $100; large tracks of alkali lands, at one time laid out in lots, but at present the home of horned toads and jack-rabbits, are assessed at $60 an acre, and are not worth one-tenth of the sum; and a list of property can be shown which had been sold for prices aggregating $403,980, and which at present are not worth their assessed value—some $90,000. But the inflation in town sites went to an extent that seems absurd to an outsider. There were some sixty paper towns created in different parts of Los Angeles County, comprising 79,350 town lots—enough, say, for 300,000 people, and nearly 40,000 more than there are in New York between 59th and 155th streets. At present there are 2,351 people living in these towns. Border City had 1,920 lots, and not a single inhabitant to take advantage of them; Chicago Park, 2,286 lots, and but a single occupant; Carlton, 4,060 lots, and not an inhabitant; Manchester, 2,304, and the same overwhelming population; West Glendale, 8,128 lots, and no inhabitants, and Sunset, 2,032 lots, and one solitary watchman, who looks after an expensive hotel and a deserted town. Yet the Los Angeles Herald says: "The boom in Los Angeles was, in the main, a perfectly legitimate development." Southern California is a very wonderful country, but its friends ought to be willing to admit that it is more successful in cultivating fruit than town lots.

But the town and county of Los Angeles are suffering for their folly in the shape of an assessment roll proportionally larger than that of less enthusiastic counties in the State. In 1881 the county assessment stood at $16,697,591; the next year it was raised almost exactly $4,000,000, or 25 per cent., a rate of increase that was pretty well maintained until 1886, when a stride of some $8,000,000 was effected and the total "boosted" to $40,000,000. At this point a boomer got control of the assessment office and made that $40,000,000 $90,000,000 in one short year. The year following this, in 1888, a further increase of $23,000,000 was made by the assessor, who was undismayed by a certain weakening in the demand for town lots. This would have made no particular difference if county taxes alone had been levied on real estate, but it made it rather hard on Los Angeles when the State taxes came to be levied, of which, of course, she got rather more than her fair share, at the very time too when she could least afford to pay it. An appeal was made to the State Board of Equalization, and the assessment was reduced some 10 per cent. But the incorrigible county assessor was not dismayed by this fact. Although the past year had been quiet enough in all conscience he advanced the assessment figures to very nearly the same total as that of the year before. This was done in spite of the fact that all the other counties in Southern California lowered their assessments—San Diego by some $6,000,000, San Bernadino by $1,600,000, Santa Barbara by $5,000,000, and Ventura by $500,000. So Los Angeles County went to the Board of Equalization again and got another rebate of 10 per cent. Even after this rebate is made, however, her assessment in 1889 is three times as great as it was in 1885, which, considering that melancholy list of town lots given above, is compelling Los Angeles to pay taxes on a largely inflated scale of values. Take her figures in reference to the town and county of San Francisco. The Bay City and county were assessed this year at a little less than $250,000,000; and this with a population of 400,000, a fair proportion of millionaires, and with $80,000,000 deposited in savings banks. Los Angeles with a scant 150,000 population is obliged to pay within $400,000 of the total of San Francisco into the County and State Treasury. In other words, for every six dollars the inhabitant of one county has to pay, the inhabitant of the other has to pay $15—a fact to be partially explained by the 1 per cent. tax limit in San Francisco.

It is not too much to say that such gross inequalities as this are an inevitable consequence of the State taxation of real estate. The county and city of New York and the inhabitants thereof ought indeed to be painfully aware of this fact, but it does no harm to bring it to their attention once again. The root of the difficulty that no one Board of Assessors can make the valuations for a whole State, consequently the function must be left in the hands of the various county boards, with no guarantee that the assessments will be made fairly. It is seldom, indeed, that, as in Los Angeles County, a puzzle-headed assessor discriminates against his own county in making the assessments; the tendency is very naturally the other way. But no matter how the discriminations are made, it is enough that they exist, and that they force one county honest enough to assess itself fairly to pay roundly for its own honesty, and another county dishonest enough to put low valuations on its property profits by its own delinquency. The device employed to overcome these discriminations is as clumsy as it is useless. What good has the State Board of Equalization done New York? What good did it do Los Angeles? That county got a 10 per cent. rebate, when the shrinkage in some cases amounted to forty or fifty times as much. Real estate is a thing so local in its nature and so entirely under the influence of local conditions that it ought to bear only local burdens.

The Location of Our "Great Future."

If a line were drawn, roughly speaking, across the United States a trifle to the south of the 40th parallel, it would divide this country into two more or less equal parts. North of it would be found all the New England States, New York, New Jersey, Pennsylvania, practically all of the "central" States that touch upon the lakes, the great Northwest, and the several territories, with the exception of a part of Utah, and all of Arizona, New Mexico and the Indian Territory. A part of California and a small portion of Nevada, Colorado, Kansas and Missouri would also be north of the line; but, as the imaginary division is only a rough one, these latter may be considered as falling for our purposes wholly within the southern half, which thus would consist of all the "Southern," South Central and Southwestern States.

It may be set down as a passably accurate statement that few persons would hesitate to assert that the "Great Future" of this country, which is the cause of so much proleptic enthusiasm, is to be created mainly in the region to the north of our imaginary line. It includes the "Great West," that land of limitless promise, which has always been regarded as peculiarly the territory of the "Future." It is pre-eminently the sphere of "Enterprise," and to-day it is not only the more densely populated and wealthier of the two sections we are considering, but contains the great manufacturing, banking and commercial centres of the country as well as the chief ports and cities.

The country to the south of this line has never appealed very strongly to the imagination of our people. Over its future there has always hung, in the popular mind, something of the haze of its semi-tropical sunshine. Is it not cursed by its past, and confronted by a race problem which to all appearances is insolvable? Little of the vigor of the North is supposed to be there, and much of an enervating spell. It is, of course, an important part of the country, rowing in the same boat as it were with the North and East and West; but as Jerrold once remarked on another matter, "rowing with what different skulls!"

But the popular conception of the South, which has hitherto prevailed, must be dropped. However much of truth there may have been in it in the past, it now no longer squares with facts. Indeed, the history of the West can show no more marvelous increase in wealth than has been made during the past ten years in the section to the south of our imaginary line; and the prospect before it has widened so immensely that the question may to-day be asked seriously whether the "Great Future" of this country is not to be looked for rather in the South than in the North.

A few facts are perhaps needed to support this statement. It has been taken for granted always that the great agricultural region is and will be the West; yet, last year, the value of the agricultural products of the South, which by the way are steadily becoming more diversified, was $900,000,000, and the value of live stock which in 1879 was $392,000,000, about $575,000,000. In connection with this matter the fact should not be overlooked that cotton is the great export of this country, the value of it being more than twice that of wheat, about which financial prophets and weighers of our prosperity prate so much. During the last fiscal year $237,775,270 worth of cotton was sent abroad, but only $87,000,000 of wheat and $32,000,000 of corn, so that in our foreign trade the South is already by far the greatest factor. Even in the production of cereals the South is much underestimated, for in the fields of the State of Kansas alone fully one-tenth of the total product of the entire country is now harvested.

In manufactures too, the same misconception, or rather misappreciation, prevails of the part the South is playing and is destined to play. It is supposed that the eastern, or at any rate the northern part of the country, will be the chief seat of manufactures in the future. But the cotton and iron trades, the two chief industries of man, are both drifting southward; and the coarse woolen trade, at least in certain articles, is shifting from the east to Louisville. In the last three and a-half years, 11,000 new industrial establishments have been started in the South. In ten years the cotton mills have increased in number from 142 to 330, and the spindles from half a million to 1,500,000. There are now 214 cotton-seed mills instead of only forty-five, and the value of the product has more than doubled. In the same time the amount of coal mined annually has risen from less than two million tons to over twelve millions, and the production of pig iron from 200,000 tons to 1,200,000 tons, and finally, the value of property has increased from $5,725,000,000 in 1879 to $8,650,000,000, while the State debts have been reduced from $124,000,000 to $89,000,000, upon a lower tax rate. The generalization that might be made from these figures is too obvious to be worth making.

We have often felicitated ourselves upon the fact that we are free from the burden of a large standing army which weighs so heavily upon the peoples of Europe. It turns out, however, our self-congratulations in the matter is more the result of ignorance as to the condition of our own affairs than due to well-founded facts. The Tanner episode, which after all was merely the reductio ad absurdum of our Falstaffian pension system, disclosed, in a manner that brought it clearly to the public eye, the fact that the people of the United States are more heavily taxed for what may be termed military purposes than any nation on earth. Including pensions, the expenditure of this country last year was $138,000,000; whereas in France the amount was $111,000,000, and in Germany only $105,000,000. These figures include expenses of all kinds, pensions, half pay, armaments, and so forth, entailed by the Continental armies. Now, no one doubts there are thousands of men on the pension rolls of this country who are abundantly entitled to all that is given to them, and indeed much more. Further, it may be said that there are many individuals who might justly claim bounty from the government, but do not. All this admitted, however, and admitted without qualification, it is not to be denied that the pension system, in its present state of development is a monstrous perversion of the people's money; and future historians will have a difficult task to decide whether it is a more monumental travesty upon patriotism or upon national gratitude. There is something immensely extravagant in the fact that the number of pensioners and the amount of pensions are increasing more rapidly at the end of a quarter of a century after the war than at any earlier date; that upon the lapse of so long a period the government should be threatened, as Secretary Noble says it was, with a sort of bankruptcy in consequence of the demand for money on account of pensions; and that the Chief Magistrate of the country, having dismissed one chief dispenser of the national alms for unmeasured recklessness, should be scouring the country for another who would be acceptable above all things in the eyes of pensioners. The "purple testament of bleeding war" was real enough in this country, but the appendix to it reads more like an extravaganza by Gilbert & Sullivan than anything the history of governments can show. Everyone knows, of course, that the objectionable side of our pension system is directly the result of "politics," and nothing but "politics;" and just so long as pensions are a political matter they will not be the most satisfactory item of national expenditure which they should be.

Mr. William Smith, who is engineer of Aberdeen Harbor, has made some improvements on Captain Ead's scheme of a ship railway, which may prove of great future importance to inland industrial centres that have been wishing for the possession of seaport privileges. Ship canals, as applied to inland navigation, have as yet been found practicable in two places only—Manchester and Amsterdam. Neither have ship railways up to this time been a substitute, which has commended itself to engineers, save alone at Chignecto, where a line seventeen miles long, connecting the Bay of Fundy with the Gulf of St. Lawrence, is now being constructed. The difficulty with Captain Ead's ship-car is that it is perfectly rigid and could not for that reason adapt itself either to curves or gradients—a fact that prevented its use in many cases, and increased the cost in all of them. Mr. Smith's car, however, is flexible both laterally and vertically. The vessel would be sustained while in the car by water cushions at the bottom and sides. The water must in obedience to hydrostatic laws always fill the space between the car and the ship's bottom and sides, and the vessel will consequently always be supported by a sheath of water. Mr. Smith's flexible car is also an ingenious piece of mechanism, most carefully worked out in details, and will repay the study of engineers.

The economic results of this invention may be of some importance. The inventor claims that his ship railway could compete with a ship canal project in any species of country. A rigid car ship railway through a favorable country is said to cost some $400,000 a mile to construct. Mr. Smith claims that, since he has no fear of gradients, he can construct his railway for $300,000 a mile. The Suez Canal cost over $80,000,000; he claims that he could parallel it for about $30,000,000. The Canal Zabor of the Seine, to make Paris a seaport, would cost $51,000,000, while a ship railway of the same capacity could be constructed for $20,000,000. A ship railway connecting Hull with Liverpool, and serving Leeds, Bradford, Halifax, Rochdale, Bury, Wigan, would cost less than $40,000,000; a canal through the same districts, taking up the Manchester expenditure as the basis, would cost $100,000,000. This cheapness of construction would make low rates possible. It will be seen that Mr. Smith is by no means modest in his claims. If he can accomplish all that he says he can accomplish it would seem indeed that the days of ship canals were over. The Panama problem would be solved, and the Nicaragua Canal rendered useless. As to the possibility or the utility of constructing a paying railway to tap the English manufacturing towns that is another question. The saving such a railway could effect would amount to the cost of unloading the cars and loading the ship—that is, the cost of breaking bulk would be done away with. If the saving thus made, together with the expense of transportation from the factory to the port, would pay for the construction of such a railway, then Mr. Smith's plan of inland navigation is practicable. Even so, however, its accomplishment would cause such a disturbance to existing interests and methods of doing business that the opposition would be prolonged and bitter.

"Honor Offices" in German Cities.

It is said that missionaries, when translating the Bible into some heathen tongue, often have to coin equivalents for the most common English words, such as "love" and "reverence," because the savages are ignorant, not only of the words but of the statements for which they stand. In much the same way one who undertakes to translate a German work on administration will find that we are so barbarously deficient in the vocabulary of administrative science that many words must be coined, or used in unaccustomed ways, in order to give an English rendering of the original. "Honor office" is the euphemistic term applied by the Germans to an office that brings no pay to the incumbent.

The multiplication of such offices is dictated by the desire to overcome the disinclination of the well-to-do to take an active interest in municipal government. Should the "honor" of a given office fail to tempt a man who should be selected for it to assume its duties, an additional inducement is offered in the shape of a law which provides that the taxes of any one declining an honor office shall be increased one-sixth, and in some cases one-third. More than ten thousand citizens belonging to the wealthier portion of the middle classes take part in the city government of Berlin. The members of the town council receive no pay; nor do the seventy "select citizens" which they choose by co-optation to assist them in committee work and other important branches of the city government. Half of the thirty-four aldermen are unprofessional and unpaid citizens who serve for six years and are often re-elected. In the administration of justice there are employed more than 400 unpaid jurors, 1,473 "schoeffen," or justices' assistants, 400 arbitrators, besides 807 men and 200 women that serve on committees connected with the orphans' courts. There are also 652 "ward provosts" connected with the police department, 325 citizens on militia commissions, 1,617—including 23 physicians—on the poor law boards, 1,258 on the school boards, and 3,326 on the tax commissions. In nearly every department these unpaid officials work with or under professional officers who are trained for their work and hold office during good behavior. This gives the advantages of technical skill and continuity of purpose, together with the benefits that come from a continual infusion of new blood, and the practical god sense of unofficialized men.

It would certainly have a marked effect upon our own police courts if there were associated with each justice at his daily sittings two business men of independent means and established position in the community, whose right to decide on the matters in hand should be equal to his own. His professional experience would doubtless have due weight with his associates, but the final decision would be rendered by the three men and not by one. Such an arrangement would also have its due and beneficial effect upon the business men concerned. People who are obliged to come in direct contact with any branch of city government cannot be wholly indifferent about it.

Gneist, whose influence has been great in shaping the government of German cities, took the trouble to investigate the social and financial status of 1,976 of these honorary officials and found that of that number 1,831 were either house-owners or paid a rent of more than 300 marks per year; 145 paid a rent of less than 300 marks, while only twelve paid a lower rent than 150 marks. Taking another view of the matter, and classifying the citizens of Berlin by the amount of rent paid as above, he found that citizens of the first class paid 82.5 per cent. of the city taxes and filled 92 per cent. of the honor offices; citizens of the second class paid 12 per cent. of the taxes and filled 7.5 per cent. of the honor offices; citizens of the third class paid 5.5 per cent. of the taxes and filled .5 per cent. of the honor offices. It is thus seen that the burden of government comes in a double manner upon the propertied classes, while at the same time the city government is more distinctly of and by the people than in our boss-ridden American cities.

The advantages of this system of administration are especially obvious in the execution of the poor laws. There is not an American city that has found it possible to give public relief to the poor in their own homes without the development of grave abuses. This administrative impossibility for us is a comparatively simple matter in the German cities. The city is divided into districts and a board of "visitors" is appointed in each. No visitor is expected to be charged with more than four cases, but these four cases he is required to know thoroughly. The board of visitors meets each fortnight, an alderman presiding, and every case is reviewed at each meeting. If 1,600 business men in New York were to serve on such boards, it would be an education for them and a guarantee of better things for the worthy poor.

To an American this way of forcing public spirit may seem very harsh and Bismarckian, but there is no doubt that the cities are liberal strongholds and that even those who wish changes in the national government are well satisfied with municipal administration. Some years ago when New York and Berlin were about the same size, attention was called to the fact that the total annual expenses of Berlin were about equal to the annual interest on the public debt of New York. Many would perhaps say that this "honor" work is little better than penal servitude, that a man might as well be drafted into the army as into the work of visiting the poor, that this sort of personal service is, in fact, the most oppressive and vexatious form of taxation, and that no amount of education in the public virtues and of consequent good government can make good the cost. It can only be answered that those that have tried the system do not feel so about it, and that if we had more experience of the difference between bad government and good we might not feel so ourselves.

AMOS G. WARNER.

The "Judge" Building.

The building, of which an inscription announces this to be the title, at the northwest corner of 5th avenue and 15th street, is one of the most conspicuous signs of the conversion of the avenue, between 14th and 42d streets, to mercantile uses, and also one of the most noteworthy of recent additions to our commercial architecture. As it stands it is a fragment only, though a fragment comprising somewhat more than half of the projected whole, which can readily be inferred from what has already been built. That which remains to be executed is the northern part of the avenue front, and it is evidently meant to be a counterpart of the southern part. There is, therefore, no injustice in discussing the work as if it were complete.

The dimensions are ample. The executed part of the front on the avenue is some 50 feet, and the whole of this front is to be nearly 100. The street front has a total length of 150 feet nearly, though the westernmost 25 feet are decisively refused so as not to count in any general view of the building. With this area the structure can easily carry the eight stories to which it is limited. The material is a bluish gray granite in the two-story basement, of an agreeable color in itself, and combining happily with the buff brick of which the superstructure is mainly composed.

The motive of the building is the most powerful and massive treatment possible of the basement and of the corners, while above the one and between the other the supported and included parts are much lighter and opener than this framework. On the 5th avenue front the angle is a very broad and solid pier, weakened, however, by being rounded from the bottom, a procedure which always has a debilitating effect on a mass of masonry, unless the rounding is preliminary to the detachment of a turret or other feature which has the air of planting the structure firmly in the ground, and even in that case greater vigor is attained if the angle at the base is left square. In massiveness, however, the design of this corner leaves little to be desired. On the avenue front, near the corner, the mass is rather emphasized than destroyed by a small pedimented doorway with a wreathed bull's-eye above. The central doorway, which is the main entrance to the upper stories, is similarly treated, except that it is further distinguished by a porch, consisting of a pair of polished granite columns standing free and sustaining the roof that shelters the doorway, while the bull's-eye reappears above this roof. Between these two doorways in the ground floor is an unmodelled segmental arch with rather narrow voussoirs very deep at the springing, extending to a horizontal line above. This is very simple, strong and good in effect, but the effect of the long side is even better. On the ground floor is a range of three large arches, like that which has just been described, and with their own magnitude, simplicity and dignity, and the assurance of ample abutment given by the massiveness of the corners, they make a very noble architectural feature. The granite is used throughout the second story, the opening of which are rectangular, being continuations downward of the arched openings of the third story, which is treated as an entresol, its large round arches in buff brick resting on the granite piers. It is questionable whether the effect of the building would not have been better, though its cost would have been considerably enhanced if the third story also had been carried out in granite. However, that may be, there is an unquestionable and unpleasant queerness in the protrusion of the arches of the basement into the piers which are cut away into skewbacks to receive them, and afterwards continued upwards of their original size. This incongruity, however, is apparent only on a front view and does not interfere with the powerful effect of the arches in perspective.

The fourth story is intermediate to the two lower divisions of the building, and is pierced by square-headed openings. On the street front there are three of these, triply subdivided, over the arches below, with a single opening at each end, thus maintaining the solidity of the angles. On the avenue front it appears that there are to be two of the larger triple openings, one on each side of a broad and solid centre, with a small opening as before at each end. This solid centre, dividing the shorter front into two halves, each complete in itself, is undoubtedly an error in design. It considerably weakens the effect that would be given to the massiveness of the corners if the whole interval were treated as if framed by them, and it is in itself ineffective.

Another division of three stories succeeds this intermediate story, its openings extending through the three, aligned over those below, and closed by round arches in the seventh, which is thus converted into a second entresol. The eighth story is a long arcade of plain round-headed openings, equally spaced and arranged without reference to the fenestration below, the story being in fact treated as an appendage of the cornice, which is a row of dentils punctuated by lions' heads. The parapet above is another appendage of the cornice, and much too closely repeats the eighth story, without giving at all the effect of artistic "imitation," as it is called in music, but merely of poverty of thought. Moreover, the parapet is grossly exaggerated in scale. Properly, a parapet is a protective railing, and though, like every other such feature, it may be used decoratively, yet an open arcade through any opening of which you could drive a horse, when used as a parapet, is a contradiction in terms, a contradiction emphasized to the point of ludicrousness on the avenue front, where the arcade rises towards the centre in the manner of a pediment. As a mere piece of constructed decoration, the parapet is much too rude and crude to be attractive, while its exaggerated scale destroys the effect of light and shade that might be got from it even as it is if it were of half its present size.

Upon the whole the building is successful, being an excellent idea, carried out in some parts very imperfectly, but in the successful parts with great power.

Some of the opponents of trusts have been making a good deal out of the statement that the Sugar Refineries' Combination are going to reorganize in corporate form, and out of the reported intention of the Cotton-seed Oil Trust to do the same thing under the laws of New Jersey. They consider this to be an acknowledgment of the failure of this form of industrial combination; but this is true in only a very limited sense. The change, indeed, is very desirable, but it in no wise affects the objects of trusts, but only their method of organization. In this State, for instance, the trust form of combination has been pronounced illegal. What if it is? Combination itself cannot be pronounced illegal; and combination is as certain to continue as a stone is certain to fall to the earth. It is, however, very desirable that the combinations should be incorporated under the laws of a single State, the authorities of which could demand reports and enforce regulation. This is particularly the case, because it is the tendency of these combinations to place their securities on public markets for exchange, and the only way the interests of the investor can be protected is by an exact knowledge of the capital, earnings and general condition of the companies. But let no one confuse the disappearance of trusts with the disappearance of combinations.

Of course there will be ample provision made in the Exposition grounds for restaurants and places of that description. An American crowd—not unlike a European crowd—will stand a good deal, but they will not stand an entire lack of facilities for eating and drinking. But, alas! what a dismal picture arises in one's mind from the association of a crowd with an eating place, a lot of crowded tables, a mob of officious waiters scurrying hither and thither, with no time to take one's orders correctly or serve them acceptably, a dreary amount of waiting, and the final impatient gobbling up of tasteless, badly-cooked food. It will be a serious matter to provide eating accommodations for the crowd that will need them; but every effort ought to be made to let a person eat with reasonable comfort. There should not be too many tables at any one place, and plenty of waiters should be supplied, even at some considerable expense. Moreover, it would be an excellent idea to conduct the restaurant on the same principles which should govern the exhibits; in fact, make the restaurant an exhibit. Have distinctively English cooking at one time or place, distinctively German cooking at another (announced, of course, before hand), distinctively Austrian at another, and so on. Then, so far as possible, the cooking should be done where it could be seen—not necessarily by those who are about to eat the dish, but by any one who wished to take the trouble. If this idea was cleverly carried out it might be the source, not only of a certain amount of instruction, but a certain amount of money, for in order to take in this exhibit the public would not merely have to see, but to eat, and eating costs money, as many a poor wretch knows.

I mentioned not long since the proposed organization of a Spencer Club in this city. I requested that anyone sufficiently interested in such a society to devote some little time to it to send his name to this office. As the response to this invitation has been very encouraging, the projectors of this club would like to announce that a preliminary meeting will be held very shortly to consider the scope, purposes and methods of the proposed club. As I said before, because the name of Spencer Club has been adopted, and because Mr. Spencer's works are to be used as a basis for the discussions, that philosopher will not occupy the position of seer or his books the position of a bible. The latter will, it is true, supply the texts for the discussions; and the ingenious members of the club will doubtless read into those texts meanings which the author did not intend to convey; but, nevertheless, no assumption will be made that Mr. Spencer will always be right. He has been selected only because of the modernness and the wide scope of his writings and the possibility they offer for methodical treatment. The presence in the club, even of a number of members who believed Mr. Spencer to be an apostle of misrepresentation, would certainly be desirable. The methods of the club would differ from those of other clubs with similar aims: (1) in the definiteness and continuity of the discussions; (2) in the personal responsibility of every member for a certain amount of work; and (3) in its democratic organization and informal methods of meetings and discussions. Finally, it is the hope of the projectors that if the club grows in numbers its members, after educating and training themselves, may do something towards educating the public. Nobody must imagine that because the association will be devoted to work that there will be no social aspect to its being; on the contrary, the more socially entertaining the meeting can become, the greater amount of club feelings and traditions that can be infused into its members the better it will be. It would be well for anyone else who wishes to join to send in his name before the expiration of a week.

A leading theatre manager of the present day must perforce be a very cosmopolitan person. He does not have merely to cater for the home markets, as in days past; but he must take his companies abroad to give the foreigners the advantage of his productions, and to obtain an ample amount of advertising more or less free. Even in producing for the home market, he is obliged to get much of his raw material abroad in the shape both of plays and players. It is natural, of course, in view of the promising trade of this kind that has been going on, that those injured by it—the raw material of home growth—should object to this lack of patriotism in theatre managers; and, as a matter of fact, there was strenuous protests raised last season against this utterly un-American conduct on their part. The soundness of this protest has been very well exemplified this year by the swarms of English actors and actresses that have been flocking to this side of the water. The dramatic protectionists, however, must remember that if English plays and players flood our markets, American plays and players are not unknown on the other side. If Irving, Coquelin, and the Kendals take dollars out of American pockets, Buffalo Bill and P. T. Barnum, two representative American productions, will get it all back in pounds and francs. Think how outrageous it would be for the paid servants of the English crown to force the latter eminent philanthropic and protectionist showman to increase his already enormous expenses by paying 50 per cent. ad valorem on the camels, elephants, clowns and tumblers which are about to astonish the English and Continental aristocracy; yet that is what the Boston Custom House has done with Wilson Barret's scenery. The imagination is appalled by the sum which Mr. P. T. Barnum himself would have to pay if he was taxed for the admission of his own personality. I am rather curious, by the way, to read the accounts of Mr. Barnum's first interview with the Prince of Wales; for, of course, the kindly newspaper correspondents on the other side will let us know all about it. I trust the great showman's rugged American simplicity will not force him to treat the Prince discourteously. There is a possibility even that he will not be satisfied with the mere heir apparent, but will seek the sanction of the Queen herself—a sanction that hitherto has been extended only to Mr. Irving and the Kendals.

Few people, I think, are aware how well Marshall P. Wilder advertises himself. He has practically drawn all the competitors in his own line of business out of the field. A. P. Burbank and George Kyle have taken to the stage, while Mr. Frank Lincoln is certainly not heard round about New York, wherever else he may be flourishing. Wilder is certainly a funnier man than any of these other readers and humorists, but, as Wilder himself acknowledges, Burbank was far more of an artist and a better all-around entertainer. It is simply because Wilder has been a very clever business man. He loses no opportunity of keeping himself before the public and making himself talked about. He appears prominently on first nights, he offers himself for benefit performances, he goes abroad and recites before the Prince of Wales, he is frequently to be found in Delmonico's, and he has signed his name to a book which has obtained a wide circulation. So, in spite of the good round price he charges, his earnings for the past year are said to amount to five figures. Be that as it may, the success of Marshall P. Wilder is due quite as much to managing as to merit.

In private Mrs. Kendal, if anything, is even more charming than she is on the stage. She is a delightful talker—quick, appreciative and sympathetic. She has a rare faculty of keeping a dozen people going at the same time—hearing and answering all that each has to say with a flattering impartiality. She fairly fills the room with her presence, putting even the most diffident at their ease with her almost exuberant affability. It may seem to be damming with faint praise to add that she is unaffected, but the remark is worth making, considering the chilling mannerism which many of our English visitors assume on and off the stage. If Mr. P. T. Barnum is only half as affable to the Prince of Wales as Mrs. Kendal is to the lowliest American citizen the future King of England will certainly be well impressed with the courtesy of even the greatest of our countrymen.

There is a little story about Allan Thorndyke Rice I heard, not long since, which, I think, has never been published. I say about Mr. Rice; but after all he does not appear altogether at an advantage in the incident. He once said to a lady of his acquaintance: "The last time I met you, Mrs. Smith, I did not go up and speak to you because I thought you might not like me to. You had a market basket on your arm." The lady, however, who saw no disgrace in the carrying of a market basket, provided everything inside of it was paid for, answered: "You were right, Mr. Rice, in not speaking to me. If you had I should certainly have asked you to carry the basket."

The Bridge Approaches.

IS MORE ROOM REQUIRED?

Referee Emmet R. Olcott, who is now hearing evidence as to the advisability of acquiring certain property for the Brooklyn Bridge approach on the New York side, expects to make his report shortly. When seen by a reporter of THE RECORD AND GUIDE he declined to state whether, from the evidence, he thought more room was necessary, though he rather hinted that in his opinion it was.

The bridge trustees have proposed a plan, which is said by some experts to be of doubtful value. The main features of this plan are the widening of the approaches on the New York side by taking the properties to the north and south of them, known as the Raub and Kosmak buildings, and the reduction of the headway between trains to forty-five seconds.

Geo. McNulty, civil engineer, who was connected with the bridge from 1870 to 1874, says that it was intended to carry a maximum of 7,200 people per hour, which was about forty per cent. of the maximum carried by the Union Ferry Company in 1878. The maximum number of passengers carried now is about 10,000 per hour, while in April of this year it was 14,000 per hour. The present terminal facilities at New York are, he thinks, entirely inadequate. The roadway on the New York side should be as wide as it is possible to make it, so as to avoid crowding. The headway could be safely made forty-five seconds instead of ninety. The cars were running at half their capacity, due to lack of terminal facilities in platforms and to the arrangement of tracks.

Arthur M. Wellington, on the other hand, thinks that the proposed reduction of headway would be fraught with great danger to passengers, and that it would not be improbable that a serious accident would take place on the very first day of the change. Forty-five seconds headway brought the cars too dangerously near to each other. He thought that the difficulty could be met by adopting six-car trains instead of four. This would very greatly increase the carrying capacity of the bridge. It would only involve raising the platform 10 feet higher, but this would be less troublesome and costly than the plan proposed by the trustees. Mr. Wellington is editor of the Engineering News. His authority on matters of this kind is generally conceded.

Eugene L. Bushe, counsel for Frank Raub, lessee of the Hillen building, was also seen by our reporter. He said: "The matter is in a nutshell. The bridge trustees want to increase the facilities and therefore wish to put a plan into operation requiring more land. If it can be shown that by their plan it is physically impossible to afford relief, then that plan falls to the ground. Now, we show, through Mr. Wellington and other experts, that relief cannot be afforded by that plan."

If it should be decided to take the Raub and Kosmak buildings the damages would mount up to hundreds of thousands. The Raub building, which is situated at Nos. 29 and 31 Chatham street and No. 19 North William street, was leased by Geo. Hillen to Frank Raub for nine years, from May 1, 1884, at $10,200, taxes and Croton, per annum, and there is an assignment of lease by Mr. Hillen under which Mr. Raub has still a lease of fourteen years on the building. The rate is understood to be, with taxes, etc., about $12,000 per annum. Mr. Raub estimates his interest in the lease to be worth $15,000 per annum, and if a commission should think so too it will cost the trustees $210,000 to buy him out. Besides this, the owner of the ground, Geo. Ehret, will have to be dealt with. He paid $138,000 for it, on October 8, 1884, $69,000 to the executors of L. A. Lockwood and $69,000 to Darius G. Crosby. It is presumable that Mr. Ehret thinks his ground worth more now, especially with a lease on it that net him about 7½ per cent. on his investment, with a prospective income on the expiry of Mr. Raub's lease of probably 18 per cent. net. Besides this the building owned by Emil H. Kosmak was transferred by him on April 23, 1889, for $125,600.

Two New Fifth Avenue Houses.

D. & J. Jardine have this week filed plans for two handsome residences which are to be built by Jabez A. Bostwick on 5th avenue, adjoining his residence on the northeast corner of 61st street. One of the houses is to be resided in by his daughter, Mrs. Morrell, and the other will probably be rented or sold. They will be four-story, high stoop, brown stone front buildings, and they will each be 98 feet deep, including an extension, and 22.6 feet wide. They will be in hardwood trim throughout and will have steam heat, electric lighting and every modern improvement. They are to be built by day's work and no expense will be spared to make them of a first-class character. Estimates of the cost have not yet been made, nor has any of the contracts been given out.

Mr. Ely is Not a Candidate.

Editor RECORD AND GUIDE:

In your issue of October 19th (Saturday last), I observed, under the heading "Possible Exchange Candidates," that you state that my name is talked of as "a possible candidate for the honorable position of President of the Real Estate, Exchange and Auction Room (Limited)." This is a great surprise to me, and is entirely without my knowledge.

I have at heart the interests of the Exchange, and desire to see its prosperity, but I take no part in the "race" (as you put it) "between the rival interests in the Exchange," and I cannot consent to have my name used as a possible candidate for the presidency or any other office in the management of the Exchange.

Trusting that you will give the same prominence to this announcement as you gave to last Saturday's article, above referred to.

HORACE S. ELY.

Law and Equity.

Editor RECORD AND GUIDE:

If your decision as to "When is a Broker's Commission Earned" is law it is not equity.

A party places a piece of real estate into my hands, for sale; I find him a purchaser; terms are agreed upon; contract signed, and 10 per cent. of the purchase money paid thereon. My work is, or ought to be, done, and I ought to receive my wages, for when the contract is matured, should the purchaser fail to complete it, the seller would have right of action under the contract and 9 per cent. towards the damages. An amount ample, if the property was sold at a fair price.

The Court of Appeals and Brokers' Commissions.

Editor RECORD AND GUIDE:

Apropos of the inquiry and discussions in your issues of the 12th and 19th instants, as to whether a broker is entitled to a commission when he is the procuring cause of a valid contract for the sale of real estate, which contract the purchaser refuses to complete, I beg to call your attention to the views of our Court of Appeals. In the case of Frazer vs. Wyckoff, 63 N. Y., 448, to which you refer in your issue of the 19th instant, the Court says: "A broker for the sale of real estate is entitled to his commissions when, in the language of the cases, he 'is the procuring cause of the sale'—that is, when he has found a purchaser and brought him to his employer and a contract is made between them for the sale of the property."

Yours respectfully,

CHARLES B. MEYER.

An Idea for Builders.

A representative of THE RECORD AND GUIDE called on a veteran builder the other day to ascertain his method of building houses for lot-owners who had not the money to build for themselves. The particular branch of the building business—if, indeed, it may be termed a branch—in which he is engaged, merits a little attention, and the manner in which he operates is told best in his own words. He said:

"There are a great many vacant lots in New York City which are a burden to the owners. The taxes and interest charges are a continual drain on their resources, while they seldom receive an income from the ground. In this unimproved condition the lots are not only a burden to the owners, but they yield only a small tax to the city. Seeing that there was a wide field for a branch of building which I had in mind I set to work to carry out my plan, which was to do for lot-owners what they were unable to do for themselves. I have made this a business since 1873, and I have found it of advantage to myself and of benefit to the owners."

"What is your plan of operations?"

"Well, when a lot-owner comes to me and asks me to build for him, I first ascertain whether the equity in his lot will be sufficient security to me in case I should put up a building on it. When I find that it will, I get him to select an architect to draw plans and specifications for the building, which may be a private dwelling, a flat, a stable or a tenement. I then obtain estimates from sub-contractors and send in my full estimate of the cost of the building. Should the lot-owner decide to proceed, I agree to build him a house according to the plans and specifications, and he agrees to give me a mortgage on both the lot and building for the amount that the building is to cost him. This gives me ample security. It is further agreed between us that the architect and not I shall superintend the construction of the building, and that the architect shall be fully satisfied that the different contractors have done their work according to the specifications, and he eventually signs a certificate, when the building is completed, that the entire work has been done to his satisfaction, provided it has so been done. This gives the lot-owner the full assurance, from his own architect, that he has a good building, and gives security and value to my mortgage. Thus both the mortgagor and mortgagee are fully satisfied?"

"How about the rate of interest?"

"That varies according to the character of the security. I generally charge 6 per cent. per annum, though in a few cases I have only charged 5 per cent. The payment of interest commences when the house is inclosed. When a building is at this stage of progress, about half the entire cost has been expended on it. I find that it generally takes from four to six months to inclose a building from the time of excavation, and as I am out of interest for my capital expended during that time it seems a fair bargain that the lot-owner shall commence to pay me interest about half way. The interest is paid on the total amount of the mortgage and not on the amount expended at the time the building is inclosed."

"Are your mortgages issued for long or short terms?"

"Generally on long terms, for the owners are anxious to have as many years as possible to pay off their mortgage. I generally give them five years, though sometimes the term is shorter. At the end of the term, should I not wish to renew the mortgage, the owner obtains another one and pays me off; that is, provided I have not assigned the mortgage before then."

"Do you allow the mortgage to be reduced by the owner?"

"Yes, if he so chooses; he can pay me off in weekly, monthly, quarterly or longer payments. Of course, this saves him interest, and I have found that owners have not been slow to take advantage of this arrangement."

"Do you generally agree to finish the building in a specified time?"

"I do. When the contract is signed I agree to finish it and hand it over to him on a certain date. When it is ready, and the architect has certified that the work has been satisfactorily performed, I receive a certificate from the owner to that effect, and he then takes possession."

"Where does your profit come in?" ventured the writer.

"On the contracts. I have been a practical builder for nearly half a century, and I know how and where to save in building."

"Have you found the plan of benefit to the lot-owners whom you have built for?"

"Invariably," was the reply. "One man whom I built for owned a lot on 17th street for twelve years, and could not borrow enough to build on it. I built a tenement on it for him and he has reduced the original amount of the mortgage, which was $18,000, to $4,200. While the lot was formerly a burden to him, he now nets $1,500 annually out of the building."

Money in Down-Town Buildings.

[See Illustration.]

CHANGING THE OLD TO THE NEW.

Few people, even in real estate circles, are aware to what extent the altering and renovating of down-town buildings has been carried during the last four or five years. There are a number of real estate operators who make it a business to purchase old buildings, and by altering and adding to them turn them into modern structures, and then dispose of them at a handsome profit. There are always a number of such buildings to be purchased, but they are not all available for improvement to advantage. This character of buildings are placed upon the market from various reasons. They may be mismanaged by the agent; they may be neglected by the owner; or they may be unattractive in interior arrangement and external appearance, and "run down." This is the operator's opportunity. The owner is disgusted with his vacant rooms. People will not rent his third and fourth floors because there are no elevators whereby to ascend to them, and in a fit of hopelessness he puts the property in the hands of the broker for sale, and the operator secures it at a comparatively low figure.

The operator now goes to work and plans to rearrange the rooms, tear down walls and partitions and put an extra story or two on the building. An elevator, steam heat, hardwood trim, marble and sanitary arrangements are introduced; paint is used on the inside and outside, and in six months or more the late owner is amazed at the transformation. The buyer now rents his offices and generally sells at a good profit.

Of course every real estate dealer has neither the ability nor the inclination to enter this class of operation. What it can accomplish is seen in various directions down town, where old stores, factories and warehouses have been converted into modern office buildings. I have taken one of the most recent of these as an example, and an illustration of it is given herewith. It is situated on the southeast corner of Beekman and Pearl streets. Little more than six months ago it was a five-story high stoop building, badly lighted and ventilated, and not always tenanted to the best advantage, while in appearance it was unattractive. The present owner, John Petit, has turned the building "inside out," and it is at present, for renting purposes, practically as good as a new structure.

The building is now seven stories high, exclusive of a cellar 11 feet high. One story has been added to the height of the original building, and two full stories have been created out of what was once the first story and high basement. There are two entrances to the elevator, one on the Beekman street side and one on the Pearl street side. The first floor contains a large store covering almost the entire plot on which the building stands. It has ceilings of white pine and a front which is for the most part of glass. The Pearl street entrance is 7 feet wide and the hallway flooring is in marble tiling. The stairs leading to the upper floors are in marble, with brass and iron balusters of an attractive character. The wainscoting is of marble up to the second story and of ash above.

Ascending to the second story no less than ten offices are found to have been laid out on this floor, all communicating with each other, so that they can be rented singly or en suite. The rooms are divided by stud partitions and the doors have a screw arrangement whereby they can be easily locked from either side. There are transoms over each door and window leading to the halls as well as the street, so that there is an abundance of ventilation.

The three floors above have each five good-sized offices, which are capable of being subdivided if necessary or rented together. These floors did not admit easily of a reconstruction similar to the lower floors. They are part of the original building, and some difficulty has evidently been experienced in changing the arrangements to conform to the general plan. The top floors, however, which comprise the addition, are laid out on the same lines as the first and second stories. The sixth floor has eight rooms and the seventh nine rooms. The view from the upper floors is going to assist largely in their rental. The Brooklyn Bridge, with its crowded traffic, and the East River, with its ever changing scenery of sail and steam, are to be viewed from the upper windows, while the Times, Tribune, Staats Zeitung, Temple Court and other high buildings loom up in the near distance.

All those improvements which go to make our modern buildings so superior to the older ones have been introduced. Every room is lighted by electricity; every floor has a toilet room; the building is trimmed in ash throughout; a ventilating shaft gives good air to the interior, while an open courtyard, which is the sole property of the owner of the building, gives light and ventilation to the lower stories in the rear. Being a corner, the building has all the light and ventilation required, exclusive of these additional advantages. There is steam on every floor, and all the alterations and additions have been done by day's work, exclusive of the elevator, steam heat and iron work. The walls of the rooms are decorated in cartridge paper of different tints in delicate shades, and all the painting and woodwork seems to have been chosen with a view to giving a light and cheerful appearance to every room.

The front is quite noticeable amid the generally small buildings surrounding. Iron columns, covered in metal bronze of a green and gold, run from the cellar to the base of the third story, and plate glass is used in the windows. The brick and brown stone fronts have been painted in light colors, while the trim of the first two floors is in ash. The front has a bright and attractive appearance, and those who remember the old Market National building on the site will recognize the marvelous change.

This is only one of the many down-town buildings which have been improved and altered so as to possess the advantages of first-class modern office structures, and this description will show what can be done with a neglected parcel of property when a purchaser comes forward who has the money and the brains to turn it into a property which will produce a large and steady income.

A New West Side Church.

Ground has just been broken for the new Grace Methodist Episcopal Church which is to be built on the north side of 104th street, 225 feet west of 9th avenue. The dimension of the church proper will be 82x160 irregular, and the architecture will be in the Romanesque style. The auditorium will seat 880 people, and all the necessary conveniences will be provided. The choir will be placed in the rear of the pulpit and the organ over it. On the rear, and 90 feet away from the house-line, a chapel will be built, which will be approached through an entrance at the side of the church. It will contain a parlor, an infant class-room to accommodate 400 children, and some additional class-rooms. It will also have a Sunday school-room which will seat 500 children. The principal feature of the whole will be a tower over the main entrance, which will have a roomy study with a northern and southern exposure, and will also give a glimpse of the auditorium. The front is to be of light brown sandstone, and the cost is estimated at $60,000. None of the contracts have as yet been given out. The ground has a frontage of 90 feet on 104th street and runs back to a point where an old lane and the old Croton aqueduct cross each other. The church is expected to be ready some time next summer. J. C. Cady & Co. are the architects.

New Members.

W. F. Croft, of New Rochelle, has been proposed as a member of the Real Estate Exchange by Sinclair Myers; E. De F. Shelton, of No. 57 Broadway, has been proposed by Jos. Phillips, and Adolph Hoffstadt, of 107 East 86th street, by John F. B. Smyth.

Transfers to Enhance Values.

The property No. 335 East 55th street was sold a couple of weeks ago by Peter Doelger at $10,000 and title was taken by Griffen Tompkins. The latter mortgaged the property for $7,500 and reconveyed the same to Herman Wronkow at $12,000. Tompkins is in the employ of Wronkow. Only a few weeks ago the office building No. 55 Broadway was transferred to the same Tompkins for a nominal sum, and after mortgaging it for $325,000 he last week turned the same over to Wronkow at $395,000. As a matter of fact, this property was sold last March by the Equitable Life Assurance Society for $340,000.

Real Estate Notes.

Edward Oppenheimer, the prominent building loan operator, has returned to town after several months absence abroad. He is looking exceedingly well. In a letter dated Baden Baden, October 4th, Mr. Oppenheimer says: "You will oblige me by mailing THE RECORD AND GUIDE again to my residence, 53 East 60th street, as I will sail on steamer Fulda from Southampton on the 13th inst. I have received during my stay in Europe THE RECORD very regularly. Many thanks for your prompt attention."

Helen L. P., wife of Anson Phelps Stokes, has recently been acquiring down-town properties for investment. Cedar, Greenwich and Warren are some of the streets on which purchases have been made.

The tenements No. 281 Mulberry street changed hands on October 4th at $16,000; again on the 21st inst. at $20,000. A mortgage has been placed on the property for $15,000 at 5 per cent. It shows that money is very plentiful when such large loans can be secured.

An active and experienced broker on the west side gives it as his opinion that the Boulevard, between 72d and 81st streets, is the next section that will be taken up for the erection of first-class flats of moderate cost. He says lots on the Boulevard between the streets named are worth on an average from $16,000 to $17,000, against $15,000 for lots similarly located on 9th avenue.

According to one of the auctioneers who sells at the Real Estate Exchange, auctioneers are responsible to buyers for expenses the latter may incur in having the titles of parcels they buy at auction searched, providing the sale is not completed because of defects in the title. The auctioneer furthermore added: "That is what we auctioneers give bonds for." This will be news to auctioneers generally.

Thomas J. McGuire recently acquired a plot of five lots on the south side of 88th street, 200 feet east of 10th avenue, in exchange for a 9th avenue flat. He had plans prepared for flats which he intended building on the plot, when the property-owners on the street came together and bought him out. The lots have now been transferred to John Young who will build private houses. They were taken in trade by McGuire at $50,000 and resold at $53,000.

There never was a time when we heard from brokers of so many slips in sales on account of sellers backing down and so many attempts on the part of owners to do brokers who negotiate sales for them out of their commissions.

The premises No. 100 6th avenue will be sold at auction on November 12th by J. T. Stearns, pursuant to a decree of the Supreme Court in a partition suit.

The Catholic Club has taken title to the Rosenbaum lots on 59th and 58th streets, commencing 225 feet west of 6th avenue. There are six lots, three on each street, and they cost $165,000, of which amount the seller receives $15,000 in cash and a mortgage for $150,000. Last April the Deutscher Verein paid $150,000 for a plot of the same size on the same street, commencing 125 feet west of 6th avenue. Both clubs will build handsome new buildings.

The large brick stable on the north side of 72d street, west of the Boulevard, is being torn down, possibly to make way for some handsome improvement.

In the City Departments.

At the meeting of the Board of Street Opening and Improvement yesterday it was decided to postpone final action on the Elm street matter until Friday next. Briefs will be received until Tuesday of the coming week. Friday, November 8th, was appointed for a hearing in the Highbridge Park matter.

The Commissioners, in the matter of opening 173d street, from 10th avenue to the Kingsbridge road, give notice that they have completed their estimate and placed it with the Commissioner of Public Works, there to remain until November 27th. Objections, if any, must be filed before that date.

Notice is given by the Department of Public Parks that on Wednesday, November 13th, at 11 o'clock A. M., they will hear and consider all objections that may be offered against a contemplated change in the street system in a part of the Central District lying between East 167th street, Sheridan, Elliot and Jerome avenues, East 177th street, Tremont and Webster avenues; against a contemplated change in the lines of Ryer avenue, between East 181st and East 142d streets; in the width of Union street, from Lind to Marcher avenue; of East 138th street, and in the proposed extension of Walton avenue.

The Board of Street Opening and Improvement have signed petitions to the Supreme Court for the appointment of Commissioners of Estimate and Assessment in the following street-opening proceedings:

2. Locust avenue, from East 152d street to the north side of East 141st street, 23d Ward.

4. Willow avenue, from Bronx Kills to East 138th street, 23d Ward.
5. Cedar avenue, from Sedgwick avenue to Fordham road, 24th Ward.
6. Cammann street, from Fordham road to Harlem River Terrace, 24th Ward.
7. Hampden street, from Sedgwick avenue to Jerome avenue, 24th Ward.
8. Harlem River Terrace, from Cedar avenue to Fordham road, 24th Ward.

12. George street, from the Boston road to Prospect avenue, 23d Ward.
13. East 176th street, from Jerome avenue to Tremont avenue, and from Carter avenue to 3d avenue, 23d Ward.

The Board has laid over, for future consideration, the matter of signing the petition to the Supreme Court for the appointment of Commissioners of Estimate and Assessment, in the following street-opening proceedings: River avenue, from East 144th street to Jerome avenue, 23d Ward. East 178th street, from Vanderbilt avenue, East, to La Fontaine avenue, 24th Ward. East 156th street, from Railroad avenue, East, to Elton avenue, and from St. Ann's avenue to Prospect avenue, 23d Ward.

Real Estate Department.

Contrary to general expectations business has not been active in real estate circles during the past week. It is quite true that much negotiating is going on, but there seems to be great difficulty in bringing matters to a finish for the reason that so many sellers back down when offers are submitted on terms they have previously been disposed to accept. The market is a strong one but quite inactive. In the way of auction sales, there has not been very much done, but the announcements for next week include desirable properties, and there is promise of active competition.

There was nothing accomplished at the Salesroom on Monday in the way of sales. A couple of foreclosures bulletined were postponed, and some eighty-five lots at Westchester, opposite the New York Jockey Club Race Course, were withdrawn because satisfactory bids were not offered.

H. C. Mapes & Co. had a successful sale on Monday, on the premises at Westchester, of sixty-five lots. There was a good attendance, and a total of $7,182 was realized, or an average of about $115 each. The lots are on Oak, Elm, Maple and Ash streets and Eastchester road. L. Fries secured three lots, E. B. Levy seven, G. W. Deane and W. C. Bosenbury each six lots, Thos. Larkin two, and Michael O'Hanlon and Miss A. K. Murphy four each.

Tuesday's sales were fairly numerous and important and the attendance was large. The premises Nos. 271 and 273 7th avenue and 158 and 160 West 26th street, together forming an L, with the four-story buildings thereon, belonging to the Feurbach estate, were sold as one parcel at $72,250. The premises adjoining on the avenue, Nos. 275 and 277, size 37.10x70, were recently sold by the same estate for $28,804. E. R. Alton bid $31,200 for the dwelling No. 3 East 27th street, near 5th avenue, and four new tenements on the northeast corner of Avenue D and 9th street were all bid in for a total of $118,150. The figure at which this property was held at private sale is $130,000, and the rental is said to be about $14,000. A tenement on West 60th street, No. 242, size 25x85x100.5, was sold under foreclosure for $13,000 to the second mortgagee. This is less than tenements are said to cost to build, without considering the lot. It is astonishing what poor prices are obtainable for tenements on the extreme east and west sides of town in the neighborhood of 60th street. The cause seems to be the difficulty in renting and of collecting the rents. The sale of lots at Rutherford, N. J., was postponed, owing to the absence of bidders.

The volume of business transacted at the Exchange on Wednesday was fair and the attendance pretty good. None of the parcels offered were of a costly character, and nothing occurred worthy of special mention.

Business was moderately active on Thursday on 'Change. The sales were not numerous, but there was a good deal of interest manifested by speculators, investors and brokers in the parcels offered. Three block fronts on Convent avenue, between 127th and 130th streets, belonging to the Convent of the Sacred Heart, were sold for a total of $54,800. The lower front brought only $10,725, which is partly accounted for by reason of the lots being very short. The front between 128th and 129th streets went for $15,900 to J. H. Beals, Jr. It is said the purchase was made in behalf of the Third Avenue Railroad Company, whose cable depot is in the rear on 10th avenue. For the upper front $28,175 was obtained. The other buyers were Jewett H. Shafer, a retired milkman, Morris Littman, H. Gershel, L. Ash, P. Fuchs, Jas. Rahill and L. Z. Bach. The regulating, grading, etc., of Convent avenue, Auctioneer Meyer said, is paid for by the city at large. A country seat, known as "Drayton House," at Hyde Park, on the Hudson, comprising about sixty-four acres, was sold to H. V. V. Braman for $36,000.

On the same day six lots on Boston avenue and Woodruff street were sold by H. C. Mapes & Co. for a total of $3,500, which experts say is very low. The same lots were recently sold at private contract at $2,750. The following figures showing what the same lots and other property thereabout sold for in the "Fifties" will no doubt interest our readers. In 1851, at a partition auction sale of the Archer estate, a tract of six acres, including the above lots, was sold for a total of $5,550, and subsequently, in 1852, the lots referred to brought $965.

Jera Johnson, Jr.'s, auction sale of lots at Yonkers, on Thursday, by order of Frederic Shonard, Esq., was a success. The attendance was very large and the bidding prompt and spirited; 140 lots were disposed of for an aggregate of $24,595, or an average of $175 per lot.

Only one sale was held at the Exchange yesterday, No. 28 Elm street, size 25x69.3. George F. Johnson became the buyer at $13,000; over $11,000 is due on the mortgage foreclosed.

On Monday, October 28, Richard L. Wells will sell twenty-one prospectively valuable lots, comprising the block bounded by the Southern Boulevard, Briggs and Valentine avenues and Garfield street, opposite Bedford Park and within eighteen minutes' time of the Grand Central depot.

On Tuesday, October 29, James Bleecker & Son will sell the brick house, with extension, at No. 78 Nassau street, between John street and Fulton street, and the five-story store at No. 28 Beekman street, between Nassau and William streets. These properties will be sold in partition, and are part of the Chesterman estate.

On Tuesday, October 29th, Richard V. Harnett & Co. will sell valuable store and tenement properties at No. 944 3d avenue, near 57th street, and No. 2367 3d avenue, near 129th street, as well as the handsome four-story residence built by Marc Eidlitz at No. 133 East 62d street. Mr. Harnett will also sell, on the same day, by order of the executors of the late Countess H. De Moltke-Huitfeldt, twenty-six lots on St. Nicholas and Manhattan avenues, 121st and 122d streets, comprising the entire block, with the exception of the northeast corner of St. Nicholas avenue and 121st street. This will be one of the most important sales of vacant realty held for some time and the terms of sale are made very easy. The other offerings by Mr. Harnett on that day will be the properties at No. 136 10th avenue, near West 19th street, and No. 433 West 33d street, between 9th and 10th avenues. Also a choice plot on Plaza and Union streets, Brooklyn.

On Wednesday, October 30th, Richard V. Harnett & Co. will offer the three four-story houses at Nos. 65, 73 and 75 West 95th street, adjoining seven houses just purchased by Vice-President Levi P. Morton.

On Wednesday, October 30, John F. B. Smyth will offer the four four-story flats at Nos. 69 to 73 East 123d street, and the two flats at Nos. 310 and 312 East 124th street.

On Thursday, October 31, John F. B. Smyth will sell a two-story dwelling and plot, 100x150 in size, on Pelham (late Union) avenue, 24th Ward.

On Thursday, October 31, James L. Wells will offer 16 lots on Sedgwick and Summit avenues, Highbridge, in the 24th Ward.

On Thursday, October 31st, Adrian H. Muller & Son will conduct a very important partition sale of property, under the direction of Referee Frederick Smyth. It comprises No. 52 Broad street, running through to No. 50 New street; Nos. 1580 to 1590 Broadway, Nos. 712 to 720 7th avenue, the southeast corner of 48th street and Broadway, and the southwest corner of 7th avenue and 48th street, and property on 143d street, near the Boulevard. Also seventy-three desirable plots on Palisade, Yonkers and Riverdale avenues, Spuyten Duyvil Parkway, Fieldston road, Waldo street and Old road, including water fronts on the Hudson River and Tibbett's Brook, in the 24th Ward of New York City.

On Thursday, October 31st, Richard V. Harnett & Co. will offer two lots on 128th and 129th streets, one on each street, running through, near Lenox avenue, by order of the executors, and a three-story house and two lots on 137th street, near 7th avenue.

On Thursday, November 7, James L. Wells will hold a continuation sale of lots on the Bussing estate, situated at Norwood, Williamsbridge Heights, in the 24th Ward. The property is directly opposite the Harlem & New Haven Roads' station, and can be reached in twenty-one minutes from the Grand Central depot. Some 300 lots will be offered in all.

On Tuesday, November 12, John F. B. Smyth will offer the tenement at No. 328 East 59th street; the store and tenement at No. 749 3d avenue, and two lots on 149th and 152d streets, one on each street.

BUILDING MATERIAL MARKET.

BRICKS.—While no further change of a radical nature has developed on the market for Common Bricks the tone has, if anything, improved slightly. This shows itself mostly in the more compact character of the line of value, pretty much everything worth handling now selling on the comparatively narrow range of $6.00@7.00 per M, with possibly a few specials a fraction higher, and during the early portion of the week the supply was cleaned up daily without much difficulty. As we left the market for this week's report there was a sudden and pretty full arrival, but under the impression that very little more could be added and every indication of a continued good demand, receivers were feeling reasonably confident in their ability to secure an outlet without a modification of cost. It is understood that a very considerable portion of present purchases are made against actual wants for early consumption, but those dealers who have the room available are quietly tucking away an odd cargo every now and then where quality proves extra attractive, the general run of the offering proving very good at the moment and permitting some desirable selections. Possibly this week may be considered the closing one of the manufacturing season, as very few bricks were left on the yards at latest accounts, and they, most likely, were reached by the frost. With the final burning, therefore, each maker may be expected to close his labor and ship from accumulations so long as the river remains open. There seems to be work enough here to consume a great many bricks, but much will depend upon the cost. Pales selling fairly and remain steady at former figures. There has been some lammies coming in of late, and while a few reached $3.00 per M about $2.50 per M is the average bid.

LATH.—Conditions have not undergone any very important change during the interval since our last report. The anticipations in regard to Northern stock appear to have been realized, and so far as we can learn no fresh parcels came to hand on open market, but of coastwise supplies the arrivals appear to have slightly overrun calculations, thus increasing both quantity and assortment and fractionally widened out the line of value, sales during the week ranging from $2.15 up to $2.25 per M, the inside figure for Maine stock, and $2.20 probably about the lowest for anything from the Provinces. Demand as a rule appears to have rather more spirit, and there is probably now a greater inclination to lay away supplies against winter requirements, especially among dealers, who are in any way liable to trouble in the matter of dock accommodation.

LIME.—About every thing that comes to hand from any quarter continues to receive the prompt recognition of buyers, and no cargoes have been on waiting orders. With Eastern stock held steadily all other grades have found corresponding support, and quotations are without change.

LUMBER.—The market works along in pretty uniform lines and there is practically nothing new in the general features since our last. Business is not running behind apparently, and in some cases there is a tendency to increase with a probability that extra desirable stock could be placed with greater freedom if available, and exceptionally on such stuff as wide spruce, etc., buyers would not object to increasing their bids on the assurance that it would attract supply. There is, however, no special boom or apparent chances for it, as most of the trade are in conservative mood, and while neglecting nothing necessary to prepare themselves for winter requirements are evidently so placed as to find it possible to resist exactions of a positive character. General offerings too are fair with most sellers well enough posted to appreciate the propriety of not seeking more than natural advantages.

Eastern Spruce varies in tone somewhat, according to quality. Taking the ordinary run of stock sellers do not find a powerful grip, and now and then on short and narrow stuff will accept a comparatively low rate, but wide stock is well maintained, and indeed the talk of very full rates for everything that can be offered during balance of the season is quite pronounced. It is simply a case of soot supply and good demand, and we are told that many dealers who have been delaying their orders under the belief that the claims of manufacturers regarding the light supply of desirable logs were unfounded will probably find it impossible to obtain enough of the best stock to give them anything like the assortment they require for the regular trade. The very large fleet arriving this week has given the market an excellent test, and shows its inherent strength. There were cargoes enough at one time to have caused a great deal of trouble had it been necessary to sell them, but the majority, it was found, had been disposed of before arrival, and for the surplus buyers stood waiting with prompt bids at full rates.

Piling is very firmly held, and all reports are in confident form. With a large consumption assured under contracts closed some time ago, and a good regular demand, confronted by comparatively light offerings, holders of the supply in chains and receivers calculating upon only moderate arrivals feel that they have the market practically in hand for balance of season. Hemlock shows no more than the ordinary irregularity, and the market as a whole is looked upon as in promising shape. The State cut still favors buyers in the main, but is not shading off further, and while some representatives of Pennsylvania producers admit that their rates have been a little above the average they are getting fair orders and expect more of them as the season progresses.

White Pine has some very warm friends and some rather bitter enemies, and the contradictory character of their reports at times makes quite an interesting study. Evidently, however, the general demand is not as full as in former seasons; first, because the wood has been ousted from many consumptive channels by other descriptions; and, secondly, because so large a percentage of dealers who retain White Pine upon their lists to any extent have fixed arrangements through which they obtain it direct from mills, much of it practically out of order. Still, sharp and energetic salesmen occasionally manage to place fair quantities, and have of late done so without sacrifice on the line of cost.

Yellow Pine continues to be offered with sufficient freedom to meet the wants, and occasionally casual expressions would seem to indicate that there is a little too much of it. Not that the stuff suffers at all in popularity, but simply that the freedom of production and effort to sell both through coastwise and rail delivery has given buyers about all they can see early use for, and a little curtailment in supply would probably be beneficial. Yard stocks are pretty well assorted, and dealers understood to be standing together in the effort to maintain values.

Carolina Pine gets all the roseate reports commonly to be found in the most interested quarters, and generally those who deal in the wood are speaking fairly well of it. In short, in its natural relative position upon the market it is holding its own in the matter of sales making with some mills understood to have a slight surplus of orders, and on values the tone is sustained without apparent difficulty.

Hardwoods are disappointing those operators who may have been calculating upon a full and general deal with hardening values, yet there is some little demand to be found all the time for really desirable parcels of standard grades, and buyers are not seeking to depress values to any extent. Poplar seems, as usual, to be the greatest bone of contention, and there is occasionally a great deal of bitter denunciation of quotations according to the manner in which operators desire to have the market presented, but on the average stock really does not vary much in cost from week to week. Ash and quartered oak are in favor, and also plain oak, and occasional business is done in gum, cypress, cherry, etc., but rarely in walnut on home account. Mahogany is a good, steady selling wood, and commands satisfactory prices.

GENERAL LUMBER NOTES.

THE WEST.

The Mississippi Valley Lumberman as follows:

The last logs destined for the St. Paul boom this season were turned over the falls the first of the current week. Something like 20,000,000 feet have been sent below the falls, nearly all of which have already been rafted. The logs have found a ready sale and at good prices, and the season, as a whole, may be put down as a successful one. All this might call for no particular comment, had not the effort to raft logs at St. Paul, to be sold to the down river mills, been looked upon heretofore as a somewhat problematical undertaking. There were a good many local lumbermen who freely predicted that it could not be done. But it has been done—and done in a season when the water in the river has been lower than it has been known to be in years. The attempt has cost a good deal of hard work and a good deal of money, but Mr. Whitney, of the St. Anthony Lumber Company, to which corporation nearly all the logs have belonged, is satisfied with the result, and will repeat the practice next year. It may be urged that in a season when logs are run out of the Chippewa and St. Croix with freedom, that it will not be possible to sell the logs from up the river at as remunerative figures as they have commanded this year, but it is evident that whenever these conditions prevail, that logs will be got from Minneapolis to St. Paul for less money than they have been handled between these points this year. But while 20,000,000 have been got over the falls successfully in an exceedingly hard year, it is certain that no very large number of logs could be handled in a dry season like this has been, because it has not been found possible to use the government sluice, except whenever the mills did not require what little water there has been in the river this season.

The Timberman as follows:

The eccentricities of the lumber trade have recently received practical demonstration in the shipment of lumber from Muskegon past the very doors of the Huron shore producing points and the Saginaw River to the eastern distributing centres. This movement of the product is the more remarkable in view of the fact that several cargoes have passed Muskegon, en route to Chicago, from the east coast of Michigan. However, this is not much more remarkable than the invasion of Ohio and Indiana markets by the Wisconsin product, which seems to have been successfully accomplished by lumber from Merrill and Wausau, through special transportation rates afforded by the railroads. The hitherto apparently natural and inalienable rights of any particular locality to the market at some other point seems to be ignored by the logic of peculiar circumstances.

At Chicago:

Commission men are greatly encouraged over the state of the market this week. There is a stronger feeling all around, and a firmer condition of the market than has been known for some time past. Arrivals were heavy the first of the week, the market opening with something over twenty cargoes in sight. These went off quite freely with short pieces selling at an advance of 25 cents a thousand, and longer lengths higher in proportion. This advance was expected, as yard dealers find themselves obliged to lay in considerable stock if they expect to supply the demand during the winter months.

Arrivals later in the week were comparatively light, and these went off readily, leaving the market almost barren.

The receipts of lumber for the week were 5,000,000 feet less than last year, while shingles show a little increase. As has heretofore been the case, the majority of cargoes were made up of the poorer grades. Good stock was scarce, especially inch stuff, and when any did arrive it found ready purchasers.

Business at the yards is fairly good, and in some instances an increase in the volume of trade may be noted over last week. Orders are coming in liberal quantities, and at least one firm has taken more during the past three weeks than for any three weeks during the year. Yet there is an appearance of dullness, owing to the fact that increased facilities for loading lumber enables dealers to clean up their order book, or nearly so, every day, and for this reason the tracks are not all the time crowded with cars, and customers are not flooding them with inquiries as to why bills have not arrived.

Stocks are mostly in good condition, but there is not an over-plentiful supply of good strip, or some lengths of piece stuff. A comparison of the stocks on hand October 1, this year and last, shows an excess of lumber of over 20,000,000 feet, about 25,000,000 shingles, and 600,000 cedar posts. There are 10,000,000 less lath, and pickets show a dropping off of 300,000. There is an increase of the amount on hand October 1, over the previous month in everything but pickets and posts, which show a slight falling off. The figures also show that the stock on hand October 1 is heavier than for any year since 1885, and that it has been exceeded but three times since 1878.

In the matter of shipments and sales, September compares very favorably with the same month in 1888. There is no material difference in the amount of lumber disposed of, but shingles show a gain of over 20,000,000. There was a falling off in the shipments of about 5,000,000 feet, but a corresponding increase in the city consumption. There was in the neighborhood of 30,000,000 feet more of lumber sold in the city trade than was shipped to the country.

There is a growing opinion that the trade in good lumber will be better this year than has been expected, which is an encouraging fact, as the extremely low prices mainly apply to the poorer grades.

The trade in hardwoods is moving along at an even pace, and hardly any change may be noted, either in prices or demand. While there is some complaint of dullness, a majority of dealers are fairly satisfied with the volume of their business, and it will compare very favorably with a year ago. At least this was the case for September, and October promises even better.

ENGLAND.

The London Timber Trades Journal as follows:

In the London market dealers experience great difficulty in maintaining prices at a remunerative level, and in several instances have been compelled to part with their goods at figures which barely cover import cost. The general tone of the trade, therefore, is not particularly hopeful, although great faith is expressed in the eventual strength of the market, provided it is not overcome either with consignment cargoes or forced sales of remnants of stock at heavy reductions on spring prices.

In summary of a large auction sale of hardwoods the Journal says:

American walnut logs and lumber, oak flooring and whitewood, etc., without reserve, were rapidly sold as usual; while sequoia, cherry, walnut and whitewood of the same description but better quality were bought in at reserve prices, according to precedent, with the exception of a parcel of American whitewood planks and boards, ex Elvaston, from Baltimore, which was all cleared at apparently satisfactory prices. After this the end of the catalogue was soon reached, with very little further bidding.

And in regular market reports gives some good hints to our shippers:

American Black Walnut.—Again we have to report upon the extremely poor character of a large proportion of the recent arrivals, many of the logs being almost worthless, and only when offered at public auction without reserve is there any likelihood of their being sold, and we doubt very much whether they will then even realize freight and charges. Lumber has been coming over pretty freely, for the better grades of which there is always a good demand.

American Whitewood.—Logs continue to be of very slow sale, but for good board stuff there is an active inquiry.

American Oak.—In this there is a fairly good trade doing at fully maintained prices.

Sequoia.—At Wednesday's sale, when a further quantity of the fresh parcel of prime plank stuff, lately arrived per Don Quixote, from San Francisco, was offered, there were no biddings, though we hear that some of the lots have since been sold privately we believe for cabinet-making purposes. This wood is now regarded more favorably, and we shall not be surprised to hear of its being much more largely used before long.

METALS.—COPPER.—Ingot does not undergo any important or positive change. It is not uncommon to hear rumors of various kinds intimating sometimes a cutting on values, and sometimes that new combinations are about being formed through which an advance in cost is to follow, but actual trading demonstrates that the Lake companies adhere uniformly to the old rate, and among the outside producers the fluctuation is simply of about the ordinary fractional character. Quotations are generally placed at 11 @11½c. for Lake, and 9½@10½c. for casting brands. Manufactured Copper has been more active, all the regular outlets calling for full average amounts, and some new demand developing of late, marking altogether a trade about equal to production. No change in cost, and list rates closely adhered to. We quote as follows: Sheets, not above 30x72 in., 16 oz. and over, 20c.; do, 14 to 16 oz., 21c.; do, 12 to 14 oz., 22c.; do, 10 to 12 oz., 23c.; do, 8 to 10 oz., 24c.; do, under 8 oz., 25c. Sheets longer than 72 inches add 1c. for 12x14 oz. 2c. for 10x12 oz. and 3c. for 8x10 oz. Sheets, not above 36x96 in., 16 oz. and over, 20c.; do, 16 to 32 oz., 20c.; do, 14 to 16 oz., 22c.; do, 12 to 14 oz., 24c.; do, 10 to 12 oz., 25c.; do, 8 to 10 oz., 26c. Sheets longer than 96 inches add 1c. for under 16 oz. and 1c. for 8 to 10 oz. Sheets, not above 48x96, 32 to 64 oz., 20c.; do, 16 to 32 oz., 22c.; do, 14 to 16 oz., 25c.; do, 12 to 14 oz., 26c. Sheets 60x96 and over, 20c.; for 32 to 64 oz. and over, and 25c. for 16 to 32 oz. All bath tub sheets, per lb., 16 oz., 23c.; 14 oz., 25c.; 12 oz., 27c.; and 10 oz., 30c. Bolt copper, ¾ inch diameter and over, 20c. Circles, 60 diameter and less, 3c. above price of sheets of same thickness; circles, 60 to 96 do do, 5c. do; circles, 96 do and over, 6c. do. Segment and pattern sheets, 3c. above price of sheets required to cut them from. Cold or hard rolled copper, 1@2c. per lb. above the foregoing prices. Copper bottom, 23@26c. per lb. Iron.—Scotch Pig has been in a somewhat nominal position. Advances from abroad indicate much excitement and buoyancy in the foreign markets as the result of rapidly diminishing stocks, and the consequent natural enhancement of importers views here has practically shut off all hopes of doing business in the ordinary way with about all the sales for some time past simply through special orders, and in small lots. Rates on all brands, therefore, have become very uncertain, and simply a matter of negotiation, according to momentary circumstances. We quote at about $23.00@25.00 per ton, according to brand, delivery, etc. American Pig is steadily developing the hardening tendency patent for weeks past, and an advancing market characterizes the situation. Liberal sales have been made with buyers willing to contract to even a greater extent than they can secure accommodation, and in addition to fractional advances already secured, through natural course of competitive bidding, the leading company has announced that on November 1st it will put up its rates $1 per ton, making a basis of $18 for No 1 X foundry, and all others are quite likely to follow. We quote at $17.50@18.00 per ton for No. 1 X foundry; $16.50@17.00 for No. 2 X do.; and $15.50@16.00 for Gray Forge. Old material feels the influence of the rising tendency in other iron, and has a good, strong market for all kinds of stock, domestic or foreign, with very little offering, and it is said that small amounts will have to be depended upon for some time. We quote at about $25.00@25.50 for old rails; $21.00@22.00 for No. 1 wrought scrap; $15.00@17.00 for cast scrap, and $18.00@19.00 for car wheels. Steel Rails have not been quite so active of late through the twofold influence of most buyers reasonably well supplied, and the increased line of cost prevailing. Manufacturers, however, with liberal contracts in hand, are very independent, and there is no evidence of anxiety to negotiate or tendency to in any way consider a modification of value. We quote at $32.00@32.50 per ton at the mills and $33.00@34.00 do. at tide water. Manufactured Iron has quite its average sale on all regular outlets and retains a generally healthy market with as yet no change in value announced, though the tendency seems to be naturally in an upward direction. We quote Common Merchant Bar, ordinary sizes, at 1.90 @2.10c. from store, and refined at 2.00@2.30c.; Rods, round and square, 2.10@2.30c.; Bands, 2.20@2.30c.; Norway Nail Rods, 4@5c., and domestic sheet on the basis of 2.75@2.80c. for common Nos. 10@16. Other descriptions at corresponding prices, with 1-10c. less on large lots from cars. LEAD.—Do.estic Pig now and then gets a little attention from speculators, but the ordinary and direct trade demand is light and objects to investment at current cost. We quote at 3.80@4.00c., as to quality. The manufacturers of lead are quoted: Bar, 4½c.; pipe, 6c.; sheet, 6½c., less the usual discount to the trade; and tin lined pipe, 15c.; block tin pipe 45c., on same terms. Tin—Pig has shown considerable irregularity on value at times owing, in the main, to speculative influences, but the general inclination was rather in sellers' favor and stimulating influences received the quickest response. We quote at about 20½@20¾c. for round lots, and 20½@21c. for jobbing parcels. Tin plates have been active during the past fortnight, including a good movement in spot goods as well as liberal contracts for winter and spring delivery with a stiffening of value following in natural order. We quote prices as follows: I. C. Charcoal, ½ cross assortment, Melyn grades, $5.95@6.00, each additional X add $1.50; I. C. Charcoal, ½ cross assortment, Allaway grade, $5.25@5.30, each additional X add $1; Charcoal terme, M. F. grade, 14x20, $8.75@9.00; M. F. grade, 20x28, $13.50@14.00; Worcester, 14x20, $4.95@5.00; Worcester, 20x28, $10.00@10.12½; Deane grade, 14x20, $4.75@4.80; Dean grade, 14x20, $9.50@9.62½; Allaway grade, 14x20, $4.50@4.62½; Allaway grade, 20x28, $9.10@9.12½; I. C. Coke, Penian grade, $4.60@4.62½; J. B. grade, 14x20, 4.75@4.77½; I. C. Bessemer steel, squares, $4.85@4.90 basis; I. C. Siemens steel, squares, $4.90

@4.95. Spelter receives fair average attention from galvanizers and brass manufacturers and the market seems to maintain about a steady position. We quote at 5.05@5¼c. for common Western, according to brand.

NAILS.—The market does not show any real change. Demand fluctuates a little, yet on the whole manages to work out about the same quantity of stock that might be expected at this season on home account, and occasionally secures an export order to help along. Prices close steady, according to most reports. We quote at $1.95@2.00 per keg for car lots, and $2.05 @2.10 per keg for parcels from store.

PAINTS, OILS, ETC.—A good general demand seems to be about the story for most leading descriptions of stock, and operators talk as though very well satisfied with the ruling conditions. Disturbing influences seem to have been pretty well removed also, and prices all along the line of staple goods show a uniform tone. Supplies and assortments are quite equal to the call making at the moment. Linseed Oil has a steady sale with prices ruling at 57@58c. for Western and 60@61c. for City. Spirits Turpentine selling slowly, but in accord with primary markets prices are firmer, and the offering careful. We quote at 49@50c. per gallon, according to quantity, delivery, etc.

TAR AND PITCH.—The general movement of supplies into consumption seems up to about the average, and sellers make no special complaint. Only fractional variations in value occur. We quote pitch at $1.40 @1.50 per bbl.; tar at $2.62½@2.87½, according to quantity, quality and delivery.

MORTGAGES.

NOTE.—The arrangement of this list is as follows: The first name is that of the mortgagor, the next that of the mortgagee. The description of the property then follows, then the date of the mortgage, the time for which it was given, and the amount. The general dates used as headings are the dates when the mortgage was handed into the Register's office to be recorded.

Whenever the letters "P. M." occur, preceded by the name of a street, in these lists of mortgages, they mean that it is a Purchase Money Mortgage, and for fuller particulars see the list of transfers under the corresponding date. Whenever the rate is not given, read as 6 per cent.

For reference as to Mr. Kelly's method of business I refer to the Health Department of this city.

*Editor RECORD AND GUIDE:

A large number of liens have been filed against Barron & Barron as contractors, and myself as owner, of the buildings northwest corner 89th street and 9th avenue, to secure money claimed to be due from Barron & Barron to the several lienors. As rapidly as these liens are filed I am pressing them to foreclosure, inasmuch as I had already overpaid Barron & Barron under my contract with them prior to the filing of said liens, and am not now indebted to them.

Property-Owners.

A VOLUME OF INFORMATION
OF COST!

If you have decided to place a tin roof upon your house you should, in justice to yourself, obtain the best possible information in regard to tin for roofing purposes. No property-owner can afford to remain ignorant, when a whole volume of information devoted to the selection, laying and painting of a tin roof can be had for the asking. Messrs. Merchant & Co., of this city, are conceded to be authority on tin roofs. They have devoted much time, labor and money in presenting, in readable shape, a mass of facts upon this subject, which are of great interest to property-owners. The constant inquiry from property-owners for these books evinces the fact that there is considerable quiet thinking being done just now by a large number of gentlemen, who have heretofore given the subject very little consideration. What the outcome will be, almost any one can anticipate. A better class of roofing is sure to follow, as a natural consequence. A wise property-owner will send for Merchant & Co.'s new book; and, after reading it, he will certainly conclude that there was much that he did not know upon the subject of tin roofs.—Philadelphia Real Estate Record, September 11, 1889.

VOL. XLIV.

NOVEMBER 2, 1889.

No. 1,129.

In another column of this issue will be found an account in detail of the first step taken by the building trade (with the industries and professions related to it) to secure for itself in the forthcoming Exposition a representation and place commensurate to its magnitude and wealth. The significance of the meeting cannot be overestimated. It was called hastily, with only a few hours' notice, yet the number and character of those present, and the unanimity that prevailed as to the necessity for organization and concerted action to secure for the building trades something better than a scattered exhibit mark it as the beginning of a movement that in importance may fall short only of the movement to secure the Exposition itself.

Hitherto, in exhibitions, the building trades have cut a very poor figure. They have made a display incomprehensibly insignificant, considering that grouped as one they form perhaps the largest of our industries, and one that certainly is very far from being the least interesting, for everyone has a direct personal interest in all that appertains to the design, construction and decoration of buildings. The work of this industry is constantly before people, it "cries in the streets," and both the comfort and health of all are perpetually influenced by it. If it were necessary to choose between having in the forthcoming Exposition a Machinery Hall or a Building Hall there are a multitude of facts to support a preference for the latter. There is no necessity, however, to make a choice. There should be both.

There is only one way to obtain a Building Hall. Those who are interested in building must organize and subscribe the funds necessary to erect the edifice. There should be, and we are confident there will be, not the slightest difficulty in obtaining all and even more than is needed. The trades concerned are among the very wealthiest in the country. Architects, real estate men, builders, and all who manufacture or supply the multitudinous materials and articles used in the construction and decoration of buildings, are alike interested in the success of the project. First or last, from them would come no small portion of the fund that will create the Exposition. This sum, if concentrated for a single purpose, would collect one of the most interesting, instructive and valuable exhibits of the Exposition in a magnificent edifice which should be typical of the highest condition of the art of building in this country at the present day. Inside and out it should be the glorification of the great army of builders and those who, either as artists or manufacturers, march with them. The materials used in the building (and how gladly they would be contributed!) should be chosen from the finest quarries of the country and should be of exemplary workmanship. The granites of the North, the limestones and sandstones of the Central and Western States, and the variegated stones in which the South is rich beyond common repute could be used. The great wealth of this country in timber could be reflected in the interior of the building, and the measure of the ability of our woodworkers shown. The history of architecture and building could be told in stained glass, mosaic work and sculpture, and finally the design of the building should be chosen in a competition that would be a model for all others, and represent the highest artistic skill of the country. Every consideration that can be advanced favors the collection of the building exhibit in a structure of this kind. The trade should organize for it. Every individual should subscribe for it and work for it. Let the building trades be properly represented in the Exposition of 1892, and let the exhibit be permanent. Instead of being scattered at the end of a few months it should remain to the perpetual benefit of the exhibitors, the trade at large and the public.

Everyone in the trade should make it his duty to attend the mass meeting which, we believe, it is the intention of the Committee of Nine appointed on Thursday to call early in the coming week. The proposition made by Mr. S. F. Jayne to hold the meeting in the Real Estate Exchange is a good one, and that institution will no doubt permit the use of its room for a purpose so public and important. A permanent organization can then be effected, and the committees appointed necessary to investigate and arrange for matters of detail. Not only should the building trades of New York be represented as completely as possible, but those of Brooklyn and Jersey City—the district of greater New York. A bureau should be established to invite the co-operation of the building trades in all the cities and towns of this State and neighboring States who are interested in having the Exposition held in New York City.

It has always been the characteristic of the stock market to discount the future. Securities sell there more on their prospective than on their present value. If the earnings of a railroad are on the increase the price of the stock goes up, although the dividend rate may not be at all increased for the time being; and so, if the outlook is good, a bull market is always expected, although the actual effects may be postponed for some months. The market this fall, curiously enough, has been exceptional in this respect. The prospects have never been better, yet one incidental circumstance after another, co-operating with a lack of general interest in the market, has kept prices from rising. This lack of outside interest may be attributed, in part at least, to the present change in method of business due to the formation of combinations. During the process of this change, business men will be forced to strengthen themselves by a considerable cash reserve. The conditions, however, remain very much the same. The agreement between Northwestern and the Union Pacific will doubtless be followed by others similar in kind, which, by facilitating transportation, will help to bring about the unusual prosperity next year which Mr. Benner has so confidently predicted. Moreover, there are signs that the high prices and good times abroad are reacting on our own trade. The shipment of iron to England by the Thompson Iron Works, of Pittsburg, is significant in this respect. But the market for the present is a waiting one.

The impressions of a foreigner who knew nothing about New York, and whose sole idea as to the present condition of affairs in that city was derived from the columns of the Evening Post, might well think that the Central Park was a sanctuary as precious to the religious aspirations, the moral sentiments, and the material well-being of the people of this city as the Holy of Holies was to the people of Jerusalem. It goes without saying that the Central Park is of the greatest importance to the happiness of such of our population who have not the means or time to seek country pleasures in country surroundings, and that any scheme which proposed to use the whole of the park, regardless of its present configuration, and of the money and skill that has been put upon it, should be unsparingly condemned. On the other hand, it is not consecrated ground. No cardinal has drawn around it the holy circle of the Church of Rome; and we may be excused if we do not kneel to the curse which the Post so unceasingly promulgates.

We should like to know whether the Exposition is worth any sacrifice at all. If it is not, it should never have been undertaken. If it is, should not the sacrifice be shared by all? It is very well for the papers to urge the rich men of our city to contribute. They should do so; they are doing so, thereby showing that they do place some value on the holding of the Exposition in New York. Thus far the poor and the moderately well-off—the people who use the park—have been sparing of their subscriptions. Why should they not, if necessary, sacrifice a few trees and a little open space for the sake of making the Fair a success and possibly of gaining a valuable permanent exhibit. The objection is not to the use of the park, but to its serious injury. If it can be used without serious injury and to its own permanent advantage, wild newspaper talk should not be permitted to stand in the way. Surely this is the common sense of the whole matter.

The committee, constituted unfortunately on the principle that "he who drives fat oxen must himself be fat," have not been any too wise. Not knowing their own minds, they have hesitated, delayed, and faced first one way and then the other. But there is as much to be said for as against them. Coming to the business inexperienced, and having to reconcile conflicting interests and conflicting ideas, they have necessarily incurred opposition and criticism. The attitude, however, with which their work was regarded should have been, and should still be, one of charity and not one of cavil. It is essential in promoting a scheme of this kind that until it becomes an assured fact, every opportunity should be taken not to criticise but to assist. Whatever interest New Yorkers take will certainly be crushed if the committee is to be hampered by a minute and ill-tempered criticism of every error in detail. Enthusiasm, it must be remembered, is a plant of tender growth. While the scheme is yet young, due allowance should be made for its youthful faults, less it be killed and not cured. It is this cavilling fault finding which is certainly responsible for the present not altogether satisfactory manner in which the subscriptions are coming in. For certainly a disagreement with the policy of the committee gives an excellent opportunity for a niggardly spirit at once to keep his money and pose as a defender of public interests. A man who really wishes to see the Fair a success, and is willing to sacrifice something for that object, can very well make a subscription conditional on Central Park not being touched. Let the Evening Post, if it wishes both to help the Fair and preserve the park, instead of publishing the letters from people who do not wish to subscribe, start a subscription for those who do under the above condition. It could then be seen what this pro-park agitation amounts to. We have a strong suspicion that the Evening Post does not represent public opinion, but is frantically trying to create it.

The refusal of the Bloomingdale Asylum to permit the use of its property within the limits of the proposed site for Fair purposes has not received quite the attention it has deserved. Obviously if the property cannot be obtained the site will have to be abandoned. This fact has doubtless been appreciated, and the reason this refusal has attracted no particular attention has been that the question of the acquisition of the Bloomingdale property has been merged in the general question of the condemnation of land which could be obtained in no other way. Yet there are circumstances that distinguish this matter of the Bloomingdale property from the general question of condemnation. As a matter of fact the Bloomingdale Asylum owes so much to the people of this city and State that if every effort is not made by that corporation to move in time to permit the use of their grounds for Fair purposes our authorities will be justified (in a way which they will not be in case of the other property-holders) in using every means to force the management to accede to public requirements. Ever since the asylum's existence the New York property of this institution has been free from city and State taxation. At the last session of the Legislature the land at White Plains, to which they intend to remove the asylum, was further freed from public burdens. This constant immunity from taxation of a rich corporation certainly constitutes a claim against it for the utmost endeavor to help, or at least not to hinder, any public enterprise. In these days of rapid building it would be easily possible for the managers to provide the necessary accommodations for the inmates of the asylum in a time sufficiently short to give the committee a chance to use the land. It may be added that if the managers refuse to do this there are ways in which our public authorities could, to say the least, make it extremely disagreeable for them—such, for instance, as the taxation of their property. This whole matter is made the more important by the fact that a number of the property-owners have given their land only on the condition that the land of the Bloomingdale Asylum also can be acquired.

The electric light difficulty gives Mayor Grant an excellent opportunity at least to put before the people of New York a question which sooner or later they must consider. Would it not be well for the municipality to supply the city with electric light as with water? There is no doubt that theoretically much may be said pro and con, upon the general proposition of increasing governmental activity of any sort; but in this particular matter of electric lighting there are certain plain facts which, in themselves, are quite decisive and need not to be considered in relation to any theory.

There are a number of cities in the Union that now own and manage their own electric light plant, and in every case that we are aware of municipal control has resulted in a very large saving to tax payers without any co-relative disadvantages. Let any business man pronounce upon the wisdom of this city's paying private corporations as much as $180 per lamp per annum, while Chicago obtains the same service under municipal management for $54.60 per lamp, this latter sum including interest on the amount invested in plant. What is it, let it be asked, that New York obtains for this difference of $125.40? Certainly it is not better light nor a completer service, as all who have visited Chicago know. Look at our present condition. The electric lighting in New York City is as badly "mixed" as the wires that disfigure its streets. The city to-day is in semi-darkness. There exists underground, after great cost, wrangling, injury to the public health and annoyance to traffic, an incomplete and, some assert, inadequate system of subways which the electric light companies roundly refuse to use (and in this refusal they have now the support of the Supreme Court), and overhead is an unsightly tangle of dangerous wires, which the city authorities are struggling to prevent the companies from using. Boards and commissioners, coroners and officials are meeting, inquiring and reaching decisions that decide nothing. The city is busy serving injunctions on the companies and the companies are equally industrious serving injunctions on the city. The Commissioner of Public Works has men on one pole cutting down wires and the companies are at work on others stringing new ones. As to the citizens of New York they look on in darkness. The situation is simply ludicrous; and there are no signs yet that the farce is not be prolonged indefinitely. What part does "government" play in this matter?

The city should take steps at once towards establishing an electrical plant for municipal purposes. It may be taken for granted that our officials could do as well as those of Chicago have done, and if this were done the following saving would be effected:

NUMBER OF LAMPS AT PRESENT IN USE AND COST THEREOF.

Or more than 50 per cent. Why should not this sum be saved to the city? This question is worth a little consideration from every taxpayer. Perhaps even an expression of intention on the part of the city to do its own electric lighting would bring the companies to consider with a more favorable eye the advantages of the subway, the wisdom of serving the city at a somewhat lower profit than at present, and the advantages of treating with some show of deference the wishes of citizens.

Government Ownership of Railroads.

The statement of Commissioner of Railroads Taylor, in the annual report to the Secretary of the Interior for year ending June 30, 1889, to the effect that in many sections of the West the mileage of railroads is greatly in excess of the legitimate needs of the carrying trade, gives a clew to the cause of the heavy losses sustained by railroads in the last few years in this country, and lends weight to the figures presented by Prof. H. C. Adams, that over 40 per cent. of the combined capital and bonds of railroad companies yielded no return for the year ending June, 1888. Railroads have been projected with such reckless rapidity during the last twenty years under the present system of private control that there is now scarcely a community of any importance throughout the United States the business of which is not fiercely competed for by road companies. No sooner does a line projected into some newly-developed industrial field begin to return more than the ordinary rate of profit than is a second—fortunate for the community if not a third and fourth—company established in attempted competition with the old for a share of this income. The construction of the two unnecessary railroads, the Nickel Plate and the West Shore, are only striking examples of this common practice. It has come to this, in this country, that only in the minority of cases is it the demands of increased traffic that calls new lines into existence.

The result of this continued practice of constructing rival roads to secure a share of the profit of an established company, is that now between leading industrial centres in this country we often see the ridiculous spectacle of two or three individual companies, or several companies which have pooled their interests, carrying on the business that one well-regulated road is easily capable of doing. In other words, traffic carried on between certain business points is compelled to pay a profit on the capitalized stocks and bonds of two or more railroad companies when the extent of traffic does not require but one well-equipped road. Of the 29,000 miles of railroad built in the three years, 1880-1882, the statement is given on the authority of Mr. Hadley that not more than one-third of these were justified by existing business. There is no reason to believe that of the 30,000 miles of road constructed since that period a greater per cent. was really called into existence by increased demands of traffic. Placing this per cent. at only one-half instead of two-thirds, however, the number of miles of line constructed during each year at the conservative estimate of five thousand, and the average cost of building per mile at the low rate of $50,000, it is seen that $125,000,000 a year is wasted in the construction and operation of surplus lines of railway.

Dr. Ely, in his "Introduction to Political Economy," recently issued, says: "Probably the waste in railway construction and operation in the United States during the past fifty years would be amply sufficient to build comfortable homes for every man, woman and child in the country." Every mile of railroad constructed in excess of the demands of the carrying trade clearly represents so much capital wasted, and places a heavy tax upon traffic. The peculiar opportunities which railroad enterprises in this country offer to speculations render it morally certain that so long as the present system of private ownership and control remains in vogue the public at large can scarcely hope to be released from the payment of this excess charge imposed upon traffic in the interest of speculators. On the continent of Europe, where the system of private ownership of railroads has had a fair trial, the tendency is more and more strongly toward government control. England, Switzerland and the United States stand almost alone in depending on private enterprise for railroads. The continental countries of Europe have either gone to the extreme of State ownership or have adopted the policy of State support and control. Those countries which grant to private companies charters usually reserve the right of purchase or provide especially that all the property of the companies shall revert to the State at the expiration of a stated time without payment. The South American Republics have generally adopted the system of State ownership and control. In no other country have the abuses incident to private ownership been so felt as in the United States, and yet in no other country have they been so tolerated. England is several steps in advance of us in the direction of government ownership of all natural monopolies. In 1870 she assumed complete control of the telegraph, and in March of this year purchased the cables extending across to the different countries of the continent, reducing at once, by the way, the charge of sending telegrams to 2d. per word, the minimum charge being fixed at 10d.

The co-existence of State railroads and those owned and operated by private companies in the same countries of Europe enables a fair comparison to be drawn between these different systems as to the workings of each. Information obtained from seven of the countries on the continent of Europe—Germany, Austria-Hungary, Belgium, France, Italy, Russia and Roumania—shows that in all, excepting France, greater economy of administration is secured by State control. In France the State owns only the feeders to the main trunk lines which belong to private corporations. It is for this reason, it is asserted, the State lines of that country are not so economically managed as the lines of private companies. The State-controlled lines of Belgium are administered for less than one-half the relative cost of the lines belonging to private companies. Returns from the same countries given above show that the cost of maintenance of way is generally higher on the State lines, while the traffic expenses are higher on the lines under private control; taken together, however, the cost of maintenance of way and traffic expenses for State railroads is considerably less than the sum of the items of expense for roads under private control. The higher cost of the maintenance of State railways in these countries is generally attributed to the better condition in which they are kept by the State. These are facts which contradict the statement often heard in this country that the State cannot perform services so economically as can private enterprise, and are well worth considering in view of the growing dissatisfaction with which our present system of railroad management is regarded.

R. J. FINLEY.

Ten Months of Real Estate.

The figures of conveyances, mortgages, and projected buildings for the ten months of the current year, ending with October 31st, show a general increase over the figures of the corresponding period last year. There were 12,545 conveyances as against 10,090, and their cost aggregated $224,132,539 as compared with $181,012,567 last year. The 23d and 24th Wards show an increase in amount from $6,279,224 to $9,979,533.

The mortgages number 11,793 as against 10,873, and amount to $148,358,851 as compared with $120,000,856. The number recorded at less than 5 per cent. was 1,474 as against 900, and their total amount $30,658,952 as compared with $17,888,226, showing how large a sum is loaned out at figures ranging from 4 to less than 5 per cent. interest per annum, the most of it being loaned at 4½ per cent.

The buildings projected number 3,252 as against 2,702, and their cost is estimated at $67,662,714 as compared with $41,028,708 last year. The largest increase is in the section between 59th and 125th streets, west of 8th avenue, the number having risen from 427 in 1888 to 777 in 1889, while the cost of the buildings projected last year was $8,540,800 against $18,997,100 this year. The section which shows the next largest increase is that south of 14th street, where the buildings have not only been more numerous but much more costly, on an average, than last year, the sum of $13,985,595 being expended in 430 buildings in 1889 and only $8,028,407 in 301 buildings in 1888. The following are the tables:

From the foregoing table it will be seen that very few plans were filed for private dwellings to be erected south of the Harlem River. In a total of 166 buildings of all kinds only 22 private houses are embraced, against 98 flats, 13 hotels, stores, office buildings, etc., and 33 miscellaneous buildings, comprising shops, factories, stables, sheds, etc. How great the falling off in the way of private houses has been is seen by a comparison with the figures for September, when 49 houses were embraced in a total of 146, against 22 houses in a total of 166 projected during October. The increase in the filings for flats and tenements is apparent. The figures for October show 98 out of 166 buildings planned south of the Harlem to be flats and tenements, compared with 63 in a total of 146 during September. North of the Harlem River there is a large increase in the number of dwelling houses and a decrease in the number of tenements. Of the 110 flats and tenements projected, 84 will be built by builders, architects, and dealers in builders' supplies. Here is a list of the most costly buildings embraced in the filings for October:

Site.	Owner.	Cost.
Broadway, n w cor 53d st, two seven-story brick and stone flats.	Chas. Riley	$500,000
33d and 34th sts, west of Lexington av, seven-story brick and stone hotel.	T. E. D. Power	285,000

Notes on the Transfers and Mortgages of the Month.

These are the most costly parcels in the way of office buildings which have changed hands:

Broadway, No. 55, s w cor Exchange alley. Buyer, H. Wronkow. $395,000
Nassau st, w s, bet Fulton and Ann sts, Bennett building. John Pettit. other consid. and 1,000

The transfers of the month of properties seemingly for the purpose of improvement show that excellent figures are being realized. We refer particularly to parcels in the side streets, and herewith give a list of some of the sales to illustrate:

Franklin st, n e cor Cortlandt alley, 25x100. O. G. Walbridge to Judge P. H. Dugro. $37,000
Same property resold with loan to Builders M. Giblin and J. W. Taylor. 39,250
Spring st, Nos. 69-73, 100.2x102.7, to L. N. Jones. May 29. 79,500
Same property resold Oct. 21 to Builder Philip Goerlitz. 90,000
4th st, No. 20 W., s s, 50 w Mercer st, 25x91, to Builder F. A. Seitz. 30,500
Bleecker st, No. 113, n s, abt 75 w Greene st, 25x100, to Sidenberg Bros. 40,000
Wooster st, No. 156, to Builder Jas. G. Wallace. 19,000
Thomas st, Nos. 67 and 69, 50x100, one and two-story factory, to John Clafin. 50,000

Further up town the following plot changed hands for improvement and shows that over $1,000 per foot frontage was paid:

24th st, n s, 80 w Lexington av, 45x98.9. Geo. Erdmann. $50,000

Over on the west side we give two transfers to show what is going on in West 23d street:

23d st, No. 256, s s, 175 e 8th av, 25x98.9, three-story brick dwell'g. $35,000
23d st, Nos. 153-157 W., 60x98.9, three four-story stores and dwell'ings. Wm. Buhler, Jr., to Alex. Hess. 225,000

The second transfer was made for the purpose of enhancing values and is a transfer by the real owner to a dummy. There were mortgages on the property for $120,000 and simultaneous with the transfer, as above, Hess gave additional mortgages (to the real owner) for $100,000, making a total of $220,000. The same property changed hands early this year at something over $100,000, and since then a few thousand dollars have been spent for alterations.

The Right to Take Private Property for the World's Fair.

Editor RECORD AND GUIDE:

The brief which the Committee on Plan and Scope has submitted to the Executive Committee in support of the right of the city to take private property by the exercise of eminent domain for the purpose of a World's Fair, is a curious illustration of how a weak cause can be fortified.

It will be instructive to see how the cases which are cited in support of the right bear out the committee's conclusion.

Weisner vs. Village of Douglass, 64 N. Y., 91, was an action brought to recover the interest on certain bonds issued by the town to pay for stock in a manufacturing company for which the town had been authorized by an act of the Legislature to subscribe.

The purpose of the company was to improve a water privilege on the Delaware River, to erect a dam, and to manufacture timber, etc.

The power to tax for such a purpose was denied, the Court saying: "There is not to be discovered in the powers obtained by the corporation * * * any public use or purpose, more than is to be found in the setting on foot of any business or industry in a community by private parties. Any such enterprise tends indirectly to the benefit of every citizen by the increase of general business activity, the greater facility of obtaining employment, the consequent increase of population, the enhancement in value of real estate and its readier sale, and the multiplication of conveniences. But these are not the direct and immediate public uses and purposes to which money taken by tax may be directed."

The next case is, matter of Niagara Falls and Whirlpool Railroad Company, 108 N. Y. 375, to which I have referred in a previous communication and in which the power to take lands by eminent domain was denied.

Loan Association vs. Topeka 20, Wall 654, furnishes no support to the conclusion of the committee, for the language cited is merely the vague expression of a general principle, which no one seriously disputes and it has no special relevancy in the discussion either way.

So far, therefore, as the cases go which are cited by the committee, they decide the very reverse of the proposition which they are designed to support.

But the committee evidently places its main dependence:

1st, upon precedent furnished by the exercise of the taxing power, by means of the annual city appropriations, in favor of the Metropolitan Museum of Art and the Museum of Natural History.

2d, from the laws authorizing the taking of lands for public parks (citing 99 N. Y., 569).

As to the first, it may be said that no taxpayer up to the present time has thought it worth while to dispute the validity of the acts which authorize the exercise of the taxing power for these objects, and therefore it is impossible to say how judicial decision will lean whenever the constitutional question is raised.

Nor has there ever been an attempt in the State of New York to take lands in invitum (i. e., against an owner's will) for either of such purposes, and, so far as my investigation goes, there is no such case to be found in any of the law reports in this country.

The committee is then reduced to finding an analogy between the taking of lands for a public park open to the entire public, and the taking for an exposition to be managed and controlled by a private corporation, to which an admission fee is to be uniformly charged.

The language which the committee itself cites, from the decision in the Park case in 99 N. Y., is the best answer to this:

"A city purpose * * * must be primarily the benefit, use, or convenience of the city * * * and the work be of such a character as to show plainly the predominance of that purpose." Not the benefit, use, or convenience of so many of the inhabitants as can or will pay an admission fee to a private exposition, but of the entire city population.

The committee finally state their conclusion in the following very mild language:

"We are accordingly of the opinion that the City of New York can be constitutionally empowered by the Legislature to acquire land and erect buildings for the purpose of an exhibition of arts and industry."

This is very wide of being the conclusion which this morning's newspapers report as the result of the committee's lucubrations.

Thus both the Sun and the Times say: "The report says there is no doubt that the taking of land for exhibition purposes is a public use."

The proper way to decide whether an exposition to which entrance can be gained only by the possession of a ticket for which a regular fee is charged is such a public use as would justify the exercise of the right of eminent domain would be by considering the would-be answer which could be made to the question whether one who had bought an admission ticket to the exposition could demand entrance as a right inhering in him as one of the public, or whether he would be relegated to his right under the contract under the same rule which would be applied to him if he had bought a theatre ticket. Any citizen can demand as of right that a ticket on a railroad be sold to him, but no one can maintain such a claim with regard to a ticket of admission to a theatre. I have very little doubt as to how the legal profession would answer the question I suggest. After a very careful reading of the argument of the Plan and Scope Committee, as submitted yesterday, I see no reason to change the opinion already expressed in your columns, that a very grave question is presented as to the constitutionality of the proposed legislation for the World's Fair which must be favorably answered if the Exposition is to be held on the site at present proposed.

A great part of the space in the report is taken up by an explanation of the ingenious method by which the Philadelphians circumvented the provision in the Pennsylvania Constitution which forbids loans to private enterprises.

It would almost seem as if the ultimate design was to put the entire Exposition in the Central Park and thus avoid the embarrassing legal questions which the committee very well know they have not solved and which lawyers quite as competent as its members say can only be considered settled by the express adjudication of the Court of highest jurisdiction in this State. Yours truly, AUGUSTUS A. LEVY.

For a Great Building Exhibit.

IMPORTANT ORGANIZATION OF THE BUILDING, ARCHITECTURAL AND REAL ESTATE INTERESTS—A MASS MEETING TO BE CALLED NEXT WEEK—A PERMANENT EXHIBIT NEEDED.

The building interest of New York City, the largest and most important of all its industries, has been in danger of not being satisfactorily represented at the forthcoming World's Fair. This has been very strongly expressed by a number of firms prominent in building and architectural circles, who, believing that this feeling was very widespread, and appreciating the importance of immediate action, urged THE RECORD AND GUIDE to convene a meeting of the various interests affected.

The decision to call a meeting was arrived at on Tuesday evening. Circulars were hurriedly printed and mailed to some of the most prominent firms connected with the building material interests, as well as the architectural and real estate interests. The firms written to were hastily selected and do not by any means cover the larger number whom it would have been in the highest degree desirable to have had present.

Among those who were requested to attend were the following:

J. B. & J. M. Cornell, Tiffany Glass Co., Hecla Iron Works, The H. B. Smith Co., J. G. & I. Dimond, J. S. Conover & Co., J. L. Mott Iron Works, W. H. Simonson & Co., J. L. Schuyler & Co., Venetian Blind Co., E. J. Johnson, Geo. Hayes, J. Beverley Robinson, and many others. A number of firms were also seen personally. It will be noticed that the above names represent almost every interest connected with building.

The meeting was called for Thursday afternoon, at 3 o'clock, at the office of THE RECORD AND GUIDE, and notwithstanding the few hours' notice, and the inclemency of the weather, the editorial rooms were crowded to overflowing. Among those present were Architect E. H. Kendall, Builder Marc Eidlitz, E. A. Cruikshank, president of the Real Estate Exchange; E. D. Smith, of Baker, Smith & Co. (steam-heating); Richard V. Harnett, Builder A. A. Teets, Robert C. Fisher (marble and granite), Broker J. W. Williams, Builder F. J. Schnugg, F. W. Henry, of the New York Architectural Terra Cotta Co.; H'y M. Keasbey, treasurer of the Raritan, Hollow & Porous Brick Co.; Cyrus Eidlitz, and a number of others whose names could not be obtained in the crowd. Letters were also received from the following: James C. Hoe's Sons, Gillis & Geoghegan, Peck, Martin & Co., Hiram Snyder, Johnson & Wilson, C. W. Klappert's Sons, McGuire & Sloan, J. B. Gillie, Wm. O. Gorman, John T. Farley, T. Aspinwall & Son, The Tiffany Glass Co., F. Zittel, Kilian Bros., Union Blue Stone Co., P. F. Meyer, Morton, Bros. & Co., E. A. Vaughan, secretary Mechanics and Traders' Exchange; Walter Geer, president of the New York Architectural Terra Cotta Company; Power Bros., Robinson & Wallace, Dannat & Pell, Perth Amboy Terra Cotta Co., and others.

Among the replies received was one from A. J. Bloor, secretary of the American Institute of Architects, who wrote: "I am in sympathy with any action tending to forward the interests anywhere of the Building Art, whether in its æsthetical, scientific, mechanical or administrative side; or which will, with proper moderation and without undue display of provincial bias, set forth and strengthen those local claims which every responsible resident of any locality has a right to urge, and which claims necessarily increase with the population, importance and attractions of such locality."

The meeting was called to order at 3 P. M. by H. W. Desmond, of the editorial staff of THE RECORD AND GUIDE, who regretted that Clinton W. Sweet, the publisher of the paper, was unable to be present, being confined to his room with an attack of rheumatism. Mr. Sweet, he said, wished it to be known that he was thoroughly in sympathy with the object of the meeting, and was ready to support it with the influence of THE RECORD AND GUIDE, as well as financially. The object of the meeting, he continued, was outlined in the printed briefs which those present held in their hands, of which the following is a copy:

191 BROADWAY, NEW YORK, October 31, 1889.

To the Building Trades:

In order to facilitate business and keep discussion to the point which is to be considered at present, the following should be borne in mind:

1. That this meeting called by THE RECORD AND GUIDE, in obedience to the wishes of many of its friends, is only a preliminary meeting, convened to consider a certain fact and a certain proposition connected with that fact.
2. The fact is: that of the amount that will be contributed first or last to the proposed Exposition, a certain sum will be subscribed by the building trade, and the professions and industries connected therewith.
3. And the proposition is: Would it not be for the benefit of all concerned if that sum were concentrated solely to provide for a building exhibit that shall be not only a part of the Exposition of 1892, but shall constitute a permanent exhibit as the Art Gallery is in Philadelphia, and the Trocadero in Paris. A permanent exhibit of building materials has long been talked of, and the present affords an unusually good opportunity to secure it.
4. With organization the money subscribed by the building trade will secure a collected, systematized and permanent exhibit in a handsome and suitable building; without organization the exhibit will be scattered in a heterogeneous display of merchandise, and lost after a few months.
5. Fundamentally, then, the question is: Shall the building trade organize to obtain the greatest benefit to itself from the sum it contributes?
6. Undoubtedly many subsidiary questions of importance might be asked and points as to details raised, but these cannot be satisfactorily dealt with at this meeting. The general idea alone should be examined at this time. If it be regarded as worthy of further consideration a larger meeting should be called elsewhere to deal with the subject in full.
7. Finally, this project is for the benefit of the entire building trade, and not for the advantage or profit of any individual, firm or clique, and it is to be carried to its conclusion on this line and this line only.

On motion, Francis Crawford was called to the chair. He expressed his sympathy with the object for which the meeting had been called, and stated he was willing to cordially support the movement in every way. He asked for an expression of opinion from those present.

Thos. Graham, in response, rose to speak in favor of the objects of the meeting, and said that some permanent exhibition building should certainly be erected in the Empire City, as the building trade was the most important one in the metropolis. He concluded by moving a resolution to the effect that this meeting declare itself in favor of the plan outlined in the brief placed in the hands of those present. The motion, on being put by the chair, was carried by acclamation.

On motion, it was resolved that a committee of nine be appointed by the chairman to call a mass meeting, at which all of the building trades, as well as the architectural and real estate committees, should be present, the committee to have power to expend the necessary sum to defray the cost of such meeting. The motion was carried.

Mr. Jayne suggested that an application might be made to the Real Estate Exchange for the use of the Salesroom in which to hold the larger meeting.

Marc Eidlitz then proposed the appointment of a committee to confer with the officers of the Mechanics' and Traders' Building Material and Real Estate Exchanges, as well as other organizations connected with the building interests.

A gentleman present suggested the addition of the American Institute of Architects, and another named the West Side Association. Mr. Graham named the Real Estate Owners' and Builders' Association, and from what he knew of the spirit of its members he felt confident that they would pledge their full support to the movement. These associations were added to the list, and Mr. Eidlitz's resolution was then carried.

A motion was made that every firm present or represented should pledge itself to support the objects for which the meeting had been called. This was carried with applause.

The chairman then announced the names of the Committee of Nine charged with the calling of a larger meeting. The gentlemen named were Messrs. E. A. Cruikshank, president of the Real Estate Exchange; A. J. Bloor, secretary of the American Institute of Architects; Robert C. Fisher, Thos. Graham, F. W. Seagriss, Jr., Hy. M. Keasbey, Richard V. Harnett, Charles Buek and Hiram Snyder, with the president, Frances Crawford, and the secretary, H. W. Desmond, also as members. Marc Eidlitz declined to serve on account of his business engagements making it impossible for him to fill the position with the attention it deserved during the next few days.

The meeting then adjourned, subject to the call of the Committee of Nine. The larger meeting, to which every prominent firm connected with the building and kindred interests will be invited, will take place early next week.

It is to be hoped that the Manhattan Road officers do intend, as it is reported they do, to improve the service on the elevated roads. It is said, without how much or little truth it is impossible to tell, that they have come to the conclusion that they are losing money by the inadequacy of the facilities under which the public now suffers. It is stated that they intend to run seven-car trains so as to do away with the overcrowding, and that they propose to reconstruct, partly or in whole, the entire system of roads, so as to safely carry the heavier locomotives required to draw the longer trains. It is also said that they contemplate extending the systems, should they be able to get the necessary legal permission to do so. Vice-President Gallaway did not care to discuss the matter when called upon by a reporter of THE RECORD AND GUIDE, but admitted that, at a meeting of the directors some time ago, there was a difference of opinion as to the advisability of issuing further stock to improve or extend the road.

APARTMENT HOUSES TO BE BUILT ON THE NORTHEAST CORNER OF BROADWAY AND FIFTY-THIRD STREET.

[Communicated.]

Plans have recently been filed for two handsome apartment houses, which are to be built on the northeast corner of Broadway and 53d street. They are to be erected by Charles Riley and are to be seven stories high, exclusive of basements. The fronts are to be of brick and stone, and the first two stories and basement are to be wholly in brown stone, and the other five stories in brick and Euclid stone.

An illustration of the buildings, taken from a perspective, appears above. They cover a plot of 100.11 $\frac{1}{4}$ feet with a minimum depth of 111.8 feet, and an extreme depth of 116 feet, and as they are on a corner they are allowed by law, owing to the advantages of light and ventilation they therefore possess, to cover the entire land, with the exception of a few feet in the rear.

The plan of the interior, as displayed by drawings and as described by the architect, shows that each flat will contain two suites to a floor. The corner will have nine rooms, bathroom, storeroom and butler's pantry in each suite, while the house adjoining will have one room less per suite. In addition to the light obtained on the street and avenue, the rear rooms will face on an open courtyard, which is to divide the main walls of the two buildings. This courtyard will be 69 feet long and 12 feet wide, thus dispensing entirely with the necessity for light-shafts. Every room in both buildings will be open freely to the outside air.

There will be two entrances on Broadway, one to each building. The halls will be 9 feet wide and trimmed in cherry, while the flooring is to be of Italian marble. The ceiling, which is fire-proof, will be frescoed. At the end of the halls there will be the elevators, one for each building.

Ascending to the upper floors, each suite, according to the plans, will have a hallway 4.6 in width and 48 feet long. The main room, a parlor, will be 14.10x18 in size. It will be trimmed in cherry and will have frescoed ceilings. A handsome mantel and mirror is to ornament the room,

Adjoining the parlor is a library. This is to be a cosy little chamber fronting similarly to the former room and 9x15 in size. It is to be trimmed in the same manner as the parlor and is to be arranged so that it can be used as a music-room if desired. The parlor bedroom is to be in cherry and will be 10x12 in size. Beyond this chamber is to be a bathroom with a special private hall, thus giving unusual privacy. Two bedchambers come next, each about 11x17.8 in size.

The dining-room, which now appears on the plan, will be quite a spacious room. It is to be in quartered oak and will be 14x22.8 in size. It will have a mantel, mirror and fire-grate and will be handsomely appointed throughout. It will communicate with the kitchen and will have a store-room and butler's pantry adjoining, the latter having numerous closets. Two bedrooms and servants' toilet-room complete the suite. A freight elevator in the rear will convey furniture, groceries and other household necessities to each floor, and will be absolutely separate from the passenger elevator, which will be near the front of each building, the elevators being 58 feet apart. The trim of all the floors is to be alike, and the hardwoods used are to be mahogany, oak, chestnut, maple and ash.

The general features of the two buildings are as follows: Every room will be in hardwood trim. There will be Italian marble stairs and wainscoting from the first floor to the roof, while the balusters are to be of iron, in an attractive design. The halls will be lighted from the external light by means of windows. The plumbing is to be done by day's work, and there is to be steam heat throughout. Electric light and gas fixtures are to be in every apartment, and it is the intention of the owner to run his own dynamos, and to light by electricity not only the interior but also the courts, as well as the fronts on both the Broadway and 53d street sides.

The buildings will contain other features and improvements, and their cost is estimated by the owner to be $500,000, exclusive of the ground, his intention being to make them first-class apartment houses in every particular. They will certainly add a fine improvement to the list of imposing buildings on the upper part of Broadway.

ARGUS.

Real Estate Notes

"Why is it more of our streets are not laid out like that one?" said Auctioneer John F. B. Smyth to the writer on the "L" road the other day, as the train passed West 86th street. It is a pertinent question. There is every reason why the streets in that residential district should be so laid out with grass plots and rows of handsome young trees. When will property-owners on another street move for this improvement?

The old but substantial Marshall mansion on the southwest corner of 9th avenue and 104th street is a relic left us from the days when the west side was a wild section, and, to think of it, that was less than ten years ago. The remainder of the avenue front adjoining the Marshall house is laid out as a vegetable garden, and it looks as if the man in charge was not an adept gardener.

Last week we mentioned the fact that some flats which were to be built on West 88th street were abandoned owing to objections of property-owners, which resulted in their purchasing the lots and selling them to a builder who will erect private houses. This week we have to record that some private houses, which were to be built on East 89th street, have been abandoned, owing to the erection of a large stable on the block. Flats will now be built instead.

There was a conveyance last week for the extravagant sum of $3.50. The fact that it was for a 1,728th interest in a lot on 116th street explains the matter.

Dore Lyon has returned to town after an absence of about two months. Mr. Lyon stopped at Lakewood, N. J.

In the City Departments.

It is satisfactory to know that the work of laying asphalt pavement on the Grand Boulevard is soon to be commenced. The condition of that thoroughfare during the recent rains was disgraceful. The Public Works Department should years ago have laid crosswalks at every street. As it is, the mud, four to eight inches deep, has to be passed through by residents west of the Boulevard who wish to get to the Elevated road stations. It appears that the appropriation of $200,000 will hardly pave the street beyond 80th street, a distance of about a mile north of 59th street. Temporary crosswalks should therefore be laid at every street north of 80th street until the balance of the Boulevard is paved, which it is expected to be a few years hence.

The contracts let out under chapter 346 of the Laws of 1889, granting $1,000,000 annually for three years for city repavements, are as follows: For granite pavements on concrete, $426,377.40; for asphalt, $44,100. Specifications are also being prepared for contracts amounting to $376,090 for asphalt pavement, and $87,165 for granite on concrete; $200,000 of this sum represents asphalt pavement for the Boulevard. The streets and avenues on which contracts have been let out to be repaved are as follows: Cedar, from Broadway to Greenwich and from Pearl to Nassau; Bridge street, from Broad to State; Cliff street, from Ferry to John; Platt street, from Pearl to William; Stone, from William to Broad; Broad street, from Exchange place to Broad; Worth street, from Broadway to Hudson; Thomas street, between Church and Hudson; Howard street, from Broadway to Mercer; Greenwich avenue, from 8th avenue to 13th street; Horatio street, from Greenwich avenue to West 4th street; Reade street, between Elm and Washington; Leonard street, from Broadway to Hudson; Franklin street, from West Broadway to Washington; Laight street, from Canal to Greenwich; 13th street, between Avenue B and 5th avenue, and Lexington avenue, between 34th and 35th streets.

The Croton storage reservoir at Somers, Westchester County, is expected to cost $700,000. It will be finished about three years hence.

The area of assessment was yesterday determined upon by the Board of Street Opening and Improvement in the matter of the College place widening and extension, and is outlined on the map as follows: Commencing about 100 feet north and east of Waverly place and Greene street, thence running southerly to about 200 feet south of Broome street, thence easterly to 100 feet east of Broadway, thence southerly to Beaver street, thence southeasterly to the Boulevard, thence around and along the North River northerly to 100 feet north of Christopher street, thence easterly to Grove street, and thence southerly along the line to the point of beginning.

Taxpayers should note that unless their taxes for 1889 be paid on or before December 1st they will be mulcted in a charge of 1 per cent. on the amount of their bill, and should they fail to pay by January 1st or thereafter they will be charged in addition at the rate of 7 per cent per annum, to be calculated from October 7, 1889, the date on which the assessment rolls and warrants were delivered to the Receiver of Taxes, to the date on which they may settle their tax bill. It evidently does not pay to allow one's taxes to get into arrears.

The Metropolitan Telephone and Telegraph Company are about to commence a combination line service whereby five persons can rent a wire at about the same cost as to one individual. The object is to extend the use of the telephone among those who seldom have occasion to use it, or whom it will not pay to keep a wire, and to get several parties to use the wire in combination, so that each may get the service at a comparatively small cost. The idea is a good one.

City Expenses for 1890.

The Board of Estimate and Apportionment have evidently performed their labors in a thorough and conscientious manner, but their provisional estimates for next year, though showing a decrease of $1,372,820 as compared with last year, do not necessarily show a decrease of that sum in the cost of running the city departments. This will be seen on an analysis of the figures. The departments in which there is an increase over last year's estimates are as follows:

	1889.	1890.	Increase.
Department of Public Works.....	$3,124,221	$3,233,870	$109,649
Police Department.....	4,409,550	4,616,515	206,965
Board of Education.....	4,079,008	4,235,117	156,109
Coroner's Office.....	50,000	52,500	2,500
Election Expenses.....	243,229	258,857	15,628
Preservation Public Records.....	12,800	48,800	36,000
Asylums, &c.....	1,142,132	1,172,867	30,735
Street and Park Opening.....	156,560	227,889	71,329
	$13,217,500	$13,846,415	$628,915

This shows that there is an increase of $628,915 over last year's estimates in eight items. We will now take a glance at the items in which there have been a decrease which are as follows:

	1889.	1890.	Decrease.
Judgments.....	$300,000	$150,000	$50,000
Finance Department.....	387,000	286,500	500
Law Department.....	216,544	197,000	19,544
Department of Public Parks.....	1,212,200	1,177,700	34,500
Charities and Corrections.....	2,197,050	2,009,130	87,920
Health Department.....	413,300	392,800	20,500
Street Cleaning Department.....	1,272,040	1,221,000	51,040
Fire Department.....	2,136,043	2,114,043	22,000
City Record.....	287,700	246,700	41,000
Salaries, City Courts and Judiciary.....	1,439,450	1,439,140	310
Armory and Drill Rooms.....	73,500	52,250	21,250
Miscellaneous Items.....	318,253	181,039	137,214
	$10,053,080	$9,567,302	$485,778

So that in eleven items in which there is a decrease, only $485,778 is saved as compared with last year's figures, against an increase in eight other items of $628,915. The most unsatisfactory items of decrease are in the Health and Street Cleaning Departments. Instead of cutting off $71,540 from these bureaus that sum might have been added on to their appropriations with advantage to the health and comfort of our citizens.

Where then, it will be asked, does the net decrease in the estimates come in? The answer is clear—in the decreased interest which the city will have to pay next year on the city debt and the smaller amount that will be required to redeem that debt. The amount saved from these two sources will be $2,973,083. As an offset to this there will be an increase in expenditure of $1,597,421, so that the city will have $1,375,662 net less to pay than last year on these three items. As a matter of fact, however, the estimates, exclusive of the three items named, show an increase of $628,915, excluding $430 in rents, while they show but a decrease of $485,778, and it is only due to a decrease of $2,973,083 in the estimates on the interest on, and the redemption of, the city debt—notwithstanding the increase in the State tax—that the provisional estimates for 1890 show a net decrease of $1,372,820. The following is a complete list of the items, with the figures for both years:

Obituary.

On October 27th, William H. Dannat, of the well-known lumber firm of Dannat & Pell, died at Exmouth, England, of a paralytic stroke. Mr. Dannat was a native of Troy, N. Y., having been born there in the year 1814. While still very young he came to New York and soon embarked in the lumber business, in which he has been interested for over fifty years. During the last ten years he has traveled extensively. He leaves a widow and four children. Mr. Dannat and his business were widely known, and the man had a large and appreciative circle of acquaintances.

New Members.

Wm. H. Owen, of 397 5th avenue, has been proposed as a member of the Real Estate Exchange by J. C. R. Eckerson, and John M. Kyle, of 610 3d avenue, by H. S. Ely.

A down-town broker has introduced the spreading of a lunch at his office daily, at 1 o'clock, for such customers as happen to be present. The same office has a music-box which plays "Home, Sweet Home" when wound up, and at the same time points to a sign which reads: "No lounging in this office." The music is started when there are undesirable persons sitting around.

A Question of Accuracy.

Editor RECORD AND GUIDE:

The inclosed prints are cut from papers as marked. To decide a small bet, which picture comes the nearer to the correct design?

A. J. BATES & Co., Manufacturers of Boots and Shoes, No. 202 Church st., and 50 and 52 Thomas st.

The question put by our correspondents refer to two illustrations of the Soldiers' and Sailors' Monument, in Brooklyn. One appeared in the Sun and the other in the Herald, both on the 31st ult. The one in the Sun, with the words underneath, "The arch as it will appear," is correct.

Real Estate Department.

There is absolutely nothing new to say concerning the realty market. Comparatively few sales at private contract are reported, notwithstanding earnest efforts on the part of brokers, and the reason given is the high figures at which all desirable properties are held. Trading is quite active, especially in the district east of the Bowery and south of Houston street, as the many references in the conveyances show.

Although the auction market promised to be very active during the week, owing to important announcements, it proved otherwise, on account of numerous withdrawals and postponements. The daily summary which follows tells the story.

All the sales bulletined for Monday embraced property beyond the Harlem, except one foreclosure sale of 10th avenue lots which was postponed until November 6th. There were quite a number of bidders for a block of twenty-one lots bounded by the Southern Boulevard, Briggs and Valentine avenues and Garfield street, and a total of $16,430 was realized. The block front on the Southern Boulevard brought $7,765. A plot of eight lots on Macomb's Dam road and Inwood avenue was withdrawn for want of bidders.

The sales bulletined for Tuesday were so numerous and important that it promised to be a regular field day. Between postponed sales and withdrawals, however, it proved to be quite the reverse. There was a large attendance and much interest displayed in the more important offerings. Only one of the Chesterman estate parcels was offered, viz.: No. 28 Beekman street, size 21.8x74.8, with five-story brick store thereon, rented to 1892 at $5,400 per annum. The first bid was $50,000 and others quickly followed until $68,500 was reached and the property knocked down. Two bidders claimed the purchase and the property was again put up and the bidding continued until $70,000 was reached and the property sold to Maria E. Servoss. The sale of the three-story store No. 78 Nassau street, belonging to the same estate, was adjourned until November 6th, for the reason that negotiations are pending looking to a sale at private contract for $72,500. The sale of a block of lots between Manhattan and St. Nicholas avenues and 121st and 122d streets, belonging to the estate of Countess H. De Moltke-Huitfeldt was adjourned until November 12th, and parcels on Plaza and Union streets, Brooklyn, and East 62d street and 10th avenue, New York, were withdrawn, the 62d street house (No. 133 East) on a bid of $23,800.

The attendance at the Exchange on Wednesday was large and the announcements both numerous and important. The most valuable parcels on Nassau and John streets and Maiden lane were not offered, having been previously disposed of at private sale to parties in interest. Two dwellings on East 20th street, No. 33 and 34, were sold for $28,600 and $30,000 respectively; No. 33 is a three-story house 25x92, and No. 34 a four-story house 20x92. Eighteen lots on Broadway or Kingsbridge road, Hawthorne and Cooper streets were sold under foreclosure and brought a total of $27,210. There is over $31,000 due on the mortgage foreclosed, which by the way is held by Richard Croker as Chamberlain. The same lots were sold under foreclosure in 1881 for $24,200, and Delano C. Calvin, then Surrogate, loaned $22,000 thereon.

Thursday was a very busy day on 'Change, and the attendance was larger than on any other day of the week. The partition sale of the estate of the late Benjamin C. Wetmore, formerly of the conveyancing firm of Wetmore & Bowne, was the greatest attraction of the day. A total of $321,500 was realized for the parcels on Broadway, 7th avenue, Broad, New, 48th and 143d streets, and $89,475 for seventy-three plots in the 24th Ward along Palisade, Yonkers and Riverdale avenues, making a grand total of $410,975. The Broad and New street property, Nos. 52 and 50 respectively, was bought by Hugh N. Camp at $108,500. Wm. Berrian, Jr., secured the five lots with three-story buildings on the southeast corner of Broadway and 48th street and extending to 7th avenue. The rental is said to be about $8,000 per annum, and the first bid was $170,000 or $5,000 over and above the mortgages. Mr. Berrian was the highest bidder, and as he represents the Goelet estate he no doubt purchased on their account. The figure was $200,000. For three lots on 143d street, east of Hamilton place, $3,250 each was realized. A. E. Putnam secured most of the 24th Ward plots for $54,700. L. S. Samuels was the next largest buyer at $14,225, and B. P. Fairchild next with $8,925. A total of $11,665 was realized for sixteen lots on Sedgwick and Summit avenues in the 23d Ward.

There was only one sale yesterday, and the salesroom was poorly attended.

On Thursday, November 7th, Richard V. Harnett & Co. will sell a three-story brick building and store, with a two-story extension, and a two-story brick building on the rear, 22.3x55x22.1x88.1, new No. 227 Lewis street, (old No. 223), between 7th and 8th streets; and, by order of the executor of the estate of David A. Wood, deceased, No. 36 Laight street, a four-story and basement brick house, 23 x about 56.4, with a two and three-story brick extension, and No. 15 Vestry street, a two-story brick stable with a two-story extension covering the lot, in all 21.8x75. These two parcels stretch through from Laight street to Vestry street.

Out Among the Builders.

The excavations for Collis P. Huntington's residence on the southeast corner of 5th avenue and 57th street have been commenced, but no definite plan has as yet been decided upon. Geo. B. Post, the architect, declines to give the particulars in regard to the building for the reason that there are very few to give. The house is to be, of course, most expensive in character, and it has been hinted in a cable from Europe that it is to be occupied by the Prince and Princess Hatzfeld. The only contract so far given out is for the excavations.

William Waldorf Astor does not seem to be in a hurry to have plans drawn for his new house on the northeast corner of 5th avenue and 56th street. Mr. Astor is somewhat of a draughtsman himself and will no doubt attempt to sketch his own plans. It is not improbable that the house will be a reflection, in its interior as well as exterior, of the Italian Renaissance, toward which Mr. Astor has a leaning, implanted in him while United States Minister to Italy. One thing is settled upon, and that is that the entrance to the house shall be on 56th street and not on 5th avenue. No excavations have been commenced on the site up to the present.

A limited number of architects have been invited to draw plans for the new building of the Coffee Exchange on their property running from Pearl to Beaver street.

Thom & Wilson are preparing plans for five apartment houses, to be built by Charles Gahren on the northeast corner of 9th avenue and 87th street at an approximate cost of $130,000. They are also drawing sketches for several apartment houses adjoining on the 87th street side. They are intended to be of a first-class character and to have all the improvements.

W. T. Walton intends completing the storage warehouse, commenced some eighteen months ago, on the west side of 10th avenue, between 75th and 76th streets.

A. Spence will furnish plans for two five-story stone front double flats, to be built on the southeast corner of Park avenue and 128th street, for O'Brien Bros. & Kenny, at a cost of $36,000. The corner house will be 25x66 and the inside house 25x56.4 feet in size.

Alex. I. Finkle has plans on the boards for J. D. Karst, Jr., of a five-story brick and stone front double flat, 25x89, to be built at 1968 3d avenue—the cost will be $18,000; also a five-story flat, 25x89, for Albert Stake, to be built at No. 84 Madison street, at a cost of $17,000.

Goodman, at a cost of $6,000. The same architects will alter for H. Rosenbaum the dwelling No. 51 East 73d street. The cost will be $4,000.

The Gustavo Fire-proof Construction Company will put up a one-story office building, 41x41, with a large glass dome 41 feet in diameter, on the north side of 57th street, near the North River. The building will be made entirely of their material. The cost has not been estimated. R. Gustavo is the architect.

B. W. Berger has drawn plans for Philip Wagner, altering the old five-story malt house at Nos. 525 to 531 East 15th street, into a four-story building to be used for factory purposes. Each story will be made higher. The total cost will be $8,000.

JERSEY CITY, N. J.—The plans recently filed with Building Inspector Clarke show, in a few cases, some good improvements, but they are in a majority of instances for buildings of an unimportant character, averaging less than $2,000 each in estimated cost. Architects or builders who file plans hereafter will be called upon to fill out the blank diagram printed on the back of each building permit, to conform to the block system of indexing which is now in vogue in Hudson County, the object being to assist the assessors in valuing the property.

BUILDING MATERIAL MARKET.

BRICKS.—Since our last the market for Common Hards has been subjected to something of a severe test, and, on the whole, came out of the trial in good shape, showing a considerable degree of inherent strength. A large supply had to be taken care of at the close of last week, and on Monday morning the fresh arrivals were unusually heavy, creating among buyers a feeling of confidence in their ability to dictate better terms, and they commenced negotiations upon that basis. It did not take long, however, to discover that commission men were feeling a bit cheerful and confident themselves, and, after standing off a little, first one buyer succumbed, then another, and finally the demand became generally extended to pretty much the entire trade, resulting in a reasonably close selling out of the supply from day to day, and not only full support to values, but even a slight gain on some of the finest goods, with some actual business reported as high as $7.12 1/2 @ 7.35 per M. The local consumption is in fact running along now at pretty full pace, and the natural effort is to get work forward as rapidly as possible before the advent of positive winter weather, which, in conjunction with a little accumulation constantly making wherever dealers have the room, is likely to exhaust a pretty good proportion of the supply, though, of course, something will depend upon the amount sent forward. A portion of the trade have an idea that shipments from the yards will run pretty full for a while, as a great many manufacturers are likely to prefer the cash to stock unsold, and also have more time for loading, as the working season is about over. A few who have continued moulding will exhaust the last pits this week, and the majority were through many days ago. For Pales the inquiry has proven good also, and the tone is better with quotations named up to $3.50 @ 4.00 per M, and for lammies $3.00 is now the general asking rate.

HARDWARE.—A good steady volume of business is doing in all kinds of hardware, and conditions generally appear quite satisfactory. Builders' assortments, if anything, have the largest proportion of the demand, and a great deal of that class of stock is handled against early consumption. The advances in Price of Iron and Steel which began three months ago continue, and the effect is daily becoming more pronounced on all kinds of the product therefrom. The advance on nails has already been noted, and there may be added a marking up in value on Wire, Wire Cloth, Strap and T Hinges, Wrought Butts, Crowbars, Wire clothes lines, Bright Wire goods of all kinds, with indications that before long there will be a higher range quoted for Augers and Bits and Hammers. Production thus far has been enabled to keep pace with all demands made upon it.

LATH.—There has not been much of a market during the week owing, however, mainly to absence of stock. Some arrivals of fresh cargoes came to hand, but most of them were under engagement and went directly into yard, and buyers had no chance to negotiate. The evidences were, however, that any thing of a really desirable character could have found custom without difficulty and would have commanded at least last week's rates, and the general disposition among sellers was to claim that they would accept no bids for less than $2.25 per M. There is some little Northern stock due, but no fears are entertained about finding custom for it.

LIME.—Fresh supplies have been light, the demand good, and that is about the sum and substance of the reports made in all quarters, except that receivers feel confident that they could have placed a larger quantity had it been available. Of course, the line of valuation remains as before, as the Eastern controlling combination is intact.

LUMBER.—The lumber trade, like any other line of business, embodies in its membership operators who seem to find it impossible to take other than the most extreme view of the situation, and hence we find a line of reports ranging from the enthusiastic over what is doing and expected to follow, down to the positively complaining over present conditions with gloomy forebodings regarding the future. A little careful sifting, however, seems to show that all in all the movement into consumption is really of fair proportions, and that probably dealers are taking in just about as much stock as usual at this season. Some grades may have greater attention than others, methods of handling differ, and custom in many cases is more difficult to please in the matter of assortment, but in the number of feet handled the aggregate of business is quite up to former seasons without doubt, and with few exceptions supplies are no more costly than one year ago.

Eastern Spruce is retaining a pretty firm tone on all large stuff, evidently somewhat to the disappointment of some dealers who have rather entertained an idea that they would get an advantage on the final offerings; but the predictions of a scant and well controlled supply have been pretty closely verified with sellers correspondingly happy. For that matter, however, the general run of stock has done well this fall, the fluctuation proving less than usual and the somewhat extended lapses in arrivals having paved the way for comparatively quick sales when cargoes did come to hand, indeed receivers have frequently found it possible to dispose of a goodly portion of their consignments while still afloat. Advices from primary sources are a little irregular, but the chances are that manufacturers will be inclined to ship stock along pretty steadily so far as they may have anything ready and facilities for moving it.

Piling shows no important change, the advantage remaining principally with receivers. Accumulated stock at this point is well enough under control, and it is claimed that the major portion of current arrivals reach here under contract, with prices stiffly supported and on long stocks rather upish if anything.

Hemlock remains about steady. Now and then there is some talk about very great bargains to be obtained; but it is difficult to make these rumors materialize, especially for first-class well-seasoned stock, and pretty much all leading operators repeat quotations upon the former general line of valuation. There is some difference of opinion regarding the quantity of hemlock that will be carried in stock this winter; but the general weight of testimony leads to the impression that it will amount to more than last year.

White Pine continues about the least difficult wood to purchase of any on the list. If a dealer should feel like opening negotiations and by any chance fail to receive a call from one or more salesmen within twenty-four hours, he has only to turn to the card rack to find an ample list of those who would be only too ready to accommodate, and representing a assortment that would permit of almost any selection, though it would probably be necessary to name a point of shipment somewhat nearer at hand than would have been available a short time ago. Cost, too, on pretty much all grades remains about steady, and indeed may be a trifle better supported, but there is no evidence of a buoyant inclination so far as can be discovered.

Yellow Pine continues in general favor, which is an advantage to the market so far as the buying end is concerned, and while the supply is plentiful enough it is under control, and that is a benefit at the selling end. In fact, the methods of the market throughout seem healthy and calculated to preserve much uni-

STONERIDGE, N. J.—J. August Lienau has drawn plans of a three-story cottage, 40x30, for Daniel E. Moran, to cost $5,000.

Special Notices.

G. A. Haggerty, the well-known bell-hanger, of No. 863 3d avenue, offers for sale three very handsome brown stone front residences on the west side. They are located at Nos. 17, 19 and 27 West 82d street, near the 81st street "L" road station. They vary in size from 23 to 25 feet each, and are handsomely finished in cabinet trim. They have been supplied with every modern improvement.

John F. Walsh, Jr., the sparmaker, of No. 119 Charlton street, has put a 70-foot flag-staff on the Lincoln building, at the corner of Broadway and 14th street, and two flag-poles on the Fifth Avenue Stage Company's building on 88th street. He has also just finished caulking a large stable floor for O. T. Mackey.

One of the most energetic brokers in the central part of the city is Alexander Wilson, whose office is at the northwest corner of Broadway and 48th street. Mr. Wilson is a young man who has already worked up a large business of selling, buying, renting and making loans on real estate.

The old-established firm of I. Tanenbaum, Son & Co. advertise, in another column for a manager of experience in the real estate business to take charge of the real estate office which they are about to open on Broadway, near Bleecker street. A proper person can secure a liberal salary, or even an interest in the business.

F. A. Condict, of No. 1179 Broadway, is giving special attention to real estate in his vicinity. He has been in the neighborhood for a number of years, and has had twenty years' experience in the real estate and insurance business. He has a large list of property on his books for sale and rent, and makes a specialty of exchanging city and country property. He has also an office at Brick Church, N. J., and is thoroughly conversant with property in the Oranges.

Contractors' Notes.

Bids will be received at the Department of Public Works, until 12 o'clock M., Monday, November 11, for regulating and paving, with asphalt pavement on concrete foundation, the roadway of 82d street, between the Boulevard and Riverside Drive, and of Pleasant avenue, from 115th to 119th streets; and for furnishing cast iron water pipes, branch pipes and special castings, and for taking up and relaying the pavement now in 57th street, from 1st to 4th avenues.

formity, not only in the cargo deals, but in the handling of supplies on the distribution outlet from yard. The export trade has been a little uncertain for a few weeks, but hopes are entertained of a removal of f. o. b. orders before a great while.

Carolina Pine varies but little in general features. It seems to be retaining much the former volume of trade with possibly some of the out-of-town custom rather more anxious for prompt deliveries and all standard kiln-dried stock evidently sells pretty closely to production. Some manufacturers are expressing considerable satisfaction over the sales of box-boards this season.

Hardwoods remain in very good form. There is no full widespread demand; indeed, on the contrary, buyers seem to be in a slightly independent mood. Yet careful salesmen with desirable offerings can generally manage to place quite fair-sized orders at times. There is the same interminable contradictory statements about the price of poplar, but the probabilities are that difference in cost shows corresponding variation in value. Ash is steady for good inch, which is still the favorite cut and not over plenty. Attractive cherry does very well and quarter-sawn oak retains its position, but there is no evidence of a revival of interest in walnut. Mahogany has retained very good demand on both local and shipping orders.

Shingles show no very great change. There is continued attention from buyers on foreign account, and more or less call from home outlets but apparently nothing of an unusual character going on and stock enough available to meet all calls at former rates, keeping the position about steady.

The exports of lumber, exclusive of hardwoods, from the port of New York during the month of October were as follows:

GENERAL LUMBER NOTES.

THE WEST.

The Chicago Northwestern Lumberman says as follows:

The report is going forth that there will not be a heavy log cut in the Chippewa valley, Wis., the coming winter, but whether or not this belief shall be verified, there need be no fear that there will not be plenty of lumber to go forward from the Chippewa region, or any other lumber producing district in the Northwest. Much lumber will unquestionably be carried over, but there is to offset this fact a probability, based on good crops and other indications, as well as the theory of reaction, that next year will bring a greater demand for lumber than will have been supplied in 1889.

There has lately been an increase of demand for bill stuff and short dimension at all Lake Michigan points. The mills have sawed lightly on such lumber all the season, and now that the demand has revived the supply is short. Orders for bill stuff are flowing thick and fast into Manitoba, and sawyers are having all the work in that line that they can manage. The prospect is that dimension will be an active commodity in the market for months to come, and prices, already firm and slightly higher, are likely to advance.

In the yards of this city there is a preponderance of low grade boards and fencing, and a scarcity of clear and select. Dealers predict that good lumber will be wanted before next spring to such an extent that prices will sharply advance. Indeed, some sorts of select are now selling as much as $2 higher than in the spring and summer. Points farther east also appear to be short of good lumber, particularly the Lake Erie markets. High grade pine has this year been largely bought up to go East, while Western dealers continue to sell off their stock at low prices, because they felt overloaded with good lumber last year.

The cargo market was but moderately supplied during the week, and trading has run along quietly. The demand has been more urgent for piece stuff than any other class of lumber, but the quantity offered has not been commensurate with the inquiry. Good lumber is also wanted, but little is arriving on the market. The call for high grade strips is particularly clamorous. The manufacturers continue to crowd No. 2 inch lumber, the very class that the dealers do not want.

Piece stuff is firm at $9.25 for short lengths, and $9.37½ for cargoes that have in them a sprinkling of long stuff. There is a disposition on the part of the commission men to divide between short and long lumber, and ask considerably more for the long than they did six weeks ago. This is a change that means a good deal on the values of cargoes as they have run during the season. Stuff 20 feet long and upward is now priced at $10.25 to $10.50 a thousand, and the prices of cargoes of mixed short and long are graduated on $9.25 for strictly short and the prices named for long. The commission men say that while the yard dealers are all the time looking for dimension, they are still particular about tallies, and will not buy unless the sorts aboard suit them. This is because prices in the yards are still low, and the majority of dealers are cautious about buying lumber that is not of quick sale.

The Timberman as follows on the Chicago yard trade:

Stocks in general are becoming a little heavier, as is but natural toward the close of navigation, but many yards are keeping things about even.

Opinions differ greatly as to the future outlook for the trade, but a fair average would indicate a balance on the side of better prospects. If the weather only holds good during the next thirty days, trade will undoubtedly be as good if not better than last year, and the trade enters upon winter with a firmer feeling than usual. To a certain extent this also depends upon the receipts from now until the close of navigation, and it is to be hoped this will not be overdone.

Speaking of the heavy stocks on hand, a dealer remarked that he was not at all worried on that account. "White pine was very different from hardwoods. With the latter all depends on whether a wood is in fashion as to whether it sells or not. But pine is always pine, and there is bound to be a demand for it."

Prices all around are firming up, and there is less cutting every day. Long joist are worth a little more money than they have been. In the spring this stock was almost a drag on the market, but a country dealer who bought some last week found he had to pay $1.50 more per thousand, than had he made the purchase sixty days ago.

A shortage of 16-foot piece stuff is an uncommon occurrence, but such a one is developing, and inquiry among the yards for sizes in this length are frequent. A shortage in anything is usually followed by higher prices, so an advance in this regard should not be a surprise.

The trade in hardwoods has not been as good as could be wished for of late. Dealers are doing something all the time, but keep wishing for more, and they could all easily attend to it if the same were only forthcoming. One bad feature that may be noted is the number of "brokers" who are at work about the city. It tends to demoralize prices, although the brokers may not work to that end. But they go around to the different yards, find what woods they are long on and get the dealers to give them advance price on the same. This would not be so bad if everybody had a surplus of the same wood, but as it is, by the time the round of the yards is made, the scalper has an inside price on nearly everything in the market, and the result is easily seen. A good deal of cutting is reported, but many dealers are holding back and not taking business unless they can get their price, preferring to keep their stock in the yard until better prices prevail.

The stock of hardwoods in the city is exceptionally large, being 5,000,000 feet in excess of last year and having increased over 6,000,000 during the month of September. Considerable of this is tied up in the yards of firms that have recently failed, but it will undoubtedly soon be thrown on the market. Lumber is easily bought, and in some instances for one to two dollars less a thousand than was the case sixty days ago. Some fairly tales are also afloat about remarkably low sales, but these are not generally credited as being strictly true.

ENGLAND.

The Timber Trades Journal as follows:

American Black Walnut.—Logs.—We do not hear that much trade has been done lately. The more recent importations have been of a particularly poor character, and it is always most difficult to find buyers for such wood. Large, prime logs are wanted and any early importations will certainly realize full prices here.

Lumber.—A rather large trade by private contract has been done lately, though we believe it has been mostly in what is known as "red ends," which the trade now understand to mean first quality stuff; prices are firm, and there is a large consumptive inquiry.

American Whitewood.—Of late the arrivals have been rather extensive, though mostly in the shape of lumber, for which the consumption is very considerable; prices are about as last reported.

Sequoia.—Of late the condition of this trade has improved greatly, the sales having been upon a much more extensive scale. At last it would appear that cabinet-makers have begun to appreciate this wood in a way that they did not do formerly, and we hear that it is now being very largely consumed by them for many purposes.

NAILS.—Some irregularities of demand are shown at times, but they are of no special significance, as buyers generally feel willing to keep right along to extent of known wants at least, and some will anticipate a little. Offerings fair, but well controlled, and manufacturers want full rates in pretty much all cases with a general advance of late announced. We quote at $2.05 to 2.10 per keg for car lots, and $2.20 to 2.25 per keg for parcels from store.

PAINTS, OILS, ETC.—Local wants are increasing somewhat, and added to an already good out-of-town demand make altogether an excellent trade. Holders are prepared with supply and assortment to meet all the calls they receive, yet have everything so well in hand as to prevent a surplus offering or pressure to realize, and values generally are sustained on leads and zincs in particular. For foreign products advances of late have quite generally been sustained. Linsed Oil keeps up to the level of the general movement, and is selling at 57½¢ to 58½¢ for Western, and 60¢ to 61¢ for City. Spirits Turpentine somewhat more plenty and inclined to an easier tone, though not actually lower. We quote at 49¢ to 50¢ per gallon, according to quantity, delivery, etc.

TAR AND PITCH.—Between immediate consumptive wants and the occasional handling of stock for the future, buyers create a fair business and furnish the basis for a steady market at about former rates. We quote Pitch at $1.40 to 1.50 per bbl.; Tar at $2.62½ to 2.67½, according to quantity, quality and delivery.

MORTGAGES.

NOTE.—The arrangement of this list is as follows
The first name is that of the mortgagor, the next that of the mortgagee. The description of the property then follows, then the date of the mortgage, the time for which it was given, and the amount. The general dates used as headings are the dates when the mortgage was handed into the Register's office to be recorded.

Whenever the letters "P. M." occur, preceded by the name of a street, in these lists of mortgages, they mean that it is a Purchase Money Mortgage, and for fuller particulars see the list of transfers under the corresponding date. Whenever the rate is not given, read as 6 per cent.

JUDGMENTS.

In these lists of judgments the names alphabetically arranged, and which are first on each line, are those of the judgment debtor. The letter (D) means judgment for deficiency. (*) means not summoned. (+) signifies that the first name is fictitious, real name being unknown. Judgments entered during the week, and satisfied before day of publication, do not appear in this column, but in list of Satisfied Judgments.

No. 191 Broadway, New York, Nov. 9, 1889.

At a meeting of representatives of the Arts and Industries connected with the Building Trades, held October 31st, the undersigned committee was appointed to call a public Mass Meeting in the Real Estate Exchange, 59 Liberty street, on Tuesday, November 12th, at 4 o'clock P. M., to consider the advisability of concentrating the influence of the Architectural and Real Estate Professions and Building Trades, in order to procure a SYSTEMATIZED, COLLECTED AND PERMANENT BUILDING EXHIBIT in the forthcoming EXPOSITION, and to take such other action as may be deemed advisable to assist His Honor the Mayor and the several committees now in charge of matters relative to the proposed World's Fair.

Your presence and co-operation is respectfully and earnestly requested, as the subject is of vital importance to all engaged in the Building Arts and Industries.

If unable to attend, a reply stating your views on the subject would receive respectful consideration.

FRANCIS CRAWFORD, President of Meeting held October 31st.

H. W. DESMOND, Secretary, 191 Broadway.

The call which is to be issued to-day by the Committee of Nine for a mass meeting of all who are interested in the arts and industries connected with building is given above. The meeting should be, and there is very little doubt that it will be, the largest and most enthusiastic gathering that has ever been held, of what, for lack of a better phrase, may be called the "Building Trades." In a sense their reputation as good citizens is now at stake; for curiously it happens that they form the only interest that has yet been publicly charged with "backwardness" in connection with the effort to secure the Exposition of 1892 for New York. Mr. John Claflin said in his complaint to Secretary Wilson, "it is a difficult matter to persuade men who will not be benefited by the Exposition to subscribe to the fund when those who will reap great advantages from it are unwilling to come to the front." Had Mr. Claflin known that at the very moment he was writing his letter the men he accused of looking on while others were sowing for the harvest they expected to assist in reaping were effecting an organization of which the meeting next Tuesday will be the outcome he would have particularized some other industry in his charge.

It would be strange if the only industry that has been publicly stigmatized as niggardly should be the one to give new vigor to the Exposition movement. It is not unlikely that this will be the case. The organization of the building trades to secure for themselves a thoroughly representative exhibit in a suitable and permanent building, would surely be followed by the organization of other trades. If this were to happen, the Exhibition would not only be assured, but Edward Atkinson's idea of what the Exposition should be (and it is the best that has yet been advanced) could easily be carried out. The Exposition then, instead of being a chaotic display of merchandise, chiefly for advertising purposes, scattered in wearisome barnlike buildings, telling the visitor little and teaching him nothing, could be historical, wherein the past and present of all the important arts and industries of man could be portrayed and the different departments of each industry shown in their relation to one another. The jewelry, iron, cotton, leather, paper, book-making, electrical apparatus and ship-building trades, in short all trades should organize to support the Exposition, and see that their exhibit is the best that can be made, and is properly systematized and displayed. This cannot be accomplished by one general committee in charge of the Exposition. It needs special knowledge which is to be obtained only in the different trades.

At the meeting next Tuesday the Building trades should put their shoulder to the Exposition wheel which, from some cause or another, is not moving quite as rapidly as it should. Perhaps it is that individuals, as individuals, have done as much as can well be expected, and the time has now arrived for organization, which is essential to make effective the great strength of the mass of the people. We see that so long as the movement has been one claiming the support of the public as individuals, it has appealed chiefly to the very rich. The movement now needs to pass into another phase, and through organization appeal to the multitude. It will be found a much easier enterprise to build the Exposition with the dollars of the masses than the thousand dollar subscriptions of our millionaires. If, however, the chief trades of New York will organize, the Exposition will be a certainty. Let the Building trade show the way.

Every member of the Building trades has, in a sense, a personal interest in the meeting to be held on Tuesday. A permanent Building exhibition, wherein everything from the designing to the completion of the construction of the several kinds of buildings could be shown, has long been talked of and wished for. Here is the opportunity to obtain such a building. It would be one of the most interesting and instructive of all in the Exposition. We believe that a very handsome building could be erected from contributions made by manufacturers and material men in kind. Offers have already been made by several leading firms to donate for such a building all the material necessary of the kind they manufacture. Business men will not be slow to see the benefits that would be obtained from doing so, and exhibitors will realize at a glance how much more advantageous their exhibits would be to them if displayed in a building that would attract to it all the visiting architects, builders, and that part of the public that is interested in the construction, decoration or furnishing of houses.

Now that the Bloomingdale Asylum site, with its twenty-eight acres, can be obtained for the Exposition, and the Central Park has practically been thrown out, the World's Fair, for the first time, may be regarded as assured.

The stock market, with some exceptions, has stiffened perceptibly during the past week, and there seems to be a possibility that before long we may have a taste of the often deferred rise which the Wall street scribes have been so long predicting. It is true that a rise does not, as a general thing, set in just previous to the holidays; but the circumstances are exceptional and an advance may be expected as well on the 1st of December as on the 1st of January. The conditions favoring it continue as manifest as ever. Business is good, both generally and specifically, for the railroads. The estimate of the English wheat shortage is increasing, the latest calculation putting it at some 152,000,000 bushels. There seems to be no probability of any rate disturbances in the West. And last, but not least, the price of silver in London is steadily advancing, the latest quotation being about 43¾ pence. Unfortunately the profits in business have not increased in the same proportion as the volume, but they may be expected to become larger in time. Altogether, there seems to be no reason to withdraw the confidence we have felt that better prices were bound to result in time.

It is noticeable that the Prohibition vote has played a part of absolutely no importance in the election of this year. "Formerly, although the poll has never been large, it had always been increasing, and politicians regarded it as a factor of some importance in the making of the result; but in the future, fortunately or unfortunately, they can afford to disregard it. The movement may not, however, be without a political result. All the new party men, whether single tax or prohibitionist, have laid great stress on the fact that there is, at bottom, little to distinguish the two parties one from another, either in the consistency of their policy or in the character of their leaders. The faith of these reformers in their nostrums may grow cold, but their discontent with the present party divisions will remain—a discontent that may well make itself felt when the occasion arises. In any case, the number of voters who have renounced their allegiance to the two parties as constituted at present is as large, if not larger than ever; and future elections will be the more uncertain because of this fact.

Another result of the election has been to increase the number of doubtful States. It may be premature because of Foraker's defeat to place Ohio on that list, for it is not the first time that the Democrats have won a victory in the contest for Governor with out being able to encroach on the Republican majority in the Presidential year. Nevertheless, in view of the fact that there has undoubtedly been a Democratic reaction this fall—a reaction by no means confined to Ohio—it is not going too far to place that State with Iowa on the doubtful list. If the Democrats are able to retain this advantage it will more than make up for whatever gains the Republicans made by the taking into the Union of the new States. The cause of the Republican defeat in Iowa has been variously ascribed to its railroad policy, the passage of the Prohibition law and the Farmers' Alliance. If, as seems probable, it is the discontent of the farmers that has led to the Democratic victory, that victory is the more significant because they have always been the Republicans' stand-by. In any calculation, however, as to the probable result of the election of 1892, it must not be forgotten that there will be a reapportionment before that time, and the political result of that reapportionment will depend largely on the party that makes—viz., the party which will have control of the next Congress.

Every member of the Arts and Industries connected with Building should be present at the mass meeting at the Real Estate Exchange on Tuesday, Nov. 12th, at 4 o'clock.

The Protection of Investors.

Within the last year or so there have been a succession of incidents which have tended to make the stockholders in railway and other corporations doubt, sometimes, the honesty and often the ability of the managers of their properties. Curiously enough, coincident with these breaches of faith on the one part, and a loss of confidence on the other, there has been growing and spreading a change in industrial methods which necessitates the implicit confidence of the shareholders in the managers of the enterprise. We refer, of course, to the trusts. Nobody knows anything about these combinations except the insiders. If they are dealt in on open market, the buyer pays a certain price for an uncertain quantity, and he trusts the management of his investment to men who may or may not be honest and capable. If they are not dealt in upon the open market the evil is less glaring, because in this case the large security-holders are the constituent corporations which form the trust, each of which, presumably, has a satisfactory representation on the Board of Trustees. If these organizations were to remain private, in the sense that all sales of their certificates should take place, not on the public market, but at a private contract, the evil, from the investor's point of view, would not exist; but, undoubtedly, as the trust movement spreads, and as the trusts themselves grow in size and wealth, there will be an increasing necessity for a public market. And as the necessity becomes urgent so will the further necessity for some protection to investors.

It is obvious that the investors themselves, either by experience or reasoning, have come to the conclusion that trust certificates are not the safest things in which the world can put its money. The intention of the Cotton Oil Trust to change its form of organization into that of a corporation has been the result, no doubt, of the impossibility of marketing their certificates when the value of the latter is as uncertain and fluctuating as it is at present. The corporate form which the trustees have adopted is undoubtedly an improvement from the investor's point of view, but it is well worthy of consideration whether even these organizations provide any proper guarantee that the shareholder shall know what he is owning. There have been examples of innumerable of railroad corporations that have made false reports or no reports at all of the earnings and condition of the property. Or if the reports are made, they are made in such a form that even the most discerning are liable to be deceived. A familiar instance of this fact is the $40,000,000 surplus of the Baltimore & Ohio, which turned out to be nothing more than improvements which had been made in the equipment of the company and which in no way was a surplus fund, in the ordinary sense of the word—a fund accumulated in times of prosperity which could be drawn upon in times of trouble. But aside from this some roads make monthly, some weekly, some quarterly, some semi-annual reports, and some report only when it pleases the directors. There is no fixed system either as to their form or as to their regularity, nor is there any guarantee as to their honesty when they are made. Consequently investors are deceived by dividends that are never earned and by rumors that are without foundation. The legislatures of the various States, particularly in the West, have spent much time and used up a great deal of paper in passing laws to protect what they considered to be the interests of the public against the railroads. It is a pity that some of this time and paper has not been spent in protecting the shareholders as well as the public. It would be difficult, almost impossible, to get a concerted action of the different States on this matter. It ought to be a function of the general government. One of the first amendments to the Interstate Commerce Act should be a provision requiring the roads affected by this act to allow the books of the company to be examined by government auditors, who should make reports at stated intervals and in a stated form, the object being to throw a clear light on the condition of the company from an investors point of view. The railroad industry is assuming such proportions that trust funds very frequently must be partially invested in this way. In the future, what we now know as trusts will have to be used similarly as a source for investment. As the aggregations of capital grow, so will the number of investors grow, and so will the necessity for protection become more urgent. Already there are stringent laws in respect to trust companies, savings banks and kindred institutions, providing for the safety of the depositors and shareholders. In the end, similar legislation will have to be enacted for investors in other business enterprises.

On Tuesday next, at 4 o'clock, this question will be answered: Shall the Building trades in the forthcoming Exposition have a permanent and systematized exhibit in a handsome building of their own, or a scattered exhibit, lost in the heterogeneous display of merchandise and scattered at the end of a few months? If the former is to be obtained there must be organization.

The Board of Street Opening and Improvement, it seems, after a consideration that has extended through many years, have finally put a quietus, temporary or permanent, on the Elm street improvement. The wording of the motion was that "the proposed widening and extension of Elm street is inexpedient at this time." Apparently there is no question as to the wisdom of the improvement, irrespective of present conditions. It is for this reason that the decision is something of a surprise, for a majority of the Board was known to favor the extension. What, then, are the conditions that make it "inexpedient at this time?" According to the preamble to the resolution, the great expense which the city is just incurring in repaving the streets, improving the water fronts, extending College place and erecting new buildings effectually precludes any further extra expenditure for some years. But is it not somewhat peculiar, considering that most of these improvements have been under consideration for some time, and considering that the consequent expenditure must have been foreseen, that this decision has not been come to previously? The Elm street improvement was well under consideration before the question of a new municipal building was seriously broached. Is the former any less necessary than the latter? Is it any more desirable that the city officials should have spacious quarters than that the citizens should have facilities for transportation? The erection of the new building will, it is true, save a large expenditure in rents, but if the Elm street widening and extension does not add to the taxable value of the property affected by it far more than its own cost it should never have been projected. The decision of the Board is not sound, because if the improvement is wise at any time it is wise at the present time and should not be postponed to make room for other improvements, the urgency of which is either less or not more pressing than that of the Elm street widening and extension.

The fact is that this Elm street matter has become entangled with the municipal building question. At the public hearing on the latter improvement, when it was proposed to use that part of Chambers street east of the Emigrant Industrial Savings Bank as a site for our new city offices, Mayor Grant objected to the proposition on the ground that it would interfere with the extension of Elm street. At the present time when the site for the city offices is still a matter of doubt, the Elm street extension is postponed because of the possible interference of its southern terminus to this site, and the necessary large expense of the latter. There is no reason in the world, however, why they should be confused. The city needs both improvements, and should have them. Neither is there any necessary conflict between the southern terminus of the improvement and some perfectly eligible site for the municipal building. As to the expense, it is ridiculous to say the city cannot afford to spend money that will be returned to it many times over. If it be found that the cost of all the proposed improvements is such that the 10 per cent. borrowing limit is reached the additional expense should be raised by taxation. We are aware that it would take a courageous set of officials to propose such an alternative, but under such circumstances it is the only reasonable course open to the authorities.

It is to the interest of lawyers to make legal documents difficult of understanding, for a constant appeal to their knowledge is thus rendered necessary. It is the better news, therefore, that some of them are preparing a bill to be introduced into the Legislature next session to render shorter, simpler, and consequently clearer, the wording of forms of real estate transfer. The present form in ordinary use bears the same relation to the number of words absolutely necessary for the purpose as hay does to oats. Nobody gets any benefit from this superfluous verbiage except stationers and printers, while it creates in the minds of many not used to legal circumlocutions a confusion not unmixed with despair. The intention is to make some short form compulsory. Not a few property owners already have adopted some such form, and there is no reason why it should not become universal.

Ten Months of Brooklyn Realty.

The conveyances, mortgages and projected buildings of Kings County during the first ten months of the current year show a general increase over the figures of the corresponding period in 1888. This is particularly the case with the conveyances, from which it appeared that there were 14,849 this year, as against 11,841 last year, while in amount they aggregated $69,757,552, as against $47,291,266, an increase of $22,466,286. The mortgages number 12,043, as against 9,464, and total $49,830,509, as compared with $34,694,247 last year. Of the whole, no less than 7,106 were recorded at 5 per cent. interest per annum or less, while there were only 5,261 last year, there aggregate amount being $31,779,094 in 1889, as compared with $21,618,276 in 1888. It therefore appears that $10,160,818 more was loaned on Kings County real estate at lower rates of interest this year than last. The projected buildings numbered 4,466, as against 3,640, while their cost was estimated at $23,660,960, as against $19,973,652 in 1888, showing that the activity in building is not by any means on the wane in our Sister City of Brooklyn. A Permanent Building Exhibit would benefit the public, the Exposition and the Building trades.

According to the report of the New York Sun, the text of the decision by the Judges of the Supreme Court against the North River Sugar Refining Company contains the following not altogether luminous clause: "And where that appears to be the fact, the agreement, association, combination or arrangement, or whatever else it may be called, having for its objects the removal of competition and the advancement of prices of necessities of life, is subject to the condemnation of the law, by which it is denounced as a criminal enterprise." The word "that" in the first line refers in sense though not in grammar to the phrases which follow "having for its objects." Even with the context, the statement is by no means a model of clear composition, and if, on analysis, anybody can make any sense out of it, the writer of the sentence is certainly not responsible for this happy result. It seems that a combination having for its objects the removal of competition and the advancement of prices of necessities of life are criminal enterprises. Without quibbling over the ambiguous phasing of this sentence, it is perfectly fair to state that on this principle there is not a corporation conducting business in this State that may not be a criminal enterprise. According to the statement, it is perfectly legal to compete, but it is criminal to succeed in the objection of competition viz.: the underselling of your competitors. Competition is legal, in other words, only so far as it does not succeed. Further, a man who attempts to sell a commodity which has become necessary to the consumers at the highest price he can—just as all dealers in such are doing—is also a criminal. The Times, it seems, has applauded this decision; yet is not that paper by its own showing a criminal? Has it not combined with certain other papers to suppress competition and raise the price of such a necessary of life as the Sunday newspaper? Further comment is unnecessary.

Gen. Meig's paper in Science, making some predictions as to the future increase of population by decades in this country has created a wide discussion, the almost universal judgment being that his estimates were altogether too high. His mistake was in using a general ratio which supposes that the various forces which go to increase our population were constant. As a matter of fact they are not. Take the birth ratio for instance. It has decreased from .0305 in the year 1800 to .0201 in the year 1880. The following table shows it for the last ninety years:

Year.	Ratio.	Year.	Ratio.
1800.....	.0305	1850.....	.0228
1810.....	.0297	1860.....	.0210
1820.....	.0290	1870.....	.0137
1830.....	.0281	1880.....	.0201
1840.....	.0216	1890.....	(Estimated) .0200

Then take the ratio of immigrants to non-immigrants for the same period :

Year.	Ratio.	Year.	Ratio.
1800.....	.0129	1850.....	.0143
1810.....	.0138	1860.....	.1005
1820.....	.0114	1870.....	.0697
1830.....	.0121	1880.....	.0619
1840.....	.0393	1890.....	(Estimated) .0983

It will be seen how this ratio varies even for the last forty years, and there is every reason to suppose that this variation will gain rather than lose in importance. It is, of course, the superior opportunities of this country that has created the immigration—opportunities which in time will grow less attractive, either absolutely or relatively, with those of other new countries. We do not believe with some that the equalization of conditions between this country and abroad has already gone so far that it is responsible for the present decrease in the immigration ratio, but that this equalization will take place in time is undoubtedly the truth. This will partially be counterbalanced by an increase in the birth ratio, which rises as the other falls; but the general ratio undoubtedly will grow smaller. How much smaller no one has the data to predict!

The Eighth Regiment Armory.

Upon the whole the recent regimental armories, both those completed and those authorized and designed, are or promise to be real accessions to the architecture of the city. There is not one of them that does not shine, as to its exterior architecture, by comparison with that of the Seventh, the front of which already looks antiquated, though in fact it is so nearly new.

The armory of the Eighth Regiment, occupying the entire front of the block on the west side of 4th avenue, between 94th and 95th streets, is upon the whole the most impressive piece of military architecture we possess. Like the others it consists of an administrative building in front and a drill hall behind. This drill hall is in all cases a room as large as can be had that must be unobstructed by interior supports. It has a great area and a moderate height, and as an architectural problem presents very much the same difficulties as the train shed of a railway station. Thus far architects seem to have found it, either as a train shed or as a drill hall, singularly intractable. The prohibition of interior supports deprives it of interior features, and its interest is only in its magnitude, while outside it consists of low dead walls. The architect of the Eighth Regiment armory has scarcely improved upon his predecessors in the treatment of this part of his task. The wide rear wall of his building is a flat expanse of brick that gives no sense of massiveness, since there is no display and can be no accentuation of the thickness of the wall, rising to a low and rather sprawling crow-stepped gable that masks the roof behind it. It seems as if some more effective treatment might have been adopted for a front, or rather a back, so extensive, though it is a fact that no designer has yet hit upon a treatment of it at once expressive and impressive. The side of the drill hall shows what seems a clere-story, although it may be, in fact very probably is, but a vertical sash resting on the arch trusses of the roof. At any rate, it appears to suggest a motive for a corresponding treatment of the end wall, by dividing it into three, a centre higher than the sides, and separated from them by buttresses, which in so long and unbroken a wall always appear to be needed for strength, while the accident that occurred during the construction of this very building might very probably have been averted if the wall had been so reinforced. This arrangement was adopted with success in the rear wall of the Metropolitan Opera House and gave an architectural character to what would otherwise have been a perfectly uninteresting expanse.

The treatment of the drill hall is, however, almost the only exception we have to make to the manner in which the architect of the new armory has performed his task. The material is baked clay, and is almost entirely common bricks, selected for their color, which is excellent and deep. Terra cotta is used in the crenellated corings that crown walls and towers, while a brown sandstone is introduced very sparingly indeed, the sills of the openings and the water-table being composed of it, and a column of which we shall speak presently. This monochrome of red is undoubtedly effective, especially where the parts are so simple and on so large a scale; but a slight variation in tint to a still deeper red, if it could be had, for the arches and other structural features, would have expressed the construction better, and might have been equally effective as color. In this, as in many other respects, the Casino may serve as a model for an architecture of baked clay.

The front of the building on 4th avenue is a wide gable like that of the rear, but here deeply recessed behind two powerful flanking ample dimensions, while, as has been said, the repetition of their forms on a smaller scale in the turrets makes them look even larger. The uniform use of crenellations, alike over walls and towers, also gives unity and dignity to the front. In detail it is as admirable as it is simple, mainly admirable for the unmistakable character of brickwork in the design of every feature.

The sides are equally effective until the building declines into the drill shed. The feature of the north side is a subordinate entrance. From a stout dwarf column of sandstone, not more than a diameter high, with a foliated capital and a heavy double abacus, are turned outward two arches. One of these covers a window, while the other is a relieving arch, under and behind which the arch of the towers. The lower story, between the towers, is occupied by a terrace, of which the front wall is pierced only by an entrance archway, is slightly withdrawn from the extreme projection of the tower, and is lighted from skylights that are, rather unfortunately, visible from the street. The interval between the wall of this basement and the great towers is filled out with "squinchies" of brick, and the junction is marked by turrets repeating in miniature the form of the towers, and thus giving scale to them. The recessed wall shows in its lower story a large arched opening at the centre; in the second, round arched openings of moderate size, which in the third are slits extending into the high and shallow cornice. The effect of the whole is excellent. The towers are, in fact, of doorway is burrowed into the thickness of the wall, thus very impressively displayed. On the north side is another doorway, equally good and massive, though less elaborate. The junction of the tower with the side walls is another point worthy of mention and praise. Below the tower meets the wall and is merged it, while in the third story its curve is continued inward, and shown under an arch thrown across in the plane of the wall. All this, that is to say all the administrative building, is highly successful and if the drill shed is less so its comparative unsuccessfulness can scarcely be imputed to the designer.

Neither, we suppose, can the unfortunate placing of the building be imputed to him. Fourth avenue declines sharply just above the new armory, and the view of the armory from the street front can never be the principal view. On the other hand, it is in full view from Central Park. It would be a highly attractive object from the East Drive if it had been designed to be seen from the west. As it is, its architecture is wasted upon the houses opposite in 4th avenue, while upon the throngs that daily traverse the park, in a mood for appreciating architecture, the building turns its uninteresting back, with only a hint of what it really is in the looming masses of the towers, seen across this disparaging foreground. These are the things that we do not manage well in New York. All the same, the new armory is a good piece of work.

The Building trades should put their shoulder to the wheel and help to secure the Exposition of 1892 for New York City.

The Proposed Great Building Exhibit.

The Committee of Nine appointed by the general meeting held at the office of THE RECORD AND GUIDE to organize a Building Exhibit at the World's Fair, met on Saturday last, and appointed sub-committees to confer with and obtain the support of the following organizations: The Mechanics' and Traders' Exchange, the Building Material Exchange, the Real Estate Exchange, the American Institute of Architects, the Real Estate Owners' and Builders' Association, the Architectural League and the West End Real Estate Association. It was decided to call a mass meeting of all these associations, together with all the trades and interests connected with building, real estate and architecture, to take place at the Real Estate Exchange on Tuesday, the 12th inst., at 4 o'clock in the afternoon. Invitations have accordingly been issued to practically every member of every trade concerned. A great meeting is expected, and although the names of the speakers have not been definitely announced it is understood that Chauncey M. Depew and other well-known public men will deliver addresses in favor of the project. The following is a copy of the invitation issued:

HEADQUARTERS OF
COMMITTEE OF ARTS AND INDUSTRIES OF BUILDING TRADES,
NO. 191 BROADWAY, New York, November 9, 1889.

At a meeting of representatives of the Arts and Industries connected with the Building Trades held October 31st, the undersigned committee was appointed to call a public Mass Meeting in the Real Estate Exchange, 59 Liberty street, on Tuesday, November 12th, at 4 o'clock P. M., to consider the advisability of concentrating the influence of the Architectural Profession and Building Trades, in order to procure a SYSTEMATIZED, COLLECTED AND PERMANENT BUILDING EXHIBIT in the forthcoming EXPOSITION, and to take such other action as may be deemed advisable to assist His Honor, the Mayor, and the several committees now in charge of matters relative to the proposed World's Fair.

Your presence and co-operation is respectfully and earnestly requested, as the subject is of vital importance to all engaged in the Building Arts and Industries.

(Signed)	E. A. CRUIKSHANK,	THOS. GRAHAM,
	CHAS. BUEK,	RICHARD V. HARNETT,
	A. J. BLOOR,	HENRY M. KEASBEY,
	R. C. FISHER,	F. W. SEAGRIST, JR.,
	HIRAM SNYDER.

FRANCIS CRAWFORD, Chairman of meeting held October 31st.
H. W. DESMOND, Secretary, 191 Broadway.

A large number of letters have been received in support of the object of the meeting, among them being the following:

To the Committee of Nine—Proposed Building Exhibit:

GENTLEMEN—We found it impossible to attend the meeting last Thursday, but will let nothing interfere with our being represented at all future ones. We are in full accord with so sensible a view as you outline in your prospectus, and can hardly think of a better scheme, whereby the building trade can form an individual record for itself at our coming World's Fair.

However, whatever is done should be done at once, as you have noticed that a goodly number, representing the building trade, have already subscribed their amount, which no doubt is meritorious in itself, but which would reap much better results if combined as a whole to further their industry. Our mite will always be ready, and whatever service we can offer we will find time to attend to. Respectfully yours,

RADLEY & GREENOUGH.

Firms and individuals connected with any of the building trades, or at all interested in the proposed exhibit, who may not have received an invitation by mail, are cordially invited by the committee to be present at the mass meeting on Tuesday.

At the American Institute Fair.

The exhibits this year at the American Institute Fair are varied and instructive. They comprise a number of new and good things of interest, and no one in any way connected with building or architecture should fail to visit the Fair and examine the plant, the machinery and the numerous inventions gathered together for inspection.

Among the exhibits are a number of planing and matching, surface planing, moulding, tenoning, mortising, sawing, lathing and other machines. A refrigerator, said to be "the best in the world for grocers," is shown by a Brooklyn firm of manufacturers. A fire-extinguisher which requires no pumping, and which the patentees say has "no hose to rot" and which will positively not corrode, is built of copper. A gas stove and furnace company show heating and cooking stoves, while an iron clothes-line frame for roofs forms a not inutility article among the exhibits.

A patent ratchet-drill arrests the eye among the larger pieces of machinery. This is quite a recent invention, and is said to be the only self-lubricating drill in existence. The Stewart Ceramic Company have a handsome exhibit of their stationary wash tubs and sinks. These are of solid white crockery, and show how attractive they can be made to look in any house. The company has evidently gone to considerable expense in fitting up their exhibit. They have marble-wainscoted walls and marble-tiled flooring. The tubs are set up on galvanized iron stands, and have both ash and marble frames on top. Builders who may visit the Fair should get the company's representative, Jas. F. Simmons, to show them the material and workmanship of these important household adjuncts. A stair-routing machine for the use of stair builders is worth noting. The patentee is a practical stair builder and he explains it technically to the bystander. A zig-zag rocking grate bar would delight the heart of the apartment house and office building owner. It economizes coal used in stationary boilers, steamers and locomotives, and will, it is said, create more steam than any bar in use. An adjustable mandrel mill-saw plays havoc with the yielding wood before the visitor's eyes, while the praises of a perfectly automatic steam trap are sounded by the manufacturers. A shaking and a dumping grate, as well as a patent sectional grate, are exhibited, and a well-known Baltimore firm presents specimens of its steam heating work. Stained glass windows are shown by two local firms, and are quite effective in appearance. Other exhibits of interest to many of our readers are displayed, and we will have something to say about them in a later issue.

The Elm Street Improvement Postponed.

PROPERTY-OWNERS FOR AND AGAINST.

The widening and extension of Elm street, the settlement of which has been lagging for upwards of a year, is indefinitely postponed. One set of property-owners objected to the improvement, while another favored it. The city authorities, between the two, have been undecided as to what action, if any, they should take. Their last move was to give property-owners and others interested notice that the last days for sending in their briefs had arrived, as they intended to consider the matter finally. Hence the meeting held Friday, when the Board met in executive session to settle the matter.

STRONG POINTS IN FAVOR.

One of the most important briefs was from Leo Schlesinger, of Crosby street, the well-known manufacturer of toys and tinware, who strongly favored the improvement, notwithstanding that it would have taken 80 feet away from the front of his manufactory. In this document he says:

I am the owner of 129 and 131 Crosby street, a seven-story building, 147x67 feet, directly on the line of the proposed opening of Elm street, which, if effected, would take 80 feet of my premises. For this reason I am materially affected by the Elm street movement, which I favor for the following reasons:

1st. The great and urgent need of our large city is direct thoroughfares and facilities for rapid transportation between distant points. These facilities do not exist in New York save at Broadway, where, for this very reason, the wealth of the metropolis is so massed that there is room for no more. Elm street would furnish another Broadway, and, being close to it, would not only benefit it, but derive benefit from it, as they would both form practically one broad avenue running up and down the city.

Six years ago for want of these shipping facilities I was forced to abandon my factory on the east side, and I built as near Broadway as possible, believing I should there find what I needed. But I have been disappointed, for Broadway has already all it can take care of. What am I to do?

What is true of my business is equally true of many others. Hence the immense petition which has been laid before you. (Petition sent in some time ago by property-owners on the line favoring the proposed improvement.) And what is true of my locality applies with almost equal force to every inch of ground from Reade street to Lafayette place. The want of draying facilities is driving trade away from our city, and the problem with us to-day is how to manufacture and ship our goods from points outside of New York.

2d. As you improve Elm street you will improve Centre street and the Bowery, both of which will soon feel the impetus of trade on this new thoroughfare.

As to the area of assessment I think it should be as extended as possible, and a very large proportion of it borne by the city at large, for this is not a local improvement but one which will benefit every merchant and resident of our metropolis.

ELM STREET AND HIGH BRIDGE PARK.

The Board of Street Opening and Improvement met yesterday and the following resolution, which was passed at the executive session of the board held on Thursday, was read and made public:

WHEREAS, At the present time extraordinary expenditures are required for the prosecution of various important and greatly needed public works, many already in progress, including the repaving of the city's streets, the new buildings for municipal and judicial purposes, the new aqueduct and projected reservoirs in connection therewith, the water front improvement, new parks, the opening of College place and other improvements;

WHEREAS, It appears that nearly one-half of the property owners on the line of the projected widening and extending of Elm street, protest against such action, therefore,

Resolved, That action upon the proposed widening of Elm street, involving as it does a very large additional outlay, is, in the opinion of this board, deemed at this time inexpedient.

The board yesterday heard arguments pro and con. in the matter of reducing the area of High Bridge Park. A number of property owners appeared in favor of the reduction, among them Geo. S. Lespinasse, while others spoke in favor of retaining the boundaries as they are now. The board gave them another week in which to send in briefs, and will again consider the matter at their next regular meeting on Friday.

New Members.

At a meeting of the Board of Directors of the Real Estate Exchange, held on Wednesday, the following were elected members: Stock—Orlando B. Potter and L. B. Rader. Annual members—E. De F. Shelton, A. Roppel, S. W. Clark, R. E. Holder, Chas. Shongood, J. D. Matthews, W. H. Owen, F. Crawford, H. Rapp, C. E. Dieter, G. W. Stake, A. Hoffstadt, J. M. Kyle.

The following have been proposed for membership: Alex. D. Duff, 1474 3d avenue, by H. J. How; John Lindley, 1 Broadway, by A. W. Cruikshank, and Benj. F. Hammett, of St. Louis, by Jas. Bleeker & Son.

Real Estate Exchange Notes.

The subject of a dividend on the Exchange stock has been referred to the Finance Committee for consideration. They are to report thereon at a special meeting of the Board. It is thought that a 4 per cent. dividend will be declared for the year.

The president has been authorized to appoint a committee of five to select a directors' ticket for the forthcoming annual election, and has selected Wm. F. Redmond, Horace S. Ely, C. A. Andrews, Hall J. How and Edward Oppenheimer. Notice to Property-Holders.

CITY OF NEW YORK, FINANCE DEPARTMENT,
COMPTROLLER'S OFFICE, November 4, 1889.

In pursuance of Section 997 of the "New York City Consolidation Act of 1882," the Comptroller gives notice to all persons, owners of property, affected by the following assessment list, viz.:

ACQUIRING TITLE.

East 142d st, from Rider av to St. Ann's av.

—which was confirmed by the Supreme Court October 14, 1889, and entered on the 28th day of October in the Record of Titles of Assessments, kept in the "Bureau for the Collection of Assessments and Arrears of Taxes and Assessments and of Water Rents," that unless the amount assessed for benefit on any person or property shall be paid within sixty days after the date of said entry of the assessment, interest will be collected thereon at the rate of 7 per cent. per annum, from October 28th. Payments to be made to the Collector of Assessments and Clerk of Arrears, between 9 A. M. and 2 P. M.

Architect T. H. Poole has just filed plans for a four-story extension to comprise a second division to St. John's College at Fordham. It is to be 138x60 in size, with stone and white marble trimmings, and will have fire-proof staircases. It is to contain a gymnasium, playroom, reading and billiard rooms, as well as a study hall, classrooms and dormitory. The cost is estimated at $70,000.

The Assured Building Loan Association has been incorporated by Erastus Wiman, Ed. A. Swan, J. H. Parker, David B. Jones, J. H. Herrick and others. The shares are $100 each. The objects of the company is the erection, building, improving, etc., of real estate in the City and County of New York.

The reconstructed Duncan building, on the corner of Fulton street and Broadway, is now being rented by E. A. Cruikshank & Co. The offices on the street face St. Paul's Church, and the building is now heated by steam and has an elevator.

Two lots on West 125th street, which have this week changed hands at $60,000, are being offered for sale at $75,000. The same plot was sold in May, 1887, at $45,000, and again a couple of months ago at $51,000.

Real Estate Department.

Business has been very quiet with the brokers during the past week. This is usually the case whenever business is interrupted by a legal holiday, and this week proved no exception to the rule. An active canvass, however, has led to our getting reports of nearly all that has been done, although we hear of some large transactions which cannot be disclosed at present. Trading continues to be the feature of the market, and our "Gossip" reports disclose some of the latest deals.

The auction market has also been quiet, but judging from the announcement the next couple of weeks will be busy ones with the auctioneers.

Only three sales were bulletined for Monday, and of these two were postponed.

Tuesday, Election Day, the Salesroom was closed. On Wednesday the five sales announced were all of a judicial character. The Bijou Theatre was included in the list, and was again adjourned. It is stated that the first mortgage has been settled, and that before long the property will be in possession of Sire & Sons, who arranged for its purchase at private sale many months ago. Another sale on the same day was the southeast corner of 77th street and 9th avenue, a vacant plot, size 30x102.2, to Broker J. Jay Smith at $38,950. It is believed the plot was bought for parties in interest. The first and second mortgages, with interest and other expenses, aggregate about $32,700. In August, 1884, a plot of six lots on this corner, embracing the above, was sold to Rev. James McMahon at $58,750, and later, in 1887, five of the six lots were sold for $100,000. The sale on Wednesday shows a wonderful increase in price over the sale of 1884.

Thursday was the busiest day of the week on 'Change, and the attendance was very good. The continuation sale of lots at Norwood in the 24th Ward proved a failure, notwithstanding there was a large crowd of buyers on hand. Some forty-eight lots were knocked down for a total of $16,795, and of these eighteen were sold to Messrs. H. L. and A. A. Wolff, W. W. Niles and W. J. Knox. Thirty lots were purchased on behalf of a number of interested persons. The sale was not a success, simply because the sellers put up only the poorest lots on the catalogue and the buyers present were too well posted to bid for them. There is no doubt but a good sale would have resulted if the best lots were offered.

There was only one sale held at the Exchange yesterday.

On Monday, November 11th, Richard V. Harnett & Co. will sell three lots on Tinton avenue and 168th street.

On Tuesday, November 12th, Richard V. Harnett & Co. will sell the estate of the late Countess H. De Moltke-Huitfeldt, comprising twenty-six lots on St. Nicholas and Manhattan avenues, 121st and 122d streets; Nos. 307 and 309 West 24th street; No. 240 West 40th street; No. 437 East 88th street, and No. 412 East 116th street. Also, on Thursday, November 14th, No. 426 East 10th street and No. 234 West 46th street (Astor leasehold).

On Tuesday, November 12th, Philip A. Smyth will offer three valuable lots on 81st street, opposite Manhattan Park and in view of the Museum of Natural History. The sale is to be absolute.

On Tuesday, November 12th, John F. B. Smyth will sell the modern brick tenement No. 328 East 59th street. This is to be a peremptory sale. On the same day Mr. Smyth will sell the five-story brick tenement at No. 749 3d avenue, near the 47th street "L" road station, and three building lots, one on 149th, one on 152d and one on 153d streets, all near 10th avenue.

On Tuesday, November 12, James L. Wells will sell the tenement and store at No. 229 West 60th street.

On Wednesday, November 13, Wm. Kennelly & Brother will sell, by order of the Supreme Court, in partition, the valuable down-town property No. 28 Reade street, near Broadway. It is a five-story cellar and sub-cellar building, with a stone and iron front.

On Wednesday, November 13th, John F. B. Smyth will sell the private dwelling at No. 1317 Herkimer street, Brooklyn.

On Thursday, November 14th, John F. B. Smyth will sell the new modern frame dwelling on 215th street, near 10th avenue. This is to be a peremptory sale.

On Friday, November 15th, James L. Wells will offer the handsome modern residence at No. 120 East 72d street. This is a Supreme Court sale.

An unusual auction of real estate is to take place under foreclosure next Friday in Brooklyn. It comprises the well-known "Finlay's Stores," sixteen warehouses in all, as noted in our Brooklyn news.

On Tuesday, November 19th, L. J. & I. Phillips will offer, by order of the executors of Emanuel Knight, a number of unimproved properties in the upper section of the city. They comprise the block front on Lenox avenue, between 133d and 134th streets; eight lots on 10th avenue and 122d street, near General Grant's tomb; four lots on 141st street, near 8th avenue, and six irregular-sized lots on St. Nicholas avenue, between 112th and 113th streets. The terms of sale are unusually easy.

On Tuesday, November 19, James L. Wells will sell, to close the estate of the late L. A. Snowden, 23 lots on 182d and 184th streets and 10th avenue, the titles being guaranteed and 60 per cent. being allowed to remain at 5 per cent.

Gossip of the Week.

SOUTH OF 59TH STREET.

The estate of Gen. Lloyd Aspinwall has sold a plot, about 64x128, on the northeast corner of University place and 10th street, with stone front dwelling and stable, to A. S. Rosenbaum, of the Hotel Albert, for $130,000.

The Woolsey estate has sold the premises Nos. 130, 132 and 134 East 15th street, 74.6x84, known as Nilsson Hall, at $85,000. We hear Gustav Amberg is the buyer.

A. Boehm has sold to Conrad Stein, the brewer, the five-story brick and stone flat with four stores on the northeast corner of 10th avenue and 53d street, size 25.5x96x100, for $70,000. This property is said to rent for $7,400 per annum.

Simon M. and Samuel Rosenblatt, soap manufacturers, have purchased from William De Groot and Arza C. Peck the five-story brick U. S. bonded warehouse Nos. 246 and 247 South street, running through to Water street, size 43x160, on private terms.

Fred A. Carll has sold for Thomas Stillman five four-story brick tenements, Nos. 334 to 342 West 36th street, 20x98.9 each, to Peter Schaeffler for $84,000, for improvement.

S. T. Meyer has purchased two lots on the northeast corner of 57th street and Broadway for $75,000.

Nothing definite can be ascertained respecting the reported offer of $1,200,000 for the office building on the southwest corner of Broadway and Liberty street. The agent for the Dash estate owners, when asked if such an offer had been made, replied, "It is all newspaper talk."

H. V. Mead & Co. have sold for J. W. Elyer, the three-story high stoop brick dwelling 18.9x50x98.9, No. 317 West 24th street, to Mrs. Tillie Kyle (part fee and part leasehold), for $12,500.

Wm. R. Mason has sold for Isaac Mannheimer the three-story dwelling No. 249 West 36th street, 19.2x45x98.9, for $13,300, and the four-story brick and three-story frame dwellings, 25x98.9, at No. 319 West 30th street, for $15,700.

S. M. Blakely has sold for Mary Jane Bogert the brown stone dwelling, 18.9x50x100, No. 224 West 48th street, for $16,000.

H. J. Beaudet has sold the plot, 82x98.9, on the north side of 27th street, 368 feet west of 9th avenue, on private terms, to Max Rodding.

Henry Waters has bought the five-story and basement brick and terra cotta apartment house, 259 Henry street, from Morris Solomon on private terms.

Mr. Waters has resold the house and lot, No. 46 Pike street, which he purchased on Thursday at the Exchange, to Benedict A. Klein; Joseph Waters, broker.

We hear that Moritz Bauer has traded the two five-story brick and stone stores, Nos. 695 and 697 Broadway, southwest corner of 4th street, size 80.7x74, with Pelham St. George Bissell for a costly dwelling on 5th avenue, near 62d street. The particulars have not transpired. Early this year the Equitable Life sold a plot, 80.5x110 on the southwest corner of Broadway and 4th street at $460,000. Subsequently it was conveyed by the company for a nominal sum to E. A. Davis, who in turn reconveyed to Adolph Keppich at $650,000. A couple of weeks ago Keppich transferred that portion of the plot known as Nos. 4 and 6 West 4th street to Albert Tower.

NORTH OF 59TH STREET.

The C. Graham & Sons Co. have sold their four-story brown stone dwelling, 25x54, No. 24 East 80th street, to Henry W. Schmidt for $50,000, Libby & Scott Bros. have sold for E. T. BUILDING MATERIAL MARKET.

BRICKS.—It has been a rather narrow and not particularly interesting market for Common Hards during the interval since our last review, and while the changes in value are really limited in character they on the whole rather favor the buyer. The two potential influences were to be found in a pretty full run of supplies, keeping more or less of a surplus always seeking an outlet and a smaller run of demand. The latter probably does not represent an actual corresponding shrinkage in consumption, but is due in a measure to the election, which has as usual induced many workmen to appropriate to themselves even more time than the legal holiday, and in addition to the consequent falling away of building operations has interfered slightly with the handling of supplies for storage wherever there may have been an inclination in that direction. These features, however, seem to be about the worst of it, and buyers who have been inclined to hope for a greater gain are disappointed in finding that receivers retain grit enough to contest a retrograde movement on value, and especially so when any shading from $7.00 per M again is mentioned. Not only is that rate considered reasonable enough for the season but there are indications that the force of supplies may be lessened before long. For a great many barges it is announced that only a couple of trips more will be made, and while the possibility of ice may be considered a little remote it is known that under the provisions of the insurance policies most of the barges are compelled to lay up by December 10th, unless owners choose to undertake trips at their own risk or go to the trouble of special insurance every time they venture an additional shipment. Pales, outside of some very inferior stock, sell at about former rates, and there are a few lammies arriving for which about $3.00 per M is obtained on the average.

LATH.—Although the gain seems to be considered a little slow by some of the more impatient operators it is nevertheless steady and sure, and another small addition has been made to value during the week, bringing the quotation up to $2.25@2.30 per M. on actual sales reported, while those who quote from a basis of what they hope for, and say they expect to get, name a still higher figure. Arrivals at the best have been small and such as were not already under engagement found a quick enough sale with sufficient evidence in the matter of demand unsatisfied to indicate that it only required more stock to make a larger line of business. A great many dealers, it is claimed, are in need of considerable lath to fill out ordinary accommodation, and so far as shown by any obtainable record there is at present but a limited quantity afloat.

LIME.—There is no apparent change in the market, Eastern stock has come in moderately and promptly disappeared, the holding of many dealers being limited with some anxiety shown to fill out. For State stock the demand is also showing considerable vigor as customers who want it commence to feel that time for deliveries is getting short and consequently delays are dangerous. The occasional arrivals of St. John stock are reported as always finding customers waiting.

LUMBER.—Neither on the retail or wholesale market do developments of a pronounced character come to the surface. Some of the yards are distributing pretty freely, indeed in certain favored localities business is really first-class, but there are some dealers who complain, and taken as a whole the line of operations is probably no greater than common at this season of the year. The offerings from first hands with few exceptions meet with fair attention and it is expected that anything on which a guarantee of delivery before the close of navigation can be given will find custom. The matter of navigation, however, is not quite so important a factor as in former years as increased facilities permit car lot trade in many ways without greatly enhancing the cost of delivery. Agents complain somewhat of unsatisfactory rates partly due to close competition whenever there is promise of desirable custom. The month opens with a very good movement of supplies on foreign account the week's record of exports reaching about 3,200,000 feet, besides a considerable assortment of hardwoods. The largest clearance was for Cuba.

Eastern Spruce while showing some uncertain features appears in the main to carry many of the healthy elements that have so long characterized the market. A receiver who has had occasion to travel about among the yards in this and adjacent cities to some little extent of late, assures us that while some dealers are fairly stocked there are a great many who do not appear to have anything like a respectable accumulation, and that such conditions prevail in the matter of ordinary as well as full and extra sizes, and be, in common with many others, expresses a belief that there can scarcely enough come forward to satisfy the deficiency. There may be times when arrivals here show up temporarily full, but it is thought any advantage buyers happen to gain thereby will quickly disappear.

Piling keeps in very good form and the condition of the market seems to justify the cheerful predictions that were made earlier in the season. Demand at times shows a degree of irregularity, but so large a portion of the supply expected is already under contract that receivers feel very independent and rarely can be induced to listen to any negotiation based upon a modification of cost.

Hemlock becomes subject to attack every now and then from sources that appear to have no other inspiration than a desire to be on the contrary side of the market. The tone certainly is not weakened by any bearish talk, especially so far as the desirable cut is concerned, either State or Pennsylvania and some of the leading handlers of the latter express themselves as in very contented frame of mind regarding present conditions and the chances for their trade in the early future. Many, if not the majority, of sales recently reported at cut rates can be traced to parcels brought in by boat captains as private speculation, and the moderate size of their offerings, coupled with the hurried manner in which most of them are compelled to realize, readily accounts for the advantage buyers were enabled to exact.

White Pine, according to the suggestions of some parties who have special interest in running down, would seem to be in a pretty bad way, but it is worse as a matter of fact than at an earlier period of the season, and there are plenty of first-class houses who still think it a wood worthy of being counted among the leaders. Everyone knows its sale has been curtailed by competition, yet not to the extent dealers in other woods would have it appear, and the amount on hand and accumulating in the hands of dealers who are generally considered as knowing a thing or two, would indicate a belief in fair winter traffic. Values keep easy because there is plenty of stock offering and an apparent full supply of salesmen to drum the market.

Yellow Pine to all appearances retains a smooth market and there is practically nothing new to suggest. Demand fluctuates somewhat but will generally even up well on any given period taken for comparison, and the run of value is sustained without much difficulty. A large proportion of the season's arrivals have gone directly into consumption, but a fair reservation from time to time gravitates toward dealers' hands and the chances are that winter stocks will be of a character to meet any ordinary call, and if they are not additions can be reached under such control as to preserve tone on values.

Carolina Pine does not lose friends, according to the Special Notices.

Capitalists and others desiring to acquire the services of an intelligent and capable man may apply to X. Y. Z., office RECORD AND GUIDE.

C. K. Leavitt & Co. have succeeded to the real estate business of Wilmurt & Jarvis. Mr. C. K. Leavitt managed the latter's affairs for several years, and now inherits the results of his intelligent work and industry. The business will be capably conducted, and real estate transactions in every branch will be undertaken, including the negotiation of loans, renting and collecting, as well as the entire management of estates. Contractors' Notes.

The Department of Public Works will receive bids until noon on the 18th inst.: (No. 1) For paving with asphalt pavement on concrete foundation the carriageway of Lexington avenue, between 21st and 32d streets; between 42d and 59th streets, and between 66th and 69th streets; and (No. 2) Of Wall street, from the westerly crosswalk at Nassau street to the easterly crosswalk at Hanover street, and with granite-block pavement on concrete foundation, from the easterly crosswalk at Broadway to the westerly crosswalk at Nassau street, and from the easterly crosswalk at Hanover street to the westerly crosswalk at Pearl street. (No. 3) For paving with asphalt pavement on the present macadam pavement the carriageway of Broadway (or Boulevard), from 59th to 79th street. (No. 4) For paving with granite blocks on concrete foundation the carriageway of Madison avenue, from the south side of 33d street to the north side of 36th street, and from the south side of 41st street to the north side of 42d street.

To tear down the walls and foundations for new houses instead of carrying them to completion is a novelty even in this city. Yet such is the sight to be witnessed from the "L" road cars on the east side of 9th avenue, between 87th and 88th streets. Over two years ago Builder Chas. L. Guillaume began a row of flats which were abandoned when he failed and the walls and foundations then erected are being torn down to make way for flats of different sizes.

general run of reports, and the market seems to be in quite as good shape as ordinarily claimed for it. The offering is said to be restricted by the back orders upon which manufacturers are unable to catch up, but whatever the cause there is no evidence of serious surplus or crowding to realize.

Hardwoods all along the line are steady, and even the unpopular black walnut could hardly be reached at any shading, because there is no serious accumulation of it. Other descriptions of stock meet with a fairly acceptable degree of attention, and tenders of first-class assortments at previous rates can as a rule be placed if sellers are not entertaining extravagant notions as to the time in which negotiations should be perfected and the price to be paid for their goods. The export trade wants something all the while, but it must be of carefully selected quality. There is said to be a pretty steady run of orders for mahogany from interior sources at good rates.

GENERAL LUMBER NOTES.

THE WEST.

The Northwestern Lumberman as follows:

In the Saginaw Valley there has lately been considerable stir in the cargo trade, and several large sales have been made. It is thought that sellers have eased down on prices sufficiently to induce buyers to take hold, and thus relieve, in a measure, the deadlock that characterized the cargo business all season. The near close of the shipping term also induces purchasers to get forward their stocks as fast as possible, so that an appearance of unusual urgency is given to valley shipping affairs. Stocks there are rather larger than usual, but the car load trade has come to be so important that the amount on hand does not seem so excessive as it would were conditions as they once were.

It is a noticeable feature of the situation in respect to white pine that uppers are druggery in the Saginaw Valley, and plenty generally throughout the East, while in this city and at all points of tributary supply they are comparatively scarce. This shows that the drainage of good lumber has been Eastward from Green Bay, upper Wisconsin and Lake Superior, which has filled up Eastern yards and factories, while buyers have given the go-by to Saginaw River mills, and the dealers here have not got their usual quantity. No one need be surprised if Chicago should during the winter relieve Saginaw and Bay City holders of considerable good stock.

While it is the general impression that there is an overstock of product throughout Wisconsin and on the upper Mississippi, it is stated from Winona that of a total product of 114,000,000 feet cut by the four mills at that point, there is less stock on hand than at the season's close last year to the extent of 18,000,000 feet. La Crosse has cut 21,000,000 feet less than last year, but has about 16,000,000 feet more on hand than at the close of 1888, a surplus that the remainder of the tall trade can easily wipe out.

And reporting the Chicago cargo market as follows:

This scarcity, and the rise in lake freight rates, have enabled the commission men to clap on twenty-five cents a thousand additional to previously prevailing figures. The price of short green stuff is now $9.50, and that is said to be a firm basis for selling. Cargoes that contain 15 to 20 per cent. of long stuff sell for $9.75 to $10. All slim jims will bring $10.50 to $11. Heavy joists range upward to $12 or $12.50. There is a good call for all long joists. Thicker than two inches is in meager supply.

Last year at a like time short piece stuff was selling at $10, and before the season closed went to $10.25. So it will be seen that prices are still fifty cents a thousand lower than they were a year ago.

The market for coarse inch lumber does not improve. It continues to arrive in excess of demand, and there has been no strengthening of prices in correspondence with that of dimension. Good lumber is wanted. High grade strips are in meager supply. Thick clears and selecta are also in demand, and a little of such lumber is sold on the market at prices better than earlier in the season.

The Timberman as follows:

Preparations for the winter's logging operations are progressing actively throughout Michigan, Wisconsin and Minnesota, and although a general statement is frequently made to the effect that the cut this season will be less than last, when reports from the different localities are examined in detail, it is difficult to see where the curtailment is going to come in.

And referring to Chicago yard trade says: The opinion seems to prevail among dealers generally that the lumber sales for October have been heavy, and that the figures when published will show a substantial increase over the corresponding month last year. The volume of business fell off a little during the closing days of the month, so that this week has not been quite as heavy as last, but everyone has been reasonably busy.

The belief also obtains that the surplus of stock on hand over last year has been done away with, and that there is probably less in sight now than on the first of November, 1888. The reports from the cargo market indicate a falling off in the receipts each week that would be enough in itself to wipe out the 23,000,000 surplus indicated by the October figures, and if the sales are as heavy as have been estimated the forthcoming report ought to carry considerable consolation to the heart of the dealer in white pine.

The wholesale slaughter of prices has never been as noticeable in good lumber as in the low grade, mainly for the reason that there has not been any considerable quantity coming into Chicago this summer. It has been a hard matter at any time to go on the market and buy a cargo of good lumber. Strips especially are scarce, and even firms that manufacture their own stock are in many instances out of A selects and clear.

Twelve-inch stock board are pretty good property, and heavy timbers are in short supply.

The situation in the hardwood trade is not entirely satisfactory to all concerned, although there are cases where business is plenty, and it is, perhaps, a little livelier all around than a week ago. While the majority of dealers complain of dullness in some degree, right across the street may be found one who has all the trade he can handle. The volume of business, in the aggregate, is undoubtedly as large as last year, but prices are lower, and reports of cutting are frequently heard. This is not so often done directly from the yard, but by the assistance of the ever-willing "scalper," who is doing a good business just now.

CANADA.

The Toronto Monetary Times says:

Considerable speculation exists as to the course of the lumber market in the near future. Shipments to South America are at present, we understand, "hanging fire" on account of the financial troubles in the Argentine Republic, where gold has risen to an enormous premium. Should these disturbances continue the Ottawa market will doubtless be affected, large quantities of our Canadian pine lumber being usually shipped by Eastern dealers to Brazilian and other South American ports. The domestic market in the United States is understood to be quiet, particularly in the West and South, where the "bogey" of Southern pitch pine rises every now and then to threaten our northern producers.

Stocks of deals in England are reported considerably in excess of last season at this period, but prices continue fairly well maintained.

The square timber trade seems somewhat unsettled, a considerable conflict of opinions existing as to what its future is to be. The supply of timber in Quebec is not large, yet buyers are apparently holding off or else are inclined to ask concessions on prices previously paid this season. Rumors are rife, too, of a very considerable output of square timber during the current season, and unless a demand arises in the spring, the chances are altogether in favor of heavier stocks in Quebec in a year than are there now. On the other hand we hear of a few small contracts being made at about last year's prices.

The outlook altogether is not entirely bright, but one important consideration ought not to be overlooked, that is, that the lumber and kindred interests are for the most part in the hands of substantial men, who can afford to hold their property until the markets improve, and there is consequently but little danger of a serious break in prices.

The continued high water during the past summer has brought nearly all the logs out, and the manufacture of lumber for the season is consequently so much increased that it is difficult to find room for it all.

The trouble on the Canadian border is explained by advices from Winnipeg, which say that the recent seizures of lumber were made because large quantities of basswood had been brought in as white wood, the latter being on the free list. It is also said that quantities of dressed lumber were brought in and passed the customs by fraud. Dressed lumber would be packed in the centre of a car and a tier or so of sawn lumber piled about it, so as to deceive the appraiser. It is said that dealers who are interested will contend that what they bought was white wood and not basswood.

ENGLAND.

American Black Walnut—Logs: The supply of prime wood has of late exhibited a very considerable falling off, in striking contrast to which the recent importations have been of the poorest possible character, so poor, in fact, that in our judgment, in order to realize the usual course in such cases will have to be adopted, that of offering at public auction for sale without reserve, this being, it would seem, the only way in which the trade can be induced to give attention to such goods with a view to purchasing.

Lumber—Better class wood has been landed lately in good quantities, much of which has already passed into the hands of the wholesale dealers at the docks, and they in their turn appear to be moving it off in a very satisfactory way; in the lower grades, however, there is but little doing. Yard keepers appear to be more than sufficiently stocked, manufacturers, it would seem, having discovered that the best goods, though higher in price, are cheapest to them in the end.

American Whitewood.—Of logs there is by no means an excessive stock in the docks, still the inquiry is but moderate, and until there is a greater demand it will be quite as well to keep supplies within a moderate compass, as logs of this description of wood, unless promptly disposed of, quickly become seriously shaken, and in consequence much lessened in value.

Lumber—Business in this is encouraging, being now very brisk. Heavy arrivals of both board and plank stuff have lately come to hand, and we notice that, amongst the latter especially, there are some particularly prime parcels, which will, no doubt, be appreciated by the trade in due course.

METALS.—Copper—Ingot about as rapidly as it becomes available is taken up by deliveries on contract to consumers, and the market generally retains a very uniform tone. Demand continues, but it can only be met by engagements for delivery some time ahead and these are making at 1½c. above former rates in pretty much all cases. There appears to be no special talk at the moment about syndicates or combinations as nearly all the companies are sold to balance of year and feel comfortable over the situation. Quotations are generally placed at 11½@11½c. for Lake, and 10¼@10½c. for casting brands. Manufactured Copper continues in fair movement, probably no greater than at the date of our last, yet operators refused to admit a falling off, and they very generally report a steady adherence to regular list rates. We quote as follows: Sheets, not above 30x72 in., 16 oz. and over 20c.; do, 14 to 16 oz., 21c.; do, 12 to 14 oz., 22c.; do, 10 to 12 oz., 23c.; do, 8 to 10 oz., 25c.; do, under 8 oz., 28c. Sheets longer than 72 inches add 1c. for 12@14 oz. 2c. for 10@12 oz. and 3c. for 8@10 oz. Sheets, not above 36x96 in., 16 oz. and over, 20c.; do, 16 to 32 oz., 20c.; do, 14 to 16 oz., 22c.; do, 12 to 14 oz., 24c.; do, 10 to 12 oz., 25c.; do, 8 to 10 oz., 30c. Sheets longer than 96 inches add 1c. for under 16 oz.; and 1c. for 8 to 10 oz. Sheets, not above 48x96, 32 to 64 oz., 20c.; do, 16 to 32 oz., 22c.; do, 14 to 16 oz., 25c.; do, 12 to 14 oz., 26c. Sheets 60x96 and over, 20c., for 32 to 64 oz. and over, and 25c. for 16 to 32 oz. All bath tub sheets, per lb., 16 oz., 23c.; 14 oz., 25c.; 12 oz., 27c.; and 10 oz., 30c. Bolt copper, ¾ inch diameter and over, 20c. Circles, 60 diameter and less, 8c. above price of sheets of same thickness; circles, 60 to 96 do do, 5c. do; circles, 96 do and over, 6c. do. Segment and pattern sheets, 3c. above price of sheets required to cut them from. Cold or hard rolled copper, 1@2c. per lb. above the foregoing prices. Copper bottom, 23@26c. per lb. Iron—Scotch Pig has remained in a very strong position owing to the general support afforded by the advices from abroad. Indeed, the cable has quoted rates fully $1.00 per ton above anything really obtained here, but satisfied with the liberal margin in hand and having only small stocks held in reserve for special customers, the majority of importers abstained from urging their advantages to the full extent they might have done under the circumstances. Latest reported sales were from $23.00 up to $26.00 per ton, according to brand, delivery, etc. American Pig is firm, and the market generally healthy at the moment, but without any recently developed new features of a decided character. As predicted in our last report the leading company advanced its rates to basis of $18.00 per ton on 1st inst., and all corresponding qualities of stock are now quoted at the same rates, with less desirable grades at the usual reduction. Deliveries are close to output of the best goods, though new demand is probably not quite so liberal as it was a short time ago. We quote at $17.50@18.00 per ton for No. 1 X foundry; $16.50@17.00 for No. 2 X do.; and $15.50@16.00 for Gray Forge. Old material has brought out a somewhat irregular tone, and "rumor" at times referred to some pretty full rates as having been made, not all of which could be authenticated. On the whole, however, the market was very well sustained, and the advantage mainly with the seller. We quote at about $25.00@25.50 for old rails; $21.00@22.00 for No. 1 wrought scrap; $15.00@17.00 for cast scrap, and $18.00@19.00 for car wheels. Steel Rails continue comparatively as most of the railways intending to invest this year now have their contracts completed, and are unwilling to proceed with further negotiation on present basis of valuation. With the work booked, however, and the full cost of material to sustain them manufacturers' ideas remain quite firm. We quote at $32.00@32.50 per ton for standard section at the mills and $33.00@34.00 do. at tide water. Manufactured Iron is going out somewhat less freely, and demand shows narrower and more cautious lines. With fair contracts in hand to work upon, however, the selling side of the market retains fair advantage and keeps prices in a steady position. We quote Common Merchant Bar, ordinary sizes, at 1.90 @2.10c. from store, and refined at 2.00@2.30c.; Rods, round and square, 2.10@2.20c.; Bands, 2.20@2.30c.; Norway Nail Rods, 4@5c., and domestic sheet on the basis of 2.75@2.80c. for common Nos. 10@16. Other descriptions at corresponding prices, with 1-10c. less on large lots from cars. LEAD—Domestic Pig has undergone very little change. There is occasionally some moderate deals for future delivery, but the general run of store trade remains about as before, with prices fairly steady. We quote at 3.80 @4.00c., as to quality. The manufacturers of lead are quoted: Bar, 4½c.; pipe, 6c.; sheet, 6½c., less the usual discount to the trade; and tin lined pipe, 15c.; block tin pipe 45c., on same terms. Tin—Pig still follows pretty closely the fluctuations incited by speculative deals abroad, but the actual run of business for consumption does not increase much, and regular buyers refuse to allow themselves to become hurried. We quote at about 21½@22c. for round lots, and 22@22½c. for jobbing parcels. Tin plate of all descriptions has retained a pretty good market, and the inclination of values was on the upward scale. Supplies appear to have become reduced and concentrated, and holders practically had control of the situation. We quote prices as follows: I. C. Charcoal, ½ cross assortment, Melyn grades, $6.00@6.05, each additional X add $1.50; I. C. Charcoal, ½ cross assortment, Allaway grade, $5.25@5.30, each additional X add $1; Charcoal terme, M. F. grade, 14x20, $7.00@7.05; M. F. grade, 20x28, $14.00@14.05; Worcester, 14x20, $5.00@5.05; Worcester, 20x28, $10.00@10.12½; Deane grade, 14x20, $4.75@4.80; Dean grade, 20x28, $9.50@9.75; Allaway grade, 14x20, $4.60@4.62½; Allaway grade, 20x28, $9.25@9.37½; I. C. Coke, Penlan grade, $4.70@4.75; J. B. grade, 14x20, $4.75@4.80; I. C. Bessemer steel, squares, $4.90@—basis; I. C. Siemens steel, squares, $5.00 @—basis. Spelter, although a little irregular in the matter of price, has shown somewhat increased animation, and closes with holders apparently confident. We quote at 5.10@5¼c. for common Western, according to brand.

AILS.—Between country demand, pretty full local wants and occasional export orders the market shapes up excellently in the matter of business. Supplies are full enough to fill the outlet, but under good control and owners firm at previous rates. We quote at $2.10@2.15 per keg for car lots, and $2.20@2.25 per keg for parcels from store.

PAINTS, OILS, ETC.—Generally the movement of supplies is about all that could be expected, and there seems to be little reason to complain over the conditions of the market. Buyers are selecting a good general assortment, and while the stocks are such as to satisfy the outlet without difficulty everything is under very good control and values well sustained. Interior orders have been fuller than usual this fall, it is claimed. Linseed Oil meets with very good sale, and the cost stands at 58@58½c. for Western and 60@61c. for City. Spirits Turpentine has sold mostly in a jobbing way, and at rather easier rates. We quote at 48¼@49½c. per gallon, according to quantity, delivery, etc.

TAR AND PITCH.—Demand a little irregular, but offers an outlet for a fair amount of stock, and sellers have sufficient control over the supply to exact former rates, on tar in particular. We quote Pitch at $1.40@1.50 per bbl.; Tar at $2.62½@2.87½, according to quality, quantity and delivery.
